OHIO CITIES TO RUN PAWNSHOPS.

COLUMBUS, O.—The Bertsch municipal pawn department bill, said to be the first of its kind, has just become a law in Ohio. The new law takes its name from Joseph F. Bertsch, its author. Some foreign countries have such departments, but they have been established by the cities without asking the state for authority or power therefor. The new law is intended to be of benefit to the worthy poor, and its working in Ohio will be watched with interest by the authorities of other states with a view to adopting some such measure in their localities.—Municipal Journal.

MILWAUKEE TO ESTABLISH MUNICIPAL CHILD WELFARE CENTERS.

Municipal child-welfare centers in the poorer districts to teach mothers to keep their infants healthy are to be established by Mayor Seidel. The first station was opened last week in the Polish quarters, where Polish speaking physicians and nurses will instruct mothers. Nurses will be at the disposal of mothers in the district, day and night, at the city's expense.—Municipal Journal.

CITY OF BOSTON.

CITY COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE FOR UNPAID EDGESTONE AND SIDEWALK ASSESSMENTS.

The owners and occupants of each of the parcels of real estate hereinafter described, situated in the City of Boston, in the County of Suffolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the public are hereby notified that the assessment made by the Board of Aldermen of said city on each of said parcels for the benefit and advantage received by the parcel by the construction of an edgestone and sidewalk according to the list committed to me as Collector of Taxes of said city by said board, remains unpaid, and that the smallest undivided part of each parcel which will be necessary to discharge said assessment thereon and the necessary intervening charges, or the whole of the parcel if no person offers to take an undivided part thereof, will be offered for sale at public auction at the Collector's Office, room numbered 11, in the basement of City Hall, in said City of Boston, on Tuesday, September 26, A. D. 1911, at 9.30 o'clock a. m., for the payment of said assessment and the costs and charges thereon, unless the same be paid prior to the sale.

The sums set against the following descriptions of the several estates show the amounts due thereon respectively for the assessments for the nonpayment of which each of said estates is to be sold, but not including the costs and interests thereon, and costs and charges incident to this sale.

PLAN FORTY-FOOT LOTS AND NO ALLEYWAYS.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—The Milwaukee of the future will be a city without alleys and with lots 40 feet wide in the residence districts. During the discussion in the office of Tax Commissioner Schutz last week of the proposed new unit system for assessing real estate, it developed that members of the real estate board are already plating residence property with 40-foot lots and without alleys. It was stated that alleys are a disadvantage. They are disease breeders and refuse collectors. They detract from rather than add to the value of adjoining property. Many of the new subdivisions recently planned are without alleys and eventually all alleys in the city will be done away with. Existing ones will be added to adjoining property or done away with in some other manner.—Municipal Journal.

SQUEEGEE MACHINES.

The streets of Washington are now washed and cleaned by squeegee machines and the results are highly satisfactory. These machines are constructed on the principle of the rubber window washers, a number of rubber blades or flanges being fixed on a long roller which is dragged along the wet asphalt street by a team of horses. The corners and edges are done by hand. It thoroughly cleans the surface, and does not risk washing out the fine particles of asphalt that serve as a binder.

*TOWN PLANNING IN GERMANY.

In Germany in the Middle Age the representatives of the citizens had much power of control over the growth of the unfortified towns, but by the end of the eighteenth century the power of municipal governments had been very much diminished, and, though great attention was paid to the formation of new urban districts and the growth of towns by the formation of new streets, the preparation of plans and the control of their application were in the hands of the state governments.

It was to the great Stein, who saw the immense importance of increasing the interests of the inhabitants of each town in its welfare by giving them more responsibility and power, that Prussian towns owed the new constitutions which they received in the year 1808. But for some time after that date the state government took a large part in the control of the growth of towns. Towards the middle of the nineteenth century, for instance, a new plan was prepared to guide the extension of Berlin. The Prussian government made all the decisions, and the municipal government had to defray all the cost.

The passing in the year 1875 of the law respecting the formation and alteration of streets and squares in towns and country places gave to Prussian municipal authorities the powers, the results of the exercise of which we have now to consider, and the municipal authorities in the other German states received similar powers a little earlier or a little later. These are among the important clauses of the Street-Lines and Building-Lines Act, as it is generally called:

Part of Paragraph 1.—The street-lines and building-lines for the making or alteration of streets and squares in towns and country places are to be decided on, in accordance with public needs, by the executive part of the municipal government in conjunction with the community, or the elected members of the municipal government, subject to the agreement of the local police authority. The local police authority can demand the fixing of such lines, if this be needed for police reasons, of which the authority is to judge.

Part of Paragraph 2.—Lines can be fixed for single streets and parts of streets, or, to meet the foreseen needs of the near future, can be laid down by means of building plans for larger areas.

Paragraph 3.—In deciding on the lines, regard must be had to the promotion of traffic, to safety from fire, and to the public health, and care must also be taken that streets and squares be not disfigured. Care must therefore be taken that adequate width be given to streets, and that the new building areas be well connected with those already existing.

CHEAP AND WHOLESOME DWELLINGS.

No explicit mention is made of the need for having regard in the fixing of lines to facilitating the erection of cheap and wholesome dwellings for the citizens. Reference to this very important object may have been implied in the words "regard to the public health," but the provision of dwellings, both cheap and wholesome, has in the last forty years been seen to be so immensely important that no German government would now think of drafting such a bill as that of 1875 without speaking in most explicit terms of the urgent need of attending to it.

*From a paper read at the summer meeting of the University Extension Association at Oxford.

The phrase "the foreseen needs of the near future" is considered by most municipal governments to mean the foreseen needs of at least the next twenty years. The municipal government makes plans for all the land within the town boundaries, no matter to whom it belongs. Plans are sometimes made for very large areas. A few years ago a plan was made for an area of nine square miles for Dusseldorf. The building plan is generally prepared by officials permanent, employed by the town, who have received the training of surveyors, and whose experience has given them some knowledge of the work of architects and engineers. Sometimes the plan is prepared for a town by a private surveyor.

EXAMINATION OF PLANS.

The municipal authority of almost every town of considerable size, before finally approving of a new plan, submits it to the examination of one of some six or eight men who have acquired a high reputation for their skill in preparing plans which make new districts wholesome, convenient and beautiful. The municipal authorities of Prussian towns find in the "Lines" Act of 1875 power to prepare for different parts of the same town different arrangements of streets and different building regulations.

Some districts are reserved for manufactures, from others all manufactures are excluded. Different arrangements and building by-laws are enforced even for districts which are alike used only for dwellings. As a rule, the farther a district is from the centre of the town, the smaller is the proportion which may be covered by buildings, and the smaller the number of stories allowed in each building. In districts over which the prevalent winds have to pass in reaching the central districts, it is considered desirable that all buildings shall be kept low, and that as much space as possible shall be planted with shrubs and trees. In no new district in a German town are houses for dwellings allowed to have more than five stories. In some of the districts only four stories are allowed; in others only three; in others only two; in others only detached or semi-detached houses of two stories are allowed.

OWNERSHIP OF LAND IN GERMANY.

Land is held by far more persons in Germany than here, and some of the holdings are very small and of shapes quite unsuitable for being built on. Hence it is often very difficult for owners, when a new building plan is prepared, to comply with the arrangements indicated on it, and in such cases many sales or exchanges are necessary before convenient building sites can be obtained. To facilitate and quicken such operations, Doctor Adickes, the Oberbuergermeister of Frankfurt am Main, in 1902 obtained an act, known as the Lex Adickes, which enables the municipal authority of Frankfurt temporarily to expropriate all the land of a district for which a building plan has to be prepared to deduct from the whole of the land all that is needed for streets, squares, playgrounds, and public shrubberies, and then to redistribute the residue among the original holders in plots suitable for building on.

CONTROLLING GROWTH OF TOWNS.

Germans have obtained very great advantages from the way in which their municipal authorities have used their power to prepare plans for controlling the growth of their towns. They have escaped the waste of rates from which we suffer so much when a road, which everyone has known would have much traffic through it, has been made far too narrow, and has soon had to be widened by the pulling down of all the buildings on one side of it.

German roads which will have traffic through them are made wide enough for it at first. If it is believed that a new street may eventually have to have tramlines on it, which are not needed when the street is first made, the street is made wide enough for the tramlines, but only part of the street is paved, and the superfluous width has to be kept by the house owners in the form of front gardens, which they have to give up for public use should tramlines become necessary.

Other great advantages which Germans gain from town planning are that so many of the new streets and squares are planted with trees that there is some place where it is pleasant to walk and breathe the fresh air within easy reach of every dwelling.

THE PRICE OF TOWN PLANNING.

But, though Germans have gained many and great advantages from town planning, and though town-planning powers are often used by German town governments in an admirable spirit, Germans have paid, are still paying, and apparently will long continue to pay, a terribly high price for all that they have gained by town planning. Chiefly owing to the way in which town planning has been done in Germany, there are these great differences between German and English towns: In German towns land costs from six to eight times as much as land in corresponding positions in English towns of about equal population; while, even in London, where there are many tall, large houses, the average population per house is only about eight, and in other English towns it is only about five, the average population of a house in Berlin is about fifty-four, in Breslau about thirty-five, in Dresden twenty-seven, in Leipzig twenty-five, among persons of the ages of from fifteen to twenty-five years of age there are about 50 per cent more deaths from tuberculosis in Berlin than in London; the general death rate of people of that age is less by about 30 per cent in London than Berlin; and in this country as a whole the general death rate is considerably lower than it is in Germany, though Germany has a better educated people than we have, and does far more for the physical training of her people than we do for that of ours; while the rate of infant mortality is much lower here than in Germany, although there is much more drunkenness and neglect of children among English than among German women.

All German students of social reform whose judgment is not influenced by the possession of barrack-dwellings, are at one in holding the conviction that if the great dearth of cheap, wholesome dwellings, from which most of their large towns are suffering, is to be removed or much mitigated, the powers of town planning possessed by German municipal authorities must be so used as to cause residential streets to be made much narrower than they have generally been made hitherto, and in that and all other possible ways to promote the substitution of smaller, cheaper, better lighted and better ventilated houses for barrack-dwellings.—The Municipal Journal.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without public advertisement, requests of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising, and also additions to and deductions from contracts.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

In view of the representation contained in the accompanying letter the Mayor has approved a contract, made without advertising, for the purchase from the General Electric Company of one gasoline engine electric generating set for installation at Gallop's Island, the price being $2,744.

September 11, 1911.

HON. JOHN F. FITZGERALD,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—I am directed by the Board of Health to request your Honor's permission to purchase, without advertising, from the General Electric Company a gasoline engine electric generating set for installation at Gallop's Island, for the sum of two thousand seven hundred and forty-four dollars ($2,744).

In making this request the Board wishes me to state that in its opinion the present method of illumination with oil lamps is extremely unsafe and should be remedied with the least possible delay, as we may at any time be called upon to house large numbers of immigrants detained for inspection for cholera.

At our request the Commissioner of Public Works has obtained bids from the Westinghouse Machine Company and the General Electric Company, the latter, as shown by the inclosed letter, proposing a more complete outfit at a lower price. They will furnish the set immediately, while the Westinghouse Machine Company require from four to six weeks from receipt of the order before material is shipped.

I have the honor to be,

Very truly yours,

F. H. SLACK, Secretary.

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Mayor has granted to the Commissioner of Public Works authority to do the following work with the department forces, without advertising for competitive bids:

Regulate and grade Harvard street, between Blue Hill avenue and Austin street, Dorchester, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $2,000.

Resurface and relay paving blocks on Columbia road at Upham's Corner, Dorchester, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $2,000.

Resurface Armandine street, Dorchester, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $2,000.

Resurface with macadam and regulate Ruggles street, from Huntington avenue to Parkway, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $1,800.

"This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

L. K. ROURKE,

Commissioner of Public Works."

Build a sanitary sewer of 8-inch earthen pipe in Elgin street, between Centre street and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West Roxbury, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $4,852.

"The above work, in my opinion, can be as advantageously done by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

L. K. ROURKE,

Commissioner of Public Works."

CIRCULAR FROM THE MAYOR.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

To the Heads of Departments:

I have been requested by the City Council to furnish information from the heads of departments concerning the operation of the provisions of chapter 413 of the Acts of 1911, a copy of which is inclosed herewith. Will you kindly state the number of men in your department who would be affected by this act, the probable cost to the city of the pensioning of these employees during the year following the acceptance of the act, and add any other information that may be pertinent to the question.

An immediate reply is requested.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

The act referred to is as follows:

AN ACT RELATIVE TO A RETIREMENT FUND FOR LABORERS EMPLOYED BY THE CITY OF BOSTON.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. There shall be a retirement board for the laborers employed by the city of Boston, consisting of the mayor, the auditor and the treasurer of the city, who shall discharge the duties hereby imposed upon them without additional compensation.

SECTION 2. Any laborer employed by the city of Boston who has reached the age of sixty years and who has been in the service of the city for a period of not less than twenty-five years, and who is physically incapacitated, shall, at his request and with the approval of the retirement board above provided for, be retired from service, and shall receive for the remainder of his life an annual pension equal to one half of the compensation which he received during the last year of his service for the city. It shall be the duty of the said board so to retire any laborer in the service of the city who has reached the age of seventy years and has served the city for a period of not less than twenty-five years.

SECTION 3. This act shall take effect on the first day of March of the year following its acceptance by the city council of the city of Boston.

[Approved May 8, 1911.]

PETITIONS GRANTED.

PAYMENTS TO DISABLED EMPLOYEES.

The Mayor has approved the action of the Commissioner of Public Works in allowing to Michael Donnelly, of the Sewer Service, 15 days at $2.50, on account of injuries received by him while in the performance of his duties.

INTERNATIONAL HYGIENE EXHIBITION.

One of the most interesting sections of the exhibition in Dresden, which is being held from May to October, is that illustrating the imperial system of workmen's insurance in the German Empire. In addition to the models, tables and illustrations supplied by the Insurance Department there are exhibits of sick funds, of voluntary insurance organizations and organized trades.

The walls are hung with geographical maps of German States, showing the frequency and nature of accidents before and after the introduction of state insurance. Other series of maps illustrate the development of sick, invalidity and old age insurance. Most interesting are the large photographs of protected machinery for the prevention of accidents, those parts intended for protection being marked with red lines.

Among the interesting exhibits in this section are elaborate models of hospitals, sanatoria and convalescent homes which have been built either out of the state insurance funds or by the voluntary organizations. For example, the Saxon sanatorium of Gottleuba is shown to lie in a splendid park. The buildings are on an enormous scale, yet homely and pleasant and surrounded by gardens, meadows and trees. The gymnasium and reading rooms, bathing palace and recreation houses are all perfect in their way. In the bathing palace are medicinal and medico-mechanical baths, massage rooms, steam baths and cooling rooms. Here the convalescent Saxon worker rests and recovers in the palaces which he himself has helped to build.

At the end of 1910 there were sixty-four of these sanatoria in existence, of which thirty-three were for persons with lung diseases and thirty-one for patients afflicted with other ailments. In 1909 over 200,000 persons with diseases of the lungs received treatment in these homes and over 14,000 otherwise afflicted.

In addition to the larger establishments there are thirteen smaller homes for invalids who are in need of special treatment. There is a model of one of these homes built by the Bavarian Insurance Office—a delightful place of the villa order in the midst of pleasant country surroundings. The city of Hamburg has sent a model of a very pleasant "air and light bath" at Hansdorf. This consists of a cluster of rustic cottages in the midst of pine woods, with inclosures where patients for whom sun and air have been prescribed may disport themselves.

Perhaps the most instructive model in this department is that of the consumption sanatorium at Wasach in Württemberg. The buildings are most imposing and in the foreground there are spacious lawns, divided into six sections, a section for each year since 1904. Each section of lawn has been filled with tiny lead figures of men and women in two divisions—one division showing the number of incurables at the end of the year, the other showing the number of those restored to health. In the corner of each division of lawn there is a small group of iron crosses standing for those who have succumbed. The incurables are represented leaning on crutches as they leave and the restored are dancing with joy and flourishing their scythes and hammers and axes as they go forth again to their labors.

TRUST FUNDS AND BEQUESTS HELD BY CITY OF BOSTON.

The number of separate funds and bequests held by city for various purposes, 114, representing a total value of about $8,400,000. The earliest dates back to 1674, viz., Gibson School Fund. The largest bequest is that of the late George F. Parkman, consisting of various parcels of real estate valued at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000. Total amount of fund in custody of City Treasurer March 31, 1911, $3,681,363.42. Another bequest, that of Peter Bent Brigham, not held by the city, but by a private corporation, is to be used to establish the Brigham Hospital for the care of indigent sick persons residing in Suffolk County. By chapter 370, Acts of 1909, the corporation was authorized to hold property not exceeding $7,000,000 in value (including $5,000,000 previously authorized).

PROPOSALS FOR FURNISHING AND ERECTING GAS POST EXTENSIONS AND THE INSTALLATION OF INVERTED GAS LAMPS.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, Room 49, City Hall, invites bids for furnishing and erecting gas post extensions and also the installation of inverted gas lamps on such streets, parks, and alleys as may from time to time be designated by the city, and giving bond therefor of a surety company approved by the commissioner in the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of bids and specifications may be obtained at said office of the Commissioner of Public Works. Bids are to be based on furnishing and erecting approximately eleven thousand (11,000) gas lamp post extensions and installing a like number of inverted gas lamps on lamp posts distributed in such separate districts as may be determined by the city. The city will furnish the lamp posts and inverted lamps. Bidders are to state a price for furnishing each post extension, for erecting each post extension, and for installing each inverted lamp. Samples and detailed drawings of the equipment to be furnished under the bid must be submitted with the same. Each bid should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, and marked "Bid for Furnishing and Erecting Gas Lamp Post Extensions," and left at the Hearing Room, second floor, City Hall, before 12 m. on Tuesday, October 24, 1911, with a certified check for one thousand (1,000) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the bid after acceptance is not carried out. The bids will then and there be publicly opened and read. Bids must be in duplicate, the duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals and to award the contract as he may deem in the best interests of the city.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE MAYOR.

Subject to confirmation by your honorable body, I hereby make the following appointments, all for the term ending April 30, 1912.

(1) John Connors (161 Medford street, Ward 3) and Thomas Hughes (225 Cypress street, Brookline), to be Weighers of Coal; Charles I. Albee, (109 Trenton street, Ward 1), George H. Battis (112 White street, Ward 1), James Buckley (408 Saratoga street, Ward 1), Pearl L. Slocumb (70 Cottage avenue, Winthrop) and Maud P. Flinn (473 High street, West Medford), to be Weighers of Coal and Measurers of Wood and Bark; S. Everett Giles (37 Howard street, Melrose), to be an Inspector of Pressed or Banded Hay and Straw and a Measurer of Grain.

(2) Henry W. Cowles (75 Waverly street, Ward 21) and Dominic Dinien (64 Calumet street, Ward 19), Constables of the City of Boston.

Severally laid over under the law.

PURCHASE OF STANDPIPE PROPERTY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, September 15, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to transmit for the consideration of your honorable body the accompanying letter from Mr. George F. Wentworth, who recommends that the city purchase the Helping Hand Home property at the corner of Beech Glen street and Fort avenue, adjoining Highland Park. Mr. Wentworth believes that the addition to the park is a desirable one and that the property can be obtained on specially favorable terms at the present time.

Yours very truly,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

George F. Wentworth,
Real Estate, Insurance, Auctioneer, 18 Tremont Street,

August 21, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Now that you are at home I trust that you can see your way clear to look into the matter of purchasing the Helping Hand Home property on corner of Beech Glen street and Fort avenue, adjoining Highland Park, otherwise known as the "Standpipe." The owners are a little anxious to get rid of same and a good trade can be made before anyone else could get it. I have been expecting to hear from you or whoever has charge in the matter. Others have been looking it over but now is the chance for the city if ever.

Yours truly,

GEORGE F. WENTWORTH.

Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

PLAYGROUND, ROXBURY CROSSING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, September 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

In my message of April 3, addressed to your honorable body, I expressed the opinion that a second playground should be provided in the district about Roxbury Crossing in addition to the one for which an appropriation had already been made, and stated that I should be in favor of the expenditure of any reasonable sum which would be required for this purpose. On June 26 I recommended an additional appropriation of forty thousand dollars ($40,000). The order was referred to the Committee on Finance, which still has it under consideration. In the meantime a third communication was addressed to your honorable body, accompanied by an order providing for a change of title in the original order appropriating sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) for a playground in Parker Hill, so that in case the second appropriation order were passed the two amounts might be merged for a playground or playgrounds in Ward 19. This change of title met with the approval of the City Council and the order effecting it was passed at your meeting of September 11. Recently, under date of September 15, I received a letter from the chairman pro tem of the Board of Park Commissioners, stating that the sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) is "too small a sum to buy a real playground such as the people demand in that closely settled district," and expressing once more the opinion that a larger appropriation would be needed.

As the passage of the order changing the title of the original appropriation would seem to imply the acceptance of this view by the City Council I would once more urge upon your honorable body the need of immediate action so that steps may be taken to begin the work and end the long and vexatious delay connected with this improvement.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

MEMORIAL TO GEORGE T. ANGELL.

The following was received:

City of Boston

Office of the Mayor, September 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

In transmitting the accompanying letter from the president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals I desire to express my complete acquiescence with his view that an appropriation of two thousand dollars ($2,000) for the erection of a fountain to the late George T. Angell would be an appropriate recognition of his services by the community in which he lived.

Mr. Angell's place in the city was a unique one. Born in moderate circumstances he worked his way through Dartmouth College and took up the profession of law in Boston. After practising twenty-three years he had acquired a small fortune and devoted himself for the remainder of his life to the cause with which his name is associated. His publication "Our Dumb Animals" has been the means of not only alleviating the lot of the domesticated animals and disseminating a love for the living creatures who are our fellow denizens upon earth, but also of promoting, especially among children, a more gentle habit of mind and the refinement that goes with the cultivation of this virtue. Strangers have often noticed the tameness of the squirrels and pigeons on the Common, and have accepted it as an indication of the humane spirit of the people of Boston. No small share of the improvement in this respect is due to the labors of Mr. Angell, and the fountain which it is proposed to erect in Post Office square, partly from the contributions of the public school children and partly from an appropriation of the public money, would be a well-deserved tribute to his memory.

As Doctor Rowley notes in his letter, the poles of the Edison Electric Light Company and the Boston Elevated Railway Company can be combined in one pillar rising from the middle of the fountain, and the result will be a decorative focus or center in the square where now the view is greeted by a collection of unrelated though useful objects. Such a public improvement is well worth the slight expense involved, and I recommend the passage of the order which I have drafted, transferring the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000) from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for a memorial fountain in Post Office square, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works with the approval of the Art Commission.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals,

Boston, August 17, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

My dear Mr. Mayor,—Let me state as briefly as I can, in accordance with your very kind suggestion made aboard the steamer, what the fountain situation is:

Some years ago the children of the public schools raised $647.77 for an Angell memorial fountain. There has been given for a similar purpose $864.12 which could be added to it, making a total of $1,511.89.

Our hope has been that this Angell memorial fountain might be erected in the busy Post Office square where hundreds of horses are watered every day and where now there is an old and inadequate one. We find after long interviews with the Edison Electric Light Company and the Boston Elevated Railway and an architect, that a beautiful fountain satisfactory to these two corporations, whose wire attachments must be taken into consideration, will cost from $3,000 to $3,500 complete. Do you think it possible that the City of Boston, for whom Mr. Angell really did so much, could be induced to appropriate say $2,000 toward the erection of this fountain. It seems to me that our citizens would very gladly see such an appropriation made, if there are any funds that could be used for this purpose.

With reference to other locations. After a conversation with our agents, they tell me that on Columbus avenue near the old Providence depot there is an antique, stone trough which should be replaced by a modern sanitary fountain; also that the old stone trough at the corner of Beacon and Charles streets should be changed for a proper, modern fountain; that there should be one on Charles street near the Jail; and that the one watering station in Boston where we at present are watering the most horses is on Congress street near Farnsworth street. They say that a fountain is greatly needed there.

I cannot tell you how deeply I appreciate your interest in our work and how grateful I am for what you have already done for us.

Most devoutly hoping that you will be able to do what I know is in your heart in the way of securing the money of which we were speaking, believe me, with very kind regards,

Sincerely yours,
FRANCIS H. ROWLEY,
President.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works with the approval of the Art Commission for a memorial fountain in Post Office square.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

WIDENING OF PROVIDENCE STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 15, 1911.
To the City Council:

At its meeting of July 1 your honorable body passed an order authorizing me to release the conditions, easements, and restrictions now in force upon certain lots on Boylston and Providence streets which were specified in the order. This transaction was a part of the movement for the development of the Park square property, and the plans of this development, as you have been made aware, involve the widening of Providence street to a width of one hundred feet and the elevation of the grade from a point near Park square in the direction of Berkeley street. The accompanying letter from the secretary of the Board of Street Commissioners expresses the opinion that this elevation is desirable and estimates the cost of the change of grade under the present width of Providence street as about twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000).

I recommend that the accompanying loan order, appropriating twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) for this purpose be passed and trust that the City Council will not delay action upon a matter which has already been the subject of several postponements.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Street Laying-Out Department,
September 15, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Street Commissioners understands that practically all of the abutting property owners on Providence street have signed releases exempting the city from liability for damages that may be caused by the proposed change of grade of the street. As you know, the plans for the development of the Park square land, which was formerly occupied by the Boston & Providence Railroad, call for the widening of Providence street by the addition to it of 60 feet from the railroad land, making it a 100-foot street from Columbus avenue to the proposed Arlington street extension.

It is the intention of the present owners of the Park square land to release to the city this addition of 60 feet, providing that the city will revise the grade of Providence street and construct the same to meet the grade which they have established and which has been approved by the proper municipal authorities as the correct grade for the street.

The proposition is a fair and equitable one, but before the city can do anything to help in the development of the Park square land a special appropriation for the work of construction will be necessary.

The changing of the grade of Providence street will necessitate also a change in the grade of Church street, between Providence street and Boylston street.

To construct both Providence street and Church street at the grade proposed will involve an expenditure of about $25,000, and the Board begs to suggest that a loan for this amount be authorized.

Very truly yours,
J. J. O'CALLAGHAN,
Secretary.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 393 of the Acts of 1906 the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) additional be and hereby is appropriated for Highways, Making of, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

BATH HOUSE, FORT POINT CHANNEL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 15, 1911.
To the City Council:
The accompanying communication from Mr. J. E. Coyle, secretary of the United Improvement Council of Dorchester, offers a suggestion which seems to me to possess considerable merit. A bath house in the vicinity of the South Station would undoubtedly be used by the large working population of that district and would be as well patronized, at least during the day, as the floating bath houses in other sections. A statement from the secretary of the Bath Trustees, which is appended hereto, estimates the cost of a floating bath house as approximately six thousand dollars ($6,000), and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order which transfers this amount from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for a bath house in Fort Point channel.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

United Improvement Council of Dorchester,
Dorchester, August 16, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Will you please give a little of your valuable time to the inspection of the water front in the rear of the South Station, with the idea of placing a bath house there?

We have had a very hot summer up to the present time and all bathing facilities have been taxed to their full capacity. The North End of the city has one at Charlestown and another at Chelsea Bridge, while the South End has none.

Many men would greatly appreciate a chance for a bath during their noon hours. Many coming in on the railroads, especially employees, would be glad of a chance to bathe. Many clerks and workers in nearby buildings would more than appreciate it.

They would be for men only except at certain hours when boys might use them, but only boys who are employed or had to work for a living.

Yours truly,
J. E. COYLE, Secretary.

City of Boston,
Bath Department,
September 1, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Sir,—In reply to a communication transmitted to this office from J. E. Coyle, secretary of the United Improvement Council of Dorchester, as to the advisability of locating a floating bath house in the neighborhood of the South Station, I beg to report that I have investigated the matter, and find that there are several locations in which a bath house could be placed if money were appropriated to construct the same. All the floating bath houses of the Bath Department are now located at fixed sites, and we have no extra one to meet this demand.

The house could be located at the Summer Street Extension Bridge, on either side of the bridge, or at the Congress Street Bridge, close to Jordan Marsh storehouse.

The cost of building a floating bath house is approximately $6,000, and if you desire to ask a special appropriation for this matter we should be pleased to start in upon the construction of it as soon as possible in the fall in order that it could be ready for next spring.

Very truly yours,
HUGH C. MCGRATH,
Secretary Bath Trustees.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of six thousand dollars ($6,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Bath Trustees, for a Floating Bath House, Fort Point Channel.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

MINORS' LICENSES.

President COLLINS submitted reports on petitions for minors' licenses to eight newsboys and two vendors—recommending that licenses be granted.

Reports severally accepted; licenses granted on the usual conditions.

PROTEST AGAINST SALE OF LAND, BRIGHTON.

The following was received:

Boston, September 18, 1911.
To the City Clerk of the City of Boston:

My dear Sir,—As the owner of a piece of property on Chestnut Hill avenue, Brighton, directly across the street from that parcel of land now owned by the city, and which I understand is to be sold, I hereby desire to enter my protest against the sale of said property, and I should be pleased to be notified of any matters which may come before the Mayor or City Council in regard to the sale thereof.

Yours very truly,
HERBERT A. WILSON,
Trustee under the will of George A. Wilson,
6 Beacon Street, Room 1019.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I think this would be an opportune time to call up No. 3, if that meets with the President's approval. I would like to ask to have it recommitted to the Committee on Public Lands.

President COLLINS—With unanimous consent No. 3 will be taken from the table.

No. 3 was as follows:
3. Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners be and hereby is authorized to sell, on such terms as said Board, with the approval of the Mayor, may deem proper, a parcel of land in the Brighton district, so called, bounded southerly by Commonwealth avenue and northeasterly by Chestnut Hill avenue, and containing as shown on the atlas about 66,672 square feet, said land to be sold at public auction for not less than 75 cents per square foot per lot.

On July 17 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

No. 3 was recommitted to Committee on Public Lands.

The communication from Herbert A. Wilson was also referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I want to introduce in this connection protests signed by thirty-one, or approximately thirty-one residents of that neighborhood in connection with that matter.

(Coun. SMITH here introduced a protest of the residents referred to against sale of the lot on Commonwealth avenue, corner of Chestnut Hill avenue, Ward 25.)

The protest was referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

Coun. SMITH moved a reconsideration of reference of the above papers to the Committee on Public Lands, trusting that it would not prevail. Lost.

COAL AND COKE LICENSES.

Copies of coal and coke licenses granted by the Secretary of the Commonwealth were received. Placed on file.

STORAGE OF OIL.

Communications were received from the following-named parties certifying that the hereinafter named locations were used for the keeping of oils, and of intention to continue use of same for the ensuing year, viz.:

W. Bowman Cutter, 2306-08 Washington street, Ward 18.

W. Bowman Cutter, 1855 Dorchester avenue, Ward 24.

Peter C. Werner, Boston Harbor.
Placed on file.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT.

Notice was received of the appointment of Alexander C. Chisholm as Bath Trustee, a certified copy of the same having been filed with the Civil Service Commission, September 15, 1911.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

Notice was received from the Civil Service Commission of the confirmation of the appointments of James J. Bacigalupo as Trustee for Children.
Placed on file.

DISPOSITION OF PORTICO.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Art Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to send to the City Council, as soon as convenient, an opinion as to the disposal of the portico of the Old Court House, and any recommendations bearing upon the subject as they may deem fit.
Passed.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. BAL-LANTYNE, at 3.35 p. m., to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by the President at 4.07 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report on message of Mayor and estimate (referred September 11), concerning extension of Arlington street to Charles River Embankment—that message, estimate and opinion of Corporation Counsel (which was obtained by City Council) be printed in the minutes of the City Council and placed on file.

The opinion of the Corporation Counsel is as follows:

City of Boston,
Law Department, September 18, 1911.
To the Honorable the City Council,
City Hall, Boston:

Gentlemen,—The Clerk of Committees under date of the 14th of September requests for your honorable body my opinion as to the right of the city to sell its fee in Otter and Beacon streets. I presume that "Beacon" is a typographical error for Beaver street and that the inquiry is as to whether the city has such a title in Otter and Beaver streets that it could sell its rights in said streets for any considerable sum of money.

In reply I would state that Otter and Beaver streets were laid out by the Roxbury Mill Corporation as private streets in 1847, and the lots between Beaver and Otter streets were granted the free use forever of Otter, Beaver and River streets.

In 1857 Otter and Beaver streets were laid out as public streets of the City of Boston on condition that the Roxbury Mill Corporation release to the city its rights in said streets and in pursuance to that agreement the Roxbury Mill Corporation decided to the city the fee of said streets. This conveyance gave to the city the fee in Otter street but not in Beaver street, as in 1847 the Mill Corporation had decided the deed of said street to the abutters by deeds which bounding on said street conveyed by operation of law the fee.

To recapitulate, the city owns the fee in Otter street subject to private rights of way in the estates between Beaver and Otter streets and does not own the fee in Beaver street.

Before anything could be done in the way of selling the city's rights in these two streets they both would have to be discontinued by the Street Commissioners and damages paid to the abutters for such discontinuance. After the discontinuance Beaver street would become a private way in which the city would have no interest. The city would own the fee of Otter street subject to certain private rights of way.

In my opinion, owing to the existence of these private rights of way, the city's fee in Otter street could not be sold for anything more than a nominal sum, as the party buying would have to acquire the private rights of way from the owners of the whole block. The net result would be that the city would be out whatever sum it had paid in damages to the abutters for the discontinuance of Otter and Beaver streets.

Yours truly,
THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

Report accepted, communications, etc., ordered printed and placed on file.

(2) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order for $2,000 (referred to-day), for memorial to memory of the late George T. Angell—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted, order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.
(3) Reports on petitions (severally referred to-day), for sidewalks—recommending the passage of orders that the Commissioner of Public Works make sidewalks on the following streets in front of the hereinafter named estates; said sidewalks to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone with granite edgestones, the owners to furnish material, viz.:

Brick with Granite Edgestone.

ACCEPTANCE OF CHAPTER 741, ACTS OF 1911.

President COLLINS called up No. 1, special assignment, viz.:

1. Whereas, The West End Street Railway Company at a meeting of the stockholders specially called for the purpose, to vote upon the question whether or not it shall sell its property, privileges and franchises to the Boston Elevated Railway Company, as provided in chapter 741 of the Acts of the year 1911, voted in favor of such sale, and the Boston Elevated Railway Company at a meeting of stockholders specially called for the purpose, to vote upon the question whether said company shall so purchase the property, privileges and franchises of the said West End Street Railway as provided in said chapter, voted in favor of such purchase; it is Voted, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby accept the provisions of chapter 741 of the Acts of the year 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to Electric Railway Transportation Facilities in the City of Boston and its Vicinity," and that a certificate of his acceptance, approved by the Mayor, be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The act was accepted, yeas 8, nays 0.

PAYMENT TO MRS. CHESWELL.

President COLLINS called up No. 2, special assignment, viz.:

2. Ordered, That chapter 288 of the Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act to Authorize the City of Boston to Pay a Sum of Money to the Widow of William T. Cheswell," be and the same hereby is accepted, and that under the provisions of the aforesaid act the sum of three thousand dollars be allowed and paid to Millie B. Cheswell, widow of William T. Cheswell, late a chief of the Fire Department, who died from injuries received while in the performance of his duties, said sum to be charged to the appropriation for Reserve Fund.

The order was passed, yeas, 8, nays 0.

APPROVAL OF RAILWAY LOCATION.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. McDONALD, to take No. 6 from the table, viz.:

6. Ordered, That the proposed location by the Boston Elevated Railway Company for an elevated structure, platforms, station and approaches thereto at Washington and Dover streets, Boston, as shown on plan numbered 28206, filed with the City Clerk, be and the same is hereby approved, so far as it is upon public ways or places.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I move you, sir, that this No. 6 be recommitted to the Executive Committee and that that committee request the Boston Elevated Railway officials to submit an alternative plan of entrances and exits to the Executive Committee within two weeks. I think that would be fair to all concerned—to every member of this Council, to the citizens and to the Boston Elevated Railway Company—and I trust that the motion will prevail.

Coun. Attridge's proposed amendment was adopted, and the matter was recommitted to the Executive Committee with the request to report within two weeks, and during that time to invite the petitioner to set forth any alternative plans, if such alternative plans are feasible, the motion being carried by a rising vote of 6 to 2.

ABATEMENT OF ASSESSMENT.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 415 of the Acts of 1911 the Board of Street Commissioners be and hereby are authorized to abate such proportion, not exceeding 20 per cent, of any assessment for a betterment made on account of the laying out of Columbia road from Franklin Park in Dorchester to Marine Park in South Boston, as said Board shall deem just and expedient; and the City Treasurer is hereby authorized to repay such proportion of any such assessment which has been paid into the treasury of the city as said Board of Street Commissioners shall approve, the expense thus incurred to be charged to the appropriation for Park Department.

President COLLINS—The matter will be referred to the Executive Committee under the rules.

INVESTIGATION OF BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to investigate the conduct of the Building Department, as per charges of Local Union No. 175 of the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers, Gas Fitters, Steam Fitters, Steam Fitter's helpers, hereto annexed.

The order was read for the information of Coun. Kenny.

The order was passed.

EIGHT HOURS FOR AMBULANCE DRIVERS.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the City Hospital Trustees, through his Honor the Mayor, inform the City Council what additional sum of money is necessary to place the ambulance drivers employed at City Hospital upon an eight-hour basis.

Passed.

SIDEWALK ORDERS.

President COLLINS offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along both sides of Ashmont street, between Washington street and Dorchester avenue, Ward 24, in front of the estates bordering said sidewalk, to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestone, under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

President COLLINS offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along 123 Washington street, Ward 20, and extending four houses beyond said estate, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

Passed.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along 113-115 Williams street and on the Plainfield street side of said estate, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

Passed.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. BUCKLEY, for the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted a report recommending the passage of an order for the payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the City of Boston for the month of September.

Report accepted; order passed.

CALL FOR ORDINANCE REPORTS.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to make a motion that the Council take from the Committee on Ordinances two ordinances which have been resting there for what seems to me to be an undue length of time, one referring to the height of firemen and the other to the building limits. The reason why I ask this is that ordinance relating to building limits was referred to the Committee on Ordinances April 3 of this year, the ordinance relative to the height of firemen April 24 of this year, and on May 24 of this year a public hearing was held. It seems to me those two matters have been in committee long enough, and in view of the fire hazard in this city, in view of the present need of attending to matters relating to the Fire Department, I believe we should at once take up and dispose of these questions. If there is any good objection to dealing with these matters within six months of their having been brought in, I should like to have the chairman of the Committee on Ordinances state it. If he can bring such arguments to our attention, I shall appreciate them.

President COLLINS suggested that the questions should be divided, and Coun. SMITH said he would first call for the matter relating to the height of firemen.

Coun. CURLEY—I move that Coun. Smith's motion lie on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was declared carried. Coun. Smith doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to lay on the table was carried, yeas 7, nays 1, Coun. Smith voting nay.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration of the vote just taken.

Reconsideration was declared lost. Coun. SMITH doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. Reconsideration was lost, yeas 1, nays 7; Coun. Smith voting yea.

SALE OF CHARLESTOWN ALMSHOUSE PROPERTY.

Coun. CURLEY moved to take from the table No. 4, viz.:

4. Ordered, That the Boston Infirmary Trustees be and hereby are authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to sell to the Boston Elevated Railway Company for a sum not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000) the property in the Charlestown district known as the Charlestown Almshouse, with the land connected therewith, containing about 102,400 square feet, and upon such sale his Honor the Mayor is hereby authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to execute a deed satisfactory to the Law Department, conveying said premises to said company for a consideration not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000) to be determined by said trustees and approved as aforesaid.

On July 17 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

The motion to take from the table was declared lost by a rising vote, 3 to 3. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays, and the motion to take from the table was lost, yeas 3, nays 5:

Yeas—Couns. Attridge, Curley, McDonald—3.
Nays—Couns. Ballantyne, Buckley, Collins, Kenny, Smith—5.

REPAIR OF GEORGE STREET.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to place in condition suitable for public travel George street, from Gerard to Magazine street, Ward 17.

Passed.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

ADJOURNMENT.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved that the Council adjourn, to meet on Monday, October 2, at 3 p. m.

Adjourned at 5.4 p. m., to meet on Monday, October 2, at 3 p. m.

NAMING OF NEW SCHOOL-HOUSE.

The order laid over at the meeting of Sept. 5, 1911 (see p. 108), that the new elementary school building, upper grades, in the Phillips Brooks District, at the corner of Dacia, Danube and Brookford streets, be named the John Winthrop School, was taken up and unanimously passed.

COMPLETION OF SCHOOL-HOUSES, AND OF REPAIRS.

Communications were received from the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners, under date of Sept. 8, 1911, reporting that the Abraham Lincoln, James A. McDonald, and the John Lathrop Motley School-houses are completed in accordance with the terms and conditions of the contracts and are ready for occupancy for school purposes; also, a communication, under date of Sept. 12, 1911, stating that the work on the Girls' High School-house to provide additional accommodations has been completed sufficiently for occupancy of the school at the opening of the term.

Placed on file, and the Secretary directed to inform the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners that the repairs undertaken by that Board during the summer appear to have been done with expedition, the completion of new buildings pushed with dispatch, and this Board is gratified to note the success that has attended the efforts of the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners to provide suitable and adequate accommodations at the beginning of the term.

The motion to reconsider passed, and the order was placed on file.

The following order was offered:—
ORDERED, That the regulations be amended as follows:—
Add the following new section:—
Sect. 411. 1. All advance payments received by principals shall be regularly remitted by them to the auditor each week in such form as he may require; provided, that each principal may retain in his possession a sum not exceeding fifty dollars ($50) of such advance payments for the purpose of making refunds to pupils as hereinbefore provided.
2. In the event of refunds to pupils reducing the total amount of advance payments held by any principal below fifty dollars ($50) he may obtain from the auditor, with the approval of the director of evening and continuation schools, a sum sufficient to restore such balance to the sum of fifty dollars ($50).
3. During the last week of the evening school term each principal may obtain from the auditor, with the approval of the director of evening and continuation schools, the refund of such portion of the advance payments previously transmitted by him to the auditor as shall be required to remit to pupils the advance payments to which they are entitled under the regulations.
4. All advance payments received by the auditor shall be deposited by him in a national bank or trust company as a separate fund, and any interest accruing thereon and any unexpended balance remaining at the close of the evening school term shall be accounted for by him in the same manner as income from other sources.
Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

EMPLOYMENT AND SALARY OF ADALYN P. HENDERSON, ASSISTANT IN MUSIC.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the employment to take effect Sept. 13, 1911, of Adalyn P. Henderson, assistant, Lowell District, is hereby authorized as assistant in music for such portion of the school year 1911-12 as the Superintendent may deem expedient.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That Adalyn P. Henderson, assistant in music, be paid at the rate of ninety-six dollars ($96) per year in addition to her regular salary as assistant, elementary schools, during her assignment for the current school year as assistant in music.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That while Adalyn P. Henderson, because of her service as assistant in music, is absent from her regular position in the Lowell District, her place may be filled by a temporary teacher.

ELECTION OF TRUANT OFFICERS.

A communication was received from the Secretary, under date of Sept. 15, 1911, reporting that pursuant to the order passed at the meeting of Sept. 5, 1911 (see p. 108), directing him to make application to the Civil Service Commission for the certification of names of candidates eligible for appointment to a vacancy in the truant officer force, the following-named candidates have been certified for said position:—

Michael J. McTiernan, William H. Mar-nell, and Francis P. Aieta.
Placed on file.

The Board proceeded to act on the afore-said certification, and Michael J. McTiernan and William H. Mar-nell were unanimously elected as truant officers to take effect Sept. 25, 1911.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Board adjourned at 10.46 o'clock p.m.

Attest:—

THORNTON D. APOLLONIO,

Secretary.

BOSTON MUSEUM OF FINE ARTS.

The museum is a permanent public exhibition of original works of the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, supplemented by reproductions of others. It is supported wholly by private gifts and managed by a Board of Trustees, including representatives of Harvard University, the Boston Athenæum, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the city and the state, acting through an executive staff and with the cooperation of visiting and advisory committees of citizens. Visitors, about 250,000 annually.

A public museum of art offers the whole people an unfailing source of delight and improvement. The preservation, enrichment and interpretation of museum collections demand liberal financial support. They must be shown under secure and honorable conditions. Unless by gift, they can be increased only through the expenditure of large sums in purchase or exploration. Their care and exposition demands a staff of specialists. In the measure of its power of wise outlay a museum can both widen and deepen its beneficent influence.

The museum is open every day in the year, excepting the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas. On week days, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Sundays, 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. (November 1 to March 1, 4 p. m.)

Admission is free on every Saturday and Sunday and on public holidays. On other days the entrance fee is twenty-five (25) cents.

Children under fourteen years of age are not admitted unless accompanied by an adult. Except by special permission, the number in charge of one person is limited to four.

MUNICIPAL HOUSING.

If the industries of a district are progressing, or even if there be no sign of retrogression; if a good many of the persons engaged in these industries have to travel long distances to their work; if there are a considerable number of old houses, which after inspection by the practical sanitary officer, have been considered unfit for habitation, but cannot be closed because better houses to which the people could remove are not available; if rents are high and houses difficult to get, then private enterprise is not meeting the needs of the district, and a case has been established for a scheme by the municipality.

SELECTION OF SITES.

This should be conveniently situated, having regard to the centres of industry, the possibility of obtaining proper drainage, water supply, lighting, access to main roads, and perhaps also to railways; it should be on suitable land, with a slope, to afford better facilities for surface water drainage, southern, in order to secure a fair share of the benefits of sunshine, and some prospect of shelter from the worst winds of winter.

THE HOUSE AND ITS ERECTION.

Generally speaking, it will be found that there is a demand for two types of house, one for small and one for large families. The smaller house should consist of at least a large kitchen and suitable scullery, with two bedrooms over. The larger house should have a living room, kitchen, and scullery on the ground floor, and three bedrooms over. Every house should have a good pantry, a bath, a water-closet, a fire-place in two of its bedrooms, ample space at the rear, a suitable area of which has been concreted over, proper drainage to an outfall sewer, and an adequate water supply. Its walls should be substantially built of stone or brickwork, and it should have a good roof, preferably of slate. A competent person should be commissioned to prepare suitable plans and specifications on these lines, and a good practical builder engaged to carry out the work in accordance therewith. While everything should be done that can be done with little or no extra cost to make the effect just as pleasing to the eye, it should be seen to that utilitarian advantages are not sacrificed to secure artistic appearance. This is all too frequently the case in connection with some of the erections at our model cottage exhibitions and so-called garden cities, with their hipped rafters, ornamental roofs, and peaked gables, necessitating the construction of crooked stairways and bedrooms of insufficient height. The building-by-laws in force in the district should be rigidly adhered to, and an important one, though unfortunately, one not universally adopted and not always observed, is that requiring the site under the floor of the house to be wholly concreted over. In these days of impervious tar macadam or paved streets, and concreted back yards, if this precaution be not taken, the only escape for ground air, whatever its character, is under the floor of our living rooms.

THE TENANTS.

In the selection of tenants, those who occupy houses which are considered unfit for habitation should be given the preference. In the allocation of houses regard should be had to the number and ages of the prospective occupiers; by doing this it will be possible to avoid the anomalous condition one sometimes encounters of a man and wife without family occupying a five-roomed house, while close by there is a married couple with grown-up workers of both sexes in a house of three rooms.— Municipal Journal.

BOSTON ONE OF FIRST CITIES TO PAVE STREETS.

Early paving practice was touched upon by Mr. George W. Tillson in a paper presented at the third city planning conference at Philadelphia. The first pavement laid in this country, he said, was in the old town of Pemaquid, Me. As nearly as can be ascertained, this pavement was laid in 1625. Boston laid its first pavements in 1650, and New York in 1856, both cities using cobblestone. Belgian blocks were introduced in 1850, the present oblong granite not being used until some twenty years later. Brick and asphalt were first laid in the seventies, and the present treated wood blocks about twelve or fifteen years ago. The first creosote-treated wood pavement was laid on Tremont street, Boston, in 1900.

Resurface (macadam roadway and crushed stone sidewalks) River street, from Mattapan square to the Hyde Park line, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $4,600.

Resurface with macadam, by the division force, South street, from Washington to St. Ann street, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $3,500.

"This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

Build a sanitary sewer of 12-inch and 8-inch earthen pipe, a surface drain of 15-inch, 12-inch and 10-inch earthen pipe and seven catch-basins in Fisher avenue, between Hayden street and Parker Hill avenue, Roxbury, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $8,534.

Build, with the department force, a sanitary sewer of 8-inch earthen pipe, a surface drain of 12-inch and 10-inch earthen pipe and eleven catch-basins in Sachem street, between Hillside street and Parker Hill avenue, Roxbury, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $5,195.

Build a sanitary sewer of 8-inch earthen pipe and a surface drain of 12-inch and 10-inch earthen pipe and seven catch-basins in Morton street, between Lucerne and Norfolk streets, Dorchester, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $4,534.

Build a surface drain of 20-inch, 18-inch, 15-inch, 12-inch and 10-inch earthen pipe and six catch-basins in Weld Hill street, between Hyde Park avenue and Forest Hills Cemetery, West Roxbury, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $4,155.

"The above work can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved by the Mayor:

PARK DEPARTMENT.

An addition, amounting to $135, on the contract with John A. Rooney for bear cage No. 3, on account of building 80 linear feet, 2 feet higher than shown on the contract plans, to extend from the southeasterly corner of the cage for a distance of 47 feet along the rear wall and from the same corner for a distance of 26 feet along the southerly side wall, and building the O. G. curves required for stepping the wall down to the original height. Contract price, $11,445; total additions, $390; contract as standing, $11,835.

APPOINTMENT OF ARCHITECTS.

The Mayor has approved the action of the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners in appointing Mr. C. Howard Walker and Messrs. Kilham & Hopkins as architects for the High School of Commerce and School Administration Building.

PETITIONS GRANTED.

The following petitions granted by the Board of Street Commissioners have been approved by the Mayor:

Gasolene, etc.—Frank E. Peabody, 328 Newbury street, Ward 11.

THE PARKMAN PROPERTIES.

George F. Parkman, a member of the prominent Boston family of that name, died September 17, 1908. His will, dated October 29, 1877, and made public a few days after his death, showed that his estate, appraised at about $7,000,000, was largely distributed for public or charitable purposes. The original will, modified by a codicil dated January 12, 1887, devised, after payment of specific bequests, "the residue to the City of Boston to constitute a fund, the income of which is to be applied to the maintenance and improvement of the Common and the parks now existing and is not to be used for the purchase of additional land for park purposes. Any portion of said income which may not be required for the above purpose in any year is to be added to and invested as a part of said fund."

In this way the City of Boston has become the owner of certain parcels of real estate in Boston, Cambridge and Brookline, which it seems desirable to convert into funds to be applied for the specific purpose of the bequest. On May 24, 1909, the City Council gave authority to the Mayor to take whatever steps might be necessary to bring this about. Nothing, however, has been done in this direction until now, when his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald has decided to dispose of most of these properties at once by public auction. It has been thought best for the city to retain the estate No. 33 Beacon street, for which some desirable municipal use may be found, and which, since it was the home of Mr. Parkman, may remain a monument to the beneficence of the donor.

The auction sale method is chosen as the most satisfactory in accomplishing the city's purpose, since with adequate publicity, giving equal opportunity to all to bid, the selling prices must be absolutely fair and must represent true values.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

The Board of Street Commissioners has granted an abatement amounting to $30.60 on the assessment of $60 levied against the estate of Josie M. Harding on account of a sewer laid in Symmes street, West Roxbury. The Board has also granted an abatement amounting to the unpaid portion of an assessment of $140.30 levied against the estate of Frederick Roswell on account of a sewer laid in North Harvard street, Brighton.

The Board has awarded $450 to Anna M. Dearborn in full payment for damages occasioned to her estate by the laying out of Quint avenue, and to William D. Wales the sum of $30 for damage to estate caused by the laying out of Olney street.

The Mayor has approved the finding of the Board that there be paid to the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston the sum of $38,000, on account of a land-taking made for library purposes on North Bennet street, the area taken being about 4,899 square feet.

Similar approval has been given to the action of the Board in determining that no person suffers damage or derives special benefit in their estate because of the public improvement consisting of the relocation and construction of Church street, Boston proper, as a highway from Boylston street to Providence street.

The Board has awarded damages in the following amounts on account of the relocation and construction of Providence street, as a highway from Columbus avenue for a distance of about 932 feet southwesterly:

Willard Dalrymple et al., trustees, grade damages, $8,000; Charles E. Cotting et al., trustees, grade damages, 1,500; Virgil C. Pond et al., trustees, grade damages, $500.

The Board has determined that no person derives special benefit on account of the above public improvement of Providence street.

LAND-TAKING FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES.

The Mayor has approved a vote of the Schoolhouse Commissioners requesting the Board of Street Commissioners to take by eminent domain, for the purpose of erecting a high school of practical arts, a parcel of land known as Greenville Park, on Greenville street, in the Lewis District, Roxbury, and containing about 1,409 square feet.

The Mayor has also approved the action of the Board in awarding the sum of $5,281.50 to Sarah O. Chase on account of damage to her estate occasioned by a taking of land containing about 10,563 square feet for schoolhouse purposes on Pleasant street and Hesston terrace, Dorchester.

PAYMENTS TO DISABLED EMPLOYEES.

The following allowances granted by the Commissioner of Public Works have been approved by the Mayor:

Paving Service.—Jeremiah Phillips, 2 days at $2.25, $4.50; Patrick J. Clougherty, 6 days at $2.25, $13.50.

Sanitary Service.—Thomas J. Dolan, 12 days at $3.16½, $38; Matthew J. Barrett, 8 days at $2.25, $18; Patrick Thornton, 6½ days at $2.25, $14.63.

Street Cleaning Service.—John T. Slatery, 4 days at $2.25, $9.

Water Service.—Peter Welch, 30 days at $2.25, $67.50.

CLAIMS.

The Mayor has approved the settlement of the claim of Mrs. Louise C. Biggio, by the payment of $100 for compensation of personal injuries caused by a depression in sidewalk in front of 7 Boardman street, East Boston, November 26, 1910. This settlement was recommended by the Committee on Claims of the City Council after approval by the head of department involved, and by the Corporation Counsel.

ARCADING STREETS.

That it is possible to give to the most utilitarian thing some measure of refinement and relieve our streets, where building operations are in progress, of the ugliness that is the general feature is shown in the "builders' arcade" recently erected in New York.

This "builders' arcade," erected to comply with the requirements of New York's building department, instead of being left, as is the general custom, an unsightly structure, has had placed upon it a lattice and balustrade. This lattice was painted a dark green, and the signs affixed were artistically lettered.

The result was so satisfactory and so unusual as to meet general approval and serve as an excellent advertising medium for the builders and the owners.—The American Architect.

BERLIN'S BIG SEWERAGE SYSTEM COMPLETED.

The gigantic operation of draining and sewerage the city of Berlin is about to be completed after thirty-eight years of labor and the expenditure of $42,500,000. When the work was begun in 1873 the capital had only 860,000 inhabitants; now it has 2,163,000, excluding the suburbs. The total length of the canalization pipes, which are of iron and earthenware, is just over 795 miles. This includes the rain-water tubes, which run into the Lower Spree, and the sewage conduits, which extend to the municipal sewage farms around Berlin. The beneficial effect of the modernization of Berlin's system of drainage is shown by the diminution of the cases of typhus fever from 1.40 per 1,000 in 1872 to 0.04 per 1,000 in 1909.—Municipal Journal.

CITY OF BOSTON.

SALE OF PARKMAN REAL ESTATE.

Pursuant to an order of the City Council authorizing the Mayor to convert the real estate bequeathed to the City of Boston by the late George F. Parkman into cash, the City of Boston announces the sale at public auction of certain parcels of property. The sale of this property, described below, will be held on Tuesday, October 10, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Board, 4 Liberty square, Boston.

PARCEL No. 1.—1089 BEACON STREET, BROOKLINE. (Longwood District.)

Brick and sandstone building, four stories and basement, lot containing 2,760 square feet. Assessed value, $20,500. This estate is located between Hawes and Carleton streets, in the heart of the Longwood district.

PARCEL No. 2.—34 CENTRE STREET, BROOKLINE.

Brick single dwelling, three stories and basement, lot containing 4,910 square feet. The location is not far from Coolidge Corner, on one of Brookline's most select streets. It has light on three sides and its advantages of light, sun and air are amply protected. Assessed value, $14,400.

PARCEL No. 3.—1753 BEACON STREET, BROOKLINE.

This brick house of three stories and basement is the second house from Regent Circle and the Hotel Beaconsfield. The lot contains 2,886 square feet. Hardwood floors. Gas and electricity throughout. Heated indirectly from Hotel Beaconsfield. Assessed value, $16,000.

PARCEL No. 4.—1761 BEACON STREET, BROOKLINE.

A brick single residence consisting of three stories and basement. The lot contains 3,467 square feet. Hardwood floors. Gas and electric lights. Indirect heat from Hotel Beaconsfield. Assessed value, $18,600.

PARCEL No. 5.—45 GARRISON ROAD, BROOKLINE.

This brick single dwelling is on the end of the block known as Parkman terrace. The lot contains 4,362 square feet. Gas and electricity throughout. Indirect heat from Hotel Beaconsfield. Assessed value, $15,000.

PARCEL No. 6.—47 GARRISON ROAD, BROOKLINE.

This is the second house from the end in the Parkman Terrace block. It consists of three stories and basement, and lot containing 2,200 square feet. Assessed value, $10,500.

PARCEL No. 7.—9 BROADWAY, CAMBRIDGE.

This three-story brick house contains thirteen rooms. It is located opposite the Kendall Square Subway Station, the first stop after crossing the West Boston Bridge. The new subway brings this spot, which is in the midst of the busiest manufacturing district, within three minutes of the business center of Boston. The lot contains 2,340 square feet. Assessed value, $5,000.

PARCEL No. 8.—299 PROSPECT STREET, CAMBRIDGE.

This parcel consists of 10,175 square feet of land, having a frontage of about 90 feet on Prospect street, about 137 feet on passageway and a rear diagonal line of about 116 feet. There is a frame factory building situated on this land which is the property of the tenant at will. This district is thickly populated and the location seems to be admirably suitable for the erection of store property. The land only will be sold. Assessed value, land only, $4,600.

PARCEL No. 9.—165 ROXBURY STREET, ROXBURY.

This brick single residence and stable is one of the most expensively and tastefully built of the Parkman properties. It is located not far from Eliot square and directly opposite the spacious and well-kept grounds surrounding the First Unitarian Church—practically the central point of historical interest in Roxbury. The house contains sixteen rooms, with comfortable fireplaces conveniently distributed and finish of various expensive woods. The stable is large and well arranged and if not desired for use by the occupant may be profitably rented. The lot contains 10,546 square feet. Assessed value, $11,900.

PARCEL No. 10.—138 WEST CONCORD STREET, BOSTON.

This four-story brick house is located in the most desirable section of the South End lodging house district. It is particularly adapted for lodging purposes, and has never rented for less than $50 per month. It is in excellent repair and should prove a profitable investment. Assessed value, $6,700.

PARCEL No. 11.—161-163 FRANKLIN STREET AND 167-169 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON.

This parcel, having a frontage on Congress and Franklin streets, occupies the controlling position in the entire block extending to Federal street. The increasing values of property in this section is indicated by its development as a financial center. In this connection it is significant to note that a part of the lot on the opposite side on Franklin street was in the past seriously considered as a suitable site for the Boston Stock Exchange. Already many of the strongest financial houses, such as the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company, the Commonwealth Trust Company, Eliot National Bank and the First National Bank, which is directly opposite this building, have settled in this district. An unobstructed view from Post Office square and its location on one of the main avenues of traffic toward the South Station give this parcel a commanding mercantile position. In addition to these advantages its situation on a principal traffic thoroughfare assures an increase in value with the commercial growth of the city. The lot contains 1,753 square feet. Assessed value, $79,400.

INFORMATION FOR BIDDERS.

The properties will be sold in the order herein represented unless otherwise stated by the auctioneer.

The sale of parcel No. 1, No. 1089 Beacon street, will be subject to lease expiring October 1, 1913, with privilege of cancellation after February 15, 1912, on sixty days' notice.

Anyone is entitled to bid at this sale. The auctioneer will be pleased to answer any question relating to the parcel being offered.

Each parcel will be sold to the highest bidder at or above a stipulated minimum price.

The purchaser will be required to pay 10 per cent of the purchase price in cash, certified check or savings bank draft, at the time of sale and the balance in thirty days at the time and place stated in the terms of sale.

All sales are for cash only.

Taxes will be apportioned as of date of sale.

Restrictions: So far as the auctioneer is aware at the time of going to press, there are no restrictions preventing the uses of these properties to which they are now devoted. If any such are found, they will be announced at the offering of the parcel to which they apply.

The houses will be open for inspection several days before the sale.

All areas and measurements herein mentioned are approximate.

For further particulars application should be made to JOHN C. KILEY, 18 Tremont street, Boston.

BOWDOIN S. PARKER,

Collector of Taxes for the City of Boston.

AMSTERDAM.

The main features of the capital of the Netherlands are fairly familiar to Americans. The city is contained in a semi-circle, of which the harbor is the diameter line. For the greater part in the old city, canals take the place of streets. These canals are bordered with quays, which serve the double purpose of traffic streets and wharves for merchandise. Bordering these quays are the typical Dutch houses—spotlessly clean within and without—and of a type which is in its own way as admirable as that produced in the Georgian period in London and Edinburgh. To complete the charm of these canals, tall trees line the banks, bearing full witness to the method and foresight of the Amsterdam patricians in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

Mention has been made of the smells of Amsterdam, and it is, therefore, only just that the proud record of Amsterdam as the capital city with the lowest death rate in Europe, should be mentioned. It is difficult to understand why Amsterdam should have this distinction, except it be due to the undoubted fact that the great mass of the people make almost a religion of cleanliness.

The future of Amsterdam from the town planning point of view is happily secure, as a result of the wise foresight of the Municipal Council in purchasing a large area of land beyond the city and making a town plan for this area—covering some five square miles in all.

In a few years the policy of gradually closing all dwellings unfit for human habitation will secure for Amsterdam a clean record, and without doubt still further reduce the present death rate of 12.2 per 1,000.

CHICAGO MAY OWN SUBWAY FOR ALL TIME.

Mayor Carter H. Harrison has appointed a commission which is to design a passenger subway system for Chicago. Each of the commissioners will receive a salary of $12,000 a year. In outlining his policy regarding the subway, Mayor Harrison said: "While the commissioners will have full swing in regard to engineering problems and questions of technical detail, they will be expected to shape their plans in accordance with the cardinal principles that the city must own and control its subway system or systems for all time."—Municipal Journal.

TO BUILD ITS OWN SUBWAYS.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Chicago's policy regarding construction of proposed subways under the present administration has been agreed upon. At the suggestion of Mayor Harrison, who took part in the discussion, the Council Committee on Local Transportation placed itself on record as favoring absolute municipal ownership of the subways, the construction to be paid for entirely by the city without aid from the traction companies or any other outside source. The decision was regarded as a blow to all advocates of subway construction by private capital.

PROPOSE FINE FOR WATER WASTERS.

At a meeting of the city council of Denison, Tex., last week City Attorney Decker was ordered to draw an ordinance providing for a fine of not more than $100 to be assessed against any water user convicted of willfully wasting water. Superintendent Berry of the water department reported to the council that he had reason to believe that some water consumers were sprinkling lawns and otherwise using water in a manner not justified by the existing state of the water supply. Hence the ordinance referred to above.

BUILDINGS GOING STILL HIGHER.

In a paper read before the Philadelphia conference on city planning, Ernest Flag declares his belief that the high building has taken possession of American cities and cannot now be controlled by legislation. He says that the limit has not yet been reached, and that structures of 2,000 feet in height are a possibility. He says the existence of these high buildings will necessitate a new style of architecture for public buildings, which are now made to look squatly and ridiculous.

BOSTON NOTES.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT.

Consists of 30 municipalities, including Boston, or 13 cities and 17 towns, all within 10 miles of State House. Population in 1910, 1,378,435, or 151,577 more than in 1905. Total valuation of taxable property in district on April 1, 1910, $2,214,446,549, of which $820,681,126 was outside of Boston. Net municipal debt of district, $104,213,329, of which the 29 municipalities outside Boston owed $34,626,564. The total net metropolitan debt for water, parks, sewers, and Charles River Basin improvements on February 1, 1911, was $60,008,172, which added to the net municipal debt makes a total of $164,221,401. Of 1910 tax rates, the highest was Chelsea's ($22.40); the lowest (except Nahant's) was Milton's ($11.90). Only four towns and no city had a lower tax rate than Boston, viz., Nahant ($9), Milton ($11.90), Brookline ($12.50), Swampscott, ($15.00). Total of registered voters in district outside of Boston in 1910, 121,914; total registered in Boston, 110,326. Democratic majority over all in entire district in 1910, for Governor, 23,128. In the 35 years, 1875-1910, the population of the district outside Boston increased 454,287, or 179.16 per cent; in Boston, 328,666, or 96.12 per cent.

BOSTON ONE OF FIRST CITIES TO PAVE STREETS.

Early paving practice was touched upon by Mr. George W. Tillson in a paper presented at the third city planning conference at Philadelphia. The first pavement laid in this country, he said, was in the old town of Pemaquid, Me. As nearly as can be ascertained, this pavement was laid in 1625. Boston laid its first pavements in 1650, and New York in 1856, both cities using cobblestone. Belgian blocks were introduced in 1850, the present oblong granite not being used until some twenty years later. Brick and asphalt were first laid in the seventies, and the present treated wood blocks about twelve or fifteen years ago. The first creosote-treated wood pavement was laid on Tremont street, Boston, in 1900.

TRUST FUNDS AND BEQUESTS HELD BY CITY OF BOSTON.

The number of separate funds and bequests held by city for various purposes, 114, representing a total value of about $8,400,000. The earliest dates back to 1674, viz., Gibson School Fund. The largest bequest is that of the late George F. Parkman, consisting of various parcels of real estate valued at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000. Total amount of fund in custody of City Treasurer March 31, 1911, $3,681,363.42. Another bequest, that of Peter Bent Brigham, not held by the city, but by a private corporation, is to be used to establish the Brigham Hospital for the care of indigent sick persons residing in Suffolk County. By chapter 370, Acts of 1909, the corporation was authorized to hold property not exceeding $7,000,000 in value (including $5,000,000 previously authorized).

BOSTON'S PUBLIC STREETS AND SEWERS.

Total miles of paved streets (about 2,000 streets in all) February 1, 1911, 521.21 (exclusive of streets not accepted); 353.81 miles are paved with macadam, 98.63 miles with granite block, 21.98 miles with asphalt. Total miles of common and intercepting sewers, 789.05.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without public advertisement, requests of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising, and also additions to and deductions from contracts.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

The Mayor has approved a contract, made without advertising, with M. F. McDonald & Son for erecting a reviewing stand on Boston Common for Columbus Day, the estimated cost being $981. The material in this stand will be sold and removed after October 12.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Paving Service).

The Mayor has approved a contract, made without advertising, with the Warren Brothers Company for repaving with bitulithic pavement over the sewer trench on Dartmouth street, between Beacon and Newbury streets, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisements, the estimated cost for labor and materials, being $5,750.

This contract is made necessary from the fact that the pavement on this street is under a guarantee until 1913, by Warren Brothers Company.

A sewer was built in this street which destroyed the surface of the roadway over the trench, and for the purpose of maintaining the guarantee it is advisable to make this contract.

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Mayor has granted to the Commissioner of Public Works authority to do the following work with the department force without advertising for competitive bids:

Repair the sewer in Union Park street, between Albany street and Harrison avenue, city proper, the estimated cost for labor and materials being over $1,000.

"The above work, in my opinion, can be as advantageously done by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

L. K. ROURKE,

Commissioner of Public Works."

Regulate Atkinson street, from Southampton street westerly, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $2,000.

Resurface and regulate Howell street, from Boston street to Dorchester avenue, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $1,400.

"This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved by the Mayor:

LAND-TAKING FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES.

The Mayor has approved the finding of the Board of Street Commissioners that the following amounts be paid on account of damage to various estates by reason of a land-taking made for schoolhouse purposes on Glenville and Winthrop streets, Roxbury:

Heirs or devisees of James McCormack, 27,421 square feet, $25,000; William Barton, 6,298 square feet, $7,200; Lewis Whittaker, 764 square feet, $305.60; Lewis Whittaker (Glenville Park), 1,409 square feet, nothing.

WATER METERS TO SAVE COST OF AQUEDUCT.

The District of Columbia must meter the water sold to consumers or face the alternative at a comparatively early date of spending $4,000,000 in the construction of a new aqueduct. This is the problem confronting officials, and the reason back of the proposed increase in water rates, according to a statement by engineer commissioner Judson. Plainly indicating that the commissioners are not desirous of recommending at any time soon an appropriation with which to build a new aqueduct, Commission Judson's statement is believed to indicate that the district heads are inclined now to be in favor of an increase in water rates, with the object of metering the service. Because the district is being furnished water free by the federal government the commissioners, it is said, are opposed to asking for an appropriation with which to build an aqueduct, fearing that Congress would endeavor to saddle the entire cost of the improvement upon the district. To charge consumers, on a meter basis, for the quantity of water used, it is pointed out, will result in reducing the total consumption and the present aqueduct will be large enough for the present needs.—Municipal Journal.

AUTOMOBILE STREET CLEANERS IN BERLIN.

The city of Berlin has this year purchased for cleaning its streets a number of machines which are driven by electric power, these being the "Waschmaschinen" manufactured by Henschel & Co., of that city. These are squeegees, similar to those used in this country, except that the latter have all been horse-drawn, we believe. These are the first motor-driven squeegees to be purchased by Berlin, although a number of horse-drawn ones have been used for several years.—Municipal Journal.

CITY OF BOSTON.

PROPOSALS FOR LAYING WATER PIPE.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 49 City Hall, invites proposals for laying 2,250 linear feet of 36-inch water pipe in Washington and Sanford streets, Dorchester, and giving bond thereof of a surety company, approved by the commissioner, in the sum of eight hundred dollars ($800), to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of bids may be obtained at Room 49, City Hall. Each bid should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Bid for Laying Water Pipe," and left at the Hearing Room, second floor, City Hall, before 12 m. on Tuesday, October 17, 1911, with a certified check for five hundred dollars ($500), payable to and to become the property of the city if the bid after acceptance is not carried out. The bids will then and there be publicly opened and read. Bids must be made in duplicate, the duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

CITY OF BOSTON.

SALE OF PARKMAN REAL ESTATE.

Pursuant to an order of the City Council authorizing the Mayor to convert the real estate bequeathed to the City of Boston by the late George F. Parkman into cash, the City of Boston announces the sale at public auction of certain parcels of property. The sale of this property, described below, will be held on Tuesday, October 10, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Board, 4 Liberty square, Boston.

PARCEL No. 1.—1089 BEACON STREET, BROOKLINE. (Longwood District.)

Brick and sandstone building, four stories and basement, lot containing 2,760 square feet. Assessed value, $20,500. This estate is located between Hawes and Carleton streets, in the heart of the Longwood district.

PARCEL No. 2.—34 CENTRE STREET, BROOKLINE.

Brick single dwelling, three stories and basement, lot containing 4,910 square feet. The location is not far from Coolidge Corner, on one of Brookline's most select streets. It has light on three sides and its advantages of light, sun and air are amply protected. Assessed value, $14,400.

PARCEL No. 3.—1753 BEACON STREET, BROOKLINE.

This brick house of three stories and basement is the second house from Regent Circle and the Hotel Beaconsfield. The lot contains 2,886 square feet. Hardwood floors. Gas and electricity throughout. Heated indirectly from Hotel Beaconsfield. Assessed value, $16,000.

PARCEL No. 4.—1761 BEACON STREET, BROOKLINE.

A brick single residence consisting of three stories and basement. The lot contains 3,467 square feet. Hardwood floors. Gas and electric lights. Indirect heat from Hotel Beaconsfield. Assessed value, $18,600.

PARCEL No. 5.—45 GARRISON ROAD, BROOKLINE.

This brick single dwelling is on the end of the block known as Parkman terrace. The lot contains 4,362 square feet. Gas and electricity throughout. Indirect heat from Hotel Beaconsfield. Assessed value, $15,000.

PARCEL No. 6.—47 GARRISON ROAD, BROOKLINE.

This is the second house from the end in the Parkman Terrace block. It consists of three stories and basement, and lot containing 2,200 square feet. Assessed value, $10,500.

PARCEL No. 7.—9 BROADWAY, CAMBRIDGE.

This three-story brick house contains thirteen rooms. It is located opposite the Kendall Square Subway Station, the first stop after crossing the West Boston Bridge. The new subway brings this spot, which is in the midst of the busiest manufacturing district, within three minutes of the business center of Boston. The lot contains 2,340 square feet. Assessed value, $5,000.

PARCEL No. 8.—299 PROSPECT STREET, CAMBRIDGE.

This parcel consists of 10,175 square feet of land, having a frontage of about 90 feet on Prospect street, about 137 feet on passageway and a rear diagonal line of about 116 feet. There is a frame factory building situated on this land which is the property of the tenant at will. This district is thickly populated and the location seems to be admirably suitable for the erection of store property. The land only will be sold. Assessed value, land only, $4,600.

PARCEL No. 9.—165 ROXBURY STREET, ROXBURY.

This brick single residence and stable is one of the most expensively and tastefully built of the Parkman properties. It is located not far from Eliot square and directly opposite the spacious and well-kept grounds surrounding the First Unitarian Church—practically the central point of historical interest in Roxbury. The house contains sixteen rooms, with comfortable fireplaces conveniently distributed and finish of various expensive woods. The stable is large and well arranged and if not desired for use by the occupant may be profitably rented. The lot contains 10,546 square feet. Assessed value, $11,900.

PARCEL No. 10.—138 WEST CONCORD STREET, BOSTON.

This four-story brick house is located in the most desirable section of the South End lodging house district. It is particularly adapted for lodging purposes, and has never rented for less than $50 per month. It is in excellent repair and should prove a profitable investment. Assessed value, $6,700.

PARCEL No. 11.—161-163 FRANKLIN STREET AND 167-169 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON.

This parcel, having a frontage on Congress and Franklin streets, occupies the controlling position in the entire block extending to Federal street. The increasing values of property in this section is indicated by its development as a financial center. In this connection it is significant to note that a part of the lot on the opposite side on Franklin street was in the past seriously considered as a suitable site for the Boston Stock Exchange. Already many of the strongest financial houses, such as the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company, the Commonwealth Trust Company, Eliot National Bank and the First National Bank, which is directly opposite this building, have settled in this district. An unobstructed view from Post Office square and its location on one of the main avenues of traffic toward the South Station give this parcel a commanding mercantile position. In addition to these advantages its situation on a principal traffic thoroughfare assures an increase in value with the commercial growth of the city. The lot contains 1,753 square feet. Assessed value, $79,400.

INFORMATION FOR BIDDERS.

The properties will be sold in the order herein represented unless otherwise stated by the auctioneer.

The sale of parcel No. 1, No. 1089 Beacon street, will be subject to lease expiring October 1, 1913, with privilege of cancellation after February 15, 1912, on sixty days' notice.

Anyone is entitled to bid at this sale. The auctioneer will be pleased to answer any question relating to the parcel being offered.

Each parcel will be sold to the highest bidder at or above a stipulated minimum price.

The purchaser will be required to pay 10 per cent of the purchase price in cash, certified check or savings bank draft, at the time of sale and the balance in thirty days at the time and place stated in the terms of sale.

All sales are for cash only.

Taxes will be apportioned as of date of sale.

Restrictions: So far as the auctioneer is aware at the time of going to press, there are no restrictions preventing the uses of these properties to which they are now devoted. If any such are found, they will be announced at the offering of the parcel to which they apply.

The houses will be open for inspection several days before the sale.

All areas and measurements herein mentioned are approximate.

For further particulars application should be made to JOHN C. KILEY, 18 Tremont street, Boston.

CITY OF BOSTON.

TO GENERAL CONTRACTORS.

The Schoolhouse Commissioners of the City of Boston invite sealed proposals for erecting and completing (all trades) Elementary School, lower grades, Phillips Brooks District, Magnolia street, Dorchester, Boston, Mass., and giving bond of a surety company therefor in the sum of $30,000. Only proposals obtained at the office of the commissioners, 120 Boylston street, signed by the bidder and left before 12 o'clock m. of Thursday, October 19, 1911, at said office, with a certified check for $2,000, payable to the city if the proposal is not carried out, will then and there be publicly opened and read. The bid must be made in duplicate, the one with the check to be sent as above, the other to be deposited with the City Auditor, City Hall, previous to the time named for opening bids. The commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all proposals.

CITY OF BOSTON.

PROPOSALS FOR MILK.

The trustees will receive sealed proposals for a supply of milk for the Hospital Department between November 1, 1911, and May 1, 1912, provided that after February 1, 1912, sufficient appropriation is made therefor and the trustees so order, otherwise to terminate February 1, 1912. Proposals for the total supply or for part of the supply, but not less than 400 quarts a day, will be considered. The milk supply is to include delivery at the hospital proper, 818 Harrison avenue, the South Department, 745 Massachusetts avenue, the Haymarket Square Relief Station, the East Boston Relief Station, 14 Porter street, East Boston, and the Convalescent Home, 2150 Dorchester avenue, Dorchester. Each proposal must be accompanied by a properly certified check for one hundred dollars ($100), and a bond will be required of an approved surety company not exceeding two thousand dollars ($2,000), as fixed by the trustees, for the faithful performance of the contract. The quantity of milk desired for all departments will vary from 1,148 to 1,488 quarts per day, more or less, according to the requirements of the season and the number of patients. Each receptacle must be clean and particularly free from dents, and have the name of the contractor, the dairy from which the milk comes and "The Boston City Hospital" stamped or otherwise indelibly marked thereon, and be sealed when it leaves the dairy. The milk is to be transported in coolers with a capacity of from twenty to forty quarts. These coolers are to be used exclusively for the Boston City Hospital. The contractor will be required to furnish to the trustees a list of the dairies from which the milk supply for the hospital will be taken. The milk from each dairy must be properly identified. In each case the product and the premises will be subject to the approval of an inspector appointed by the trustees. The employees must also be subject to an examination by this inspector. The contract calls for pure dairy milk, neither skimmed, topped nor watered, and which, when subjected to analysis, shall be shown to have none of its natural constituents removed and nothing added thereto, or milk prepared according to the process of the Boston White Cross Milk Company, or such other process as may be satisfactory to the trustees and staff of the hospital. Said milk to be of the quality required by the laws of the Commonwealth. The bacterial count must not exceed 100,000 bacteria to the cubic centimeter. The animals in each dairy must be of record as having passed successfully the test with tuberculin at dates satisfactory to the trustees. If the dairies are situated outside of the Commonwealth, the right is reserved to have them inspected by an officer of the State Board of Health, as well as by the special inspector of the trustees. Milk must be delivered at the hospital before 12 o'clock noon on each day, and must not be more than twenty-four hours old. The bid of a proposer who does not receive an invoice of milk on Sunday will not be considered. Price to be per quart. The contractor is to be responsible for the cleanliness of the coolers. Proposals should be addressed "The Boston City Hospital, Proposals for Milk Supply," and left at the hospital not later than Tuesday, October 17, 1911, at 12 o'clock noon, at which time and place they will be publicly opened. A duplicate copy of the proposal must be filed with the City Auditor before 12 o'clock noon on the date given above for receiving proposals. The right is reserved to reject any and all proposals.

By order of the Trustees,

JOHN H. MCCOLLOM,

Superintendent.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 49 City Hall, invites proposals for constructing a macadam roadway in Drayton avenue, between Quincy and Bodwell streets, Dorchester, and giving bond thereof of a surety company approved by the commissioner. Only proposals obtained at said office, filled out, signed by the bidder and left at the Hearing Room, second floor, City Hall, before 12 o'clock m. of Monday, October 16, 1911, with a certified check for five hundred dollars ($500), payable to and to be the property of the city if the proposal is not carried out, will at said hour and place be publicly opened and read. The proposals must be made in duplicate, the duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best, and no proposal will be accepted unless a fair, reasonable price is bid for each item. The proposals should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, and marked "Proposal for Macadam Roadway in Drayton Avenue."

LOUIS K. ROURKE,

Commissioner of Public Works.

Boston, October 5, 1911.

(Oct. 7.)

PROPOSALS FOR ARTIFICIAL STONE SIDEWALKS.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 49 City Hall, invites proposals for constructing artificial stone sidewalks in Glenville avenue, between Harvard avenue and Allston square, Brighton, and giving bond thereof of a surety company approved by the commissioner. Only proposals obtained at said office, filled out, signed by the bidder and left at the Hearing Room, second floor, before 12 o'clock m. of Friday, October 13, 1911, with a certified check for three hundred dollars ($300), payable to and to be the property of the city if the proposal is not carried out, will at said hour and place be publicly opened and read. The proposals must be made in duplicate, the duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals, or to award the contract as he deems best. The proposals should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, and marked "Proposal for Artificial Stone Sidewalks in Glenville Avenue."

(Oct. 7.)

PROPOSALS FOR SEWERAGE WORKS IN ST. JAMES AVENUE AND PROVIDENCE STREET.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 49 City Hall, invites proposals for sewerage works in St. James avenue and Providence street, between Huntington avenue and Park square, city proper, and giving bond thereof of a surety company, approved by the commissioner, in the sum of eight thousand dollars ($8,000), to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of bids may be obtained at Room 49, City Hall. Each bid should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Bid for Sewerage Works in St. James Avenue and Providence Street," and left at the Hearing Room, second floor, City Hall, before 12 m. on Tuesday, October 17, 1911, with a certified check for three thousand dollars ($3,000), payable to and to become the property of the city if the bid after acceptance is not carried out. The bids will then and there be publicly opened and read. Bids must be made in duplicate, the duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

SIDEWALK ORDERS—VETO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 27, 1911.
To the City Council:

I beg to return herewith, without my approval, an order passed by your honorable body at its meeting of September 18, 1911, which provides that the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along 113-115 Williams street, and on the Plainfield street side of said estate. The Commissioner of Public Works withholds his approval on the ground that this work should not be done during the present season.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Placed on file.

Office of the Mayor, September 27, 1911.
To the City Council:

I beg to return, without my approval, an order passed by your honorable body at its meeting of September 18, 1911, which provides that the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along 123 Washington street, Ward 20, extending four houses beyond said estate. The Commissioner of Public Works withholds his approval on the ground that this work should not be done during the present season.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Placed on file.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE MAYOR.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 2, 1911.
To the City Council:

Subject to confirmation by your honorable body, I hereby appoint Olaf Bensen (Parental School, Ward 23), Walter G. Conant (81 Billings street, Atlantic), Miss Agnes F. Farrington (22 Autumn street, Somerville) and James R. Taylor (8½ Arbella street, Salem), Weighers of Coal for the term ending April 30, 1912.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Laid over under the law.

MONEY FOR BATH DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 2, 1911.
To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the chairman of the Board of Bath Trustees, requesting an additional appropriation of eight thousand nine hundred and eighty dollars and seventy-five cents ($8,980.75) for the Bath Department. He states that owing to the purchase of extra supplies the appropriation voted by your honorable body at the beginning of the year has been greatly diminished and it will be necessary to have this additional sum in order to carry on the important work of the department.

I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of nine thousand dollars ($9,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Bath Department.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Bath Department, October 2, 1911.
Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Sir,—I respectfully request an additional appropriation of $8,980.75 for the Bath Department. This additional appropriation has become necessary owing to the extra demands made on the department during the past season as regards additional forces at L street and other houses, and the extraordinary demands that were made on us during the extreme hot spell the first few weeks in July, when, as suggested by you, the department spared no expense in caring for the public. Owing also to the fact that this year, for the first time, trunks were worn at L street, the sum of $3,195 was expended for the purchase of same. Also the trustees purchased $1,760 worth of towels and $2,665.80 worth of bathing suits for the department. The wearing of tights at L street increased the work in the laundry, which made it necessary, as a consequence, to increase our force at that place.

The original appropriation of $186,000 has proved inadequate owing to the reasons stated above, and in addition, also, to the fact that we open on the 2d of October two new houses, one at Paris street, East Boston, and the other in Curtis Hall, Jamaica Plain.

I transmit herewith an itemized account of the amounts necessary for conducting the department for the balance of the year:

East Boston Gymnasium, from October 1 to January 31:
Salaries.....	$3,892 29
Gymnastic instructors.....	733 00
Maintenance.....	1,383 33

Curtis Hall, from November 1 to January 31:
Salaries.....	1,769 13
Gymnastic instructors.....	733 00
Maintenance.....	50 00
Swimming instructors, from November 1 to January 31.....	420 00
	$8,980 75

Respectfully submitted,
RICHARD M. WALSH,
Chairman Bath Trustees.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of nine thousand dollars ($9,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Bath Department.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

HOSPITAL FOR TUBERCULAR CHILDREN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 29, 1911.
To the City Council:

I beg to transmit the accompanying letter from the chairman of the Consumptives' Hospital Department, urging an appropriation of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) for the erection of a hospital to contain fifty beds for children with demonstrable tuberculosis.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Consumptives' Hospital,
September 18, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Trustees of the Boston Consumptives' Hospital held on September 15, 1911, I was directed to call the attention of your Honor to a letter from this Board to yourself dated May 25, 1911, requesting an appropriation for $50,000 for the erection of a hospital to contain fifty (50) beds for children with demonstrable tuberculosis, and $80,000 for another concrete building similar to the two concrete buildings now erected at Mattapan, making a total of $130,000. The request for an appropriation for a children's hospital was first made in September, 1909. The Board directs me to say that the need for a children's hospital particularly is pressing and immediate, and continued progress along the lines which have put Boston in the lead among the cities of the world in fighting tuberculosis will require that this appropriation be made forthwith.

Trusting that this will meet with your approval, I am,

Respectfully yours,
EDWARD F. MCSWENEY, Chairman.
Referred to the Committee on Finance.

IMPROVEMENTS ON BOSTON COMMON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 29, 1911.
To the City Council:

I have carefully considered the request made in the accompanying letter from the Superintendent of Public Grounds and desire to recommend an appropriation of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) from the Parkman Fund for the purposes indicated by him. There are at the present time about seventy thousand dollars ($70,000) available from this fund and by the end of the present calendar year it is expected that some twenty-two thousand dollars ($22,000) more will be added to the income. I have already recommended an appropriation of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for bubble fountains, convenience stations and other improvements, and four appropriations, totaling twenty-four thousand two hundred dollars ($24,200) to be expended by the Board of Park Commissioners for improvements at Charlesbank, Castle Island and Franklin Field. These, with the appropriation now recommended, would take sixty-four thousand two hundred dollars ($64,200), a sum which falls within the income now available, and will leave nearly thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) at the end of the calendar year for other purposes. I trust that all the income will be appropriated, as there are many legitimate purposes to which it may be applied and no particular advantage in leaving a remainder at the end of the year to be added to the principal.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Grounds Department,
September 22, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—For your information I wish to state that upon payment of the contracts now let and those anticipated in the immediate future in connection with the improvements on Boston Common, under the Parkman Fund, the small surplus of about $3,000 will then be available for future work.

With such an amount we cannot hope to undertake our contemplated work along present defined lines for the coming fall. Under these circumstances I wish to strongly recommend to your consideration the advisability of further appropriation for the continuance of these studied improvements.

Reference to our former letters of March 7, May 20 and June 7 will show the necessity for such additional money.

It is to be regretted if this work must cease at the present stage when everything is progressing so satisfactorily, and, in my estimation, it would be a serious drawback for future undertakings if for lack of additional appropriation we cannot continue under the present well organized system. I trust this matter will receive favorable consideration.

Respectfully yours,
D. H. SULLIVAN, Superintendent.

Ordered, That the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) be and hereby is appropriated from the income of the Parkman Fund, to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for Soil Renovation and General Improvements on Boston Common.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection the order will be referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move a suspension of the rules that the order may be placed on its passage.

The motion to suspend the rule was declared lost by a rising vote, 4 to 4. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The Council refused to suspend the rules, yeas 4, nays 4.

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Buckley, Curley, McDonald—4.

Nays—Coun. Collins, Hale, Kenny, Smith—4. President COLLINS—The order will be referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

PRINTING OF PROBATE INDEXES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 2, 1911.
To the City Council:

I beg to transmit herewith a communication from the Register of Probate, requesting an appropriation of four thousand five hundred (4,500) dollars for the purpose of printing in one volume 100 copies of the present Volumes 1 and 2 of the Probate Indexes from 1894 to 1910.

The reasons given in this letter seem to me to be satisfactory and I recommend that, after your honorable body, sitting as County Commissioners, has authorized the Register of Probate to print these volumes, the appended order transferring the sum stipulated from the Reserve Fund to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Probate Court, be passed.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Probate Court and Court of Insolvency,
Boston, Mass., September 29, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor of Boston, and the City Council of the City of Boston, as such, and as they are County Commissioners of the County of Suffolk:

Dear Sirs,—The indexes of cases entered in the Registry of Probate from 1894 to 1910 are made up of four written volumes of approximately 700 pages each. The bulk of these volumes is such, and their use by the public so continuous, that they cannot possibly last more than, say, three years.
To rewrite them would take the entire time of two clerks for at least two years. A consolidated index of all cases from 1636 to 1894 was printed several years ago. I have caused to be rewritten the first two volumes of the series from 1894 to 1910 that the same may be printed and the index put in an enduring form. Upon the printing of the present Volumes 1 and 2 of the indexes from 1894 to 1910, the present Volumes 3 and 4 of this series will be rewritten and authority requested for printing the same. I have requested the Municipal Printing Department to furnish me an estimate of the cost of printing 100 copies of the first two volumes of the series in one volume, and have received a reply to the effect that the cost would be $4,027.50. I believe that this is a reasonable figure, and I respectfully request that authority be granted to print said index and that an appropriation of $4,500 be made by transfer from the Reserve Fund for the purpose of printing 100 volumes of what will be Volume 1, now Volumes 1 and 2, of the Probate
Indexes from 1894 to 1910.

Yours very respectfully,
ARTHUR W. DOLAN, Register.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of four thousand five hundred ($4,500) dollars from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Probate Court.

The communication and order were declared
referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, in connection with the communication from his Honor the Mayor
I desire to present this order:

Ordered, That the Register of Probate within and for our County of Suffolk be and he hereby is authorized to cause to be printed the first two volumes of the Probate Index for said County of Suffolk from 1894 to 1910, said two volumes to be consolidated and printed as one volume.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I most respectfully move reconsideration of reference of the transfer order to the Executive Committee, that the same may be acted on at this time, and when acted on I shall move the adoption of the order.

Reconsideration of reference to the Executive Committee prevailed.

On motion of Coun. CURLEY, the recommendation and order submitted by the Mayor were adopted, yeas 8, nays 0.

Coun. CURLEY's order was passed, yeas 8,
nays 0.

WIDENING OF NORFOLK STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 29, 1911.

To the City Council:

I have received the order passed by your honorable body at its meeting of September 11, 1911, that I be requested to consider the advisability of at once recommending the transfer of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the widening of Norfolk street, Dorchester; also a resolve of similar tenor requesting the transfer of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) for the same purpose.

The secretary of the Street Laying-Out Department, in a communication which is appended hereto, has transmitted estimates of the cost of widening this street to a width of 60 feet from Washington street to the bridge at Corbet street, to Morton street, to Walk Hill street, and to Blue Hill avenue.
The estimates are $150,000, $200,000, $250,000 and $265,000, respectively. As the stretch from Washington street to Corbet street bears the largest amount of traffic it seems to me that this part should receive attention first. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the appended loan order appropriating one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) for the widening of Norfolk street.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Street Laying-Out Department,
September 25, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Complying with your suggestion of a few days ago the Board of Street Commissioners has had estimates prepared of the cost of widening Norfolk street, Dorchester, for its whole length and for various parts thereof, according to the amount of money available.

For $265,000 the street could be widened to 60 feet from Washington street to Blue Hill avenue.

For $250,000 it could be widened to 60 feet from Washington street to Walk Hill street.

For $200,000 it could be widened to 60 feet from Washington street to Morton street.

For $150,000 it could be widened to 60 feet from Washington street to the bridge at Corbet street.
In none of these estimates is sewerage work included.

Very truly yours,
J. J. O'CALLAGHAN, Secretary.

Ordered, That the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Street Commissioners for widening of Norfolk street, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

WIDENING OF UNION PARK STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 2, 1911.

To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable body held September 11, 1911, a loan order was recommended by me for seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) for the widening of Union Park street, between Washington street and Harrison avenue. I need not reiterate here the arguments for this improvement which have been set forth by me in two messages. It has been brought to my attention that owing to the comparative smallness of the amount involved some members of your honorable body prefer to have this brought before them in the form of a transfer from the Reserve Fund. The Reserve Fund on October 1 amounted to nearly three-quarters of a million dollars and could, in my opinion, be reduced by this moderate amount without prejudice to any important public interest.
I desire to recommend therefore the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the widening of Union Park street, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Street Commissioners.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the widening of Union Park street, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Street Commissioners.

The order was declared referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration of the reference.

The motion to reconsider the reference was declared lost. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The motion was lost, yeas 2, nays 7, Coun. Buckley and Curley voting yeas.

The order stood referred to the Executive Committee.

PLEASANT STREET WIDENING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 29, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a petition signed by many leading merchants and representatives of business houses, asking that the city accept chapter 591 of the Acts of 1911, a copy of which is attached herewith, which provides for the widening of Pleasant street from Washington street to Eliot street at Park square. This measure seems to me to make possible one of the most important street improvements that have been urged in recent years. With Pleasant street, now a narrow and crooked thoroughfare, widened to a width of 60 feet, easy connections could be made between South Boston and the business district through the subway, as well as with the West End, Cambridge and the Back Bay. It is one of those street improvements which seem predestined and as the buildings along the route are now old and the damages to be paid would in consequence be comparatively light, there is little wisdom in postponing it to a time when the benefits will be no greater or more obvious, while the cost will certainly be increased.

In bringing before your honorable body this important act of the Legislature I feel it my duty to notify you that a small parcel of real estate which would be taken in the course of the improvement is owned by one of my brothers. I have considered this feature carefully but the profit, if any, to a member of my family is so small and the improvement is so necessary that I do not feel that such a personal consideration should deter me from following what seems to be the plain path of duty. The improvement is one of wide and far-reaching influence upon the prosperity of the city. It involves the careful consideration of many financial factors and I recommend that your honorable body take up the study of the question with a view to appropriate action at the proper time.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.
(A copy of chapter 591 of the Acts of 1911 was transmitted with the message.)

(Petitions for the widening of Pleasant street were also annexed, the same being signed by many people.)

Ordered printed and referred to the Executive Committee.

COST OF RETIREMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 2, 1911.

To the City Council:

I beg to submit a statement from the City Auditor in reply to a request transmitted by me in accordance with the vote of your honorable body at the meeting of May 22, 1911, to the effect that "the City Auditor be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to submit to the City Council a statement as to the amount of money it will cost the city yearly if chapter 619 of the Acts of 1910, as amended by chapter 338 of the Acts of 1911, is accepted by the city and retirements made in the various departments."

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Auditing Department,
September 30, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—In reply to the order of the City Council
"That the City Auditor be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to submit to the City Council a statement as to the amount of money it will cost the city yearly if chapter 619 of the Acts of 1910, as amended by chapter 338 of the Acts of 1911, is accepted by the city and retirements made in the various departments," would state that a special committee appointed by your Honor made a comprehensive report on this matter last year, giving estimates on different basis for the first and sixth years. (See City Document No. 155 of 1910, a copy of which is inclosed.) This report seems to be as good an estimate as can be made at this time.

Respectfully,
J. ALFRED MITCHELL, City Auditor.
Referred to the Executive Committee.

RETIREMENT OF LABORERS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 29, 1911.

To the City Council:

In compliance with your request, contained in an order passed at the meeting of September 11, I transmit herewith a copy of the circular sent to the heads of city departments requesting information in regard to the operation of the provisions of chapter 413 of the Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to the Retirement Fund for Laborers Employed by the City of Boston," with replies received from the heads of various departments.
Further information upon this subject will be transmitted to your honorable body as it is received by me.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

The President called up Nos. 1 and 2, unfinished business, viz.:

1. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor September 18 of Henry W. Cowles and Dominic Dineen to be Constables for the term ending April 30, 1912.

2. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor September 18, viz.: John Connors and Thomas Hughes, to be Weighers of Coal; Charles I. Albee, George H. Battis, James Buckley, Pearl L. Slocumb and Maud P. Flinn, to be Weighers of Coal and Measures of Wood and Bark; S. Everett Giles, to be an Inspector of Pressed or Bundled Hay and Straw and a Measurer of Grain; all for the term ending April 30, 1912.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Curley and Ballantyne. Whole number of ballots cast 9, yeas 9, and the several appointments were confirmed.

CONSTRUCTION OF SEWERAGE WORKS.

The President called up No. 3, unfinished business, viz.:

3. Ordered. That in addition to the three hundred and ninety-five thousand dollars ($395,000) heretofore appropriated, the sum of five thousand dollars be appropriated for the construction of sewerage works within the watershed of the Charles River Basin, under the provisions of chapter 485 of the Acts of 1907 and chapter 612 of the Acts of 1911, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds of the City of Boston to said amount for said purpose.

On September 11 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

PUBLIC LANDS.

Coun. SMITH, for the Committee on Public Lands, submitted a report on report and order, protests, etc. (referred September 18), concerning sale of land on Commonwealth avenue, corner Chestnut Hill avenue, Ward 25, by the Park Department—that the order ought not to pass and that the papers be placed on file.

The question came on accepting the report and rejecting the order.

On motion of Coun. BUCKLEY further consideration of the matter was assigned to the next meeting.

ORDINANCES.

Coun. McDONALD, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted a report on proposed ordinance (referred April 24) concerning the height of members of the Fire Department—recommending the passage of the ordinance in the following new draft:

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eleven.
An Ordinance Concerning Members of the Fire Department.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Any person five feet six inches or more in height and weighing not less than one hundred and thirty pounds shall be eligible for appointment as a member of the Fire Department of the City of Boston, provided that such person meets the other requirements necessary for such appointment.

The question came on accepting the report.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I move that that report be recommended to the Committee on Ordinances and that they be directed to obtain from the Corporation Counsel an opinion as to whether or not it is necessary for this Council to accept the provisions of that act.

Coun. KENNY's motion, that the report and ordinance be recommended to the Committee on Ordinances with instructions to obtain the opinion of the Corporation Counsel as to whether or not it is necessary that such an ordinance should be passed, and the effect of the failure of the City Council to pass any ordinance, was declared carried by a rising vote, 5 to 4.

Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays, and the motion was carried, yeas 5, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Ballantyne, Collins, Hale, Kenny, Smith—5. Nays—Coun. Attridge, Buckley, Curley, McDonald—4.

DISPOSAL OF GARBAGE.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council what action has been taken by him, if any, concerning the disposal of garbage.

Passed.

PUBLIC HEARING, BUILDING LIMITS.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the Committee on Ordinances give a public hearing on Tuesday, October 17, at two o'clock p. m., on the proposed ordinance establishing the building limits, and that due notice of the same be published in the daily papers.

Passed.

SALE OF ALMSHOUSE PROPERTY.

Coun. CURLEY moved No. 5 be taken from the table, viz.:

5. Ordered. That the Boston Infirmary Trustees be and hereby are authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to sell to the Boston Elevated Railway Company for a sum not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000) the property in the Charlestown district known as the Charlestown Almshouse, with the land connected therewith, containing about 102,400 square feet, and upon such sale his Honor the Mayor is hereby authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to execute a deed satisfactory to the Law Department, conveying said premises to said company for a consideration not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000), to be determined by said trustees and approved as aforesaid.

On July 17 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

The motion to take from the table was lost by a rising vote, 3 to 4.

ACCEPTANCE OF BICKNELL AVENUE.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested to accept and lay out as a public street Bicknell avenue, Ward 18.

Passed.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 5.24 p. m., on motion of Coun. ATTRIDGE, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by the President at 6.32 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report on notice from Board of Railroad Commissioners (referred to-day) of hearing on petition of Boston Elevated Railway Company for approval of tunnel route—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; paper placed on file.

(2) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred to-day), for transfer of $9,000 to the Bath Department—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

(3) Reports on petitions for sidewalks (severally referred to-day) recommending the passage of orders that the Commissioner of Public Works make sidewalks on the following-named streets, in front of the hereinafter named estates; said sidewalks to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built as specified under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893, viz.:

Brick.

 W. C. Miner Company, 117 Federal street, Ward 7.
 Myer Goldman, 904 Washington street, Ward 9.
 Reports accepted; licenses granted on usual conditions.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

COUN. BALLANTYNE moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 6.35 o'clock p. m., to meet on Monday, October 9, at three o'clock p. m.

NEW CHEMICAL FIRE ENGINE.

The French government has bestowed a decoration upon a village priest for inventing a chemical fire engine which, judging from press reports, is an effective machine. The extinguisher consists, it is said, of a tank containing certain liquid gases and salts. Pressing a lever mixes the contents and produces great pressure which forces the liquid through a nozzle to a great height. The engine will be placed on the market by a company. The French government is stated to have ordered several for use in public buildings. Elaborate trials were conducted in the presence of the municipal authorities, chiefs of the fire brigade and thousands of spectators at Bordeaux. A stack of packing cases and brushwood 50 feet high was erected and the pile soaked with petrol, alcohol, tar and oil. This pile was set alight and the flames reach a height of 90 feet. The chief of the fire brigade remarked that it would be impossible for the ordinary engines to put this fire out, but the priest's method was again successful. In spite of the fact that there was a high wind the flames were extinguished in less than five minutes. In Paris an ordinary fire engine played on one stack of blazing material while the abbe's engine played on another of exactly similar construction. The new engine was not only very much quicker in putting out the fire but when attempts were made to relight the wood on which it had been playing they failed, whereas a few minutes after the work of the ordinary engine was apparently finished the flames broke out again in the other stack.—Municipal Journal.

PROCEEDINGS OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Oct. 2, 1911.

A regular meeting of the School Committee of the City of Boston was held in the School Committee Chamber, Mason-street Building, at 10:10 o'clock P. M.
 Present: Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Ellis, Lee and Leen.

APPROVAL OF RECORDS.

The reading of the records of the last meeting was omitted, the Board approving them as printed.

APPOINTMENTS OF TEACHERS.

The Chairman stated the question was on approving the appointments of teachers, as reported by the Superintendent and laid over at the last meeting.

The appointments were approved.

TRIAL BOARD.

Subsequently, the order laid over at the meeting of Sept. 18, 1911, (see p. 117) amending the regulations by the insertion of a new chapter defining the duties of the Trial Board was taken up and passed.

UNUSUAL PLEA FOR CAREFULNESS.

A plea for carefulness of an unusual sort has been issued by Mr. Hiram J. Slifer, general manager of the Chicago Great Western Railroad Company. It is addressed to each and every employee of the company and is the result of Mr. Slifer's personal observation recently that there is an excellent opportunity to earn money for the company by saving it. He found thousands of dollars worth of property lying useless for want of a little care and a trifling outlay for repairs. For example, there were twelve dozen hand lamps which, when sent to the general storekeeper's department, were found to need possibly an average of 5 cents worth of repairs to make them as good as new. It will not be necessary to replace them with new lamps. In ten days four carloads of surplus materials were reclaimed. Such things as this have convinced him that there is a good opportunity for the exercise of thrift by his employees and the personal appeal to each one has accordingly been made in a very forceful way. He has issued a circular showing the new value, second-hand value and scrap value of a great variety of materials and tools which are likely to accumulate in railroad offices and yards and along the right of way. By showing to each employee the value of these things Mr. Slifer hopes that some important savings can be made, for he is confident that men will not throw things away if they know they have a value. He lays emphasis on the importance of saving and collecting worn-out tools and miscellaneous scrap, and he points out that true economy is not parsimony, and when, by individual effort, each employee aids in saving the company's money, just as if he picked up nickels, dimes and quarters which dropped from the paymaster's car, he is forming habits of sensible economy and praiseworthy care which are of as much importance to him personally as to the company. Such an attempt to bring about an important saving and its accompanying good results will be well worth watching. The shiftlessness about trifles, particularly in organizations where men have numerous duties to perform, is an insidious form of deterioration which leads quickly to waste of both time and money, and the checking of it is one of the most troublesome tasks of the manager of any large organization.

BOWDOIN S. PARKER,
Collector of Taxes for the City of Boston.

THE PARKMAN PROPERTIES.

George F. Parkman, a member of the prominent Boston family of that name, died September 17, 1908. His will, dated October 29, 1877, and made public a few days after his death, showed that his estate, appraised at about $7,000,000, was largely distributed for public or charitable purposes. The original will, modified by a codicil dated January 12, 1887, devised, after payment of specific bequests, "the residue to the City of Boston to constitute a fund, the income of which is to be applied to the maintenance and improvement of the Common and the parks now existing and is not to be used for the purchase of additional land for park purposes. Any portion of said income which may not be required for the above purpose in any year is to be added to and invested as a part of said fund."

In this way the City of Boston has become the owner of certain parcels of real estate in Boston, Cambridge and Brookline, which it seems desirable to convert into funds to be applied for the specific purpose of the bequest. On May 24, 1909, the City Council gave authority to the Mayor to take whatever steps might be necessary to bring this about. Nothing, however, has been done in this direction until now, when his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald has decided to dispose of most of these properties at once by public auction. It has been thought best for the city to retain the estate No. 33 Beacon street, for which some desirable municipal use may be found, and which, since it was the home of Mr. Parkman, may remain a monument to the beneficence of the donor.

The auction sale method is chosen as the most satisfactory in accomplishing the city's purpose, since with adequate publicity, giving equal opportunity to all to bid, the selling prices must be absolutely fair and must represent true values.

RETIREMENT SYSTEMS FOR MUNICIPAL EMPLOYEES.*

The need of retirement systems for employees is generally recognized by far-sighted employers of labor. It is well understood nowadays that the practice of retaining on the pay roll aged workers who can no longer render a fair equivalent for their wages is wasteful and demoralizing. The loss is twofold. In the first place, there is the direct loss involved in the payment of full wages to workers who are no longer reasonably efficient, and, in the second place, there is the indirect loss entailed by the slow pace set for the working force by the presence of worn-out veterans, and the consequent general demoralization of the service. On the other hand, it is certainly not a humane course to discharge employees who have grown old in the service and have not accumulated a sufficient amount to provide for their maintenance. Recognizing these considerations, many large corporations have in recent years introduced pension systems for their employees. The list of pensioning corporations is most impressive; it includes a large number of the leading railroads and industrial corporations of the country. It may be said that the provision of retirement allowances for employees has become a feature of the policy of the railroads and the trusts in dealing with the labor force.

The general nature of the leading schemes is substantially the same. Provision is made for the voluntary or compulsory retirement of employees at a certain age, with weekly or monthly allowance. The amount of the allowance is determined by the length of service and the wages of the employee. It is usually calculated on a basis of a certain percentage of the average wages for each year of service. The expenses of the pension system are commonly borne by the employer, without contribution from the employee. Often the pension system is combined with provision for sickness and accident insurance, organized on a contributory basis.

The reasons that have induced corporate employers to make provisions for the retirement of aged workers would seem to hold good in the case of municipalities. Indeed, the considerations pointing to the expediency of establishing retirement systems have double force in the field of municipal employment. Here personal and political influences come into play to prevent the discharge of employees who have outlived their usefulness; the loss from the retention of inefficient veterans on the pay roll is probably greater than in the case of the private corporations. Thus the general reasons of economy and efficiency which call for the establishment of retirement systems are re-enforced by special considerations in the field of municipal employment.

Notwithstanding the evident advantages of a retirement system, no American city has yet established a general plan of superannuation allowances for its employees. The comparatively few pension plans now in operation in this field provide only for special classes of employees, chiefly firemen, policemen and teachers. A circular of inquiry sent out by the writer as investigator for the recent Massachusetts Commission on Old Age Pensions to the 33 cities in Massachusetts and to 94 cities in the country outside of Massachusetts, having a population of 25,000 or over, brought 86 replies. Of the 86 cities from which replies were received, 43 reported that no pensions of any kind were paid to public employees. Of the 43 cities having pension schemes of some sort, 38 cities pension policemen, 37 cities pension firemen and 12 cities pension teachers. Grouping the 43 cities according to the extent of the pension provisions, it appears that 10 of the cities have pension schemes for policemen, firemen and teachers, 23 for policemen and firemen, 2 for policemen and teachers, 5 for firemen alone, and 4 for policemen alone.

In 1910 the Massachusetts Legislature passed a general enabling act authorizing cities and towns to establish retirement systems for their employees. This is the first law of the kind to be placed on the statute books of an American state. No municipality, however, has yet taken advantage of the permissive provisions of this measure.

In contrast with American cities in this respect, European cities have generally adopted pension schemes of one sort or another for their employees. Indeed, it is a striking commentary on the backwardness of American municipal administration as compared with European that the leading cities of Europe have all established general retirement systems for their employees, while no American city thus far has taken such action.

There is a wide variety of detail in the provisions of municipal pension systems in Europe. Information concerning the pension provisions in 24 of the leading cities of Great Britain and the European continent was collected by the Massachusetts Commission, to which reference has just been made. It appears that the age of retirement in these schemes is variously fixed at 60, 65 and 70. The age 60 is the one selected in ten cases, the age of 65 in eight, and the age 70 in one. In the remaining four schemes retirement is conditional upon the completion of a certain period of service and not upon the attainment of a specified age. The schemes are about equally divided between the contributory and the non-contributory principle. Thirteen are contributory; that is, the expense is borne, in part, at least, by the participating employees. Eleven are wholly non-contributory; that is, the cost is defrayed entirely by the city. The amount of the employee's contributions varies from 1½ to 5½ per cent of the wages or salary; the usual percentage is three. The amount of the pension is usually a certain proportion of the wages or salary of the employee, according to the length of service; the limits range from one-sixth to seven-tenths of the salary. All but two of the schemes provide for retirement in the event of incapacity, regardless of age.

The first question that arises in drawing up any plan of retirement allowances is whether the system should be contributory or non-contributory. Most existing pension systems in this country, including the corporation plans, as well as the special schemes for policemen, firemen and teachers, are wholly non-contributory; no part of the expense is assessed upon the beneficiaries. The wisdom of such noncontributory pension schemes is extremely doubtful. In particular, municipal employees receive good wages, and ought to be called upon to bear at least some part of the expense of a retirement system. The noncontributory principle enormously increases the expense of providing pensions. The effect of purely gratuitous pensions on the beneficiaries themselves is likely to be somewhat demoralizing. And the payment of noncontributory pensions to municipal employees tends to encourage agitation for the introduction of general state pension schemes for the aged. For these reasons it seems desirable that whatever may be done in the future in the way of providing retirement allowances for municipal employees should be based on the contributory principle.

On the other hand, it is just and reasonable that the municipalities should contribute something to the fund out of which allowances to superannuated employees are paid. Such contributions are to be regarded in the nature of extra compensation for long, faithful and efficient service. That is, in addition to the payment of current wages the municipality may properly undertake to pay a special extra allowance to workers who remain in the service a certain period of years and reach a certain age, meanwhile contributing to a fund for the provision of annuities for themselves in the event of their retirement. This is the logical justification for contributions to pension funds by employers of labor, whether private, corporate or public. The equitable arrangement in the case of municipal pensions appears, therefore, to be a division of the expense between the municipality and the employees on a basis of joint contributions.

The retirement plan embodied in the act passed by the Massachusetts Legislature in 1910 is based on this principle of joint contributions. The employees are to be assessed regularly on their wages and salaries at the rate of not less than one nor more than five per cent, to provide a fund out of which annuities shall be paid to those retired from the service. Exception is made, however, in the case of employees receiving more than $30 per week; such employees are not to be assessed on the excess above that amount, but simply on the flat basis of $30 per week. The annuity received by each employee retired under the provisions of the act is such amount as his contributions during his period of service, accumulated with interest at 3 per cent compounded semi-annually, will provide for him according to actuarial computation. In addition to the annuity, the employee is to receive in each case a pension of equivalent amount paid from the public treasury. In no case is the total allowance, including annuity and pension, to be less than $200 per year, or more than one-half the average wages or salary during the ten years prior to retirement.

The age of voluntary retirement is fixed at 60 years; that is, employees who have reached that age may retire or may be retired by the board intrusted with the administration of the act. The age of compulsory retirement is fixed at 70 years; that is, employees who have reached that age must retire or be retired. An additional requirement of 15 years' continuous service is laid down for employees retiring or retired at the age of 60. Furthermore, employees who have served 35 years continuously may retire or be retired at any age.

Participation in the retirement system is optional for present employees. It is obligatory for future employees, those entering the service after the establishment of the retirement system, with the exception of officers elected by popular vote and employees eligible for a pension from the municipality for any reason other than membership in the association.

In addition to pensions for subsequent service, pensions for prior service are provided; that is, employees in the service when the retirement plan is established are to receive, in addition to the pension which they may secure through their contributions to the annuity fund, an extra allowance equal to the amount of the annuity that they might have earned for themselves had the scheme been in operation when they entered the service and had they made contributions to the fund from that time in proportion to their current wages or salaries. It should be noted, further, that employees who had reached the age of 60 years when the retirement system was established, and employees who had reached the age of 55 years at that date and also became members of the association, may be retired with pensions for prior service without having completed the otherwise required service period of 15 years. Employees who had reached that age and declined to join the association may be retired with the minimum allowance provided in the act.

Provision is made for refunding the contributions of employees who withdraw from the service without becoming entitled to a pension. In case a member of the association leaves employment for any cause other than death before becoming entitled to a pension, there shall be refunded to him all the money that has been paid in by him, with regular interest. In case a member of the association dies before becoming entitled to a pension, there shall be paid to his legal representatives all the money that has been paid in by him, with such interest as may have been earned on the deposits.

The administration of the system is intrusted to a Board of Retirement, consisting of the city or town treasurer, ex officio, another member chosen by the Retirement Association composed of the participating employees, and a third member selected by the first two, or appointed by the mayor or the chairman of the Board of Selectmen in case of their failure to agree. The Insurance Department of the Commonwealth is given certain powers of supervision with reference to the actuarial and administrative features of the system.

Thus far the case in favor of the establishment of some system of retirement allowances for municipal employees has been stated without direct reference to objection that have been urged against the proposed policy. It remains now to consider some of these objections. The economy of a pension system for municipal employees is not universally admitted. In general, the objection has been raised that the conditions of the municipal service are essentially different from those of the private service of the railroad and industrial corporations, and that consequently, while it may be sound policy for the latter to adopt pension systems, it would be unwise and wasteful in the case of the cities. Municipal administration, it is said, involves financing out of other people's pockets. The natural tendency, therefore, is toward extravagance and corruption. The element of politics must be taken into account. The establishment of a general retirement system for employees would furnish corrupt politicians new means of exploiting the taxpayers. For example, men might be placed on the pay roll and then retired promptly to make room for others. Thus the pension roll might be padded like the pay roll.

The force of this argument depends on the nature of the retirement system adopted and the safeguards thrown about its administration. The objection carries weight against any loosely drawn pension measure giving large powers to the officials intrusted with its administration, and permitting political influences to enter into the management of the system. It does not hold, however, against the plan embodied in the Massachusetts act. In this measure the conditions of retirement are definitely prescribed. In the case of employees entering the service after the system is established, retirement can take place only after the completion of 15 years of continuous service. The employees, furthermore, contribute to the retirement fund, and the size of the retirement allowance in each case depends upon the length of service and the amount of contribution. The system thus affords no chance to hand out gratuities indiscriminately. It may also be pointed out that the members of the Board of Retirement are to serve without pay. Moreover, the approval of the municipal council is required in the case of expenditures incurred by the board. Again, the make-up of the board, as provided for in the act, is not likely to be determined by political influences. Finally, the system is placed under the supervision of the State Department of Insurance as regards its actuarial and administrative features. The argument in question is thus deprived of its force by the provisions of the Massachusetts plan.

A popular objection to municipal pensions, which influences many voters and taxpayers to oppose the establishment of retirement systems for city employees, emphasizes the injustice of taxing workers in general for the benefit of a special class of employees. The attitude of the man who urges this objection is that the class of municipal employees is a peculiarly favored one; its members draw good pay in easy berths. They ought to take care of themselves in old age. "Why should I be taxed," the objector asks, "in order to provide pensions for this favored class?" If pensions are to be granted at all, it is contended, they ought to be passed around to workers of all classes. It is unjust to single out any special group of beneficiaries. In this connection there appears to be a particularly strong objection in the minds of many opponents of municipal pensions to the payment of retirement allowances to clerks and salaried employees. Some who approve of retirement allowances for common laborers earning small wages strenuously object to the extension of the benefits of the retirement system to better paid employees. It is argued, in support of this objection, that the handicap of age is much less in the case of clerical employees than in the case of manual laborers. It is said that an old man can push a pen when he could not swing a pick effectively.

The latter consideration contains a measure of truth; but the handicap of inefficiency is certainly there in the case of a clerical staff made up largely of old men, even if the loss on this account is less serious. Moreover, even if salaried employees ought to be expected to accumulate enough for their maintenance in old age, they do not, as a matter of fact, usually make such provision. The fact that an employee draws a good salary is no guarantee that he will not be found entirely resourceless when he reaches the age at which retirement in the interests of the service should take place. The city is confronted in this case with the dilemma of discharging a worn-out employee without means of support or retaining him to the disadvantage of the service.

As regards the fundamental objection that it is an injustice to tax the workers in general for the benefit of public employees in particular, it is to be observed that this contention rests on the assumption that a retirement system must involve an additional burden on the taxpayers. This assumption is entirely gratuitous. It would certainly not hold true of a properly organized contributory system with a large share of the expense borne by the employees. Private corporations even regard a wholly noncontributory system, in which the pensions are paid entirely by the employer, as economical. It is reasonably certain that a contributory system, such as is proposed in the Massachusetts act, would, in the long run, save money for the taxpayers. Such saving would be effected in three ways: First, through elimination of the direct waste of money paid to aged employees who had outlived their usefulness; second, through stoppage of the indirect loss entailed by the slow pace forced upon the rest of the workers by the presence of inefficient veterans; third, through the positive gain that would result from the substitution of younger men for the superannuated employees, from the increased efficiency promoted by the retirement system, and, possibly, from the attraction of a higher grade of men into the municipal service.

The Massachusetts plan, in particular, has certain features that should commend it strongly to persons viewing this question from the standpoint of the good of the public service or the interests of the taxpaying public. It is not a straight pension scheme, but is more accurately described as a plan of assisted age insurance for municipal employees, to be financed by joint contributions of the two parties concerned. In this respect it has distinct advantages over the pension schemes for policemen, firemen and teachers now in force, and the retirement systems of most railroad and industrial corporations. The beneficiaries are not offered a sheer gratuity or simple hand-out, but a retirement allowance provided in large part by their own contributions from their current earnings. There is no sentiment or philanthropy in the proposed plan; it is a plain business proposition. The city is not asked to "take care of" its employees for their benefit alone, but rather to take measures to promote a higher degree of economy and efficiency in the municipal service. Unquestionably, the system would, in the long run, diminish rather than increase the taxpayers' burden. Not the least of the advantages promised by the system is that it would put an end to special legislation in this field by providing a comprehensive and logical solution of the retirement problem, which has thus far been dealt with only in piecemeal fashion. The multiplication of special pension acts for various classes of municipal employees, often inconsistent and contradictory in their provisions, involves confusion and injustice. The wise course is to adopt a system that will make provision for the entire force of employees once for all. The adoption of such a system is an essential condition for the development of a thoroughly satisfactory municipal service. Until this course is taken the service will continue to be handicapped by the dead weight of inefficiency, resulting from the continuance in employment of large numbers of worn-out workers.—Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Complaints, inquiries or suggestions regarding the work of municipal departments should be made in writing to the officials directly in charge. The failure of such officials to make reply within a reasonable length of time should be brought to the attention of the Mayor. Communications should be directed as follows:

tion as to the watering, cleaning, lighting and repairing of streets, the construction and care of sewers and catch-basins, the operation of the ferries, the maintenance of bridges and drawbridges and the removal of ashes and offal.

To Room 45, City Hall, for information relative to the supplying or metering of water and the water charges of the city.

TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH, 100 Summer street, for information relative to the inspection of milk, vinegar, meat, fish and vegetables, the issuance of permits for stables, slaughter houses, etc., smoke nuisances, the existence of contagious diseases or public health nuisances.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC GROUNDS, 154 East Cottage street, for information as to the care of the Common, Public Garden, and the small parks throughout the city other than playgrounds, and the extermination of the gypsy moth and the charges made for the same.

APPOINTMENT OF ENGINEER FOR HIGH PRESSURE SYSTEM.

Mr. William J. Sando has been employed as consulting engineer in connection with the installation of the high pressure service. Mr. Sando will furnish specifications for the pumping plant, supervise the design and approve drawings of the same, inspect all materials entering into its construction, supervise its erection and make a test of the completed plant for the sum of 5 per cent of the total cost of the pumps, motors, transformers, foundations, wiring, switchboards, instruments and traveling crane.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

The following contracts for work, materials and supplies have been awarded with the approval of the Mayor. Those awarded without public advertisement are specially indicated. Week ending October 12, 1911:

PUBLIC GROUNDS DEPARTMENT.

On October 7 the Mayor approved a contract with Coleman Brothers for excavating tree on Bennington street, East Boston; Avenue Louis Pasteur, Roxbury; Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester, and Dorchester street, South Boston. Bids on this work, opened October 6, were as follows:

Coleman Brothers, $9,411.50; John McCourt Company, $9,987.75.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Paving Service).

On October 11 the Mayor approved a contract with the Barber Asphalt Paving Company for asphalt pavement in Kent street, between Roxbury and Vernon streets, for the sum of $2,543.20. There was but one bid on this work.

Engineer's estimate, including stock furnished by the city, engineering, etc., $3,800.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without public advertisement; also the following additions to and deductions from contracts.

BATH DEPARTMENT.

The Mayor has approved a contract, made without advertising, with the Motor Supply Company for the purchase of a Buick truck, model 2-A. The price of car to be $1,028, less an allowance of $228 for an old Buick truck, making net price $800.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

The Mayor has approved a contract with David E. Kennedy, made without advertising, for furnishing and laying cork tile flooring on the running track at the Curtis Hall Gymnasium, the price to be $1,325. In making request for authority to award this contract the Superintendent of Public Buildings states:

September 18, 1911.

HON. JOHN F. FITZGERALD,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—It will be necessary to furnish a floor covering for the running track of the gymnasium at the Curtis Hall building, now being reconstructed. I have made an examination of the covering on the track at the Brookline Gymnasium and at the Paris Street Gymnasium with

Dr. E. M. Hartwell of the Statistics Department and we both are of the opinion that the cork tile flooring as furnished by Mr. David E. Kennedy of 164 Federal street is superior to all others as to quality and durability.

For this reason I respectfully request your authority to make a contract with Mr. David E. Kennedy, without publicly advertising, for the sum of thirteen hundred twenty-five dollars ($1,325), he to furnish and lay complete the cork tile flooring on the running track at the Curtis Hall Building.

Yours respectfully,
M. J. FISH,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

The Mayor has approved a contract with the White Company, made without advertising, for the purchase of one Model T. E. Chassis, with 40 horse power engine, for the use of the Water Service, Public Works Department. The price to be $2,650, less $300 allowance for old car taken in exchange, making net price $2,350.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved by the Mayor:

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

A deduction, amounting to $570, on the contract with the John F. Griffin Company for the repair shop at Albany street, for installing wiring for sewing machine motor, third floor, and for extending wires to hose trough motor, $64.90; for bricking up door, $20; for painting walls of boiler room and blacksmith shop, $355; for lowering sill at large elevator and work in connection with same, $130.50; total, $570.40. Contract price, $94,988; total additions, $3,431.20; total deductions, $600; contract as standing, $97,819.20.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

An addition, amounting to $61.25, on the contract with F. G. Whittaker for moving portable schools, on account of changing location of Portable No. 88, $24; changing lock on Portable No. 18, $1; setting twenty-four lights of glass in portables, $24; paving yard where building was removed from the yard of the Asa Gray School, $12.25; total, $61.25. Contract price, $1,835; total additions, $2,406.25; contract as standing, $4,241.25.

A deduction, amounting to $75, on the contract with C. A. Bray Company for the Mary Lyon School, on account of voiding Order No. 1605, issued May 12, 1911, in error. Contract price, $3,510; total additions, $75; total deductions, $150; contract as standing, $3,435.

LAND-TAKING FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES.

The Mayor has approved the vote of the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners requesting the Street Commissioners to take for schoolhouse purposes a parcel of land on Washington street and Corey road, Brighton, and said to contain about 29,950 square feet, at a price not to exceed $8,000.

The Mayor has also approved a finding of the Board of Street Commissioners that there should be awarded to the estate of David Nevins the sum of $8,550, for damages occasioned to the estate by reason of a land-taking for schoolhouse purposes on Warren street, Brighton.

CLAIMS.

The following awards made by the Committee on Claims of the City Council have been approved by the Mayor, after approval by the heads of departments involved and by the Corporation Counsel.

Mary E. Bagley, $25, for personal injuries caused by defective condition of Pontiac street, June 24, 1907.

Fred Casperhen, $50, for personal injuries caused by hole in sidewalk on Humphreys street, Dorchester, December 29, 1910.

Benjamin F. Hooton, $100, for personal injuries caused by defect in sidewalk 68-74 Utica street, January 30, 1908.

Ernestine E. Vezina, $50, for personal injuries caused by defective plank in sidewalk on Calumet street, April 27, 1911.

Marion D. Voorhees, $35, for injuries to dress caused by falling over hose left on High street, June 30, 1911.

Otto C. Wittikend, $100, for personal injuries caused by hole in sidewalk on Ashland street, January 5, 1911.

APPOINTMENTS AND CONFIRMATIONS.

CONFIRMATION.

The appointment of Alexander C. Chisholm as a Bath Trustee was confirmed by the Civil Service Commission October 10.

FREE LECTURES AT PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Free public lectures with lantern illustrations will be given in the lecture hall of the Boston Public Library, beginning October 19. No tickets are required. The entrance is from Boylston street only. The doors will be opened at seven o'clock and closed when the hall is filled.

FINANCE COMMISSION.

BOSTON, October 11, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—On May 15, 1911, the Mayor transmitted to the Finance Commission with a request for investigation and report the following order of the City Council:

Ordered, That the Finance Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to report to the City Council as to the advisability of accepting chapter 619 of the Acts of the year 1910, as amended by chapter 338 of the Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to Retirement Systems for the Payment of Annuities and Pensions for Employees of Cities and Towns;" also to report to the City Council on the following:

(a.) The cost of the system to the city in actual pecuniary outlay.

(b.) Its effect on the service in removing aged employees who by their example tend to retard the efficiency of younger and more active men.

(c.) The positive gain resulting from the substitution of younger and stronger men for the retired veterans.

(d.) The net gain or loss to the city as a whole, measured, first, in terms of pecuniary outlay; and secondly, in terms of efficiency.

The commission respectfully submits herewith its report upon the two acts in question.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

REPORT ON THE ADVISABILITY OF ACCEPTING CHAPTER 619 OF THE ACTS OF 1910, AS AMENDED BY CHAPTER 338 OF THE ACTS OF 1911.

This statute was passed in the year 1910 (Acts of 1910, chapter 619) and according to its terms was referred to the cities and towns in the Commonwealth for acceptance or rejection by the city councils or boards of selectmen of such cities or towns, the act if accepted by a city council to be submitted to the voters of the city at the next municipal election, or if accepted by the selectmen of a town to be submitted to the voters of the town at its next town meeting.

On December 10, 1910, and again on December 17 of the same year, the Finance Commission called the attention of the City Council of Boston to certain defects in the act which, in the opinion of the commission, warranted its rejection. The statements of the commission were disputed at the time in two communications, dated December 13, 1910, and December 20, 1910, respectively, by the secretary of the State Commission on Old Age Pensions which framed the original draft of the act, his opinion being that the act, though admittedly defective, was defective only in minor particulars which could easily be remedied at the next session of the Legislature. These statements by the Finance Commission and by the secretary of the Commission on Old Age Pensions, together with a copy of the act, were printed in a pamphlet entitled "Communications on the Civil Pension Act," issued shortly after.

The act was not accepted by any city or town in the Commonwealth; and at the following session of the Legislature (1911) a number of amendments were made to remedy defects which had been pointed out by the commission in its communications to the Boston City Council. (See pamphlet above referred to, and Acts of 1911, chapter 338, copies of which are hereto annexed; Finance Commission's Reports, Vol. VI., pp. 221-230, inclusive; and another article by the secretary of the Commission on Old Age Pensions printed in the City Record of October 7, 1911, pages 792, 793.)*

The more important of these amendments are as follows:

1. More effective provisions have been made for the retirement of employees of the city.

(a.) By providing for the payment of an annuity, and a pension based upon subsequent service, to a member who is retired without his consent at the age of sixty years after fifteen years continuous service. The original act failed to make provision for such a case.

(b.) By providing that an employee, not a member of the association who had reached the age of fifty-five years on the date when the retirement system was established, may be retired at any time and paid a pension equivalent to the minimum payment provided in the act. The original act made no provision for such a case.

2. The provisions for the election of the second member of the Board of Retirement have been amended so that they are not workable; thereby making the retirement system itself possible of operation. It was impossible of operation under the original act.

3. Provision has been made for consulting the wishes of the head of a department with respect to the retirement of an employee who is a member of the retirement association and who has reached the age of sixty years after fifteen years' continuous service; and also in the case of a member of the retirement association who has had thirty-five years' continuous service irrespective of his age. Such employees could be retired under the original act without the recommendation of the head of the department in which they were employed; but cannot be under the amended act without such recommendation.

4. Any unexpended balance of the money appropriated by the city for the administration of the system must be returned to the City Treasurer under the amended act, whereas under the original act such unexpended balance might have been credited to a fund for the benefit of the members of the association.

5. The claims of members of the Board of Retirement for reimbursement for any expense or loss of salary or wages incurred through service on the Board, the appointment of clerical or other assistants by the Board, and the making of by-laws and regulations not inconsistent with the act, are all made subject to the approval of the City Council under the amended act; whereas all these matters were within the sole power of the Board of Retirement under the original act.

Certain provisions of the original act which were criticised by the Finance Commission still, however, remain. Thus an employee discharged for misconduct would not lose his right to a pension if reinstated within a year. This provision violates the principles of all pension acts based upon honorable service. As stated by the Finance Commission in its report to the City Council under date of December 10, 1910:

"One discharged for such cause should not be reinstated at all. This provision would operate to the city's detriment. The sentimental considerations arising out of the employee's previous service and payments to the retirement fund, reinforced by political influence, would make it difficult to discharge an offending employee in the first instance, or, if discharged, to refuse him reinstatement within the year. It would make the claim of the incompetent or insubordinate employee to continue in the service even more like a vested right than it now is—the exact opposite of the effect a well-drawn pension act should have." (Finance Commission Reports, Vol. VI., p. 224.)

The act is still open to the criticism, that notwithstanding the fact that the public has been given the impression that it provides substantially equal contributions by the city and by its employees, the city will be required to pay the entire expense of the administration of the system, which is estimated at $25,000 a year. Moreover, it is still open to the weightier objection that the Retirement Board, which is given large powers of control over the retirement of employees, the fixing of the percentages of wages or salary, and the classification of annuitants and pensioners under the act, may lead to the formation of a political machine, which would exercise great influence over thousands of city employees. Such an act should be administered by a Board entirely non-political in its character and beyond the reach of political influences. Under this act the City Treasurer, by virtue of his office, becomes a member of the Board, the members of the association elect one of their number a second member of the Board, and these two members of the Board elect a third member, thus making it probable that the personal or the political influences of the representatives of the city administration for the time being, and the city employees as well, would be regarded as superior to the financial interests of the city.

In the opinion of the Finance Commission, these defects in the act are sufficient to warrant its rejection by the City Council; but even if all of these defects had been remedied by the last Legislature, the commission would still be of the opinion that the act would ultimately operate to the financial detriment of the city. The reasons for this opinion are as follows:

1. Retirement of Efficient Employees.

As applied to the City of Boston the act provides a means by which all city officials and employees (except those whom existing pension laws affect, such as firemen, policemen and school teachers, and also except officials elected by popular vote), may retire voluntarily from the city's service, or be retired without their consent, with an annual allowance in the form of a pension or annuity or both. The act applies alike to the head of a department, who receives $9,000 a year, and to the lowest paid employee in the service of the city. Highly paid officials may retire after thirty-five years of service in full possession of their powers, and still receive a pension from the city, even though they subsequently enter private employment or business, and receive large salaries or profits therefrom. The amount of the pension in such cases would not be large, but added to the expected profits or salary in private employment or business might easily furnish sufficient inducement for the retirement of officials entirely capable of serving the city for many more years. It is manifest injustice to compel the city to pay a pension upon retirement to a highly paid official who has the necessary physical and mental ability to render further service to the city; yet the act would permit this to be done. Under the act the question of retirement does not depend upon the physical or mental incapacity of the employee but rather upon the question of the length of his service. Many persons entirely fit for further service might be retired at various ages, ranging between fifty and sixty. In this respect the act seems to the Finance Commission to be wholly without justification.

2. Clerks and Employees Above the Grade of Clerks.

The compensation of the city's clerical force is now far in excess of that paid by the state or by private employers. If a pension system were adopted every laborer, artisan, mechanic and clerk privately employed and residing in the city, as well as all tradesmen, merchants, manufacturers and business men, would have to bear the burden of an additional tax in order to give a further privilege to an already privileged class. In this connection, the attention of the City Council is respectfully invited to the following statement in the commission's report to the Legislature under date of January 20, 1911:

"The clerks employed by the city are far more favorably treated than clerks in private employ. The latter, as a rule, work a greater number of hours, perform much more work in an equal number of hours, and receive less pay than clerks in the city's employ. Moreover, clerks employed by the city are retained without regard to the city's financial condition, whereas, clerks in private employ are always subject to the risk, and frequently to the loss of employment, due to the vicissitudes of industrial and commercial life. The clerks of the city are also paid much more than the clerks employed by the Federal government or by the Commonwealth." (Finance Commission Reports, Vol. VI., pp. 13, 14.)

Further material for study is found in the reports of the Finance Commission respecting the number, salary and efficiency of the clerical forces of the city. Attention is particularly called to the following reports: Vol. I., pp. 340-345; Vol. II., p. 201; Vol. VI., pp. 13, 36.

To impose fresh taxes upon the entire community in order to pension employees above the grade of clerks, including the professional men in the service, and the heads of departments, would be even more unreasonable. If the highly paid employees of the city have been improvident and consequently have not at the end of their long service acquired a competency, the fault is their own and not that of the taxpayers of the city.

A general pension for municipal employees has, in the past, been urged upon grounds of sympathy for the poor city workers. Such a view wholly neglects the even greater sympathy due the even poorer workers not in city employ, whom it is now proposed to tax in order to favor still further their already comparatively favored brothers. The advocates of the act have taken the position that this line of argument "begs the question," inasmuch as it rests on the assumption that the effect of the act will be to increase the city's expenses—and hence the taxes—on labor account. It is true that the argument of injustice depends in part upon the increased expense on labor account which may be caused by the act, but the Finance Commission thinks it shows herein strong grounds for believing that such an increase would in fact result from the adoption of a general pension scheme.

3. Conditions of Public Employment in Boston.

The conditions of public employment in Boston should be attentively studied before it is assumed that the city is under any obligation to provide its employees with pensions.

It has been the practice in Boston upon each change of administration to make relatively few removals, except of heads of departments, but to make additions to the labor and clerical forces so as to provide places for the supporters of the party that was successful in the election. An enormous pay roll is the result of these accumulations, with their accompanying unwarrantable increases in salaries, and a large part of the heavy expenditures and debt of the city is due to the appropriations and loans which have been passed to provide salaries and wages for this army of employees. In the execution by day labor of the work for which such loans provided, the city has sustained losses of millions of dollars. These losses were caused principally by the inefficiency of the city's forces, an inefficiency due largely to politics, as has been pointed out frequently in the reports of both the former and the present Finance Commissions and the experts employed by them. To liken such conditions to the entirely different conditions in private employ which justify private pension systems would involve a serious fallacy.

4. The Ultimate Cost of the Pension System.

The advocates of a general pension scheme lay special emphasis on the need of relieving municipalities of the expense of superannuated employees. The Finance Commission believes, however, that the acceptance of the pending act would ultimately cause the city of Boston heavy financial loss. The contributory system would soon be attacked as a hardship upon the employees, especially upon laborers and mechanics. The city employees would demand, and by political pressure would probably obtain, increases in wages equal to their contributions to the retirement fund. This accomplished, the next step would be the elimination of the contributory feature of the system. Thus finally the city would bear the entire expense of both the pension system and the increased wages of its beneficiaries. Meanwhile, as employees were retired, new and unnecessary appointments would be made for political reasons, the size of the city's force would be undiminished, and the total expenses of the city would be increased far beyond any possible gain from increased efficiency due to the retirement of the superannuated.

It may be argued that the city can avoid these dangers as well as a private employer could who establishes a private pension system for his employees. But experience has abundantly proved that public control and management is far less efficient than that of private employers. Private pensions are paid by an employer out of his private purse and are at all times under his control. He can increase or reduce or withdraw them at will; public pensions, however, are paid by the entire community and it gives less attention to its affairs than private employers do to theirs. The public pension system once established will never be withdrawn and its beneficiaries, and not the community as a whole, will largely if not entirely control its operation.

5. No American Precedent for the Act.

Finally, there is no reason why Boston should be the first municipality in the United States to try the experiment involved in a general pension act. According to the report of the Commission on Old Age Pensions dated January 15, 1910, no American state has adopted any general system of old age pensions or insurance (see House Document 1400 of 1910, page 78); and the Finance Commission knows of no precedent for the pending act so far as American cities are concerned. Moreover, though the cities and towns of this Commonwealth have had opportunity to adopt the act since its passage on June 14, 1910, none of them have accepted it up to the present time.

Answers to the Specific Questions of the City Council.

Having stated the reasons for its objection to the passage of the general act, the Finance Commission herewith submits its answers to the specific questions of the City Council.

(a.) The Cost of the System to the City in Actual Pecuniary Outlay.

This question cannot be answered as the cost cannot be determined until the Board of Retirement decides upon the percentage of the salaries or wages which various classes of members of the retirement association shall contribute to the retirement fund. Under the act the Retirement Board has the power to fix the percentage of the salaries and wages to be paid by members at from 1 to 5 per cent, to classify employees for that purpose, and to establish different rates of contribution for different classes. Before the percentages are fixed and the classification of employees is completed it will be impossible to determine what the pecuniary outlay to the city would be in any given year, even if the entire number of persons to be affected by the act were known, which also is impossible to estimate beforehand. A special committee, consisting of the secretary of the State Commission on Old Age Pensions, the City Treasurer and the City Auditor, estimated the cost of the system in the first year of its operation under the act of 1910, on the basis of 1 per cent payments by city employees, at $119,958.41. (See City Record, December 10, 1910, pages 907, 908.) This estimate rested upon certain assumptions, some of which were admittedly arbitrary. The estimate is doubtless as accurate as any that could be obtained, but because of its uncertain basis, the Finance Commission is unable to state how much reliance should be placed upon it.

(b.) Its Effect on the Service in Removing Aged Employees who by their Example Tend to Retard the Efficiency of Younger and More Active Men.

If only the incapacitated were removed and efficient employees were always appointed in their places this would have the effect of increasing the efficiency of the city's forces. Past experience, however, affords sufficient ground for the assumption that inefficient employees would be removed for political reasons only to make places for others, abler perhaps, but no more efficient in fact. Moreover, if the many employees who were not then and never had been needed should be retired under the terms of the act, and their places filled by younger employees, the net result would be only a loss to the city of the amount of pension paid to the retired employee, as full wages would be paid to the new but unnecessary employee. In other words, the city would still have a superfluous employee to whom it would pay full wages, besides being obliged to pay a pension to the former employee.

(c.) The Positive Gain Resulting from the Substitution of Younger and Stronger Men for the Retired Veterans.

There would be positive gains resulting from the retirement of veterans for whom there was work which they could not perform. There would be a financial loss, however, in the event of the retirement of veterans for whom there was little or no work if their places were filled by younger employees for whom there would be practically no work.

(d.) The Net Gain or Loss to the City as a Whole Measured First in Terms of Pecuniary Outlay; and Secondly, in Terms of Efficiency.

As to this no statement can be made which is susceptible of proof, as the result will depend wholly upon the manner in which the system is administered. In the opinion of the commission, unless political conditions change materially, there would be an actual financial loss and no corresponding gain in efficiency.

Conclusions.

The conclusions of the commission briefly stated are as follows:

1. The General Pension Act as originally passed was defective and unworkable.

2. The act has since been amended in several particulars and has been thereby materially strengthened.

3. The act still contains several defects, however, which are of such a serious character as to warrant its rejection by the City Council.

4. The commission, for reasons already set forth, is opposed to a general pension scheme for all employees of the city.

The commission, therefore, recommends the rejection by the City Council of the General Pension Act. (Chapter 619 of the Acts of 1910 as amended by chapter 338 of the Acts of 1911.)

The commission still has the Laborers' Pension Act (chapter 413 of the Acts of 1911) under consideration, and expects to report upon the same within a week or two. The commission, therefore, respectfully suggests that the Council delay action upon the Laborers' Pension Act, as nothing will be lost by such delay inasmuch as the act, according to its terms, cannot become effective before the first day of March, 1912.

APPENDIX.

[CHAP. 338.]

AN ACT RELATIVE TO RETIREMENT SYSTEMS FOR THE PAYMENT OF ANNUITIES AND PENSIONS TO EMPLOYEES OF CITIES AND TOWNS.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. Section one of chapter six hundred and nineteen of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and ten is hereby amended by inserting after the paragraph marked (e) the following paragraph:—

(f) The word "employees" means only regular and permanent employees whose only or principal employment is in the service of the city or town,—and by striking out the letter "(f)", in the seventeenth line, and inserting in place thereof the letter:—(g),—so as to read as follows:—Section 1. In this act, unless the context otherwise requires:—

(a) The words "city council" mean the legislative branch of the city government whether consisting of one chamber or two.

(b) The words "retirement system" mean the arrangements provided in this act for the payment of annuities and pensions.

(c) The word "annuities" means the payments for life derived from money contributed by the employees.

(d) The word "pensions" means the payments for life derived from money contributed by the city or town.

(e) The words "regular interest" mean interest at three per cent per annum compounded semi-annually on the last days of January and July, and reckoned for full three and six months periods only.

(f) The word "employees" means only regular and permanent employees whose only or principal employment is in the service of the city or town.

(g) The words "continuous service" mean uninterrupted employment, with this exception: a lay-off on account of illness or reduction of force; and a leave of absence, suspension or dismissal followed by reinstatement within one year, shall not be considered as breaking the continuity of service.

SECTION 2. Section two of said chapter six hundred and nineteen is hereby amended by inserting before the words "be accepted", in the twelfth line, the words:—as amended,—so as to read as follows:—ESTABLISHMENT OF RETIREMENT SYSTEM. Section 2. Any city or town in this commonwealth may establish a retirement system for its employees by accepting the provisions of this act in the following manner: In the case of a city, whenever a vote to accept the provisions of the act shall have duly been passed by the city council, the question of acceptance shall then be submitted to the voters of the city at the next municipal election. The vote shall be in answer to the question placed upon the ballot: "Shall an act passed by the general court in the year nineteen hundred and ten, entitled 'An Act authorizing the cities and towns of the commonwealth to establish retirement systems for their employees,' as amended, be accepted?" In the case of a town, whenever a vote to accept the provisions of the act shall have duly been passed by the board of selectmen, the question of acceptance shall then be submitted to the voters of the town at the next town meeting. If a majority of the voters voting on the question at the city election or at the town meeting shall vote in the affirmative, this act shall take effect in such city or town as hereinafter provided.

A copy of the vote of the city council or of the board of selectmen, certified by the city clerk or by the town clerk, and a copy of the vote at the city election or at the town meeting, sworn to by the local election commissioners or the officers corresponding thereto, shall, within thirty days respectively after the date of the latter vote, be filed in the office of the insurance commissioner. The latter shall forthwith issue a certificate that the retirement system is declared established in said city or town, to become operative on the first day of February or the first day of August following the expiration of three months after the date of such certificate.

SECTION 3. Section three of said chapter six hundred and nineteen is hereby amended by striking out the word "sixty", in the fourth line of paragraph (1), and inserting in place thereof the word:—thirty,—by inserting after the words "board of retirement", in the fourth line of paragraph (4), the words:—upon recommendation of the head of the department in which the member is employed,—by striking out the words "so retire", at the end of paragraph (4), and inserting in place thereof the words:—be retired, irrespective of such recommendation,—and by inserting after the words “board of retirement”, in paragraph (5), the words:—upon recommendation of the head of the department in which the member is employed,—so as to read as follows:—THE RETIREMENT ASSOCIATION. Section 3. Whenever a city or town shall have voted to establish a retirement system under the provisions of section two, a retirement association shall be organized as follows:—

(1) All employees of the city or town, on the date when the retirement system is declared established by the issue of the certificate, as provided in section two, may become members of the association. On the expiration of thirty days from said date every such employee shall be considered to have elected to become, and shall thereby become, a member, unless he shall have, within that period, sent notice in writing to the local election commissioners or the officers corresponding thereto that he does not wish to join the association.

(2) All employees who enter the service of the city or town after the date when the retirement system is declared established by the issue of the certificate, as provided in section two, except persons who have passed the age of fifty-five years, shall upon completing thirty days of service become thereby members of the association. Persons over fifty-five years of age who enter the service of the city or town after the establishment of the retirement system shall not be allowed to become members of the association, and no such employee shall remain in the service of the city or town after reaching the age of seventy years.

(3) No officer elected by popular vote may become a member of the association, nor any employee who is or will be entitled to a pension from the city or town for any reason other than membership in the association.

(4) Any member who reaches the age of sixty years and who has been in the continuous service of the city or town for a period of fifteen years immediately preceding may retire or may be retired by the board of retirement, upon recommendation of the head of the department in which the member is employed, and any member who reaches the age of seventy must be retired, irrespective of such recommendation.

(5) Any member who has completed a period of thirty-five years of continuous service may retire, or may be retired at any age by the board of retirement upon recommendation of the head of the department in which the member is employed if such action be deemed advisable for the good of the service.

SECTION 4. Section four of said chapter six hundred and nineteen is hereby amended by striking out the word “thirty”, in the fifth line of paragraph (1), and inserting in place thereof the word:—sixty,—by adding to paragraph (2) the following:—All claims for reimbursement on this account shall be subject to the approval of the city council or the board of selectmen,—by adding to paragraph (4) the words:—subject to the approval of the city council or the board of selectmen,—by inserting after the words “under section five, (2) A”, in the second and third lines of paragraph (6) A, the words:—and (3),—and by striking out the words “as defined in section five, (2) B (b)”, in the second and third lines of paragraph (6) G,—so as to read as follows:—THE BOARD OF RETIREMENT. Section 4. (1) The management of the retirement system is hereby vested in the board of retirement, consisting of three members, one of whom shall be the city or town treasurer; the second member shall be a member of the association elected by the latter within sixty days after the date when the retirement system is declared established by the issue of the certificate, as provided by section two, in a manner to be determined by the local election commissioners or the officers corresponding thereto; the third member shall be chosen by the other two members. In case of the failure of the latter to choose the third member within thirty days after the election of the second member, the mayor or the chairman of the board of selectmen shall appoint such third member. The first person so chosen or appointed as third member shall serve for two years; otherwise and thereafter the term of office of the two elected members shall be three years. On a vacancy occurring in the board for any cause or on the expiration of the term of office of any member, a successor of the person whose place has become vacant or whose term has expired shall be chosen in the same manner as was his predecessor.

(3) The city or town treasurer shall have charge and control of the funds of the system, subject to the approval of the board of retirement, and shall invest and reinvest the same, and may from time to time sell any securities held by him and invest and reinvest the proceeds, and any and all unappropriated income of said funds: provided, however, that all funds received by him not required for current disbursements shall be invested in accordance with the provisions of the laws of this commonwealth relating to the investment of the funds of savings banks. He shall in the investment of the funds give preference to the securities of the city or town in which the retirement system has been established. He may, whenever he sells such securities, deliver the securities so sold upon receiving the proceeds, and may execute all documents necessary to transfer the title thereto.

(4) The board of retirement shall have power to make by-laws and regulations not inconsistent with the provisions of this act, and to employ such clerical or other assistance as may be necessary for the fulfilment of its purposes subject to the approval of the city council or the board of selectmen.

(5) The board shall determine the percentage of wages that employees shall contribute to the pension fund, subject to the minimum and maximum percentages, and shall, furthermore, have power to classify employees for the purposes of the retirement system, and to establish different rates of contribution for different classes within the prescribed limits.

(6) The city or town treasurer shall, in February of each year, unless for cause the insurance commissioner shall have granted an extension of time, file in the office of the insurance commissioner a sworn statement, which shall exhibit the financial condition of the retirement system on the thirty-first day of the preceding January, and its financial transactions for the year ending with said day. Such statement shall be in a form approved by the insurance commissioner, and shall show, among other things, the liability of the retirement system on account of the following items:—

A. Deposit Reserve.

The total of the deposits of the members actually received by the treasurer or due from the city or town under section five, (2) A, and (3), and held subject to withdrawal by such members.

B. Interest Reserve.

Regular interest on such deposits.

C. Annuity Reserve.

The net value of the annuities entered upon under section six, (2) B, on the basis of the mortality tables and interest rates provided for in this act.

D. Expense and Contingent Funds.

(a) The unexpended portion of the amounts received under section five, (1).
(b) The contingent fund.

E. Gifts and Bequests.

The amounts received as gifts or bequests and held under the terms of such gifts or bequests.

F. Other Liabilities.

All other liabilities.

G. Surplus.

(a) Annuity surplus.—The undistributed surplus arising from annuity deposits.

(b) Other surplus.—All unassigned funds.

SECTION 5. Section five of the said chapter six hundred and nineteen is hereby amended by striking out paragraph (2) B (b) and inserting in place thereof the following paragraph:—(b) Every year, in February, in case the actual annuity deposits shall be less than the amount of the annuity reserve, the city or town shall make good such deficiency,—by adding after paragraph B (d) the following paragraph:—(e) The city or town shall appropriate annually such an amount as may be necessary to defray the contributions to be made by it under paragraph (2) B (a), (b), (c) and (d) of this section, according to estimates prepared by the treasurer,—and by striking out the word “pension”, in the fifth line of paragraph (3), and inserting in place thereof the word:—retirement,—so as to read as follows:—CREATION OF THE RETIREMENT FUND. Section 5. The funds of the retirement system shall be raised as follows:—

(1) Expense and Contingent Fund.

The city or town shall appropriate annually such an amount as may be necessary to defray the whole expense of administration, according to estimates prepared by the treasurer.

(2) Annuity and Pension Fund.

A. Deposits by Members.—Each member shall deposit in this fund from his wages or salary, as often as the same are payable, not less than one per cent and not more than five per cent of the amount of his wages or salary as determined by the board of retirement under the provisions of section four (5): provided, however, that employees who receive more than thirty dollars weekly in wages or salary shall not be assessed for contribution to this fund on the excess above that amount.

B. Contributions by the City or Town.—(a) Every month the city or town shall contribute such amount as the board of retirement may determine to be necessary to pay current pensions for subsequent services, under section six, (2) C (a).

(b) Every year, in February, in case the actual annuity deposits shall be less than the amount of the annuity reserve, the city or town shall make good such deficiency.

(c) Every month the city or town shall contribute such amount as the board of retirement may determine to be necessary to pay current pensions for prior service under section six, (2) C (b).

(d) Every month the city or town shall contribute such amount as the board of retirement may determine to be necessary to ensure the minimum payments provided for in section six, E.

(e) The city or town shall appropriate annually such an amount as may be necessary to defray the contributions to be made by it under paragraph (2) B (a), (b), (c) and (d) of this section, according to estimates prepared by the treasurer.

(3) Provision for Payments.

All amounts payable by members of the association under paragraph (2) A of this section shall be deducted by the city or town from the amounts payable to them as wages or salary, as often as the same are payable, and shall be credited immediately to the retirement fund by the city or town treasurer.

SECTION 6. Section six of said chapter six hundred and nineteen is hereby amended by striking out paragraph "(1) Expense and Contingent Funds", and inserting in place thereof the following:—(1) Expense and Contingent Fund. The fund provided for under section five, (1), shall be used, so far as may be necessary, for the payment of the expenses of administration. The portions not so used, if any, shall be repaid into the city or town treasury. In case the amount appropriated for the expense and contingent fund in any year should prove insufficient, the city or town shall appropriate in the following year such additional sum as may be required to cover the deficit,—by inserting after the words "thereafter retires", in the fourth line of paragraph (2) B the following words:—or is retired,—by striking out the words "time when he entered the service of the city or town", in the tenth and eleventh lines of paragraph (2) C (b), and inserting in place thereof the following words:—beginning of such period of continuous service,—and by striking out the words "Employees who had already reached the age of sixty years at the time when the retirement system was established, and employees who had already reached the age of fifty-five years at that date and also became members of the association", in paragraph (2) C (b), and inserting in place thereof the following:—

Any employee who had already reached the age of fifty-five years on the date when the retirement system was established, and also became a member of the association,—by inserting before the paragraph "D. Application of Surplus", the following:—

Any employee not a member of the association who had already reached the age of fifty-five years on the date when the retirement system was established, may be retired at any time and shall be paid a pension equivalent to the minimum payment herein provided for,—by inserting after the word "Minimum", in the first line of paragraph E, the words:—and Maximum,—and by adding after the word "year", in the third line of said paragraph E, the words:—or at a rate more than one half the amount of the average wages or salary received by the member during the ten years prior to his retirement,—so as to read as follows:—DISTRIBUTION OF FUNDS. Section 6. The city or town treasurer shall administer the funds of the retirement system in accordance with the following plan:—

(1) Expense and Contingent Fund.

The fund provided for under section five, (1), shall be used, so far as may be necessary, for the payment of the expenses of administration. The portions not so used, if any, shall be repaid into the city or town treasury. In case the amount appropriated for the expense and contingent fund in any year should prove insufficient, the city or town shall appropriate in the following year such additional sum as may be required to cover the deficit.

(2) Annuity and Pension Funds.

A. Refunds.—(a) Should a member of the association cease to be an employee of the city or town for any cause other than death before becoming entitled to a pension, there shall be refunded to him all the money that has been paid in by him under section five, (2) A, with regular interest.

(b) Should a member of the association die before becoming entitled to a pension, there shall be paid to his legal representatives all the money that has been paid in by him under section five, (2) A, with such interest as shall have been earned on such deposits.

B. Annuities from Employees' Deposits.—Every member who reaches the age of sixty years and has been in the continuous service of the city or town for fifteen years immediately preceding, and then or thereafter retires or is retired, every member who retires or is retired at the age of seventy years, and every member who is retired for the good of the service under the provisions of section three, (5), shall receive an annuity to which the sum of his deposits under section five, (2), with regular interest, shall entitle him, according to the tables adopted by the board of retirement, in one of the following forms:—

(a) A life annuity, payable monthly.

(b) A life annuity, payable monthly, with the provision that in the event of the death of the annuitant before receiving payments equal to the sum at the date of his retirement of his deposits under section five, (2) A, with regular interest, the difference shall be paid to his legal representatives.

C. Pensions derived from Contributions by the City or Town.—(a) Pensions based upon subsequent service. Any member entitled to an annuity under paragraph (2) B, of this section, shall receive in addition thereto a pension for life payable monthly equivalent to that annuity, to be paid out of the fund contributed by the city or town under the provisions of section five, (2) B (a).

(b) Pensions based upon prior service. Any member of the association who reaches the age of sixty years, having been in the continuous service of the city or town for fifteen years or more immediately preceding, and then or thereafter retires or is retired, shall receive in addition to the annuity and pension provided for by paragraphs (2) B and C (a) of this section, an extra pension for life as large as the amount of the annuity to which he might have acquired a claim if the retirement system had been in operation at the beginning of such period of continuous service, and if accordingly he had paid regular contributions from that date to the date of the establishment of the retirement association at the same rate as that first adopted by the board of retirement, and if such deductions had been accumulated with regular interest.

Any employee who had already reached the age of fifty-five years on the date when the retirement system was established, and also became a member of the association, may be retired under the provisions of the preceding paragraph without having completed the otherwise required service period of fifteen years.

For the purpose of computing any pension payable for prior service, the board of retirement may estimate on a basis determined by them the wages received at any period for which they may deem it impracticable to consult the original records.

Any employee not a member of the association who had already reached the age of fifty-five years on the date when the retirement system was established, may be retired at any time and shall be paid a pension equivalent to the minimum payment herein provided for.

D. Application of Surplus.—The board of retirement shall have power to determine the application of any surplus, as defined under section four, (6) G, subject to the approval of the insurance commissioner.

E. Minimum and Maximum Payments.—In no case shall the total monthly payment to a member be at a rate less than two hundred dollars per year, or at a rate more than one half the amount of the average wages or salary received by the member during the ten years prior to his retirement.

F. Association Membership and Pension Certificate.—Membership in the association shall be evidenced by a certificate to be issued to each member by the board of retirement, and the right to an annuity or a pension shall be evidenced by a policy to be issued to each member who retires or is retired by the board of retirement.

SECTION 7. The said chapter six hundred and nineteen is hereby amended by inserting after section ten the following new section:—Section 11. This act may be altered or amended from time to time and all such alterations and amendments shall, upon their passage, become binding upon cities and towns which have previously accepted this act, and all contractual rights entered into by and between any city or town and the employees thereof under the provisions of this act shall be deemed to have entered into subject to being subsequently affected by such alterations or amendments: provided, however, that no such alteration or amendment shall affect the rights of employees given by section six, (2) A, of this act with reference to deposits previously made.

SECTION 8. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

(The foregoing was laid before the Governor on the seventeenth day of April, 1911, and after five days it had "the force of a law", as prescribed by the Constitution, as it was not returned by him with his objections thereto within that time.)

BOSTON'S PUBLIC BATHS AND GYMNASIA.

Number of public baths open all the year, 9; 7 beach baths and 6 floating baths open during summer; gymnasia, 7; total number of indoor baths taken in year 1910, 849,375, of which 75 per cent were by men and boys. Cost of maintenance for 1910, $172,894, or $69 more than in 1909.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, October 9, 1911.

Regular meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at three o'clock p. m., President COLLINS in the chair and all the members present.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. BUCKLEY, to dispense with the reading of the records of the last meeting.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE MAYOR.

Subject to confirmation by the City Council, the Mayor submitted the following appointments:

(1) David Schapero (97 Woodcliff street, Ward 16), a Constable of the City of Boston for the term ending April 30, 1912.

(2) Raymond C. Dinsmore (37 West Tremlett street, Ward 20), a Weigher of Coal for the term ending April 30, 1912.

Laid over under the law.

AMENDMENTS TO REVISED LAWS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 9, 1911.

To the City Council:

For the reasons given in the letter of the Corporation Counsel written under date of October 9, 1911, which is attached hereto, I beg to recommend the passage of the accompanying ordinance which amends certain sections of chapter 47 of the Revised Laws of 1898 by striking out the words "Superintendent of Streets and Water Commissioner" and inserting in place thereof the words "Commissioner of Public Works," and by striking out the word "aldermen" and inserting in place thereof the words "Street Commissioners."

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

October 9, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Some difficulties have arisen in court concerning the enforcement of the prohibitions and penalties contained in chapter 47 of the Revised Ordinances on account of the fact that said chapter has not been changed to conform to the charter amendment giving the street commissioners jurisdiction over constructions in the streets, and the ordinance creating the Department of Public Works. Although the objections are somewhat fanciful, in my opinion, owing to section 7 of chapter 219 of the Revised Laws, yet it is plain that the chapter should be amended.

I inclose draft of an ordinance making the necessary changes.

Yours respectfully,

THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

An Ordinance.

Amending Chapter 47 of the Revised Ordinances of 1898.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Section 1. Sections 30, 33, 35, 36, 37, 44, 46, 53, 55, 57 and 104 of chapter 47 of the Revised Ordinances of 1898 are hereby amended by striking out the words "superintendent of streets," in said sections and inserting in place thereof the words "commissioner of public works."

Sec. 2. Sections 69, 70, 72 and 73 of said chapter are hereby amended by striking out the words "water commissioner" in said sections and inserting in place thereof the words "commissioner of public works."

Sec. 3. Sections 40, 56 and 89 of said chapter are hereby amended by striking out the word "aldermen" in said sections and inserting in place thereof the words "street commissioners."

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

INVESTIGATION OF BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 4, 1911.

To the City Council:

In reply to the order passed by your honorable body at its meeting of September 18, to the effect that "his Honor the Mayor be requested to investigate the conduct of the Building Department as per charges of Local Union No. 175 of the U. A. Journeymen Plumbers, Gas Fitters, Steam Fitters, and Steam Fitters' Helpers, hereto annexed," I beg to inclose a letter received from the Building Commissioner in reply to a communication from my secretary, together with copies of a second communication to the Building Commissioner and a letter to the Boston Finance Commission, referring the subject to that body for attention.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 4, 1911.

Boston Finance Commission:

Gentlemen,—The City Council at its meeting of September 18 passed the following order:

"That his Honor the Mayor be requested to investigate the conduct of the Building Department as per charges of Local Union No. 175 of U. A. Journeymen Plumbers, Gas Fitters, Steam Fitters and Steam Fitters' Helpers, hereto annexed."

The letter referred to, which is inclosed herewith, was forwarded by me, through my secretary, to the Building Commissioner, who has made a report, a copy of which is inclosed. The subject seems to me one which may require a more complete investigation than that which the Building Commissioner has been able to make, and I respectfully ask your commission to include it among the matters of public interest to which you are giving attention.

Yours very truly,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 4, 1911.

Mr. Arthur G. Everett,

Building Commissioner:

Dear Sir,—Your letter of September 28, addressed to his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald, has been received, and I am directed to say that his Honor would like a specific report from you upon the conditions described at particular premises in the letter of A. Mason, Recording Secretary of Local 175, U. A. A. F. of L. His Honor has directed me to forward this communication and the request of the City Council for an investigation of the Building Department to the Boston Finance Commission for action by that body.

Yours very truly,

WILLIAM A. LEAHY, Secretary.

City of Boston,

Building Department, September 28, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I am in receipt of a letter from Mr. William A. Leahy, accompanied by an order of the City Council and a communication from Local Union No. 175 of the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers, Gas Fitters, Steam Fitters and Steam Fitters' Helpers.

I have had several personal interviews with representatives of this organization and expressed to them a willingness and desire on the part of this department to suppress illegal work of the kind complained of.

We have visited places where it was said work was being done by unlicensed men or boys, but have been unable to find them at work, even when taking the precaution to send inspectors from other divisions than the gas division that the inspector might not be recognized.

Under date of September 18, 1911, I wrote the recording secretary of Local Union No. 175, in reply to a communication from him, the following letter:

City of Boston,

Building Department, September 28, 1911.

Mr. A. Mason, Recording Secretary,
Local Union No. 175,

24 Dana Street, Roxbury:

Dear Sir,—Yours of September 16, is at hand. This department will undertake the prosecution of any person violating the law by working at gasfitting without a license upon the presentation of sufficient evidence. We have found it difficult to secure the evidence needed in several cases reported to us.

Yours respectfully,

ARTHUR G. EVERETT,
Building Commissioner.

I think it quite probable that, because the members of this department are well known, our efforts to secure evidence of illegal work have been fruitless, and I shall be glad to undertake the prosecution of any person performing work in violation of law when evidence that will lead to conviction is placed in my possession.

Yours respectfully,

ARTHUR G. EVERETT,
Building Commissioner.

Placed on file.

DISPOSAL OF GARBAGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 9, 1911.

To the City Council:

In reply to your request conveyed by me to the Commissioner of Public Works that he inform the City Council "what action has been taken by him, if any, concerning the disposal of garbage," I transmit herewith his report on the question, dated October 9, 1911.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Public Works Department,
City Hall, October 9, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

With regard to the attached order of the City Council, requesting the Commissioner of Public Works, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council what action has been taken by him, if any, concerning the disposal of garbage, I respectfully submit the following information:

In response to an invitation by the Superintendent of Streets to submit proposals for removing refuse, which were opened on October 17, 1910, one bid only was received, that of J. F. Beedle. This bid was rejected. (See City Document No. 52, 1911.) Later, the Boston Disposal Company was organized and submitted a proposal for removal of refuse. This proposal was submitted to the City Council by the Mayor under date of March 13, 1911. (See City Record, issue of March 25.) This proposal was not accepted. On April 24, 1911, on invitation of the Commissioner of Public Works, advertised in the City Record, ten bids were submitted for the disposal of refuse collected by the Public Works Department, with the exception of the West Roxbury and East Boston districts, for a term of ten years from January 1, 1912. The bidders submitted their own proposals, together with proposed methods of disposal. After analysis and comparison all the bids were rejected. (See Document 82, 1911.) In a communication to the City Council, dated December 15, 1910, the Mayor asked for an appropriation of $75,000 for an incinerator in Brighton. (City Council Records, 1910, page 396.) The Faneuil Improvement Society offered objections to the erection of an incinerator in Brighton. (See City Council Records, 1910, page 411.) The City Council at its final meeting, January 30, 1912, referred the request for an appropriation to the next City Council, and so far as this department is informed, no action has been taken by the present Council on the subject referred. I would again request that this appropriation be granted, and that we be allowed to proceed with the construction of an incinerator to take care of the refuse of the Brighton district.

After several conferences with his Honor the Mayor, the members of the Finance Commission and members of the Chamber of Commerce, specifications have been drawn up for the disposal of refuse for the term of ten years. All of the above parties seemed to agree that in order to place the competition on an equitable basis, the city should designate and furnish the site where the final disposal plant should be built. With this end in view the Surveying Division of the Street Commissioners office is making a survey of Spectacle Island, with a view of taking the necessary land for a site by eminent domain, provided such site is found to be suitable.

Very respectfully,

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PLAYGROUND, FOREST HILLS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 9, 1911.

To the City Council:

The need of a playground in the district about Forest Hills, or between Forest Hills and Jamaica Plain, where the population is growing rapidly, has been impressed upon me for some time and has been presented at the district meetings. I am advised that a suitable piece of land can be purchased for about twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) and recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring this amount from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for a playground in Ward 23.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for Playground, Ward 23.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

USE OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 9, 1911.

To the City Council:

In the order of business for your meeting of October 9, 1911, I find the following: "5. Report of Executive Committee, ought not to pass the order to transfer $13,000 from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for extended use of school buildings, to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings."

This report, I presume, takes exception to the form of the order rather than to its substance. I do not believe that the City Council desires to set itself in opposition to the movement for the extended use of school buildings but prefer to assume that, like myself, it is searching for a way to overcome the technical obstacles which have arisen. Such a solution seems to be presented by the accompanying ordinance creating a department for extending and supervising the use of school buildings within the City of Boston, and I desire to submit this ordinance and the order transferring thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000) from the Reserve Fund to the department when created for consideration by your honorable body.

This action will at least focus attention upon a problem which seems to be ignored by those whose proper function, in my opinion, it is to arrange such matters. The original question was referred by me to the Finance Commission and by that body to the School Committee, which reported that it had no funds for the purpose. I then, in a letter of April 8, asked the Finance Commission to answer specifically whether as the result of their investigation of the finances of the School Department they would agree with the conclusion of the School Board. No answer was received to this inquiry and the report upon the school finances, which has just been printed, contains only a passing allusion to the subject. It is too important and is too extensively favored by civic organizations and public-spirited citizens to be slighted in this manner and the ordinance and order which are hereby submitted for consideration at least offer one way of accomplishing the results desired.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordinance creating a department for extending and supervising the use of school buildings within the City of Boston.

Be it ordained that there is hereby created within and for the City of Boston a department for the purposes hereinafter indicated, to be known as the "Department for Extending the Use of School Buildings Within the City of Boston"; that the said department shall consist of three persons, one of whom at least shall be a woman, who shall serve each for a term of one year and who shall be appointed by the Mayor.

This department shall have power to negotiate with the School Committee a lease or leases of school buildings during school vacations and for such days and parts of days as the public schools are not in session, and this department shall have the further power to issue permits for the use of such leased school buildings for meetings of the people for general education, recreational and public purposes. Said meetings shall be under the direction and supervision of the said department, and subject to such regulations as it may make to govern the same.

The members of the said department shall serve without salary, but shall have the expenditure of whatever sums of money may be appropriated in any one year for the purpose aforesaid, and so long as any amount of said appropriation shall remain unexpended, shall report to the City Council of the said City of Boston in writing, monthly, showing the way and manner in which any sum from the said appropriation has been expended and what balance, if any, remains unexpended.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to transfer the sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the Department for Extending the Use of School Buildings Within the City of Boston.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON UNCLAIMED BAGGAGE.

A petition was received from the Boston & Maine Railroad Company, asking for leave to sell unclaimed baggage.

The President appointed as special committee on said petition Coun. Ballantyne and McDonald.

REPORT ON PENSION ACTS.

The following was received:

Boston Finance Commission,
October 7, 1911.

To the Honorable City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Finance Commission will be able to make a report upon one or both of the pension acts submitted by the Honorable Council to the Finance Commission (chapter 619 of 1910, as amended by 338 of 1911 and 413 of 1911) not later than Thursday, October 12. The commission expected to be able to submit its report during the last week in September, but this was made impossible by the pressure of other work.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN A. SULLIVAN, Chairman.

Placed on file.

CONSOLIDATION OF DEPARTMENTS.

Public Recreation League of Boston,
October 2, 1911.

The City Council,
City Hall, Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen,—Inclosed is a copy of a communication sent to his Honor the Mayor under date of September 27.

Very truly yours,

E. B. MERO, Secretary.

Public Recreation League of Boston,
September 27, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald.

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Public Recreation League of Boston at a meeting September 13 took the following action after discussion of the proposed consolidation of departments, and the ordinance now before the City Council to create a Park and Recreation Department.

"Voted,—That the Public Recreation League of Boston is in favor of a consolidation of departments having to do with public recreation, namely, the Park, Public Grounds, Bath and Music Departments of the City of Boston;

"That, while not at this time approving or disapproving any particular plan for such a consolidation, the League disapproves any specification or designation of occupation that would limit the membership of the commission in charge of such a department to members of particular professions;

"That the League recommends that such a department be in charge of a man or men whose general executive ability to handle large matters has been proved, in order that the department may be conducted on the broad and progressive lines necessary to the proper administration of Boston's municipal recreation facilities, with the aid of such subordinate experts as may be desirable.

"Voted,—That all appointments under the proposed consolidated Park and Recreation Department ordinance should, in the opinion of this League, be under Civil Service regulations or laws."

The Public Recreation League of Boston is convinced that the time has come for ensuring a radical change in the policy of administering its parks, playgrounds, gymnasiums, water facilities and all the various means for recreation. The League desires to be of all possible assistance to public officials and other agencies interested in such improvements.

Section 1 of the proposed ordinance lays special emphasis upon the material side of park maintenance. The League believes this is but one feature of park administration, and that it is not the most important part at present in Boston. It is a question worth serious consideration whether it is a matter of more money to be appropriated, or whether it is largely a matter of a new policy that will put the human service in the foreground, reducing to a minimum if necessary expenditures of money for material improvements until the people are invited more effectively than now to make greater use of the various recreation facilities in the parks and elsewhere.

These facilities now cost the city for maintenance from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 a year. It is, we believe, time to pause and note whether the people of the city are getting sufficient returns from this great outlay. You, as Mayor of Boston, have lately emphasized this point with reference to the Charles River Reservation. It is equally applicable to the other parks and public grounds, as well as to the playgrounds, the gymnasiums, the waterfront and the numerous other opportunities now only partially developed. And there are desirable methods for providing this sort of municipal activity for the people's benefit untried and scarcely known in Boston, although operated with official and popular sanction in other cities of this country and in Europe.

The Public Recreation League of Boston is fully aware of this city's initiative in establishing municipal gymnasiums, baths, parks and playgrounds, and the League does not overlook the good service being given, even under the present arrangement of multiplied divisions of authority. It believes, however, that a centralization of the work of the four departments named, under the general direction of men having the point of view of service to all the people, should bring the entire recreation service up to the standard of its present best features.

We hope you and the City Council will make possible a Park and Recreation Department that will enable Boston to resume its proper place as leader and example to other cities along these lines. If there is any way in which we can be of service, we are ready to cooperate as seems desirable.

Very respectfully,

E. B. MERO, Secretary.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

MINORS' LICENSES.

President COLLINS submitted reports on petitions for minors' licenses—recommending that the same be granted to fourteen newsboys, two boot-blacks and two vendors.

Reports severally accepted; licenses granted on the usual conditions.

COAL AND COKE LICENSE.

A copy of coal and coke license granted by the Secretary of the Commonwealth was received.
Placed on file.

STORAGE OF GASOLENE.

Notices were received certifying that the herein-after named buildings were used for the storage of gasoline, and of intention to continue such use for the ensuing year, viz.:

Commonwealth Garage (Inc.), 98 Brighton avenue, Ward 25.

J. A. Dowling, corner Commonwealth and Harvard avenues, Ward 25.

CLERK HIRE.

W. T. A. Fitzgerald, Register of Deeds, in accordance with the provisions of section 33, chapter 22 of the Revised Laws, submitted a pay roll, certifying that certain persons had been employed in his office from August 21 to September 25, and that work had been performed to the amount of $3,826.50.

Approved by the Council.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.22 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. HALE, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Chamber and were called to order by the President at 4.28 o'clock p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Reports on petitions (severally referred to-day) for sidewalks—recommending the passage of orders that the Commissioner of Public Works make sidewalks in front of the following-named estates; said sidewalks to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built as specified, viz.:

Gravel with Granite Edgestones.

Caroline Keim, 8 Auckland street, Ward 20.
Lorin S. Gray, 10 Auckland street, Ward 20.

Artificial Stone with Granite Edgestone.

M. J. Crossman, 21-25 Astor street, Ward 11.
American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 28 Newbury street, Ward 11.

Henry A. Kirk, 530 Dudley street, Ward 16.
F. G. Buckley, 690 Dudley street, Ward 16.
Orville R. Cooper et al., 64, 68, 72, 76 Hancock street, Ward 20.

W. A. Whalen, Aspen street (south side), corner Copeland street, Ward 22.

Robert J. Mahoney, 266 Lamartine street, Ward 22.

F. D. Rand, Poplar and Corinth streets, Ward 23.
Hyman Rambach, 6 Mt. Hope street, Ward 23.
Mrs. C. Smith, 53 Peter Parley road, Ward 23.

Joanna B. Casey, 27 Greenbrier street, Ward 20.
F. G. Powell, 123 Washington street, Ward 24.
C. S. Whiting, 82 Sutherland road, Ward 25.
Joseph D. Snell, easterly side, Bushnell street, Ward 24.

Reports severally accepted; orders passed.
(2) Report on order (referred September 11) that chapter 367 of the Acts of 1911, entitled
"An Act Relative to the Use of School Halls for other than School Purposes," be and the same hereby is accepted—recommending reference of same to the Committee on Ordinances.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.
(3) Report on message of Mayor and communication (referred to-day) relative to the disposal of garbage—that the same be placed on file.
Report accepted; message and communication
placed on file.

(4) Report on petition of the Boston & Eastern Electric Railroad Company (referred September 11), to have route fixed within City of Boston—recommending the passage of the following preamble and order:

Whereas, Upon petition of the directors of the association for the formation of the Boston & Eastern Electric Railroad Company to the Council to fix the route of said railroad within the limits of the City of Boston, and

Whereas, After public notice and a hearing according to law, and after an investigation by the Council of the route proposed as shown upon a plan filed July 20, 1911, it is expedient and in the public interest to modify in part said route, said modifications being now shown upon a plan hereafter mentioned, on sheets numbered A, 1915;
A, 1905; A, 1925, and 1935 by center lines marked in red, now be it therefore Ordered, That the Council hereby approves of said modifications, and hereby agrees with the said directors upon the route shown upon plans filed with the Council on July 20, 1911, modified as aforesaid by said red lines, and be it further Ordered, That the Council hereby fixes so much of the route of said railroad within the limits of the City of Boston as is within its authority so to do, the route hereby fixed being shown on a plan made by John H. Bickford, dated September 29, 1911, and filed herewith, said route being as follows:

Beginning at the city line in the Chelsea river and running in a southerly direction to the northwesterly end of Breeds Island, thence in a southwesterly direction alongside of and westerly of the tracks of the Boston & Maine Railroad, crossing said Boston & Maine Railroad at or near Addison street, thence still in a southwesterly direction parallel to and easterly of the Boston & Albany tracks under Curtis street, Saratoga, Bennington and Neptune streets, and thence across the land of the East Boston Company, parallel to the said tracks of the Boston & Albany Railroad and about 35 feet from the edge of the land belonging to the said Boston & Albany Railroad, under Prescott, Porter, Orleans, Decatur, Maverick, Sumner, Webster and Marginal streets, under Boston Harbor in a tunnel and continuing in a subway to Post Office square. The stations along said route being located, one at Post Office square, one at or near Porter street, one at or near Prescott street, one between Bennington and Saratoga streets and one on the northwesterly end of Breeds Island.

Report accepted; preamble and orders passed,
yeas 8, nays 0.

(5) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred October 2) for $25,000 for renovation of soil, etc., on Boston Common—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted, order passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

(6) Report on message of Mayor, communications and order appropriating the following sums from the income of the Parkman Fund for the present year, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Park Commissioners—that the order ought to pass, viz.:

Charlesbank, completion of improvements.....	$600 00
Further repairs upon fence on sea wall..	600 00
Castle Island, new water supply, 4-inch pipe.....	3,000 00
Franklin Park, bears' dens, bird cage, sewer and water supply for zoological garden.....	20,000 00

The PRESIDENT—The Chair will state that under the provisions of the Parkman will only such parks can benefit under the income of the Parkman Fund as were in existence at the time of the execution of the will. There seems to be some doubt as to whether or not Castle Island could benefit under this restriction. For that reason the Chair will divide the order and put the Castle Island item separately.

The order, with the exception of the item for Castle Island, was passed, yeas 9.

The item for Castle Island was also passed, yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. Smith voting no.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I move reconsideration.

The question came on Coun. Smith's motion to reconsider. Upon a visa voce vote the result was doubted, and upon a rising vote it appeared that four were in the affirmative and three in the negative, and the motion to reconsider the vote on the Castle Island item was declared carried.

On motion of Coun. KENNY further consideration of the item was assigned for one week.

Coun. SMITH moved that the matter be referred to the Corporation Counsel for his opinion as to the legality of using Parkman Fund money for the purpose in question.

The motion was carried.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President COLLINS called up No. 1, unfinished business, viz.:

1. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor October 2 of Olaf Bensen, Walter G. Conant, Miss Agnes F. Farrington and James R. Taylor to be Weighers of Coal for the term ending April 30, 1912.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Curley and McDonald. Whole number of ballots cast 7, yeas 7, and the several appointments were confirmed.

SALE OF ALMSHOUSE PROPERTY.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. McDON-ALD, to take No. 4 from the table, viz.:

4. Ordered, That the Boston Infirmary Trustees be and hereby are authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to sell to the Boston Elevated Railway Company for a sum not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000) the property in the Charlestown district known as the Charlestown Alms-house, with the land connected therewith, containing about 102,400 square feet, and upon such sale his Honor the Mayor is hereby authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to execute a deed satisfactory to the Law Department, conveying said premises to said company for a consideration not less than seventy-two thousand dollars ($72,000), to be determined by said trustees and approved as aforesaid.

On July 17 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

President COLLINS—As the Council will note, on July 17 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0. The question comes to-day on its final reading.

The order was given its final reading and passed,
yeas 8, nays 0.

COLUMBUS DAY PARADE.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the Fire Commissioner be hereby authorized to grant leave of absence, without loss of pay, to all employees of his department who are members of the Knights of Columbus and who wish to parade on Columbus Day, October 12, 1911.

Passed.

INFORMATION CONCERNING RETIRE- MENT OF LABORERS.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I should like to ask the chairman of the Committee on Finance when we might expect a report on No. 3 on the calendar.

(No. 3 on the calendar was an order calling for the acceptance of chapter 413, Acts of 1911, concerning Retirement Fund for city laborers.)

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I am not in possession of any information which would authorize me to answer that question other than that I have heard a communication read here this afternoon stating there was some intention on the part of the Finance Commission to take that up this week.

Coun. CURLEY—Thank you very much. I will ask the Clerk if he for information will read that communication.

The Clerk read the communication which had been sent in by the Finance Commission.
(See earlier in the session.)

ACT CONCERNING HOURS OF WORK.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to call the attention of the Fire Commissioner to chapter 494, Acts of 1911, and to ask if said act is not violated in his department.

Passed.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to call the attention of the Hospital Trustees to chapter 494, Acts of 1911.

Passed.

USE OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. HALE, to take No. 5 on the calendar from the table.

5. Report of Executive Committee, ought not to pass on order to transfer $13,000 from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Extended Use of School Buildings, to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Coun. HALE—I would like to move that this be referred to the Committee on Ordinances with the other matters which came in to-day relative to the same subject.

The motion prevailed.

SALE OF PARK LAND, BRIGHTON.

Coun. BALLANTYNE called up special assignment No. 2, viz.:

2. Report of the Committee on Public Lands, ought not to pass on the order authorizing the sale by the Park Commissioners of a parcel of land in Brighton, bounded southerly by Commonwealth avenue and northeasterly by Chestnut Hill avenue.

Coun. CURLEY—At this time I would most respectfully move a further assignment of this order for one week.

The question came on the motion of Coun.
Curley for an assignment of one week. The motion being declared carried, it was doubted by Coun.
BALLANTYNE, and a verification by roll call requested. Upon roll call, 7 voted in the affirmative and 2 in the negative, Coun. Smith and Ballantyne voting "nay."

REQUEST FOR INFORMATION.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I should like to ask the chairman of the Executive Committee when his committee may consider the appropriation for the widening of Union Park street.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, at the last meeting one week ago to-day a motion was made by the councilor from South Boston (Kenny) that this matter be laid upon the table for two weeks in order to give the members of the Council an opportunity to see the district. The two weeks will have elapsed next Monday, and I expect that at that time all of the members of the Council will have seen the district and that the Executive Committee will be ready to act upon the order.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I believe that Coun. Attridge is unconsciously in error. I asked the Clerk to look over the records and the Clerk informed me that the motion was that the matter be assigned to the next meeting—of course, the next meeting being to-day. But as the Executive Committee have met to-day I take it for granted that some action will be taken on it at the next meeting of the Council.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, my recollection of the action of the Executive Committee was and is that the motion was made by the councilor from South Boston that the motion was made to lay the matter on the table for two weeks, which would be next Monday, for action by the Council, and I think the other members of the committee who are present will bear me out that I am correct.

Coun. KENNY—That is my recollection as well.

Coun. CURLEY—The City Council records read that the motion was referred to the Executive Committee, there being no time set upon it, so that that would naturally come up to-day.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—The gentleman on this side of the Chamber of course is in error. When orders are referred to the Executive Committee, no time is specified as to when that committee will act.
When that order reached the Executive Committee last Monday, the Executive Committee, on the motion of the gentleman from South Boston, laid the matter on the table for two weeks in order to give the members a chance to see the district.
The two weeks will be up next Monday, and I expect that the Executive Committee will then take the matter up, when all the members of the Council will have had the chance to look over the district.

Coun. HALE moved a general reconsideration, hoping the same would not prevail, and the motion was carried.

Coun. SMITH—Would it not be more pertinent to ask Coun. Curley to ask when the matter will be taken up in the Finance Committee, as I understand the money must originate from the Finance Committee, the matter being in there now.

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that there is no motion before the Council.

MOTION TO ADJOURN.

Coun. HALE moved to adjourn.

Coun. SMITH—Will Coun. Hale withdraw his motion?

Coun. HALE—I will yield to a question, but I will not yield to further discussion of this matter, because I think it is simply a waste of time.

Coun. SMITH—It is another matter.

Coun. HALE—If Coun. Smith has something on some other subject which is of importance, like an order, I am perfectly willing to yield.

President COLLINS—That can only be done with general consent, because on the motion to adjourn no debate is in order. By general consent Coun. Smith is permitted to ask a question.

Coun. SMITH—The question I would like to ask, Mr. President, is that the councilor at the head of the Finance Committee can inform us, when there is to be a meeting of that committee, the last meeting having been July 7, and there having been—

Coun. CURLEY—I object to that question being asked. I asked that question a week ago myself.

President COLLINS—The question comes on the motion to adjourn.

Coun. SMITH—Was I granted the right to ask this question? I was granted unanimous right to ask this question.

President COLLINS—I understand Coun. Curley objected. That is not unanimous consent.
Do I understand the gentleman still continues with his objection?

Coun. CURLEY—I withdraw the objection if he asks the question of the chairman of the Committee on Finance, but he should not ask me.

Coun. SMITH—If I may be permitted to ask the chairman of the Committee on Finance, as I originally intended, about when there is to be another meeting, the last meeting having been held on July 7, and there being before this committee several important matters such as the Ward 19 playground, four bills in regard to the South Department of the hospital, two in regard to the Consumptives' Hospital, three in regard to Norfolk street widening, one in regard to the Almshouse in Long Island, and one or more in regard to Ward 7 building, additional land for the L Street Bath.

President COLLINS—The Council permitted only a question. I understand the councilor is making a statement.

Coun. SMITH—I am asking a question as to when the next meeting of the Finance Committee will be held, there being before the committee the following subjects.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that is an explanation of your question.

No reply having been made to the question asked by Coun. Smith, question came on the motion to adjourn. On a viva voce vote the motion to adjourn was declared carried, the result was doubted by Coun. Buckley, and upon verification by roll call, I voted in the affirmative and 7 in the negative, and the motion was declared lost.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—I ask unanimous consent to make a short statement.

Unanimous consent was granted.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—In regard to the matter about which the gentleman on this side of the Chamber inquired—that is, the Union Park street order, which was before the Executive Committee, I have here the order which was referred to that committee and the memorandum of the Clerk of the Committee, Mr. Dever, and his memorandum is that on October 2 this order was laid on the table for two weeks, thus verifying what I said in regard to it.

Coun. SMITH—May I have unanimous consent to ask another question?

Unanimous consent was granted.

Coun. SMITH—Perhaps I was wrong in asking consent for another question. I wish to reiterate the first and give Coun. Kenny the opportunity to answer if he cares to. That is, we have these important matters before the committee, there having been no meeting since July 7. It seems to me perhaps the Finance Committee would care to have a meeting. Otherwise, it might be construed that they were holding up certain matters,—if they didn't have a meeting and discuss them, at least.

Coun. HALE—I move that the chairman of the Committee on Finance have the privilege of answering Coun. Smith's question.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules the motion out of order.

Coun. KENNY—There is an order pending before the Committee on Finance which will become effective on the 20th of October. The next meeting of this Council is a week from to-day so that I naturally expected to call a meeting in order to report on that, at least.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, in relation to the statement regarding the question whether Union Park street, if I might be permitted to make a statement.

Coun. HALE—I object.

Coun. CURLEY—I rise to a question of privilege. My question of privilege is that through an error both Coun. Attridge and myself have been placed in a false light regarding Union Park street.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that Coun. Curley has the floor on his question of privilege.

Coun. CURLEY—My statement, Mr. President, was that the matter of disposition of the question of appropriation of $75,000 for Union Park street had not been assigned for two weeks. By being assigned for two weeks I mean action by the open Board on the question of assignment; and I consulted the Clerk with relation to that particular proposition. The Clerk informed me that it had been assigned for no definite time other than the next meeting. Coun. Attridge is informed by the Clerk of Committees that in the Executive Committee's session it was assigned for two weeks, and I believe that is so, and if I have unconsciously misstated his position I desire to take it back.

On motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE the Council adjourned at 4.56, to meet on Monday, October 10, 1911.

STREET NAMES IN TILE LETTERING ON SIDEWALKS.

The Board of Commissioners of Oklahoma City, have contracted with a local manufacturing concern for the manufacture of yellow tile lettering, at a cost of 2 cents per letter, for the purpose of substituting this tile letter at street intersections to designate the name of the streets. This system will be used by that municipality in the future in lieu of the metal crossarm designations now in use for that purpose. The lettering will be 6 inches high, made of dark yellow tile and will be set in the concrete apron to the step-up from the street to the sidewalk, and the arrangements of the lettering will be such as to be easily discernible to persons going in either direction as relates to names of the intersecting streets. This plan is already being inaugurated where new work is being done to the sidewalks, and will be done to others as soon as funds for the purpose become available. This plan means an enormous saving in this particular, both in the matter of original cost and the cost of maintenance of such signs, as the tile is practically indestructible and will last almost always, whereas the cost for replacement and upkeep of the present signs has been about $1.05 per sign since their installation some two years ago. — Municipal Journal.

BOWDOIN S. PARKER,
Collector of Taxes for the City of Boston.

RADIAL AND DIAGONAL STREETS.

In the many recent discussions of city planning, particularly the planning of improvements in places which have been well built up, the emphasis laid on the need of radial streets deserves consideration by American municipal engineers, for the prevalence of the gridiron system of street location in this country makes radial or diagonal thoroughfares even more important than in Europe, where the street plan rarely has any symmetrical form. The purpose of the radial streets, as advocated by many engineers, is to connect the centers of important municipal districts by a direct broad thoroughfare. Another purpose sometimes advocated in cities very closely built up is the junction of the heart of the city with a ring boulevard, partly or entirely around it, both radial streets and the boulevard being wide enough to accommodate heavy travel. The underlying thought in every case is the necessity of providing for heavy travel some quick means of communication. This does not necessarily mean the most direct route between two points, but rather the most direct practicable route. In a city of narrow winding streets, the construction of straight radial thoroughfares and a boulevard encircling the streets, thereby relieving the old winding roadways of much of their travel, may be a more practicable solution of the problem of vehicular traffic than any other. Comprehensive projects of this nature are not undertaken, for self-evident reasons, yet from time to time some European city carries out partial improvements of this type which seem to be quite successful.

In the case of American cities, with their rectangular street plan, it is now manifest that diagonal thoroughfares are very desirable. In places which are so built up that the construction of such roadways is financially impracticable, little or nothing can be done, of course. But there are many suburban districts where extensive street improvements must soon be undertaken, districts which will inevitably become important, which may still be provided with diagonal roads at an expense by no means prohibitive, particularly if the owners of the property in the vicinity of such thoroughfares are educated to the increase in value of their land which will follow the construction of such a main street in its vicinity. It is almost impossible to persuade the average property owner to look well ahead in matters of this nature, as in most other municipal problems, because there is little or no interest in anything affecting conditions which will obtain more than ten years hence. Yet the one thing that is most clearly brought out in all the discussions of municipal planning, one might say the only thing generally applicable to American conditions, is the desirability of diagonal or radial roads in our usual gridiron street system.—Engineering Record.

Antony Cefalo, $1,355; John Kelly Company, $1,994; West Roxbury Trap Rock Company, $2,080.

Engineers' estimate, $1,815.

On October 16 the Mayor approved a contract with J. H. Ferguson Company for sewerage works in Blagden and Exeter streets, city proper. Bids on this work were opened October 9, and were as follows:

J. H. Ferguson Company, $11,330.09; M. De Sisto & Co., $11,599.05; Peter W. Hill, $12,589.80; George J. Regan, $13,406.29; A. M. Cusack, $13,668.57; D. E. Lynch, $16,144.59.

Engineers' estimate, $13,351.97.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Water Service).

On October 13 the Mayor approved a contract with Charles M. Callahan for relaying water pipe in Albany street, between Dover and East Canton streets. Bids on this work were opened October 6, and were as follows:

Charles M. Callahan, $2,040.05; M. De Sisto & Co., $2,292; Thomas Burke, $3,045.05; John T. Shea, Jr., $3,954; D. E. Lynch, $5,025.

Engineers' estimate, $2,330.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without public advertisement, requests of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising, and also additions to and deductions from contracts.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

The Mayor has approved a contract, awarded without advertising, to Sofus L. Mortenson for painting the interior of Faneuil Hall, the cost of the work to be $1,530. In making request for authority the Superintendent of Public Buildings states:

"From certain specified decorators, whose names were submitted to me by the Art Commission, I have received the following proposals for doing the said work:

"Sofus L. Mortenson, $1,530; W. J. Dolan, $1,862; Lewis F. Perry's Sons Company, $3,232.

"The Daniels & Howlett Company and James I. Wingate & Son were invited to bid on the work but failed to submit proposals on the same.

"This request is made for the reason that it is my opinion and also the opinion of the Art Commission that the best results will be obtained by this method, as the work calls for the highest grade of workmanship."

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Sewer Service).

The Mayor has approved a contract, made without advertising, with Patrick McGovern for certain work to be done at the Calf Pasture pumping station, the contract price being $5,800. In making request for authority to award the commissioner states:

"This is a job of tunneling under the building and boiler foundations, and is not, in my opinion, a proper subject for general advertising. Unless great care and skill are exercised the foundations of the boilers might be endangered. I have solicited bids from three tunnel men who possess, to my personal knowledge, the necessary equipment and experience to do this work. I have received bids as follows:

"Patrick McGovern, 6 Beacon street, $5,800; Hugh Nawn Contracting Company, 82 Savin street, $6,500; Coleman Brothers, 95 Milk street, $6,700."

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

The Mayor has approved a contract, made without advertising, with the Cottage Gardens Nurseries of Long Island, N. Y., for furnishing 600 European linden trees for the Public Grounds Department at a cost of $2,550. In requesting authority to award this contract the Superintendent says:

Hon. JOHN F. FITZGERALD,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully ask permission to purchase for the Public Grounds Department 600 European linden trees for the tree pits now being dug on Bennington street, Dorchester street, Avenue Louis Pasteur and Blue Hill avenue, these trees to be purchased from the Cottage Gardens Nurseries, Queens, Long Island, New York.

Superintendent Sullivan of the Public Grounds Department has gone into this matter very carefully, and he states that it would be useless to advertise for these trees as it would mean more or less of a delay. He also states that he has seen these trees at the nurseries and finds that they are of the size and condition that he needs for the above work and that the price quoted him is unusually low for their quality. He is quoted a price of $5 each for 300 trees from 15 to 20 feet high, and $3.50 each for 300 trees from 13 to 16 feet high, the total amount for the 600 trees being $2,550. He would like to have me place the order for these trees at once so that he may receive them during the first week of November.

Respectfully,
J. EDWARD MULLEN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Mayor has granted to the Commissioner of Public Works authority to do the following work with the department force without advertising for competitive bids:

Resurface, with the division force, Mishawum street, from Main street to Rutherford avenue, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $2,550.

"This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

Build, with the department force, a surface drain of 20-inch, 18-inch, 15-inch, 12-inch and 10-inch earthen pipe and 7 catch-basins in Stratford street, between Clement avenue and a point 230 feet southeast of Pelton street, West Roxbury, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $5,604.

Build, with the department force, a sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe and a surface drain of 12-inch earthen pipe in Humboldt avenue, between Harrishof and Townsend streets, Roxbury district, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $1,904.

"The above work can, in my opinion, be as advantageously done by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved by the Mayor:

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.

Addition on the contract with John A. Rooney for fireproofing work at the City Hospital, amounting to $1,115, of which $655 is on account of removing walls of tunnel across yard and replacing with concrete walls and footings, and making changes in space between tunnel and laundry building to accommodate engineers' workshop; and $460 being on account of bricking up ten windows in the power house with same quality of brick as in present building, and for pointing up the joints in the wall in front of the power house. Original contract, $13,700, total additions, $1,115; contract as standing, $14,485.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Paving Service).

An addition, amounting to $1,500, on the contract with the Central Construction Company for brick block pavement in Geneva avenue, between Columbia road and Bowdoin street, on account of making the grade at the approach of Olney street conform with that of Geneva avenue. Contract price, $23,810.60; total addition, $1,500; total deductions, $1,693.89; contract as standing, $23,616.71.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

The Mayor has approved a vote of the Board of Street Commissioners granting an abatement of 20 per cent from the assessments levied against the estate of Philip Snowden; the assessments having been as follows; $1,333.06 on account of the laying-out and construction of Seymour street, West Roxbury, July 2, 1906; and $1,456.50 on account of the laying of a sewer in said street, May 12, 1906.

HAMBURG'S NEW TUNNEL.

The enterprising city of Hamburg continues to add to its laurels by the manner in which it overcomes the obstacles to its commercial development. Having constructed a great number of piers, docks and tunnels on the west side of the River Elbe, some method of access from the east, or city, side of the river had to be adopted other than a bridge for the accommodation of the thousands of men employed on the docks, at the warehouses and shipyards, and also for the extensive vehicle traffic. To meet this condition a proposition was submitted, and subsequently adopted, which planned a tunnel under the river. The approaches to the tunnel consist of elevators at each end. The tunnel, which is 75 feet below the street surface and 1,400 feet long, is made up of two tubes, each 25 feet in diameter. The construction is $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch steel plate, lined with glazed brick, a paved roadway and sidewalks. A bank of elevators is installed at each end capable of caring for loads up to thirty tons, but teams with loads of over ten tons are excluded. The capacity of these tubes is given at 200 teams and 7,000 persons per hour.

It is expected that the toll for pedestrians will be nominal, if anything, but the tariff for teams is established at from 5 cents to $1, according to weight; large scales being located at each entrance.

After visiting the docks and shipbuilding plants, the engineer-in-charge of the tunnel construction explained what had been done and took the Chamber of Commerce party through from the West side to the East side. As the elevators at the West entrance were not installed, the party descended by means of a spiral staircase, 133 steps, to the tunnel level, passed through, boarded an elevator, and in a moment were at the entrance on the city side of the river.

The officials of Hamburg are satisfied that the tunnel will be a valuable adjunct to their harbor activities, giving them rapid service to and from the city docks. The cost of the tunnel will be $3,500,000.

TO COMPEL CLEAN SIDEWALKS.

A bill for an ordinance amending section 1643 of the Municipal Code has been introduced in the Council of Denver, Col. by Supervisor Spengel on recommendation of the Board of Public Works which supplies a deficiency in the existing laws in that it will enable the Board to carry out the intention of the ordinance in compelling owners and occupants to keep the sidewalks clean and the weeds cut. The amendment provides that owners or occupants of houses, stores and other buildings and owners or agents of vacant lots must keep the sidewalks and gutters in front of or adjoining their property clean and free from dirt, snow, ice, weeds, debris and other obstructions, and shall remove same immediately after they have accumulated. The penalty is $5 to $50 fine. The Board of Public Works may notify said owners or tenants to remove the obstruction in from two to thirty days, failure to comply resulting in the work being done by the city or by contract. A certificate will be issued to the party doing the work to cover the expense, said certificate to draw 1 per cent interest per month and to be a lien on the property.—Municipal Journal.

FINANCE COMMISSION.

The Mayor has transmitted to the Finance Commission the report from the Building Commissioner upon the recent collapse of a building under process of construction.

Boston, October 14, 1911.

Boston Finance Commission:

DEAR SIRS,—In transmitting the report of the Building Commissioner upon the recent collapse of the building in process of erection at 457-461 Hanover street, I desire to call your attention to the fact that this is one of several similar accidents, accompanied by loss of life, which have occurred in the last few years.

The technical cause as determined by the Building Commissioner appears to have been a weakness in the stone foundation supporting the iron column at the corner of the building. This foundation was partly hollow instead of being entirely solid. The broader question, however, of placing the responsibility and applying a remedy which would prevent a recurrence of such accidents in future still remains unsettled. This particular mishap may have been due to the ignorance or carelessness of the builder, as suggested by Commissioner Everett; to laxity on the part of the inspector; to defective administration or organization in the Building Department; to a lack of sufficient appropriations for carrying on properly the work of that department; or, finally, to a combination of two or more of these causes. One of the remedies that have been suggested for the prevention of such accidents is the licensing of all builders. This measure would recognize clearly that their occupation like that of plumbers, gas fitters and engineers involves risk, and that those who pursue it should possess certificates from some department of the Government as evidence that they are qualified to do so. Another plan proposed is the requirement of continuous rather than occasional inspection through a licensed clerk of the works, to be paid by the builder or proprietor, to report the result of his inspection to the Building Department. This system, I am informed, prevails in England, where accidents of this kind are comparatively rare.

Insofar as the Building Department of the city is involved, this subject seems to me a proper one for your commission to investigate and no less important than many to which you have devoted your attention in the past, as the lives of workmen, tenants and even passersby are endangered by the faulty construction of buildings.

I respectfully request, therefore, that you investigate the subject, with a view to determining the responsibility for this accident and suggesting a remedy.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

CITY OF BOSTON,
BUILDING DEPARTMENT,
October 14, 1911.

HON. JOHN F. FITZGERALD,
Mayor of Boston:

SIR,—On the 10th of October instant, at about noon, a building in process of erection at 457-461 Hanover street, corner Battery street, Ward 6, partially collapsed killing three men. The owner of the building is Joseph Weinberg of 50 East Springfield street, and the builder was Joseph Adolph.

The walls and framing of the building were completed and plastering was in process. The building is of second-class construction with 12-inch brick walls and wooden floors and partitions and designed for occupancy as a tenement house.

The collapse was occasioned by the sinking of an iron column supporting the corner of the building and carrying on steel beams about twenty feet of wall on each of the two streets.

The owner, upon being notified by this department, immediately set to work to clear away the debris and support the insecure portions of the building. At a quarter before three o'clock on Friday, October 13, the building was safely shored up and the debris removed sufficiently to enable an inspection of the column and the foundation under it. There were present at the time this inspection was made Mr. Charles Logue, chairman of the Schoolhouse Commission, Mr. Guy Emerson for the Finance Commission, Mr. M. W. Fitzsimmons of the Building Department, Mr. Edwin H. Oliver, an inspector of the Building Department in whose district the building is, Mr. MacPherson, in the employ of Mr. Logue, two representatives of the Brick Masons' Union, Mr. Joseph Weinberg, owner of the building, and myself.

Upon uncovering the columns and the foundations under it, it was found that the column had sunk about four feet into the masonry pier built to support it. The column is of cast iron, 7 inches in diameter, with a shell 1 inch thick, standing on a cast-iron plate 16 inches square and 1 inch thick. The column was filled with concrete and faced off square on the bottom and was found intact and in good condition. The iron plate upon which it stood was broken in five pieces, the central piece being carried by the column down through the foundations below. Beneath the iron plate was a brick pier 2 feet 4 inches square and about 18 inches high and beneath the brick pier a stone foundation about 3 feet deep. The stone foundation was built with a few large stones on the outer sides towards the two streets and with small stones at the back against the old cellar wall and with many hollow spaces. The brickwork above the stone was laid up with little if any bond and both stone and brickwork were laid in very poor mortar. The brickwork when uncovered showed moisture, and it seems apparent that the rains of the days preceding the collapse softened and in a measure washed out the mortar in both the brickwork and the stone under it.

The collapse was occasioned by the iron column being forced down through the iron plate, the brickwork and the stone foundation under the brick pier to a large stone near the bottom of the stonework.

The weight carried on the column was something over forty tons. The column, brick pier and stone foundation, properly built in good mortar, would carry at least one-half more weight than was imposed upon them, and ignorance or carelessness must account for the bad workmanship.

The larger stones, being on the face of the work, and the brickwork being well finished with cement on the outside, the appearance of the work when finished did not suggest to the inspector, Mr. Oliver, the miserable construction in the interior of the pier. And as the other masonry in the building was well done, there seemed no reason for suspecting bad work at this point. The pier was built between visits by the inspector and was not seen by him until finished with the column set upon it.

It is impossible for an inspector to see all the work in every building in his district when, as in the present instance, there are about seventy-five buildings and alterations in process subject to his inspection, and I find no reason for placing responsibility for this deplorable accident upon Mr. Oliver.

To guard against similar occurrences in the future it may be necessary to compel the employment by the owner of a qualified and licensed clerk of the works who shall be responsible for the construction of foundations, walls, floors and all structural parts of a building.

Appended you will please find extracts from Mr. Oliver's day books, showing the dates upon which visits were made to this building and the progress of the work at the time of each visit.

Yours respectfully,
ARTHUR G. EVERETT.

PROF. F. SPENCER BALDWIN'S COMMENT
ON REPORT OF FINANCE COMMISSION.

Boston, October 14, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor and the City Council:

GENTLEMEN—I desire to submit for your consideration some comments on the communication of the Finance Commission of October 11, with reference to the adoption of a retirement system for employees of the City of Boston, as provided in chapter 619 of the Acts of 1910 and chapter 338 of the Acts of 1911.

The Finance Commission concedes that the original act has been improved materially by the amendments of this year, but is still of the opinion that it contains defects sufficiently serious to warrant its rejection by the City Council. Three such alleged defects are pointed out in the communication of the commission. It seems superfluous to discuss these criticisms, as the commission declares that even if the alleged defects were removed, it would still be undesirable to adopt the proposed system. In short, the commission is opposed to a general retirement system of any kind for all the employees of the city. The commission declares that there is no precedent for such action, citing the fact that no American state or city has adopted any general system of old age pensions or insurance. The commission, however, makes no mention of the significant fact that in European states and cities a civil pension system, applying to all employees, is a regular feature of the public service. In fact, there is no European city of considerable size that has not adopted a general retirement system. Moreover, very many of the great railroad and industrial corporations of this country have instituted retirement systems for their employees. Indeed, systematic provision for the retirement of employees is generally recognized to be an essential adjunct of a properly organized service, in the case of both private and public corporations. The fact that no American city has yet introduced a retirement system is simply a commentary on the backwardness of American municipal administration as compared with the progressiveness of well-administered European municipalities.

In this connection the commission remarks that although the cities and towns of this Commonwealth have had opportunity to adopt the Retirement Act since its passage on June 14, 1910, none of them has accepted it up to the present time. It would be surprising indeed if any other city or town had adopted this system. The plan was designed primarily for the City of Boston, and it was expected by the authors of the measure that it would first be tried in the City of Boston. The other cities of this Commonwealth naturally look to Boston for leadership in all matters relating to the improvement of municipal administration. But, according to the Finance Commission, "There is no reason why Boston should be the first municipality to try the experiment involved in a General Pension Act." It seems to me that there is every reason why Boston should take the lead and set the example in this reform. If the principle recommended by the Finance Commission were to prevail, Boston must always follow and never lead. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has adopted a retirement system for state employees identical with the plan for municipal employees proposed for the City of Boston which will go into effect on the first of January next. By taking this action Massachusetts has again set the pace for other states, as it has so often done before in progressive measures of social legislation. It would be most creditable for the City of Boston to show a similarly progressive spirit in dealing with this pension problem.

The Finance Commission shows lack of comprehension of the deeper issues involved in this question of retirement systems for employees. There is urgent need in this country of developing contributory insurance systems of various kinds, in order to forestall agitation for a general pension scheme, such as that adopted in Great Britain three years ago. The establishment of a scheme like the British means social bankruptcy. The payment of gratuitous state pensions to members of the working class threatens the most disastrous effects. It must result in a reduction of wages, since the doles from the state treasury will be discounted by workers competing for employment; it must weaken the character and efficiency of the working population by undermining individual independence, responsibility, self-reliance and self-respect; and it menaces the integrity of the family by diminishing the sense of filial obligation for the support of aged parents. The adoption of this system was forced on Great Britain as a measure of last resort, a kind of counsel of despair, in consequence of the unmanageable mass of old age pauperism in that country. If we are to prevent such conditions from developing in this country, we must adopt measures to check the growth of old age dependency. This system of retirement allowances for public employees now under discussion is one of a number of measures designed to this end, which were proposed by the late State Commission on Old Age Pensions. That commission recommended the establishment of contributory retirement systems for public employees, including employees of the state, the counties, the cities and the towns; also the establishment of similar systems by employers of labor throughout the Commonwealth; further, the extension of the various agencies of voluntary saving, such as the Massachusetts Savings Bank Insurance, and the benefit features of trade unions and fraternal corporations; and, finally, the adoption of preventive measures to diminish pauperism, including adequate provision for industrial education and proper compensation for industrial accidents. If a program of this character is not adopted, it is certain that radical and mischievous measures for dealing with the problem of old age dependency will eventually be forced upon the state. This is the deeper issue involved in the particular question of retirement systems for employees which the members of the Finance Commission seem not to appreciate.

The main objection to a general retirement system urged by the commission relates to the alleged injustice of pensioning the higher grades of employees above the rank of clerks. The commission believes that the highly paid employees of the city should provide their retirement allowances through their own savings, and that it is unjust to tax the entire community in order to pension this class. Here the commission hardly takes into sufficient account the fact that the amount of retirement allowances for the highly paid employees is strictly limited under the act by the provision that wages and salary in excess of $30 per week shall not be assessable for retirement purposes. In any case, the retirement allowance would be comparatively small in proportion to the salary of highly paid employees. The need of some retirement provision for this class undoubtedly exists, for it cannot be assumed that an employee who is well paid will make voluntary provision for an income in the event of his retirement. If the city is to be protected against the dilemma of keeping employees on the pay roll after they have outlived their usefulness, or turning them adrift without adequate means of support, any retirement system that is adopted must include the highly paid employees as well as those below the grade of clerks. The force of this consideration has been recognized in the formulation of retirement plans of European cities and American corporations. In general, these schemes cover all ranks of employees from common laborers to high officials. Precedent—for which the Finance Commission appears to have great respect—is all in favor of general retirement system, rather than of one confined to low-paid employees.

The commission is also disturbed by the fear that efficient employees will take advantage of the privilege of voluntary retirement after thirty-five years of service to deprive the city of their valuable services. It is true that the act permits voluntary retirement for long service. The theory on which this provision was based was that an employee who had served for thirty-five years and desired to retire and receive the annual value of his accumulated contributions had earned the right to do so. It is not likely, however, that many highly paid employees would care to avail themselves of this privilege. The amount of the retirement allowance would be very small in proportion to the salary. In the case of a head of a department receiving $9,000 a year, cited by the commission, the retirement allowance at the age of sixty, after thirty-five years of service, would be only about $800, including annuity and pension. It seems highly improbable that this small amount would be sufficient to tempt a man to give up a $9,000 salary. An official who would choose to retire under such circumstances would be presumably the sort of a man that the city would be well rid of in any event. This argument, by the way, is inconsistent with one of the objections urged against the system in the first communication of the Finance Commission on this subject, in December of last year. The commission then argued that the unamended act made no effective provision for the retirement of employees who declined to participate in the system. It was reasoned that the inducements offered were not sufficient to ensure the voluntary participation of all present employees, and that the plan made no provision for the retirement of those who declined to join the association. To meet this objection the act was amended this year. Now the commission argues that employees would take advantage of the privilege of retirement to such an extent as to deprive the city of the services of efficient employees to the detriment of the service. In this instance the commission has tried to blow hot and blow cold with the same breath.

The general reason for rejecting this system, urged by the commission, is the danger that it would be exploited for political purposes. It is predicted that in the hands of the Retirement Board the system would be manipulated as an agency of waste and graft. The members of the commission have practiced the habit of sniffing about for political influence and corruption in all quarters to such an extent that they seem unable to scent anything else. It is difficult to imagine how politics could enter into the administration of the system to any alarming degree. The provisions defining the powers of the Board of Retirement are so definitely drawn that it would be practically impossible for this Board to play politics with the system. The ages of retirement, periods of service, and other conditions are all prescribed in the act, and the whole system is placed under the rigid supervision of the State Insurance Department. The Board could not pad the pension roll at will with political beneficiaries, for no employee could be retired until after fifteen years of continuous service. It is expressly provided, moreover, that employees can be retired only on the recommendation of heads of departments. The appointments of the latter, it is needless to remark, are subject to approval by the Civil Service Commission.

The commission finally draws a disturbing picture of the future modification of the retirement system under political pressure, predicting that wages and salaries will be increased to offset the contribution of employees, and that eventually the contributory principle will be abandoned and the system placed on a wholly noncontributory basis. Instead of conjuring up remote possibilities as to what might happen to the system under political manipulation, it would be more profitable for the Finance Commission to reflect upon what is certain to happen if a general contributory retirement system like the one proposed is not adopted in the near future. Already various classes of city employees have obtained special pension acts on a non-contributory basis. Policemen, firemen and teachers have been provided for in this way. The last Legislature passed a Veterans' Pension Act for the City of Boston. A Laborers' Pension Act for the city, passed by the same Legislature, is now before the City Council for adoption or rejection. The agitation for special pension legislation will continue unless the problem is solved once for all on a right basis, through a general contributory retirement system; other classes of municipal employees will succeed in pushing their pension claims through the Legislature; and eventually the entire service will be pensioned on the hand-out plan. These special pension acts are inexcusable, expensive and demoralizing. This consideration is a strong, practical argument for the speedy adoption of a general contributory retirement system.

The argument of the Finance Commission throughout is based on unwarrantable assumptions concerning the financial cost of the proposed system, and the political dangers inherent in the plan. The commission assumes that the Retirement Board will necessarily be composed of men determined to do their worst in the way of playing politics with the system. Their apprehensions on this score are extravagantly pessimistic. The conditions of the municipal service at the present time and the prospects for the future are by no means so depressing as the Finance Commission assumes them to be. It is reasonable, on the contrary, to assume a fair degree of honesty and decency on the part of the men who would be called upon to administer the proposed retirement system. It is generally admitted that some system of retirement allowances is an essential condition of a properly organized employment service. Such a system ought to be installed at the earliest possible date, as a part of the machinery of municipal administration in this city. Until this course is taken the service will be heavily handicapped by the dead weight of inefficiency resulting from continuance in employment of large numbers of worn-out workers.

Very respectfully,
F. SPENCER BALDWIN.

BOSTON, October 18, 1911.

HON. JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor:

SIR,—Your Honor's communication to the Finance Commission under date of October 10, 1911, calls for a statement by the commission as to whether it agrees with the conclusion of the School Committee that "however favorably inclined the School Committee might be to more extended use of school buildings it is unable to proceed further than it does at present in the direction suggested without receiving additional money from other sources than those now available for school purposes."

In the report upon the public schools submitted by the Finance Commission under date of October 7, 1911, the commission said, (page 60): "There should be an even more extended use of the school buildings as soon as the necessary funds can be provided;" and on page 187 it recommended "That the existing policy of permitting the use of school buildings for other than school purposes be extended as funds become available." Much of the report is devoted to an analysis of school expenditures, which, if studied, could lead to no other conclusion than that the authorized school appropriations are none too large, even though strictly limited to school purposes, and that it would be dangerous for the School Committee to assume the extra expense of heating, lighting and cleaning school buildings, together with other expenses resulting from the use of such buildings outside of school hours for other than school purposes. It might happen in a particular year that the School Committee could provide the money necessary for the purpose in question, but this could not be known at the beginning of the year. Thus, at the beginning of the fiscal year 1910-11 the School Committee would doubtless have been unwilling to pledge in advance the money requested for such extra use of school buildings, though at the end of the year there was an unexpended balance of $35,093.17 to the credit of the schools which, under the law, was re-appropriated for the support of the schools in the following year. This balance would not have existed, however, if it had not been for the wholly unexpected reduction in the number of pupils in the day elementary schools; and the School Committee would not have been justified in appropriating money at the beginning of the last year for the extended use of school buildings, as it could not assume at that time that the money would not be needed for the support of the schools, the maintenance of which is a duty imposed by statute upon the School Committee.

In order to frame an intelligent program which can be carried out without danger of interruption due to shortage of funds, it must be known at the beginning of the year how much money will be available for the use of school buildings for other than school purposes. The Finance Commission believes that a definite policy for such use of the school buildings should be established, that a program should be arranged at the beginning of each year, and that an appropriation should be made for that purpose.

The commission believes, however, that under existing law no satisfactory plan for the extended use of school buildings can be worked out. The present difficulties seem to the commission to be as follows:

1. The School Committee has no legal authority to appropriate any of the money now authorized for school purposes for any other purpose, however meritorious. Therefore, a considerable part of the program for the extended use of school buildings would have to be provided for out of funds other than those which the statutes now authorize the School Committee to appropriate, although other parts of the program might be carried out under the existing powers of the School Committee. Moreover, as already stated, the School Committee cannot, out of the appropriations now authorized by law, set apart a sum for the use of school buildings for other than school purposes without taking the risk of leaving insufficient money for the purpose for which school appropriations are authorized, to wit: the education of the pupils in the public schools.

2. For some of the objects embraced in the program for the extended use of school buildings the City Council may lawfully appropriate money, but for such other parts of the program as are included within the meaning of the term—school purposes—the Council could not appropriate money.

3. The program as a whole could not be carried out either by the School Committee or by a department created by ordinance; and it would be unwise to permit part of the program to be carried out by the School Committee and another part by a department created by ordinance and independent of the School Committee.

4. No department can be created by ordinance which would take from the School Committee any part of its jurisdiction over school buildings, as the School Committee, under the statutes, has sole charge and custody of such buildings, and such an ordinance would therefore be in conflict with the statute and consequently void. The ordinance which was submitted by your Honor to the City Council under date of October 9, 1911, and which is now pending in the City Council would be of no effect if passed, as it would be in conflict with the statute. (See opinion of the Corporation Counsel, June 27, 1911; City Council Minutes of 1911, page 257.)

The commission believes that the only practical way to insure the success of the experiment involved in the extended use of school buildings would be to secure the passage of an act by the incoming Legislature to authorize the School Committee to appropriate not exceeding two cents upon each one thousand dollars of the valuation on which school appropriations are based; the sum so appropriated to be used for the extended use of school buildings under rules and regulations established by the School Committee. It would be unwise, even if it could be accomplished legally, to have a divided jurisdiction over school buildings, the School Committee exercising its jurisdiction over such buildings during school hours and another department exercising similar jurisdiction for parts of days and during vacation time when the schools were not in session.

An act passed by this year's Legislature (chapter 367 of the Acts of 1911) authorizes the School Committee of any city or town which accepts the provisions of the act to grant the temporary use of halls in school buildings upon such terms and conditions and for such public or educational purposes (for which no admission fee is charged) as the school committee may deem wise, provided that such use shall not in any way interfere or be inconsistent with the use of the halls for school purposes.

This act will become effective in the City of Boston when accepted by a two-thirds vote of the City Council, if approved by the Mayor. The acceptance of this act by the City Council would settle the question of the right of the School Committee to grant the use of school halls for public purposes not educational in their nature, but it will be necessary to get additional legislative authority to appropriate the money needed for such additional uses of school buildings.

The problem of providing money for the extended use of school buildings has been considered by the Cambridge School Committee, which recently declined to appropriate money out of the school funds for such purposes on the ground that it had not legal authority to make such an appropriation. The new Cambridge charter, which is to be submitted to the voters of that city at the state election in November next, contains a provision under which the School Committee is authorized to appropriate the money needed to pay the expenses of public meetings in the buildings and grounds under its control outside of school hours for adults as well as children. (Acts of 1911, chapter 531, section 20.) The commission believes this is the proper method of solving the problem of the extended use of school buildings.

The commission recommends:

1. That the Mayor petition the next Legislature for an act authorizing the School Committee to appropriate not exceeding two cents upon each one thousand dollars of valuation upon which appropriations are based, said sum to be used by the School Committee for the extended use of school buildings under rules and regulations to be established by the School Committee.

2. That the Mayor and City Council accept chapter 367 of the Acts of 1911, authorizing the School Committee to grant the temporary use of halls in school buildings for public or educational purposes.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

BOSTON'S EXPORTS AND IMPORTS.

For year 1910, value of exports from Boston, $69,482,859, or $3,454,010 less than in 1909; of imports, $121,448,107, or $5,583,572 less than in 1909; total foreign trade, $190,930,966, a decrease of $9,037,582 from 1909 total.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, October 16, 1911.

Regular meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at three o'clock p. m., President COLLINS in the chair and all the members present.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. BUCKLEY, to dispense with the reading of the records of the last meeting.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE MAYOR.

Subject to confirmation by the City Council the Mayor submitted the following appointments, viz.:

(1) Francis X. Malley, 7 Wellington road, Ward 16, a Weigher of Coal for the term ending April 30, 1912.

(2) Michael J. McTiernan, 177 Lauriat avenue, Ward 24, and William H. Marnell, 44 Mead street, Ward 4, Constables of the City of Boston for the term ending April 30, 1912.

The above-named appointees to serve without bonds, being truuant officers in the employ of the School Committee.

Severally laid over, under the law.

INFORMATION CONCERNING BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a more specific report from the Building Commissioner upon conditions described at certain premises in the letter of Mr. A. Mason, Recording Secretary of Local 175, U. A., A. F. of L.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Building Department, October 10, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I am in receipt of a letter from Mr. William A. Leahy saying that you would like a specific report upon conditions described at particular premises, in the letter of A. Mason, Recording Secretary of Local 175, U. A., A. F. of L.

Mr. Blasser, an inspector in this department, reports to me that no unlicensed men or boys are employed by the Boston Plumbing Company at the job on Hemenway street mentioned in the letter from Mr. Mason. At 27 Astor street the same firm are employing one unlicensed man, a warrant for whose arrest will be applied for to-day.

We have found no work being done by Mr. Berger where unlicensed men or boys are employed. Our inspector, Mr. Blasser, found no unlicensed men or boys working on the jobs being done by Mr. Levine on Astor street.

Yours respectfully,

ARTHUR G. EVERETT,

Building Commissioner.

TRANSFER FOR L STREET BATH.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

In compliance with the request of the chairman of the Bath Trustees, that the appropriation for handball court and shower baths, L Street Bath House, amounting to twenty-five hundred (2,500) dollars, be transferred to the appropriation for L Street Bath Additions, etc., I recommend the passage of the accompanying order making the transfer as requested.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Bath Department, October 11, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

My dear Sir,—I desire to ask your cooperation for the transfer of a loan of $2,500 which has been authorized by the City Council, subsequent to the completion of the L street addition and alteration, for the construction of a handball court and shower baths at L street, to the General Fund for Improvements at this bath house.

The items for which this special loan was authorized have already been executed under the alterations and additions which were made last spring, but the several matters which we had under contemplation at that time, and which were absolutely necessary, could not be made, owing to the lack of sufficient money remaining from the special appropriation of $35,000. This transfer is requested with the purpose in view of constructing a shelter and playground at the women's and children's side of the L Street Bath, and other improvements, which improvements, as stated, could not be made previously, and which we now are desirous of completing before the opening of next season.

Trusting that this will receive your immediate attention, I am,

Very truly yours,

RICHARD M. WALSH,
Chairman Bath Trustees.

Ordered, That the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the appropriation for handball court and shower baths, L Street Bath House, to the appropriation for L Street Bath Additions, etc.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

OLD COURT HOUSE PORTICO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

In compliance with an order passed by your honorable body September 23, 1911, requesting an opinion from the Art Commission as to the disposal of the portico of the Old Court House, I transmit herewith a communication from the chairman of that commission.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Art Commission, October 10, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In answer to an order of the City Council of September 23, 1911, requesting the Art Commission, through his Honor the Mayor, to send the City Council an opinion as to the disposal of the portico of the Old Court House, I beg to report to your Honor as follows:

This commission has considered the sketch plans for a shelter at Governor's Island, prepared by Mr. Edward T. F. Graham. This commission approves this design in general, with modifications in detail.

This commission also approves such a commanding site as that proposed on Governor's Island, if Governor's Island can be sufficiently developed and made sufficiently accessible.

The above approval of design and site has been reached without reference to economic considerations, which this commission has not studied.

This commission begs further to suggest that your Honor's special committee consider also some other such site commanding the harbor as Marine Park in South Boston.

Yours respectfully,

THOMAS ALLEN, Chairman.

Referred to the Committee on Governor's Island.

TRANSFER FOR HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 11, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a statement from the chairman of the Board of Health, requesting that the sum of twenty-three thousand four hundred and forty-two dollars ($23,442) be added to the appropriation for the Health Department in order to meet the expenditures incurred during the summer in the inspection of large numbers of immigrants suspected of including cholera patients or cholera carriers, as well as for certain repairs upon the wharf at Gallop's Island. These expenditures seem to me to have been necessary and the repairs upon the wharf are required in the interest of safety for persons using it. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum specified from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Health Department.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Health Department, October 9, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Health begs to inform his Honor the Mayor that, in order to comply with new orders from the Treasury Department at Washington, for the protection of the port of Boston against the passing of cases of cholera and cholera carriers, it became necessary to greatly enlarge the facilities at quarantine for the reception, examination and care of very much larger numbers of immigrants arriving from cholera infected ports and places, all of which had to be met in a great hurry. The expenditures amounted to $21,942.67 and were not provided for in our appropriation.

The Board finds, through an examination and estimate by the Commissioner of Public Works, that the wharf at Gallop's Island must have immediate replanking and piling to an extent of $1,500, to make it safe for use. This item of expense was also unforeseen and unprepared for in the annual budget.

The Board would respectfully recommend that, by transfer or such other method as may seem to his Honor best, the sum of $23,442 be made available to the Board of Health, to prevent a deficit of said amount at the close of the fiscal year.

Very truly yours,

S. H. DURGIN, Chairman.

CLAIMS OF FIREMEN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 11, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith for consideration by the Committee on Claims a letter from the Fire Commissioner, together with a schedule, presenting the claims of several members of the department for losses in the repair shop fire of August 9, 1910.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Fire Department, October 5, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I have the honor to inclose herewith a schedule of claims filed by the members of the Repair Division of this department for personal property destroyed at the fire August 9, 1910. A small number of similar claims were paid by vote of the City Council, and with the approval of your Honor. At the time the first claims were paid the present claims had not been made.

Inasmuch as the city government saw fit to pay the previous claims, I submit this list for such action as your Honor and the Council may see fit to take.

After investigation of the matter I find the loss was as stated, and I believe this list includes all probable claims.

If the city government decides to pay these claims, funds should be provided, as such payment was not estimated in the Fire Department appropriation.

Very respectfully,

CHARLES D. DALY,

Fire Commissioner.

BAND CONCERT, SOUTH END.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 11, 1911.

To the City Council:

In reply to your order passed at the meeting of September 11, 1911, that the Music Commission be requested to furnish a band concert at Harrison avenue and Gloucester place on the evening of October 11, I transmit herewith a communication from the secretary of the Music Commission, which states that owing to the small financial balance left with which to conduct the winter concerts it will be impossible to meet the request of the City Council.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Music Department, October 10, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I have been instructed by the Music Trustees to notify you that owing to the small financial balance left unexpended with which to conduct our winter concerts it will be impossible to meet the request of the City Council to give a band concert on the evening of October 11, 1911, at Harrison avenue and Gloucester place, Ward 9. The trustees would be in favor of this order if financial conditions allowed.

Respectfully yours,

WALTER L. FINIGAN, Secretary.

Placed on file.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING, WARD 7.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 10, 1911.

To the City Council:

At a meeting of the City Council held September 11, 1911, I transmitted a communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings furnishing an estimate of the cost of the proposed municipal building for Ward 7. This building was to occupy about 7,500 square feet of land and to be two stories high above the basement. It was to contain shower baths, swimming pool, branch library, and gymnasium or assembly hall, as might be determined later. The estimated cost was ninety thousand dollars ($90,000). I desire to recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring this amount from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings for a municipal building in Ward 7.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of ninety thousand dollars ($90,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings for Municipal Building, Ward 7.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

MECHANICAL STOKERS, ETC., FOR HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 16, 1911.

To the City Council:

For the reasons given in the accompanying letter of the president of the Board of Hospital Trustees, I recommend the passage of the accompanying order appropriating seventeen thousand ($17,000) dollars from the Reserve Fund for the installation of mechanical stokers, and for the purchase of two automobile ambulances.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

The Boston City Hospital,

Boston, October 14, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Referring to our interview for the welfare of the Boston City Hospital, and agreeably to understanding that it is important that the furnaces of the hospital should be equipped with mechanical stokers, I beg further to say:

First. The law regarding the smoke nuisance is to be very rigidly enforced the coming year. With soft coal it is impossible without these mechanical stokers to conform to the law.

Second. There will be a diminution in the expense of heating the hospital of fully $5,000 a year, as estimated by our engineer and confirmed by Densmore & LeClear, engineers and architects, whose letter I herewith inclose.

Your Honor also understands the necessity for the immediate purchase of two auto ambulances on account of the unsatisfactory condition of our horse ambulances and the consequent inefficiency of the service.

The above items will require a transfer from the Reserve Fund as set forth below. As Densmore & LeClear estimate the expense of installing the mechanical stokers will be from $10,000 to $12,000, a transfer of $11,000 will probably cover the amount required for this purpose. The total amount necessary therefore for this transfer is as follows:

For mechanical stokers.....	$11,000 00
For two ambulances.....	6,000 00
	$17,000 00

Your Honor's permission is also asked, for the good of the service, to invite bids for both items, instead of advertising to the public at large.

If you will kindly give this your immediate attention you will greatly benefit the hospital and by so doing again receive the appreciation of the trustees. Kindly inform me as soon as the transfer is made so that we may proceed with the work.

I have the honor to be, on behalf of the trustees,

Respectfully yours,

A. SHUMAN,
President Board of Trustees.

Boston, October 14, 1911.

A. Shuman, President,

Boston City Hospital, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—It is our opinion that the mechanical stoker is now so well perfected, and in successful operation in so many plants, that its use should be considered in the hospital boiler plant for the following reasons:

1. The mechanical stoker is the only practical solution of the smoke problem, and in order to comply with the requirements of the City of Boston stokers are necessary at the hospital. It is important that plants operated by the City of Boston should set the best example possible with regard to smoke.

2. The mechanical stoker requires less labor than hand firing and is more efficient in burning of coal. The saving in labor and coal should in the Boston City Hospital plant amount to about $5,000 a year.

We estimate that the cost of the stoker and its installation under the new water tube boilers in this plant would cost from $10,000 to $12,000.

Very truly yours,

DENSMORE & LECLEAR.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of seventeen thousand ($17,000) dollars from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Hospital Trustees for the following purposes:

For mechanical stokers.....	$11,000 00
For two automobile ambulances.....	6,000 00
Total.....	$17,000 00

INFORMATION CONCERNING PARKMAN FUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, October 13, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am informed by the City Clerk that the City Council has under consideration an order appropriating $3,000 from the income from the Parkman Fund for the following item: "Castle Island, New Water Supply, 4-inch pipe," and that the Council would like my opinion as to whether or not under the provisions of the will of Mr. Parkman the money can be legally appropriated for this purpose from the income of the Parkman Fund.

In my opinion the money cannot be legally appropriated for this purpose from the income of the Parkman Fund. In my opinion Castle Island, the fee of which belongs to the United States government, is not a park within the meaning of the Parkman will. In addition to this reason is the fatal objection that Mr. Parkman provided in his will that the income of the fund should be expended for the maintenance and improvement of the Common and parks existing at the time the codicil was made, which was January 12, 1887. The custody of Castle Island was not given to the city by the United States government, according to the Auditor's reports, until 1890. The fact that it has been placed in charge of the Park Department, connected by a bridge with the Marine Park and used as a part of that park does not make it a park of the City of Boston existing in January, 1887.

Yours truly,

THOMAS M. BABSON,
Corporation Counsel.

The communication was declared referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, if there is no objection I shall be very glad, as it refers to the same subject, to call up No. 3 and ask that it be indefinitely postponed.

The Council voted to take up No. 3, special assignment, as follows:

3. Order appropriating from the income of the Parkman Fund the sum of $3,000 for Castle Island, New Water Supply, 4-inch pipe.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I now move that No. 3 be indefinitely postponed, in view of the opinion of the Corporation Counsel.

The Council voted to postpone No. 3.

The communication to postpone No. 3, the Corporation Counsel was placed on file.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENT.

President COLLINS took No. 2, unfinished business, from the calendar, viz.:

2. Raymond C. Dinsmore, to be a Weigher of Coal for the term ending April 30, 1912.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Ballantyne and Hale. Whole number of ballots cast 7, yeas 7, and the appointment was confirmed.

MINORS' LICENSES.

President COLLINS submitted reports on petitions for minors' licenses for eight newsboys, one bootblack and one vendor—recommending that licenses be granted.

Reports accepted; licenses granted on the usual conditions.

BRANCH LIBRARIES.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Committee on Branch Libraries, submitted the following:

(1) Reports on messages and orders—recommending reference of same to the Committee on Finance, viz.:

Message and order (referred May 22) transferring appropriations for Branch Library, Charlestown, Estate, and Branch Library Charlestown, Alteration and Completion, to an appropriation for a Branch Library, Charlestown.

Message and order (referred June 26) transferring the sum of $30,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Branch Library, Charlestown.

Reports accepted; said references ordered.

(2) Report on message and communication (referred September 11) giving estimate of cost of Branch Library, East Boston—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; said papers placed on file.

(3) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred May 31) relative to library at North Bennet street—that no further action is necessary. Accepted.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. HALE, for the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted a report recommending the passage of an order for the payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the City of Boston for the month of October.

Report accepted; order passed.

NOTICE OF STATE ELECTION.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That the City Clerk be and is hereby directed to give notice, by advertising the same as required by law, that meetings of the citizens of this city qualified to vote for state officers will be held at the several polling places designated for the purpose by the Board of Election Commissioners, on Tuesday, the seventh day of November next, for the election of Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Treasurer and Receiver General, Auditor of Accounts, Attorney General, Register of Deeds, Clerk of the Supreme Judicial Court for the County of Suffolk, Clerk of the Superior Court for Civil Business, Clerk of the Superior Court for Criminal Business, Councilors, Senators and Representatives in the General Court as follows: one Representative in Ward 7, three in Wards 4 and 5 (said wards constituting one district), three each in Wards 20 and 24, and two each in the remaining wards. Also to give in their votes "Yes" or "No" in answer to the following questions:

Shall the proposed amendment to the Constitution, increasing the power of the Legislature to authorize the taking of land and property for highways or streets, be approved and ratified?

Shall the proposed amendment to the Constitution authorizing the use of voting machines at all elections, be approved and ratified?

Shall an act passed by the Legislature of the Commonwealth in the year nineteen hundred and eleven, entitled "An Act to Annex the Town of Hyde Park to the City of Boston" be accepted?

Shall there be an election for Mayor at the next municipal election?

The polls at said meetings will be opened at six o'clock a. m., and closed at four o'clock p. m.

Passed.

PLAYGROUND, JAMAICA PLAIN.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the Superintendent of Public Grounds be authorized to hire for playground purposes during the current year the Goodwin estate on Carolina avenue, Jamaica Plain, and to pay therefor the sum of $1 and the taxes assessed on said estate for the present year, the amount so paid to be charged to the appropriation for Public Grounds Department.

The question came on the passage of the order.

The order was passed.

MERIDIAN STREET BRIDGE.

Coun. KENNY, for the Committee on Finance, submitted a report on the message of Mayor, communications and order (referred August 22) for loan of $63,000 for the reconstruction of the Meridian Street Bridge—that the order ought to pass.

The question came on accepting the report and passing the order.

The order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 8, nays 0, the second reading to be had not less than two weeks from to-day.

NEW POLICE STATION, SOUTH BOSTON.

Coun. KENNY offered an order that his Honor the Mayor be requested to ascertain through the proper department and advise this Council the probable cost of a new station for the Police Department, South Division, in South Boston.

Passed.

FINANCE REPORT ASKED FOR.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Committee on Finance report at the next meeting of the City Council on all matters which have been pending before said committee for three weeks or more, or ask for an extension of time to consider such matters.

The order was declared referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I most respectfully move to reconsider.

Reconsideration of the reference was lost by a rising vote, 4 to 4.

ADDITIONAL SCHOOL, DWIGHT DISTRICT.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the School Committee be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to consider and report on the advisability of establishing a schoolhouse of the grammar grade in the Dwight District.

Passed.

TREE PLANTING, DORCHESTER.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Superintendent of Public Grounds be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to plant suitable trees in Mt. Vernon street, Dorchester.

Passed.

HOME FOR INFIRMARY INMATES.

Coun. BUCKLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to furnish a home on the mainland for the aged inmates of the Charlestown Almshouse when said almshouse is discontinued, and that the aged married inmates be granted the same treatment as they now enjoy.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I move that the order be put over to the next meeting.

The order was assigned to the next meeting of the Council.

COMMITTEE ON FINANCE PAPERS.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That in accordance with Rule 24 of City Council Rules all papers in possession of the Committee on Finance for a longer period than three weeks be returned to the City Council and placed upon the calendar for consideration.

President COLLINS—The order is referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I move reconsideration of the reference.

Reconsideration of the reference was lost by a rising vote, 4 to 4.

TRANSPORTATION OF PRISONERS FROM BRIGHTON.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Committee on Prisons be requested to investigate the methods of transportation of prisoners from Brighton Courthouse to Deer Island boat and to Charles Street Jail.

The order was referred to the Committee on Prisons.

AMENDMENT TO COUNCIL RULES.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the rules of the City Council are hereby amended by striking out Rule 24.

President COLLINS—The order will be referred to the Committee on Rules.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move reconsideration of the reference.

The Council voted to reconsider the reference by a rising vote, 6 to 1, and the question came on the passage of the order.

The order was declared rejected. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The order was rejected, yeas 0, nays 9.

ELEVATED STATION, BROADWAY.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Boston Elevated Railway Company be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to consider the advisability of erecting an elevated station at Broadway and Washington street.

Passed.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Finance Committee report on matters that have been before it three weeks at the next meeting or ask for an extension of time.

President COLLINS—The order will be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I move reconsideration of the reference to the committee.

The question came on reconsideration of the reference.

Reconsideration of the reference to the Committee on Finance was declared lost. Coun. HALE doubted the vote and asked for a rising vote. Reconsideration was lost, 4 to 5.

Coun. HALE further doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

Reconsideration of the reference to the Committee on Finance was lost, yeas 4, nays 5.

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.

Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

The order stood referred to the Committee on Finance.

FIREBOAT QUARTERS, ETC.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 16, 1911.

To the City Council:

I am informed that the Committee on Finance is ready to recommend appropriations for fireboat quarters and pier at Northern avenue, and for the grading of Providence street, if the form of the orders is changed so that the money may be drawn from the Reserve Fund and not obtained by bond issue. I see no objection to using the Reserve Fund for this purpose in this instance, and recommend the passage of the accompanying orders appropriating the sum of thirty-five thousand ($35,000) dollars for fireboat quarters and pier, Northern avenue, and adding twenty-five thousand (25,000) dollars to the appropriation for Highways, Making of. At the same time I wish to withdraw the loan orders recommended for the same objects and considered at your meeting of September 11 and September 18.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of thirty-five thousand (35,000) dollars from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Fire Commissioner, for fireboat quarters and pier, Northern avenue.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Highways, Making of.

The order was declared referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I most respectfully move reconsideration of the reference.

Reconsideration of the reference to the Executive Committee was lost.

MOTION FOR RECESS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE moved, at 4.45 o'clock p. m., to take a recess subject to the call of the President. The motion was declared carried.

Coun. CURLEY—I most respectfully doubt the vote.

There being no objection Coun. ATTRIDGE withdrew his motion.

ACCEPTANCE OF MELVILLE ROAD.

Coun. CURLEY presented the petition of R. Mansfield, and many others, asking that Melville road be accepted and improved.

In connection with the petition Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to accept and lay out Melville road, Ward 20.

The order was declared passed.

Coun. KENNY—I move reconsideration and reference.

(The order was read by the Clerk.)

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I presume now that the member on the other side of the Chamber realizes that the order is a perfectly proper one and drawn in proper form, being merely a request of the Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, that a road that is built up throughout its entire length be accepted by the City of Boston. I presume, I say, that he will do the proper thing and withdraw his motion to reconsider.

Coun. KENNY—The gentleman is quite correct in his assumption. I do so.

The order was passed.

MORE TIME FOR FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That in accordance with the provisions of Rule 24 the Committee on Finance be granted one week in which to report upon matters now pending before the said Committee on Finance.

The order was declared referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. CURLEY—I most respectfully move reconsideration.

The question came on the motion to reconsider, and upon the motion being declared lost Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for verification by roll call.

Reconsideration was lost, yeas 4, nays 5.

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.
Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

PRINTING OF FINANCE ITEMS.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That the items now before the Committee on Finance, as read by Coun. Smith, be printed as a public document.

The order was declared referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. HALE—I move reconsideration of this reference.

Reconsideration of the reference to the Committee on Finance was lost.

PAPER TAKEN FROM FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the order for $297,800 on the addition to the hospital be taken from the Committee on Finance.

The order was declared referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. SMITH—I ask for a reconsideration of the reference to the Committee on Finance.

The motion to reconsider the reference to the Committee on Finance was declared lost, and Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for a verification by roll call.

Reconsideration was lost, yeas 4, nays 5.

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.
Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

ADDITIONAL TIME FOR FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That in accordance with Rule 24 of City Council Rules the Committee on Finance be granted two weeks additional time in which to report upon matters pending before said Committee on Finance.

The order was declared referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. CURLEY moved reconsideration of the reference; declared lost. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

Reconsideration of the reference was lost, yeas 4, nays 5.

Yeas—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.
Nays—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

RETIREMENT FUND FOR LABORERS.

Coun. CURLEY called up No. 5, past assignment, viz.:

5. Ordered, That chapter 413 of the Acts of the Massachusetts Legislature for 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to a Retirement Fund for Laborers Employed by the City of Boston," be and hereby is accepted by the City Council of Boston.

Coun. KENNY—I move that this matter be assigned to the next meeting.

The motion to assign for one week was declared carried, whereupon Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for verification by roll call.

The assignment to the next meeting was carried, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. BUCKLEY and CURLEY voting nay.

SALE OF PARK LAND, BRIGHTON.

Coun. McDONALD called up No. 4, special assignment, viz.:

4. Report of the Committee on Public Lands, ought not to pass on the order authorizing the sale by the Park Commissioners of a parcel of land in Brighton, bounded southerly by Commonwealth avenue and northeasterly by Chestnut Hill avenue.

Coun. CURLEY—I would most respectfully move that the further consideration of No. 4 on the calendar be laid on the table until 5.30. I understand we are to have a meeting with the Park Commission at five o'clock, and it would afford an opportunity for the consideration of this proposition. And if no decision can be arrived at that is acceptable to the City Council and Park Commission it can be then disposed of.

The motion to lay upon the table further consideration of No. 4 on the calendar prevailed.

Later in the session the matter was taken from the table, on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, and the report was accepted and the order rejected.

MOTION TO TAKE RECESS.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved that the Council take a recess subject to the call of the Chair; declared lost.

Coun. KENNY asked for a verification by yeas and nays.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order, that Coun. Smith has already been recognized.

President COLLINS—The Chair has not recognized Coun. Smith. The question is on taking a recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The motion for recess was lost, yeas 1, nays 6, Coun. BALLANTYNE voting yea.

UNION PARK STREET WIDENING.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the order for widening Union Park street be taken from the Committee on Finance.

The motion to reconsider the reference was declared lost. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for a verification by roll call.

Reconsideration of the reference prevailed, yeas 5, nays 4.

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—5.

Nays—Coun. Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—4.

President COLLINS—The question comes on the passage of the order.

(The order was read by the Clerk.)

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I now ask that that order be read so that we may vote on it. Now that it is here let us vote on it. I am prepared to vote against it.

Coun. CURLEY—I move you, sir, that the City Messenger be directed to obtain from the Clerk of Committees the order with reference to the widening of Union Park street, and bring the same to the Chamber.

President COLLINS—This order is still before the Council. It has not been passed. The only order before us is that which the Clerk has just read.

(The order was read by the Clerk.)

Coun. CURLEY—My purpose in making that motion is that the order may be read here. The original recommendation is an order that is in the possession of the Committee on Finance. I believe we should have that here.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that the only order before the Council is this order. If by unanimous consent the other order is brought forward the Chair will order it to be brought forward. It will have to be done by unanimous consent.

Coun. HALE—I object.

President COLLINS—The question comes on the passage of the order.

Coun. KENNY—May I inquire if this is a motion to recall the matter from the committee?

President COLLINS—It is not. The Chair rules that the order is what the Clerk will read.

(The order was read by the Clerk.)

On a rising vote the motion was passed, 5 in the affirmative and 4 in the negative, and the order was recalled from the Committee on Finance.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I now ask that the order be read in order that we may vote on it. It is before the Council as I understand it now.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I move you, sir, that we now take a recess subject to the call of the Chair, so that we may keep our appointment with the Mayor and the Park Commission.

Coun. CURLEY—I rise to a point of order. The Board is considering at the present time action upon a measure that is before the body, and a motion for a recess cannot be had.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that the point of order is not well taken.

The motion to take a recess, subject to the call of the Chair, was declared carried. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to take a recess prevailed, yeas 5, nays 4.

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Kenny, McDonald—5.

Nays—Coun. Buckley, Curley, Hale, Smith—4.

The members retired at 5.21 p. m. and returned and were called to order by President COLLINS at 6.35 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report on petition of Frank S. Abercrombie (referred to-day) for a permit for Eleanor Foubister, under fifteen years of age, to appear at Odd Fellows Hall, 515 Tremont street, on October 26—that permit be granted.

Report accepted; permit granted on the usual conditions.

(2) Report on message of Mayor and orders that in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be authorized to transfer the sum of $25,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Highways, Making of; and order in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor transfer the sum of $35,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Fire Commissioner for Fireboat Quarters and Pier, Northern Avenue—that the orders ought to pass.

The question came on accepting the report and passing the orders.

The order for Fireboat Quarters and Pier was passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

The order for Highways, Making of, was read once and passed, yeas 9. Assigned for fourteen days for final action.

(3) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order transferring the sum of $23,442 to the appropriation for Health Department for cholera inspection expense—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

(4) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order that $2,500 be transferred to L Street Bath additions—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order read once and passed, yeas 9, nays 0. Assigned for fourteen days for final action.

(5) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred October 2), transferring the sum of $75,000 for the widening of Union Park street, to be expended under the direction of the Street Commissioners—that the order ought to pass.

The question came on accepting the report and passing the order.

The vote on the passage of the order was yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. SMITH voting nay.

President COLLINS—The ruling of the Chair would be, in cases of this kind, even though the money is taken from taxes, that it is necessary that the order shall take two readings, for this reason. Section 2 of the charter provides:

"All sales of land other than school lands, all appropriations for the purchase of land other than for school purposes, and all loans voted by the City Council shall require a vote of two-thirds of all the members of the City Council; and shall be passed only after two separate readings and by two separate votes, the second of said readings and votes to be had not less than fourteen days after the first."

It is very clear that in the widening of Union Park street land must be taken. For that reason the Chair, to be on the secure side, rules that orders of this kind shall have two readings, the second reading to be not less than two weeks from the first. The second reading of this order will come not less than two weeks from to-day.

PLAYGROUND, WARD 19.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 16, 1911.

To the City Council:

I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Playground, Ward 19.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Playground, Ward 19.

The communication and order were declared referred to the Executive Committee.

The reference was reconsidered, on motion of Coun. McDONALD, and Coun. BALLANTYNE moved that the order be placed on its passage.

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that for the order involving an expenditure of money, to take its passage a suspension of the rules is necessary.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I ask for information whether this would be put to a vote as the first reading or not after suspension of the rules?

President COLLINS—Yes.

Coun. SMITH—Do we have to have a vote on the measure after suspension of the rules has been granted?

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that after the suspension of the rules the order will be read and will take its first reading. As I understand it, that is the customary procedure with an order involving the acquisition of land.

The rule was suspended, and the question came on giving the order its first reading and passage.

The order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. SMITH voting nay.

The final reading and passage will take place not less than two weeks from to-day.

USE OF TOWELS.

Coun. HALE submitted the following:

City of Boston,
In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eleven.

An Ordinance.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Section 1. That no person, firm or corporation, owning, in charge of, or in control of any lavatory or washroom, except in a private residence, shall maintain in or about such lavatory or washroom any towel for common use.

The term "common use" as used in this ordinance shall be construed to mean for use by more than one person.

Section 2. Any person, firm or corporation, violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $50 for each offence.

Accompanying the ordinance was the following letter:

Scott Paper Company,
Philadelphia, October 14, 1911.

Mr. James M. Curley:

Dear Sir,—At suggestion of Doctors Durgin and Mahoney of the Board of Health will you submit to city councils the inclosed ordinance.

Chicago, Kansas City, Detroit and numerous other city councils have passed same as a sanitary measure for the public welfare.

The Board of Health of our city approve same and I was told to ask you to submit it to councils.

Yours truly,

G. D. G. BONNEY.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

THE NEXT MEETING.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I move that when this Council adjourns it be to meet two weeks from to-day, at three o'clock p. m.

Coun. Ballantyne's motion was declared carried. Coun. SMITH doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The Council voted that when it adjourns it be to meet two weeks from to-day, at three o'clock p. m., yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

MONEY FOR SMALLER PARKS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 16, 1911.
To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable body held August 22, I transmitted a letter from the Superintendent of Public Grounds setting forth the needs of the smaller parks under his control and recommended the passage of an appropriation of $15,000 from the income of the Parkman Fund for convenience stations, bubble fountains and other improvements in the public parks and squares. As the cost of the improvements recommended by Superintendent Sullivan far exceeded this sum, I desire now to increase the amount and to recommend an appropriation of $20,000 for this same purpose.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) be and hereby is appropriated from the income of the Parkman Fund for the present year, to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for convenience stations, bubble fountains and other improvements in the public parks and squares.

Referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

POLICING OF PLAYGROUNDS.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the advisability of an appropriation to provide for the proper policing of all playgrounds in the city.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to amend the order by adding after the word "policing" the words "and superintendence."

Coun. CURLEY—The amendment is perfectly agreeable to me, Mr. President.

The amendment was adopted and the order as amended was passed.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, at 7.07 p. m., to meet on Monday, October 30, at three o'clock p. m.

TO DRAFT GARBAGE CAN BILL.

A conference between Gerald B. O'Reilly, president of the Real Estate Exchange; F. W. Mott, chairman of the Public Service Committee of the exchange, and Roger N. Baldwin, secretary of the Civic League of St. Louis, Mo., has resulted in an agreement by which a new garbage can ordinance is to be drafted and submitted to the health commissioner. This ordinance, if adopted, will repeal the ordinance passed in 1909, and known as the Howe ordinance, the enforcement of which recently has aroused protests from the real estate interests. The 1909 ordinance makes the owner of every house responsible for keeping the house supplied with a waterproof garbage can. The proposed new ordinance will place the responsibility of furnishing the garbage can on the occupant of the property, whether owner or tenant, for all dwellings occupied by four families or less, which will include the four-family flat. For tenements and apartments of larger size the owner will be obliged to supply cans or a garbage receptacle of a sanitary character. The Real Estate Exchange desires to get an ordinance which will be indorsed by the health commissioner and which he may have introduced as a health department measure.—Municipal Journal.

GARBAGE AND ASHES REMOVAL IN BOSTON.

Cost for year 1910 $677,060, or $39,804 more than in 1909. Total tons of material collected and disposed of in year 1910, 467,120, of which 348,325 tons were ashes and house dirt, 63,451 tons garbage, 44,565 tons street sweepings, and 10,779 tons miscellaneous. The total for 1909 was 20,023 tons.

PROCEEDINGS OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Oct. 16, 1911.

A regular meeting of the School Committee of the City of Boston was held in the School Committee Chamber, Mason-street Building, at 8 o'clock P.M.

Present; Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Ellis, Lee and Leen.

APPROVAL OF RECORDS.

The reading of the records of the last meeting was omitted, the Board approving them as printed.

APPOINTMENT OF TEACHERS.

The Chairman stated the question was on approving the appointments of teachers, as reported by the Superintendent and laid over at the last meeting.

The appointments were approved.

CLASSES IN COOKERY, FRANKLIN DISTRICT.

A communication was received from the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners, under date of Oct. 3, 1911, stating that in accordance with the order passed at the meeting of July 20, 1911 (see p. 102) premises have been hired on the second floor of No. 1 Hanson street for the accommodation of classes in cookery in the Franklin District, for one year from Sept. 1, 1911, with the privilege of renewal for one year more on the same terms and conditions, at the rate of $30 per month, which includes rental, heat, care and water supply.

ESTABLISHMENT OF A NEW SCHOOL DISTRICT AT MOUNT HOPE.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of Oct. 16, 1911, in reply to the petitions referred to him at the meetings of Apr. 3, Apr. 17, and May 15, 1911 (see pp. 40, 51 and 64) with reference to establishing a new elementary school district in the vicinity of Mount Hope, stating that the total number of pupils at present living in that district is far below the minimum number for which an elementary school district is usually organized, but inasmuch as approximately one hundred fifty children are required to travel about a mile, it seems desirable that a lot be secured and a building placed thereon for the accommodation of the lower grades, and that he will take up the matter with the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners in the hope that this item may be included in the list of appropriations to be made from the money available for the erection of school-houses in 1912.

Placed on file, and the Secretary directed to transmit a copy thereof to the petitioners.

OMISSION OF MILITARY DRILL FOR BOYS UNDER CERTAIN WEIGHT.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the Director of School Hygiene be authorized in his discretion to omit military drill for boys under ninety (90) pounds in weight, and to substitute therefor such physical training as he may deem expedient.

INVESTIGATION OF HEATING, VENTILATION AND HUMIDIFICATION OF SCHOOL ROOMS.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the Director of School Hygiene is hereby authorized to expend a sum not exceeding two hundred dollars ($200) for the purpose of procuring the necessary instruments and carrying on an investigation of the heating, ventilation and humidification of school rooms.

NORTH EVENING COMMERCIAL HIGH SCHOOL.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the branch of the Central Evening High School, established in the Washington School-house, is hereby named the North Evening Commercial High School.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the Director of Evening and Continuation Schools is hereby authorized to incur an expense not to exceed seven dollars ($7) for clerical assistance in connection with the opening of the North Evening Commercial High School during the week of Oct. 16, 1911.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the employment of a special assistant for the North Evening Commercial High School is hereby authorized for the term 1911-12, compensation of said special assistant to be at the rate of two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) per evening of actual service.

ESTABLISHMENT OF CLASS IN MECHANICAL DRAWING.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That a class in mechanical drawing is hereby established as a part of the Evening Industrial School, said class to be conducted in the East Boston High School Building, Marion Street, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

ESTABLISHMENT OF BRANCH OF COMINS EVENING SCHOOL.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That for the term 1911-12 a branch of the Comins Evening School be established in the Kenilworth-street School-house.

EXPENDITURE FOR COSTUME MODELS, EVENING INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the Superintendent is hereby authorized to incur an expense of two hundred dollars ($200) for service during the year 1911-12, of costume models in the Evening Industrial Schools.

CLASS FOR PLUMBERS, CENTRAL EVENING INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That with the approval of the State Board of Education, a class for plumbers is hereby authorized for the Central Evening Industrial School.

CLASS IN CONVERSATIONAL ITALIAN, GIRLS' EVENING HIGH SCHOOL.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That a class in conversational Italian for settlement workers and those interested in social service be established in the Girls' Evening High School, provided there is sufficient demand therefor.

TELEPHONE FOR CONTINUATION SCHOOLS.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the Business Agent is hereby authorized to install a telephone for the use of the continuation schools at an expense not to exceed twenty-four dollars ($24) per year.

RANKS OF INSTRUCTOR AND ASSISTANT INSTRUCTOR IN HIGH SCHOOLS.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the proposed amendments to the regulations with reference to the discontinuance of the ranks of instructor and assistant instructor in high schools, which accompanied the communication received from the Superintendent at the meeting of Oct. 2, 1911 (see p. 124) be printed in full in the minutes.

The amendments referred to in the foregoing order are as follows:—

ORDERED, That the Rules and Regulations be amended as follows:—

Section 290, paragraph 1. Strike out the paragraph and insert in place thereof the following new paragraph:—

Section 290. 1. Teachers in the Normal School shall consist of a principal holding the rank of head-master, masters, who shall be heads of departments and of whom one shall be director of the Model School, junior-masters, a supervisor of practice, first assistants, who shall be heads of departments, and assistants.

Paragraph 3. Strike out the paragraph and insert in place thereof the following new paragraph:—

3. One clerical assistant may be appointed.

Section 291. Strike out the section and insert in place thereof the following new section:—

Sect. 291. 1. Teachers in the Latin and high schools shall consist of one principal for each school holding the rank of head-master, and additional teachers as follows: In schools attended exclusively by boys, the subordinate teachers shall consist of six masters in each school, who shall be heads of departments, and junior-masters; provided, that masters serving in the Public Latin, the English High, and the Mechanic Arts High Schools before June 1, 1906, who do not become heads of departments, shall retain the rank of master, and that junior-masters serving in said schools before June 1, 1906, shall, for the twelfth and subsequent years of service, have the rank of master. In addition to the principal, there shall be one master or junior-master for every thirty-five pupils belonging. Two additional junior-masters may be appointed. When the number of pupils belonging is twelve hundred and sixty or more one additional master, who shall be head of a department, may be appointed instead of a junior-master.

2. The number of teachers to which any number of pupils will entitle a school attended exclusively by boys is shown in the following schedule:—

Instructors in commercial branches, or instructors in manual training and drawing, instead of junior-masters; assistant instructors in commercial branches, or assistant instructors in drawing, instead of assistants.

In the Girls' Latin school one instructor in German instead of a junior-master. The rank of instructor in German shall be abolished upon the retirement of the present incumbent.

In the Brighton, Dorchester, and Roxbury high schools, one assistant principal each instead of a first assistant. The position of assistant principal shall become vacant upon the retirement of the present incumbents.

In the Girls' High School one assistant instructor of chemistry instead of an assistant. The rank of assistant instructor in chemistry shall be abolished upon the retirement of the present incumbent.

In the High School of Practical Arts industrial instructors, and industrial assistants instead of assistants.

In the Mechanic Arts High School two masters who shall be heads of mechanical departments, one first assistant, who shall be head of a department, three assistants, and instructors in mechanical departments, instead of junior-masters.

10. Additional teachers may be appointed as follows:—

In the Girls' High School one clerical assistant.

In the High School of Commerce two junior-masters.

In the High School of Practical Arts, four assistants, one special assistant for each shop or laboratory in constant use and one vocational assistant.

In the Mechanic Arts High School one clerical assistant, one special assistant for each shop or drawing room in constant use, and three special assistants to serve as tool keepers.

11. In each school teachers of lower rank may be substituted for teachers of higher rank at the discretion of the Superintendent. A teacher may be appointed for an excess of twenty pupils, and one may be removed for a deficiency of twenty pupils. The teacher so removed shall be of such rank as will leave the quota of teachers in accordance with the preceding sections.

12. In any school when the teaching of any subject not in charge of a teacher regularly appointed as head of the department is divided between two or more teachers, the principal may cause the work in that subject to be administered as a separate department, and may, with the approval of the Assistant Superintendent in charge, appoint a teacher to act as head of the department for one year without extra compensation.

In connection with the foregoing the Superintendent offered the three following orders:—

ORDERED, That beginning Jan. 1, 1912, the rank of each assistant instructor in high schools, who is receiving more than the minimum salary of the rank of assistant in high schools, shall be that of assistant, high schools, without change of salary, and that she be advanced upon the schedule for assistants in high schools, upon the successive anniversaries of her appointment as assistant instructor until the maximum of the rank of assistant is reached.

Laid over.

ORDERED, That beginning Jan. 1, 1912, the word "special" shall not be used to designate the rank of any teacher in high schools except that of special assistant, but this change in the rank of said teachers shall not affect their salaries during the remainder of the school year 1911-12.

Laid over.

ORDERED, That the Superintendent is hereby authorized for the remainder of the school year 1911-12 in his discretion to substitute instructors for junior masters and assistant instructors for assistants in high schools.

Laid over.

AMENDMENT TO ELIGIBLE LIST.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Oct. 14, 1911, reporting that it has amended School Document No. 8, 1911—List of Candidates Eligible for Appointment as Teachers, as follows:—

Page 30. Woodworking Certificates. (762) Mercy W. Sanborn—name temporarily removed by request.

Placed on file.

ORDERED, That English for New Americans, by W. Stanwood Field and Mary E. Coveney, published by Silver, Burdett and Company, is hereby authorized for use as a text-book in the evening elementary schools.

Laid over.

REPORT ON INTENSIFYING THE ESSENTIALS OF EDUCATION IN ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS.

A report was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Oct. 13, 1911, in response to the order passed at the meeting of Oct. 2, 1911 (see p. 128), requesting that Board to report how, in the elementary schools, the essentials of education may be intensified, and to consider the feasibility of having manual training, sewing and cookery taught only on Saturday mornings, stating that the proper means for increasing the emphasis upon the essentials is by improving the quality of instruction in each particular class room, rather than by modifying the course of study itself; that the Board is of the opinion that manual training, sewing and cookery, properly taught, are essentials, and that the time given to these subjects at present is none too great. Further, that it would be administratively impossible to conduct the classes in these subjects on Saturday forenoons only.

Placed on file.

AMENDMENTS TO RULES AND REGULATIONS.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Oct. 16, 1911, recommending amendments to the rules with respect to the requirements for certain supervisory positions.

Placed on file.

The following was offered:—

ORDERED, That the rules be amended as follows:—

Section 138, par. XI. Insert the following paragraphs to precede the paragraph defining the requirements for assistant directors of physical training and athletics:—

For assistant director of drawing and manual training: A diploma from an art school or from a manual training school approved by the Board of Superintendents, or evidence of an equivalent academic education; and evidence of five years' successful supervisory experience in teaching drawing or manual training.

For assistant directors of music: A diploma from a high school approved by the Board of Superintendents, or evidence of an equivalent academic education; and evidence of five years' successful supervisory experience in teaching music.

For assistants in drawing: A diploma from an art school approved by the Board of Superintendents, or evidence of an equivalent academic education; and evidence of three years' successful supervisory experience in teaching drawing.

For assistants in music: A diploma from a high school approved by the Board of Superintendents, or evidence of an equivalent academic education; and evidence of three years' successful supervisory experience in teaching music.

Insert to precede the paragraph describing the requirements for certificates in special studies valid in day high schools, the following:—

For the special certificate, drawing and manual training in high schools: A diploma from an art school, or from a manual training school, approved by the Board of Superintendents, or evidence of an equivalent academic education; and evidence of three years' successful experience in teaching drawing or manual training.

Insert in the second line of the paragraph describing the requirements for certificates in special studies valid in day high schools, to follow the word "Schools," the following:—

Other than the special certificate-drawing and manual training in high schools,—so that the paragraph will read as follows:—

For certificates in special studies valid in day high schools, other than the special certificate-drawing and manual training in high schools: Evidence of three years' successful experience in teaching and governing schools of such grade or grades as the board of superintendents may determine.

Laid over.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Board of Superintendents be requested to consider and report what further reduction in the quota of pupils to a teacher in the elementary schools is desirable, and to submit appropriate recommendations to this end.

INTRODUCTION OF A MORE COMPLETE AND THOROUGH SYSTEM OF VISITATION.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Board of Superintendents be requested to consider and report a method by which a more complete and thorough system of visitation of the schools and teachers may be introduced through an enlargement and extension of the Department of the Supervisor of Substitutes, or otherwise, with an estimate of the cost thereof.

CLERICAL ASSISTANCE FOR BOARD OF SUPERINTENDENTS.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Board of Superintendents be requested to report whether or not the members of said Board are now provided with sufficient clerical assistance to meet their reasonable requirements, and if not, what additional assistance of this character is now needed.

SCHOOL SAVINGS SYSTEM.

The following were offered:—
ORDERED, That the regulations be amended as follows:—
Add the following chapter:—

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Regulations for School Savings Systems.
Section 485. Principals who desire to establish and maintain a savings system for the benefit of their pupils may do so under the provisions of Chapter 211, Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act to Authorize Savings Banks to Receive Deposits from School Children," or they may recommend to their pupils the Postal Savings System conducted by the Post Office Department.

Sect. 486. The following regulations approved by the Bank Commissioner of Massachusetts shall be applicable to schools the principals of which shall elect to pursue the plan authorized by Chapter 211, Acts of 1911.

(1) Any savings bank desiring to receive deposits from the pupils of any school shall, by vote of its Trustees, authorize the Treasurer to obtain the written consent of the Bank Commissioner and the School Committee therefor, or any school through its principal or the Superintendent of schools may arrange to have a Savings Bank obtain such consent.

(2) No school shall act for more than one savings bank. In case more than one savings bank shall request permission to receive deposits from any one school, the School Committee shall decide which savings bank may act for such school.

(3) After any bank has been authorized to act for any school, its rights shall not be revoked except with the written consent of both the School Committee and the Bank Commissioner.

(4) Any pupil may become a depositor in the School Savings Bank on bringing one cent or more and depositing with the teacher or principal or representative of the bank.

(5) The one receiving the deposit shall enter upon an individual deposit card the name of the pupil making the deposit and the amount thereof, which card shall be returned to the pupil and kept by him or her.

(6) The deposit card is the receipt for the deposit. In case of its loss, immediate notice should be given to the teacher or person receiving the deposit. One cent may be charged the pupil for a duplicate deposit card issued in place of the one lost.

(7) When the deposit has been received from the pupil, it shall be entered by the person making the collection by name, date and amount in a book to be called "Pupils' Ledger."

(8) When the last collection of each month has been taken, or each week if desired, the one receiving the deposits from the pupils shall send to the head of the school bank a memorandum of the name of each pupil having a balance and the amount of such balance as shown on the "Pupils' Ledger." The form on which this information is made shall be called the "Monthly Balance Sheet" and shall be used by the head of the school bank or Savings Bank representative to check up the balance as appears on his "Collector's Ledger" and shall be returned for use the succeeding month.

(9) The head of the school bank on receiving the money from the collector shall enter the name of the collector and amount in a book, to be called "Collector's Ledger," which shall also show amounts transferred to individual pass books.

(10) The total amount so collected shall be entered on a deposit slip by amount only, and deposited with the savings bank by the head of the school bank, to his credit as trustee. Accompanying the deposit slip shall be a memorandum of those having sufficient balance to be entered upon a pass book, and the total of such amounts shall be entered as a charge against the trustee account.

(11) When there has been entered upon the deposit card the minimum amount on which the savings bank allows interest, the savings bank shall issue a deposit pass book therefor in its usual form, and thereafter, when the sums entered upon said deposit card amount to one dollar or multiples thereof, such deposit shall be entered by the bank upon the pupil's deposit pass book.

(12) Collections shall be made once in each school week between October 1st and June 1st of each school year.

(13) No sums shall be withdrawn by the pupil except upon the regular bank day by an order, in proper form, signed by the pupil and approved by the parent or guardian, or one in charge of the school bank.

(14) All deposit pass books shall be kept by the teacher or principal, or one in charge of the bank, in some safe and proper place, but shall be delivered to the pupil at the close of the school year, or as often as may seem best to the one in charge.

(15) All books, cards, deposit tickets and blanks are to be furnished by the savings banks.

(16) No entries are to be made in the pass book except by the bank officials.

(17) No entries are to be made on deposit card except by the teacher or one receiving the deposit.

(18) Any interest earnings of the trustee account shall be first charged with expenses of blank forms and then turned over to the head of the school savings bank for such school uses as he may decide.

If the Superintendent of Schools desires, he may arrange with the Savings Bank, when mutually satisfactory, to have the work done by its own representative, who will visit the schools once each week and receive all deposits and make all entries, thereby relieving the teachers of all the work.

Where this plan is chosen, the rules and regulations governing the work will be the same as now prevail in the regular routine of the bank, except as they are modified by the provisions of chapter 211, Acts of 1911.

All amounts less than the minimum on which interest is allowed may be carried by the Savings Bank as a trustee account in the name of the school bank.

ORDERED, That the rules be amended as follows:—

Section 51. Re-number the section 52 and insert the following as section 51.

Sect. 51. He shall semi-annually or oftener make inquiry into the conduct and extent of savings systems conducted in the public schools, and shall report the result of his investigations to the Board.

ORDERED, That principals of schools in which any savings system is in operation, other than as provided in Chapter 211, Acts of 1911, or other than the Postal Savings System, shall take immediate steps to discontinue the same, having due regard to the protection of the interests of the depositors; and thereafter no other savings system than is herein specified shall be permitted in any public school.

The rules were suspended and the foregoing orders passed.

ALL LICENSED MINORS TO BE UNDER SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Secretary be directed to prepare and submit a bill to provide appropriate legislation whereby the authority of the School Committee for licensing hawkers, pedlers, and bootblacks under the age of fourteen, shall be extended to include all minors.

A communication was received from Charles F. King, master of the Dearborn District, under date of Oct. 4, 1911, with reference to a talk given by the Superintendent to the masters with respect to his experiences abroad, and suggesting that arrangements be made for a repetition of this talk for the benefit of all teachers.

Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Superintendent be hereby requested to make arrangements for a meeting of all of the teachers of the Boston public schools for the purpose of a talk on results of his investigation of European schools.

CERTIFICATION OF CANDIDATES FOR APPOINTMENT AS TRUANT OFFICER, AND AS SUPERVISOR OF LICENSED MINORS.

On motion, the Secretary was directed to make application to the Civil Service Commission for the certification of names of candidates eligible for appointment to the position of truant officer; also that said Commission be requested to conduct an examination and certify candidates eligible for appointment to the position of Supervisor of Licensed Minors.

AMENDMENTS TO RULES AND REGULATIONS.

The order laid over at the meeting of Oct. 2, 1911 (see p. 124), amending section 340 of the regulations with reference to the salaries of teachers under a license in the Mechanic Arts High School, when regularly appointed from the eligible list, was taken up and passed.

The orders laid over at the meeting of Oct. 2, 1911 (see p. 124), amending section 291, paragraphs 10 and 13 of the regulations with reference to the number and rank of teachers in the Dorchester High School, were taken up and placed on file.

The order laid over at the meeting of Oct. 2, 1911 (see p. 125), amending the rules by the insertion of Chapter VIII. on the Duties of the Board of Apportionment, was taken up and passed.

The communication received from the Superintendent and laid over at the meeting of Oct. 2, 1911 (see p. 124), with reference to the discontinuance of the ranks of instructor and assistant instructor in high schools was taken up and placed on file.

ADDITION TO LIST OF AUTHORIZED TEXT-BOOKS.

The order laid over at the meeting of Oct. 2, 1911 (see p. 125), authorizing the use of A Civil Service Manual, volumes I, II and III, by Ewart, Field & Morrison, as a text-book in the day high schools, was taken up and passed.

PLAY AND MANUAL TRAINING, FIRST THREE GRADES OF THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS.

The communication received from the Board of Superintendents and at the meeting of Dec. 19, 1910 (see p. 201), with reference to play and manual training in the first three grades of the elementary schools was taken from the table and placed on file.

CLERICAL WORK IN ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS.

The report received from the Board of Superintendents at the meeting of Sept. 13, 1911 (see p. 114), with reference to the performance of clerical work in elementary schools, was taken from the table and placed on file.

MODIFICATIONS OF REGULATIONS CONCERNING ADMISSION OF PUPILS TO EVENING INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Superintendent be instructed to confer with the State Board of Education relative to a modification of the present regulations concerning the admission of pupils to the evening industrial schools who are not engaged in the trade for which they seek related instruction.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Board adjourned at 9.08 o'clock P.M.
Attest:

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF BOSTON.

Number of day schools, 201, with 2,848 teachers, evening schools, 23, with 483 teachers; Maximum number of pupils in 1910, 101,370 on November 30. Valuation of school property, $19,500,000, approximately. Cost of maintenance for 1910, $4,419,932. Per capita cost of maintenance of Boston schools, $6.20, ranking fourth among the 158 leading American cities. Newton, Mass., ranks highest (i. e., $8.02); Washington, D. C., second (i. e., $6.38); New York third (i. e., $6.33). Chicago shows but $4.37 per capita; Philadelphia, $3.71, and St. Louis, $4.08. IMPORTANCE OF PHYSICAL RECORDS OF MUNICIPALITIES.

The inadequacy of physical records kept by various municipalities was the subject of a paper read before the American Society of Municipal Improvements by Dr. Ernest C. Meyer of the U. S. Bureau of the Census. Doctor Meyer said:

"While the development of increased efficiency in city administration has been receiving much attention of late, it is of considerable interest to note that a proper key for the solution of that problem has been almost entirely overlooked. Many enthusiastic exponents of the idea of maximum efficiency are advocating accounting reform, more specifically uniform accounting, while some equally enthusiastic exponents of this same idea are advocating the improvement of physical records. But the idea that full benefits of such progress cannot be enjoyed unless both reforms are promoted simultaneously and with an eye to their close relationship has not often occupied the forefront of the campaign. As a matter of fact both the financial records and the physical records must be based upon the same general units to permit of a correlation of the two. The unit for which cost is determined must be the same unit to which expression is given in the physical records. The financial and physical records must complement each other, for it is in the light of their mutual interpretation that a measurement of efficiency in the terms of cost and service rendered can alone be attained.

"This elementary fact is at present but seldom fully recognized. In many cities much attention is given to the installation of excellent systems of accounting, whereas the physical records of the city remain in confusion, being both incomplete and inaccurate. To install a good accounting system under such conditions is like planting a tree in barren soil. Fruit can be garnered only after a productive soil has been provided in the form of accurate and complete physical records. Of what value in the measurement of administrative efficiency is it to know in great detail the cost of labor of a given type when the work performed by that labor as expressed in the things accomplished is not known? Of what value is information as to the cost of machine sweeping when no accurate record has been kept of the areas cleaned, the character and conditions of pavements cleaned, or other vital factors which enter into the cost of such public services? The city which expends large sums for the improvement of its financial records and neglects its physical records acts in deplorable ignorance of the real ends to be attained by such improved accounts.

In what confused condition the physical records of most of our cities still are was revealed by the recent investigation of the Bureau of the Census. Numerous cities with a population of 30,000 and over were wholly unable to provide statistics of even approximate accuracy concerning such fundamental things as the areas of paving of different kinds in existence or laid during a specific year, or the area of streets subject to cleaning, or of the amounts of street sweepings removed, or of the area subject to sprinkling, or of the amount of refuse collected or of the capacity of refuse disposal plants, or of the cost of paving, or of the number of men employed in various city services. In some cities nothing less than wild guesses were obtainable as to many of these significant items. Men carried on a pay roll for highway employees and paid from appropriations for highways were found employed on refuse disposal or sewers or some other branch of city administration. In fact the conditions revealed by this investigation were so appalling that were the details to be set forth, they would seem almost incredible.

"Without aiming to expand on the reasons for the prevalence of such conditions in the physical records of our cities, I cannot permit this opportunity to pass by without calling attention to one of the weakest links in our municipal administrative systems. The primary records of areas, of distribution of time, of employees and cost of work are contained largely in the daily reports of foremen and inspectors. If these daily reports do not show a proper and accurate distribution of the labor of men and of the equipment in the various branches of city services, the entire system of physical records must necessarily break down. Proper reports can only be made by conscientious and intelligent foremen. Unfortunately the weakest link in the municipal arcade is without doubt that of the foreman and inspector. The foreman is all too frequently merely a day laborer, plus a little political pull, and minus an inclination to work. To that type of man the position is demoralizing. Frequently the men who hold these supervisory positions of great responsibility and opportunity come barely within the class of the literate and are able to prepare any sort of daily report only with the greatest difficulty and in a handwriting bordering on the illegible. Unless our cities awaken more keenly to this condition and call more generally into service as foreman and inspectors men, not only of unquestioned fidelity to duty, but men of adequate intelligence to prepare a daily report with reasonable accuracy, reform in physical records will pause at the form of record without insuring a proper content of the same.

"The inadequacy of physical records of our municipalities has been keenly recognized by all agitators of municipal improvement. Not a little of what has already been attained in this field is due to the efforts of the American Society of Municipal Improvements, the Boston Society of Civil Engineers, the National Municipal League, and numerous other organizations interested more specifically in one field or another of municipal progress. I believe, however, that sufficient attention has not been paid in this campaign to the argument that physical records are a fundamental necessity to a study of municipal efficiency, and that even the great problem of financial records of municipal accounting can only be considered as co-ordinate with the problem of the improvement of physical records. The attainment of the one without the attainment of the other means a failure to realize the ultimate ends sought. For this reason I believe far too great relative prominence has in the past been given to the problem of municipal accounting as opposed to that of improved physical records. The result has been that agitation, originating with the purpose of securing an improved accounting system, has not unnaturally ended when his improvement was realized, leaving the real problem but half solved. If those who share in the point of view here expressed will expound vigorously the significance of improved physical records and make the end in reform not accounting merely, but the entire field of city records, financial and physical, and their proper interpretation in official reports, a proper goal for agitation will have been selected.

"Agitation in this field has an enormous inertia to overcome. Indifference and self-complacency are not those qualities which bring forth the world's great things. The impression has been gained by the Bureau of the Census that these qualities are at present the greatest obstacles to progress in this field. This is due to many things. Not the least among them is the instability of office services arising from short terms, political appointments, and low salaries. Present prospects are, however, good. The great civic awakening, which is one of the striking phenomena of the political life of the present generation, is grinding its will relentlessly into the old forms and commanding the public administrator to 'know then thyself.'

"Recognizing that no absolute standard for the measurement of the efficiency of public services exists but that the efficiency is a relative matter based upon comparison, a demand for comparative standards is made. The standard for measurement is based upon a unit, and that unit is made up of two things, cost and service. Financial records will yield the data for cost, but physical records are needed to supply the data of service. Neither, I reiterate, is an end in itself. Let this fact be clearly grasped. The end sought is a comparative standard for the measure of efficiency in public administration. By installing improved financial records, the work is but well begun. By installing in addition improved physical records, the work is but half done. By requiring officials to present concise, clear interpretation of the results of their administration, based upon an intelligent correlation of the financial and physical facts, the real end in view will have been attained.

"Let us work for better accounting; let us work also for better physical records, and let us demand then the fruitage of both. As is evidenced by past achievements, no organization can exercise greater influence in the attainment of improved physical records than the American Society of Municipal Improvements. The task is an immense one, but offers magnificent possibilities. Persistent effort, renewed energy, and undaunted perseverance have conquered at all times over all difficulties, no matter how stupendous."

MUNICIPAL FIVE STORY DOCK FOR TACOMA.

Many novel features are contained in four preliminary sketches of the permanent municipal dock building prepared by the city engineer's office. The sketches have been drawn to give members of the Municipal Commission an opportunity of wide choice in selecting a design for the structure. The building, when constructed following the completion of the new vertical life bridge over the waterway will be five stories high and probably of concrete, with perhaps portions of it of brick. It will be one of a series of three buildings to be located on the dock site. More than one building will be necessary in the future, as several large slips are to be dredged out of the site, which has 690 feet frontage on the waterway. The sketches feature on the fifth floor a dance hall, with balconies, and a lecture hall seating over 500 persons. For the fourth floor exhibition rooms with displays of Tacoma goods by local manufacturers have been sketched. Room for a series of offices is also shown in the sketches. A roof garden is planned for the top of the waiting room on the third floor.—Municipal Journal.

STREET PAVING IN AMERICAN CITIES.*

Street paving in American cities has not kept pace with the other departments of municipal public work. This is principally due to the fact that the theory and practice of paving city streets has not been developed along scientific lines, and this condition is, in turn, largely attributable to the fact that the work has not been sufficiently under the control of competent engineers.

Street paving is regarded by the public and by civic authorities as a comparatively simple business matter, where technical guidance is unnecessary and where any expenditure for expert advice is an unjustifiable extravagance. As a rule, city councils assume to decide the kind of pavement to be used, they often dictate or modify the specifications under which the work shall be done, and frequently exercise the right to pass upon the quality of the materials and workmanship. The city engineer is regarded as little more than an agent to carry out instructions given him.

The fundamental trouble with the present methods of conducting this branch of work is that the public does not understand or appreciate that street paving is a branch of municipal work requiring for its proper conduct the knowledge and experience of the able engineer.

In other branches of important municipal public work the situation is very different. Contrast, for instance, the practice in water supply and sewerage. In these it has long been realized that no important enterprise is to be undertaken and carried out without the advice and aid of competent experts. The result is that these departments have been studied and developed along scientific lines; the engineering and economic problems have been carefully worked out and the data necessary to deal with them intelligently have been accumulated and classified. We can determine with close approximation the safe quantity and quality of a source of water supply, compute the storage capacity necessary, can determine the cost of pumping, the size of the pipes needed, the quantity of water likely to be used, the cost of construction and operation and the most economical project to adopt. We are able to do all this because the theory and practice of municipal water supply has been developed by able and expert engineers, who have been given the opportunity, means and authority to pursue investigations and exercise their judgment.

This has not been the case in the equally important department of street paving, largely because in this branch of work the province of the engineer has been ignored and unappreciated and his function has been assumed by other civic authorities. Too often he is reduced to the position of a mere figurehead.

The results, painfully obvious in most of our cities, are what might be expected. The conditions are not too strongly expressed by the word chaotic. More money is spent—and enormous sums mispent—in this department of city work than in any other, and yet our streets are the most discreditable feature of American municipal work.

We have not even accumulated the data necessary to deal with the subject intelligently. The great majority of our city governments treat with contumely any attempt at scientific investigation of street paving, and refuse to grant the necessary facilities or to supply the money required. The making of systematic observations, the recording and digesting of results, and the carrying out of technical experimental work on a sufficient scale to be useful, are regarded as unnecessary and a waste of money not to be countenanced. There are, of course, a few cities that are exceptions to the rule, where the value of systematic investigation is beginning to be appreciated and provided for, but seldom on an adequate scale.

Good engineering embraces sound economics as well as adequate technics. In practice the problem before the engineer is to accomplish the desired result with the smallest expenditure of money; in other words, it is to obtain the largest return upon every dollar invested. This involves the careful adoption of means to ends; the design of every individual structure in the cheapest and simplest manner that will fully serve the purpose. These principles should control as well in street pavements as in any other municipal work. Their proper application in this department is peculiarly the work of the engineer, and no man or body of men, whatever may be their natural abilities, can, without the engineer's special training and experience, take his place. The ablest doctor can not successfully or properly prepare and conduct an important lawsuit, nor is the lawyer competent to treat a case of typhoid fever.

To secure proper results the engineer must have a free hand, and must possess the necessary data, the tools with which he must work. The American city engineer is usually denied the first, and at present the second practically do not exist; he has not been permitted to create them. The values of the fundamental factors in a paving problem, technical and economic, are largely unknown quantities. How little, for instance, do we know of the life or endurance of the various kinds of pavement, measured by a rational unit? We know in a general way, that, disregarding the element of natural decay, the quantity of work done (travel carried) under stated conditions is the obvious and proper measure of endurance, but we have practically no data reduced to such units; and since endurance is a fundamental factor in computing the economic value of any pavement the problem can not be intelligently solved. We are forced to substitute guessed-at values where we should have definite information.

Briefly, street paving and road making may be said to be in the alchemistic stage, where we are seeking certain results by random or cut-and-try methods rather than by systematic scientific investigation.

Doubtless this picture of the present condition of the art and science of paving streets will seem to many to be overdrawn and pessimistic. The writer admits that it does not apply in full force to all our cities, but it is substantially true of the country at large. The important question is, how may these conditions be remedied?

It may be confidently asserted that the first and most important step in any successful attempt at reform in American street paving practice must be the recognition that it is a branch of municipal work which requires the services of the high-class engineer, whose advice and authority must be accepted and allowed to control. In other words, street paving must be put upon the same plane, so far as the function of the engineer is concerned as other special departments of municipal work, like water supply, sewerage and city transportation. With this first step taken the others necessary will follow automatically. The engineer will take care of them. The American engineer has been unjustly blamed for the unsatisfactory condition of street paving in America. When he shall be given the proper latitude and authority, he will willingly accept responsibility for results in this, as he has in other fields, and will achieve the same high measure of success. He will apply to this work the same sound principles and practice that he has developed in other departments. Our pavements will be selected, designed and constructed with strict regard to the work required of them, and to securing the desired results in the most truly economical way. The kind of pavement used for any given street will not then be determined by popular clamor, or by the hasty impressions or influenced opinions of city councils, who, however earnest and honest, are not competent to deal intelligently with such technical problems. Construction and maintenance will be systemized, and intelligent specifications will be enforced. In short, our streets will not only be better paved, but enormous sums of money will be saved.

To accomplish these results will, of course, require, as in the other important branches of municipal work, the active interest, judgment and advice of the best engineering talent the profession affords in this line of work, in the capacity of consulting engineers or specialists.

It can not be expected that the average city engineer will be a specialist in all branches of municipal work, nor, in fact, that he will be a man of very high natural ability or great acquirements in the profession. The compensation offered now, or likely to be paid in the future for the services of city engineers, is not sufficient to attract men who have attained eminence in any branch of municipal engineering. But the great majority of them are quite competent to discharge the diverse duties of the position under the direction or advice of the specialist in the several departments of work.

The services of the consulting engineer can be as profitably utilized in street paving as in other municipal work. It would doubtless be regarded by the present average city official as a rank innovation, although if a new water supply were required, or an existing one needed to be improved, he would insist on the employment of a specialist in that branch of work. Those who have had, from observation and experience, the best opportunities to know the facts will almost unanimously assert that the services of the specialist are as necessary, and as likely to be at least as beneficial, in street paving as in any other branch of public work.

The profession owes a duty to the public in this matter which it should not hesitate to discharge, even at the cost of being charged with selfish motives. The engineer cannot, if he be a good citizen, refrain from pointing out the malpractice that prevails in the present system, or lack of system, of conducting the street paving departments of our cities, resulting in the absolute waste of hundreds of thousands of dollars every year. He, of all other citizens, is best able to expose the facts and to point out the remedy. In no small measure does his position parallel that of the physician who must acquaint his patient of disagreeable facts and urge the necessary treatment.—Engineering Record.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Complaints, inquiries or suggestions regarding the work of municipal departments should be made in writing to the officials directly in charge. The failure of such officials to make reply within a reasonable length of time should be brought to the attention of the Mayor. Communications should be directed as follows:

TO THE COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS, Room 49, City Hall, for information as to the watering, cleaning, lighting and repairing of streets, the construction and care of sewers and catch-basins, the operation of the ferries, the maintenance of bridges and drawbridges and the removal of ashes and offal.

TO ROOM 45, CITY HALL, for information relative to the supplying or metering of water and the water charges of the city.

TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH, 100 Summer street, for information relative to the inspection of milk, vinegar, meat, fish and vegetables, the issuance of permits for stables, slaughter houses, etc., smoke nuisances, the existence of contagious diseases or public health nuisances.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC GROUNDS, 154 East Cottage street, for information as to the care of the Common, Public Garden, and the small parks throughout the city other than playgrounds, and the extermination of the gypsy moth and the charges made for the same.

TO THE PARK COMMISSIONERS, Pine Bank, Jamaica Plain, for information as to Franklin Park and Field, Commonwealth avenue, the Back Bay Fens, Marine Park, and playgrounds in general throughout the city.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without public advertisement, requests of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising, and also additions to and deductions from contracts.

ELECTION DEPARTMENT.

The Mayor has given authority to the Board to do the work of preparing and furnishing ballots in the City of Boston for the city election in 1912, the estimated cost of which will exceed $1,000, to wit: approximately $1,300, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement.

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Mayor has authorized the Commissioner of Public Works to do the following work with the department force, without advertising for competitive bids:

Build, with the department force, a concrete culvert, 4 feet 9 inches in diameter, and a sanitary sewer of 12-inch earthen pipe, in a strip of land taken from the Boston & Albany Railroad Company for sewerage purposes October 16, 1911, by the Board of Street Commissioners, between Commonwealth avenue, and the Charles river, about 650 feet west of Essex street, Brighton, the estimated cost being $11,300.

"The above work can, in my opinion, be as advantageously done by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to contracts have been approved by the Mayor:

CONSUMPTIVES' HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.

An addition, amounting to $45, on the contract with E. C. Lewis, Inc., for Boston Consumptives' Hospital, Domestic Building, for making all necessary changes in dumb waiter machine so that it will be operated by ropes outside the well (rope being furnished under the contract), providing and attaching automatic locks on all doors and furnishing all necessary devices and connections, so that dumb waiter cannot be operated unless doors are closed and so that doors cannot be opened unless dumb waiter is at landing, and providing indicating bell to show when dumb waiter is at landing, all similar to work in other ward building. Contract price, $8,239; total additions, $494; total deductions, $38; contract as standing, $8,695.

PUBLIC GROUNDS DEPARTMENT.

An addition, amounting to $148, on the contract with A. Piotti for building an attendant's office at the Highland Park standpipe, on account of painting balance of stack except roof portion, $92; pointing of walls and patching at base of tower, $50; putting on screens on doors, $6; total, $148.

PETITIONS GRANTED.

The following petitions granted by the Board of Street Commissioners have been approved by the Mayor:

Marquise.—United Drug Company, 474 Washington street; United Drug Company, corner Washington street and Avon street, and on Avon street side.

Bay Windows.—B. J. Connolly, three bay windows from 919-921 Albany street, one to be over Webber street.

Pole Locations.—Permission to the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company to attach wires to 18 poles of Edison Company on Morton street.

LAND-TAKING FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES.

The Board of Street Commissioners find that as a result of a taking made for schoolhouse purposes on Wildwood street and Madison avenue, Dorchester, the several estates have sustained damages as follows:

Albert C. Smith, T.T. (Martha H. Dyer, former owner), 3,017 square feet, $452.55. Robert C. Orpin, 16,000 square feet, $2,400. Joseph J. Donahue, 22,035 square feet, $3,305.25.

LOCATION OF PRIVATE WAY.

The Mayor has approved the location, direction, width and grade of the private way designated as an extension of St. James avenue, from Berkeley to Arlington streets.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

The Board of Street Commissioners finds that no person suffers damage in their estate by reason of the public improvements resulting from the laying out and construction of Nazing street, Roxbury, and Mount Ida road, Dorchester, as public highways. The Board has assessed benefits against various estates on account of these improvements, as follows:

Laying out and construction of Mount Ida road, Dorchester, from Bowdoin street, to extension of Marie street.

AMERICAN CITIES NOT SO BAD.

A great many years ago the Hon. James Bryce in his celebrated work, "The American Commonwealth," made the statement that the one great failure in the United States was our municipal governments. This statement has been repeated by college professors to their students, by reformers to their hearers, and by lecturers to their audiences until we have accepted it as a truth and municipal officials themselves have almost been persuaded that they were the personification of incompetence, ignorance and graft. This statement might have been true half a century ago but it is not true to-day. The fact is that to-day our municipal governments as a whole are better and more economically administered than either the nation, state, county township or school district. Instead of being a reproach our municipal governments are leaders. Not that they are perfect, but that the other political boards are more imperfect. The only reason that we hear more of municipal incompetence is that the municipal official is constantly under the closest public scrutiny. If the state, the county or school district were investigated with one half the care that is the city it would be found that evils exist here that are many times greater than the much exploited municipal evils. It is interesting to note in this connection that Mr. Bryce in a recent address has said that present conditions in our cities are not so bad, and that he at least is an optimist so far as municipal conditions in America are concerned.—City Hall.

FINANCE COMMISSION.

Boston, October 23, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—The City Council on May 8, 1911, referred to the Finance Commission for its report and recommendation an act of the last Legislature which provides for the retirement of laborers employed by the City of Boston, and which will become effective, if accepted by the City Council, on the first day of March in the year following such acceptance. The act is as follows:

ACTS OF 1911, CHAPTER 413.

An Act Relative to a Retirement Fund for Laborers Employed by the City of Boston.

SECTION 1. There shall be a retirement board for the laborers employed by the City of Boston, consisting of the mayor, the auditor and the treasurer of the city, who shall discharge the duties hereby imposed upon them without additional compensation.

SECT. 2. Any laborer employed by the city of Boston, who has reached the age of sixty years and who has been in the service of the city for a period of not less than twenty-five years, and who is physically incapacitated, shall, at his request and with the approval of the retirement board above provided for, be retired from service, and shall receive for the remainder of his life an annual pension equal to one-half of the compensation which he received during the last year of his service for the city. It shall be the duty of the said board so to retire any laborer in the service of the city who has reached the age of seventy years and has served the city for a period of not less than twenty-five years.

SECT. 3. This act shall take effect on the first day of March of the year following its acceptance by the City council of the City of Boston.

The act is intended to establish a system under which any laborer, who has reached the age of sixty years, and has been in the service of the city for not less than twenty-five years, and is physically incapacitated, may upon his request and with the approval of the retirement board be retired from the service of the city with a life pension equal to one-half of the compensation received by him in the last year of his service; and under which also the Retirement Board must retire with pension any laborer who has served the city for not less than twenty-five years and has reached the age of seventy years, without regard to the question whether he is or is not incapacitated for further service.

I. THE LABOR PROBLEM.

The main question which the City Council should consider is whether the act will provide the most practical and humane solution of the problem of relieving the city of the expense of carrying on the pay rolls at full wages the employees in the labor service who have become inefficient on account of age. To decide this question properly requires a knowledge of the conditions in the labor service of the city.

For many years the city departments in which most of the laborers have been employed have been administered with far less efficiency, and at much greater cost, than such departments would have been administered under the conditions which ordinarily exist in private business. For political reasons large numbers of teamsters, watchmen, and other laborers, who were not actually needed, have been employed and retained by the city. Politics has also prevented the reorganization upon an economic basis of the forces in such departments, and the maintenance of proper discipline, and in consequence the city has suffered the loss of millions of dollars. Most of these losses were caused by the wasteful methods due to politics, which prevailed in the Paving, Sewer, Sanitary and Street Cleaning Divisions of the Street Department and in the Water Department; and in every case the carrying on the pay rolls of large numbers of unnecessary or inefficient employees contributed largely to the loss. In the Water Department there were about 1,000 employees in the winter of 1899-1900, or about 350 more than in 1895, although in 1895 the city operated a distribution system and also a large supply system, while in 1899-1900 it operated only a distribution system. The work had decreased about 15 per cent, but the force had increased about 50 per cent. (Finance Commission's Reports, Vol. II., pp. 36, 37.) In one branch of the work of the Street Department alone, the operation of the city's stone crushers, the city lost nearly a million dollars in twelve years, largely on account of the supposed political necessity of maintaining the crushers in order to provide employment for city laborers. (Finance Commission's Reports, Vol. I., pp. 216-220.)

Many other illustrations of the evil results of political influence in the labor service may be found in the reports of the Finance Commission, Vol. I., pp. 131, 132, 258, 274; Vol. II., pp. 36-38, 150, 202-204, 216, 217; Vol. III., pp. 222, 304, 306, 702, 1063, 1064.

In the Street and Water Departments, which employed the bulk of the labor force, the number of employees increased from 2,931 in 1895 to 4,209 in 1907, and their compensation from $2,195,201.50 to $3,244,726; an increase in number of 1,278 and in compensation of $1,049,524.50; both increases far beyond what the increase in the work warranted.

This combined pay roll at the two departments shows the result of years of subordination of business to political considerations, during which many devices were employed to load up the pay rolls with political adherents of the party in power for the time being. The civil service law was circumvented by the employment of "emergency" men when there was no emergency and no need of such men; by the making of "provisional" appointments which afforded a political favorite a job until the time when the Civil Service Commission could hold examinations; and by the appointment of men under various ingenious designations for work which could have been performed by laborers already in the city's employ.

The year 1907, however, marked the culminating point in these abuses. Large numbers of the unnecessary employees in the Street Department were discharged in the years 1908 and 1909, as a result of the efforts of the then Superintendent of Streets to reduce the force. Others were eliminated as a result of the operation of the act which was passed in March, 1908, (chapter 210 of the Acts of 1908) requiring a certification of the pay rolls by the heads of departments under oath, and the approval of the Civil Service Commission. The extent of the abuses in the "emergency men" system was indicated in the report of the Civil Service Commission for the year ending September 30, 1909. The Civil Service Commission said, (pages 17, 18):

"Without question, thousands of dollars are saved to the city by the operation of the act (chapter 210 of the Acts of 1908) in keeping off the lists false 'emergency men,' and others whose employment in previous years the Commission had no means of detecting with promptness. For example, from April to August, 1906 (a period when there were no snowstorms), there were employed in the Street Department, weekly, from 220 to 360 'emergency laborers,' the majority of them generally five days per week; the cost to the city being frequently about $2,500 per week, or, if continued throughout the year, about $120,000 per year. This state of affairs was partially remedied by the requirement by the commission that the department should make such employments only from certified lists of men willing to take 'emergency' work, and termed 'regular extra laborers.' This reduced somewhat the number of men so employed; but since the Pay Roll Act became law, the number of such employments has been greatly lessened, so that in December, 1908, on investigation it was found that only about 120 men were employed on 'emergency' work."

The Civil Service Commission's pay roll inspector, in the same report (see pages 69-71) told of the manner in which the Pay Roll Act operated to keep "students" and false "emergency men" off the Boston pay rolls:

"Another feature of the present system of pay roll inspection, and one that must commend it to every tax payer, is the aid it offers to discipline and the direct saving of vast sums of money by its tendency to keep 'students' and 'emergency men' off the pay rolls. 'Students' are men who may properly be on the pay rolls as regards Civil Service Law and Rules, i. e., they may have been properly certified and appointed; but they are improperly drawing pay from the city, because (1) not willing to work at all; (2) refusing to do work proper to their rating, since it 'might lower their standing in the community' to be seen on the streets doing even such light work as picking up paper; (3) trying to serve two or more paying masters at one and the same time (the city, as might be supposed, always drawing the shorter end of the service, if any at all). These students used to be the despair of the district foremen, who found it impossible to get rid of them because of their influence with men 'higher up', who, I doubt not, would have been only too glad in their turn, to shake off this influence. . . . 'Emergency men' (very properly employed if in real emergencies fully provided for by Civil Service Law and Rules) were another form of abuse, by which hundreds of thousands of dollars (I speak advisedly) have been drawn from the city treasury unnecessarily, and for which service to the city has been rendered in rare cases only."

In addition to the reductions in the number of employees thus accomplished by the Superintendent of Streets and the Civil Service Commission, there have been other reductions due to death or resignation; and the labor force in the Street and Water Departments was much more efficient in the years 1908-09 and 1909-10 than it has been for several preceding years. Nevertheless the labor force was then and still is far below the efficiency of a private contractor's force. In February of 1910 several city officials gave the Finance Commission their estimates of the efficiency of city laborers, as compared with that of laborers in private employ, and these estimates are set forth as follows in Vol. VI., pp. 38, 39 of the commissioner's reports.

"The former Superintendent of the Paving Division, James H. Doyle, stated to the former Finance Commission that the employees in his department did far less work than persons in similar occupations privately employed; and that the cost of work performed by city labor was far in excess of that performed for the city by contractors. Former Chief Engineer (now Deputy Superintendent) of the Paving Division, James H. Sullivan, states that the employees in that division are much less efficient than others in private employ; and that, in fact, contractors receive twice as much labor for each $2.25 expended as the city receives from the day labor force in the Paving Division.

"Chief Engineer of the Sewer Division, Edgar S. Dorr, states that work done by the labor force of the department cost 25 to 50 per cent more than it would cost the city if done by contract. Deputy Superintendent of the Sewer Division, C. Barton Pratt, states that the force is far less efficient than labor in private employ, as shown by the fact that the cost of work performed by the department force ranges from 50 to 100 per cent above the cost of similar work done by contract.

"Deputy Superintendent of the Sanitary Division, George H. Foss, estimates the efficiency of the labor force in this division as about two-thirds of that of private contractors.

"The present Superintendent of Streets, Guy C. Emerson, estimates that the average efficiency of the labor force of the several divisions of the Street Department is 25 per cent less than that of private contractors.

"The present Water Commissioner, William E. Hannan, states that the laborers in the Water Department perform about one-half as much work a day as a contractor's force, and that a contractor receives twice as much labor for the $2 he pays, as the city receives for the $2.25 it pays."

There have been further reductions since 1910 in the force of the Street Department, now merged in the Public Works Department, but the efficiency of the force is about the same as it was a year ago.

It should be noted that the inefficiency of the labor force of the city is not due entirely to the presence of men who have grown old in the service and who, by reason of their age, have become unable to perform a full day's work. Much of the inefficiency of the labor force is due to politics and the resulting lack of discipline. Many of the younger employees, though able to do a full day's work, actually perform no more work than some of the older employees. It is true, however, that the inefficiency of the labor force as a whole is caused in part by superannuated employees; and therefore the removal of such employees would be a partial solution of the problem of inefficiency in the labor force as a whole.

II. THE JUSTIFICATION FOR A LABORERS' PENSION ACT.

Though many laborers now in the city's employ have rendered faithful service, the foregoing review of the situation shows that many others have not; and therefore a Laborers' Pension Act cannot be justified on the theory that the force as a whole is now entitled to exceptionally favorable treatment. The city's laborers have been and are being dealt with very generously as compared with laborers in private employ. The day laborers receive $2.25 a day, or at least 25 cents more than the prevailing rate paid employees of private contractors, whereas the city laborers' day, though nominally eight hours as against the nine-hour day of the employees of private contractors, is actually only seven hours, as at least an hour each day is lost to the city through the existing custom of going to the city yards within, instead of before and after the day's work. Thus, it appears that the rate of pay per hour of actual work for city laborers is 32½ cents, and for laborers in private employ 22½ cents per hour, an excess of about 10 cents per hour, or about 45 per cent more for the city laborers. Moreover, the city laborers are paid for days when they attend their various annual picnics, for legal holidays, and for Saturday half-holidays; also for sick leave; the total allowances for these purposes amounting to about 10½ per cent of the day labor pay roll. On the other hand, laborers in private employ get no payment for holidays or sick leave as a rule, but are paid only for the time they actually work. Finally, the city laborers are now, and usually have been kept on the pay rolls continuously throughout the year whether there was work for them or not, whereas laborers in private employ are frequently laid off without pay on account of lack of work or stormy weather. It has been the almost invariable custom in this city to carry upon the pay rolls during the entire year large numbers of laborers and mechanics whose services for about four months of the year could have been dispensed with. Thus, the Commissioner of Public Works stated last year to the Finance Commission that 750 employees of the then Street Department, or about one-fourth of the force, could have been laid off on the 1st of December; and the commission believes about one-fourth of the 558 employees of the Water Department could have been laid off likewise. The net result of the various differences between the conditions of labor in city and private employ is that, measured by the hours of actual service, the city laborer is paid at least 50 per cent more than the laborer in private employ. Moreover, the city laborer accomplishes much less per hour of actual service than the laborer in private employ.

The foregoing facts show that from the standpoint of the city as an employer of labor there is no justification for a Laborers' Pension Act, except the financial saving resulting from its operation. The old laborers, unless pensioned, will not be removed even though totally inefficient, in fact public sentiment would not sustain the policy of retiring such men without pension. Their wages, though larger than those of laborers in private employ, have been small in comparison with those of most other city employees; they have had little or no opportunity for advancement during their term of service, and a large proportion of them have made no provision for their old age. If retired without pension, most of them would be unable to obtain private employment, or to perform work in private employ if it should be obtained for them. It must be assumed that unless retired with pension they will continue to be kept on the pay rolls at full wages; and this is in effect a very expensive pension system, already in operation, without sanction of law.

If the old and inefficient laborers in the city's employ were retired on a pension equal to half their former wages, as the pending act provides, and their places were not filled by new appointments, the city would save in the aggregate a sum equal to one-half the wages paid to all the retired laborers. If, however, the retirements were followed by new and unnecessary appointments the city would pay the full amount formerly paid as wages and half as much again for pensions. In every case of an unnecessary appointment to fill a vacancy caused by retirement, the city would pay $1.50 for every $1 it paid prior to the retirement; and its last state would be worse than its first.

III. DEFECTS IN THE PENDING ACT.

A proper Laborers' Pension Act, faithfully carried out, would save the city a large sum every year. The pending act, however, does not meet the requirements of the situation. Its defects seem to the commission to be as follows:

1. Indefiniteness as to Beneficiaries.

In the first place it is so indefinite as to the persons who may become entitled to its benefits that it may lead to serious abuses. It provides pensions for "any laborer employed by the City of Boston who has reached the age of sixty years," and for "any laborer in the service of the city who has reached the age of seventy years," etc. Under these provisions a laborer who had previously been in the service of the city twenty-five years, but who had left the service voluntarily, or had been discharged, might be permitted to re-enter the service, not for the purpose of performing further work, but for the sole purpose of retiring with a pension a few days or weeks later. Such an attempt has already been made by some employees who were formerly in the city service, but were actually out of the service at the time when the pension act relating to veterans of the Civil War in the employ of the City of Boston went into effect. (Acts of 1911, chapter 113.)

2. Exclusion of Mechanics.

The act in terms applies to laborers, and not to mechanics, and though many persons are employed by the city as mechanics they would not, in the opinion of the commission, be entitled to the benefits of the act. These mechanics are classified by the Civil Service Commission as part of the labor force, but they are designated as mechanics, as distinguished from laborers, and as this distinction is based upon actual differences in the kinds of work performed by laborers and mechanics it would in all probability be upheld by the courts, and consequently mechanics would be debarred from retiring with a pension under the act. A considerable portion of the labor force would thus be prevented from retiring with pension. To illustrate—in the first year of the operation of the act 165 laborers in the Public Works Department would become eligible for retirement, and if mechanics were eligible thirty-three, or one-fifth of the number of laborers, could also be retired in that year. If, as the commission believes, mechanics could not be retired, discrimination between two branches of the labor force would result, which would be unfortunate for the city, as it would still leave a large part of the problem of superannuation in the labor force unsolved.

III. No Tests for Incapacity.

Under the pending act no tests are required and there is an opportunity to do injustice to the city by retiring one who is able to work, and for whom there is work; especially when there is work of a not excessively laborious nature, such as that of a watchman, custodian, or stockkeeper. By placing such men in the comparatively easy positions they could be made useful to the city for a few years longer at least, and during this period the city would save the amount it would otherwise pay them as pensions if they were retired and other employees were put in their places at full wages. The city physician should make tests of the capacity of employees who are between sixty and seventy years of age and who request retirement.

IV. The Service Period Is Too Long.

The act provides only for laborers who have served the city not less than twenty-five years. This period is too long to be effective in dealing with the superannuated laborers, as many of them entered the city's employ so late in life that in all human probability they will not live to complete twenty-five years of service, but will linger on the pay rolls at an advanced age, and at a dead loss to the city of the wages they are paid. The advanced age at which many laborers entered the city's employ was shown by the reports of the former Finance Commission and the engineers whom it employed. It was shown that of the 1,253 laborers in the service in 1907 in the Water Department and the Sewer Division, 416, or about one-third of the force, were employed when forty years old or over, 249 when forty-five or over, and 99 when fifty years or over. (Finance Commission's Reports, Vol. I., pp. 268, 269; Vol. III., pp. 72 and 418.) Incidentally it may be noted that the facts cited show how false is the sentiment in the rhetorical phrases sometimes heard concerning "these men who have grown old in the city's service," implying that the men have given a life-time of service to the public. The fact is that while there are many old laborers working for the city, a large proportion of them were already well advanced in years when they secured their positions.

Information was furnished to the commission within the last few days by the Public Works, Public Grounds, Cemetery, and Park Departments, as to the number of laborers who would be eligible for retirement under the act in the first year of its operation, and the ages and lengths of service of other laborers who would not become eligible in the same year. The information received is set forth in the table on page 843.

The first column shows 177 eligible for retirement in the first year of the operation of the act. The other four columns show that there are 185 laborers in these four departments who are either closely approaching the age when retirements would be possible under the act, or have passed the age, but who for the most part will in all probability never live to finish a twenty-five year period of service and hence never become eligible for retirement with pension under the act. Most of them will be obliged to continue at work in their advanced age with no possibility of securing a pension, while their younger fellow laborers, who entered the service earlier in life, will be able to retire with pensions.

V. No Provision for Contribution.

The pending act does not provide for contribution by the laborers. Contributions cannot of course be obtained from the employees who are eligible now and who would be retired with pension almost immediately after the act went into effect; but it should be expected from those who will remain on the city's pay rolls for a considerable length of time after the act becomes effective. As stated by the Finance Commission in its report upon the General Pension Act (chapter 619 of the Acts of 1910, as amended by chapter 338 of the Acts of 1911), a contributory feature will be attacked, but it is a necessary feature of a civil pension system for public employees and should be retained at all hazards. The city should not be required to help those who are unwilling to help themselves.

IV. A BETTER ACT SHOULD BE PROVIDED.

If a policy of pensioning laborers is to be adopted, it is especially important now, when for the first time in this or any other American city retirement acts for such public employees are to be tried, that legislation which will be of such far-reaching importance and which will be regarded as a precedent, should be made as complete as possible at its inception and that each of its parts should be considered in its relation to the others. The pending act should be rejected, and a substitute should be submitted to the next Legislature. The object of any such act should be to save the city money now lost through payments of full wages to superannuated laborers and mechanics. To secure this object the following provisions should be contained in the act.

1. The service period should be fifteen years.

2. Mechanics in the labor force should be included as well as laborers.

3. Tests of capacity should be made of employees between sixty and seventy years of age by the city physician upon the request of the heads of departments.

4. Employees who reach seventy years of age should be retired without proof of incapacity on the filing of certificates of retirement with the City Auditor by the heads of departments.

5. There should be safeguards against the re-entry into city employ of those actually out of the service who desire to retire in a few days or weeks with a pension.

6. Heads of departments who intend to fill vacancies caused by retirement should be required to file a statement under oath with the City Auditor, stating the reasons for filling such vacancies.

7. Certificates of incapacity of employees between sixty and seventy years old should be filed by the city physician with the auditor before retirements become effective.

8. The City Auditor should keep a record, open to public inspection, which would contain the essential facts in regard to retirements and the filling of vacancies caused thereby; and he should publish an annual report showing the effects of the retirement system upon the expenditures and the efficiency of the various departments.

9. There should be no Board of Retirement or Employees' Association; the City Treasurer should be able to administer the financial part of the system; and the heads of departments, aided by the city physician, should be able to administer the other part of the system.

10. There should be provision for contribution by the employees.

11. There should be a provision requiring the physical examination of laborers and mechanics who hereafter seek employment in the city's service, and prohibiting the employment of those who are physically unfit.

12. The act should become effective only upon its acceptance by the Mayor and City Council.

CONCLUSIONS.

The commission believes the pending act would not be effective in dealing with the problem of inefficiency in the labor force.

If such an act as the one suggested by the commission can be obtained, the city will be enabled to save a large sum annually providing the system established under it is administered with proper regard for the city's financial interests. The act will not operate automatically to save the city money, and it may, through political abuses such as the unnecessary filling of vacancies caused by retirements, operate to increase the city's expenses without materially increasing the efficiency of the labor force.

With such an act in effect, honestly administered, the deaths, resignations and retirements will in a few years reduce the labor force to a strictly maintenance basis, this force will improve in efficiency, and the construction work can then be done entirely by contract; all to the great advantage of the city.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The Commission commends:

1. That the pending act (chapter 413 of the Acts of 1911) be rejected by the City Council.

2. That a new Pension Act be drawn on the lines suggested herein and submitted to the next Legislature.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
October 20, 1911.

BOSTON FINANCE COMMISSION:

GENTLEMEN,— Your communication of October 18, in reply to mine of October 10, concerning the extended use of school buildings, has been carefully considered by me.

The suggestion that steps be taken to accept on the part of the city chapter 367 of the Acts of 1911 seems to me a proper one and I shall send a message to the City Council recommending that this chapter be adopted.

In dealing with the general question whether the funds necessary to provide for the extended use of school buildings for purposes of education and recreation could be taken from the regular appropriations of the School Department without injury to its work, you say in substance that such an application of the regular funds would be dangerous. According to your own recommendation, namely, that the Legislature be petitioned to authorize the School Committee to appropriate two cents on each $1,000 of valuation for this purpose, the amount required for a reasonable and comprehensive plan would be about $30,000. I am to understand, therefore, that in your opinion, the School Committee out of its appropriation for 1911-1912, approximating $5,000,000 cannot spare the moderate sum of $30,000, although you admit that its balance for last year was about $35,000.

I am constrained to ask whether you have given a careful study to one feature of the school expenditures. On pages 83-86 of your report you note that in the last school year there was a decrease of 1,934 pupils in the elementary schools and 209 pupils in the evening schools, which was only partly offset by an increase of 1,071 pupils in the Latin and High schools and 73 pupils in the Normal and special schools. The decrease of 1,934 pupils in elementary schools at $24.76, which is the annual cost of instruction per pupil, would mean a saving, other things being equal, of nearly $50,000, while the increase of 1,071 pupils in the Latin and high schools at $66.82 per pupil, would mean an added expenditure of about $71,500. The net increase in expenditure thus due to the increase in the number of pupils would be something under $25,000.

Thus we have a balance of $35,000 and an increase in the appropriations due to the normal increase of valuations, which will probably exceed $100,000 each year. That is to say, the average increase of valuations for the five-year period from 1905 to 1910 was $27,000,000 and at approximately $4 per thousand this will bring in over $100,000 per year. In other words, the School Committee has a net increase of $100,000, with a balance this year of $35,000, to provide for an increase of school population involving a net expenditure of only $25,000, leaving about $110,000 clear for the general improvement of the school system. This is a large amount and, in my opinion, satisfactory reasons should be given before a body as responsible as the Boston Finance Commission should recommend additional expenditures.

One reason for the decrease in the numbers last year is not mentioned in your report. This is the building of parochial schools in different parts of the city. It is well known that several such schools have recently been erected and have drawn away thousands of public school pupils and that others are contemplated or in course of construction. I think it singular that no mention was made of this feature and would respectfully inquire whether you have taken it into account in your forecast of future needs, leading up to the last recommendation in your list that "if necessary the Legislature be asked to grant a larger appropriation for school purposes."

It is obvious that if the school population continues to decrease the need of increased appropriations is correspondingly diminished and other means might be provided for the extended use of school buildings without imposing additional burdens upon the taxpayers.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

BOSTON, October 25, 1911.

HON. JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor:

SIR,—The Finance Commission has received your Honor's communication, dated October 20, 1911, concerning the extended use of school buildings. In the report of the Finance Commission on the extended use of school buildings, dated October 18, 1911, the commission pointed out that the school funds could not lawfully be used for many of the purposes included in the program for the extended use of school buildings; that is, the program could not be carried out in its entirety by the School Committee under existing law. This objection seems to the Finance Commission to be decisive of the questions raised in your Honor's communication; but, even if the school funds could lawfully be used to carry out the entire program for the extended use of school buildings, it would be dangerous for the School Committee to set aside for this purpose in the beginning of any year funds which before the end of the year might be needed for the more important duty which the law places upon the School Committee, namely, the education of the children in the public schools.

Moreover, the Finance Commission does not believe that any substantial saving could be effected if the number of pupils in the elementary schools should decrease hereafter. It is true that if the number of pupils in a particular school district should be largely reduced, a saving could be effected in that district by reducing the number of teachers and the quantity of books and supplies. But no saving would be made even in that district in the fixed charges, such as the cost of administration and supervision, fuel, light and janitor's service. The decrease, however, if any occurs hereafter, will probably be fairly uniform throughout the various schools and classes in the city and, though the quota of pupils per teacher would be reduced in some instances, the decrease in the number of pupils would probably not be so great as to warrant any material reduction in the number of teachers; hence no substantial saving would be effected.

The commission, however, does not anticipate any decrease hereafter in the number of pupils in the public schools. In its report on the school system, dated October 7, 1911, page 85, the commission said:

"The decrease of about 1½ per cent in the number of elementary school pupils and of about ½ of 1 per cent in the number of pupils in all schools furnishes no occasion for alarm; the falling off in all probability is only a temporary one, and in future years the normal increase of previous years may be expected."

The commission, in the course of its study, gave careful attention to the possible effect of parochial schools upon the public school population, but omitted reference thereto, as it felt that the subject of its report was the public schools and not private schools. During the commission's study last summer the figures showed an apparent falling off in the parochial school population very similar to that in the public schools.

Information which has since been received, as the result of a recent conference between representatives of the public and the parochial schools, shows, however, that there was an increase last year of 323 in the average number of pupils belonging in the parochial schools. The increase in the previous year was 198; and there was an average annual increase of 193 during the last five years. On October 1, 1910, there were 17,207 pupils enrolled in the Boston parochial schools; on October 1, 1911, 17,852 were enrolled, an increase of 645 in the total enrollment. The enrollment figures are always greater than the figures showing the average number of pupils belonging, as many pupils drop out after enrollment. It is evident therefore that the decrease of 1,934 pupils in the average number of pupils belonging in the elementary public schools is not accounted for by an increase in the same period of 645 pupils in the number enrolled in the parochial schools, or by the smaller increase in the average number belonging in the parochial schools.

The Finance Commission believes that its report of October 18, 1911, outlined a lawful and practical means of providing for the extended use of school buildings; that the way suggested by your Honor in your communication to the City Council, dated October 9, 1911, namely, to create by ordinance a new department to divide jurisdiction over school buildings with the School Committee, would be unlawful; and that your Honor's later suggestion contained in your communication to the Finance Commission under date of October 20, 1911, is impracticable.

If the valuations of the city, and consequently the amounts available for the public schools, shall hereafter increase in greater proportion than the number of public school pupils, any surplus which would thus be created could not then lawfully be used for a large part of the program for the extended use of school buildings. Moreover, if such a surplus should be created, the commission believes that it should be used to provide more teachers, to reduce the number of pupils per teacher, and by this and other methods give the children in the public schools a better education than they now receive.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

GERMANY'S FIRST GARDEN CITY.

Those who have followed the progress of the Hampstead Garden City experiment will also be interested in the account given in Garden Cities and Town Planning of its German prototype, Hellerau, near Dresden. This is Germany's first garden city and the most important scheme promoted by the German Garden City Association.

The land, which is beautifully located in an undulating country, is owned by the Garden City Company, which has a limited dividend of four per cent only. Uniformity of development, for the most part along inexpensive lines, is the aim of the company. While more expensive houses are built, good houses for laborers can be obtained at the low rate of about sixty dollars a year including water.

It is predicted, from the evidence of good management so far shown, that Hellerau will be a model city for all Germany. In that case it will also be an excellent model for American city planners to study.—The American City.

HYDRANT SPACING AND FIRE PROTECTION.

It would be only natural if the great effectiveness claimed for the high pressure water distribution systems which have been constructed for fire protection in most of our largest cities should arouse the ambition of cities of the second class to possess similar systems. If any class of men in this country know what precautions should be taken to minimize fire losses, it is certainly the underwriters; and two representatives of that class who have investigated the subject believe that high pressure systems are desirable only in the ten or twelve largest cities.

They strongly urge, however, that the pressure throughout the distribution system be increased in some cities, the minimum for the business sections being 80 to 100 pounds. Also that the hydrants be more numerous, so that hose friction—that is, length of hose lines—may be reduced.

This last point, although frequently referred to, does not seem to receive sufficient consideration, in spite of the fact that in many cases an actual money saving is possible in addition to the increased pressure secured. To illustrate: In 1907 the 47 cities in the United States having 50,000 to 100,000 population had, on the average, one fire hydrant for every 473 feet of main. They also had 863,176 feet of fire hose. Let us assume the hose to have a life of six years; interest and depreciation would then amount to about 20 per cent. Also assume the interest and depreciation on fire hydrants to be 6 per cent. Also that good hose costs $1 a foot, and fire hydrants (including setting and connecting up) $50 each. If hydrants be placed an average of 300 feet apart, in all these cities, we may assume that each line of hose used could be shortened by 173 feet; and if we assume the average length of a line at 400 feet, this means that the supply of hose kept for use could be reduced by 43 per cent; an annual saving of $74,233. This would require 23,530 additional hydrants, the annual cost of which would be $70,590. A net saving of $3,643 would thus be effected, in addition to the greater protection offered against fire.

Each case would give different results, of course; some cities would show no net gain. But the offsetting saving in hose added to increased fire protection furnishes a strong argument for short hydrant spacing.—Municipal Journal.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Complaints, inquiries or suggestions regarding the work of municipal departments should be made in writing to the officials directly in charge. The failure of such officials to make reply within a reasonable length of time should be brought to the attention of the Mayor. Communications should be directed as follows:

TO THE BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS, Room 41, City Hall, for information relative to the laying out, relocation, widening and discontinuance of highways; the taking of real property for municipal purposes; the assessments of betterments for streets and sewers; the plotting of undeveloped areas for streets and the opening of private ways; the granting of licenses for the storage or sale of merchandise in public streets; the regulation of street traffic; the making of specific repairs in public streets; the naming of public streets; the planting and removal of trees in public ways; the issuing of licenses for the storage of gasoline, oil and other inflammable substances or explosive compounds; the use of the public ways for any permanent or temporary obstruction or projection in, under or over the same, including the location of conduits, poles and posts for telephone, telegraph, street railway or illuminating purposes, signs, marquis, bay windows, coal holes and vaults.

tion as to the watering, cleaning, lighting and repairing of streets, the construction and care of sewers and catch-basins, the operation of the ferries, the maintenance of bridges and drawbridges and the removal of ashes and offal.

To Room 45, City Hall, for information relative to the supplying or metering of water and the water charges of the city.

TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH, 100 Summer street, for information relative to the inspection of milk, vinegar, meat, fish and vegetables, the issuance of permits for stables, slaughter houses, etc., smoke nuisances, the existence of contagious diseases or public health nuisances.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC GROUNDS, 154 East Cottage street, for information as to the care of the Common, Public Garden, and the small parks throughout the city other than playgrounds, and the extermination of the gypsy moth and the charges made for the same.

On November 1 the Mayor approved a contract with the John F. Griffin Company for repairing and painting buildings at the Calf Pasture Pumping Station. Bids on this work were opened October 23, and were as follows:

John F. Griffin Company, $3,768; the Associated Trust, $4,400; Richard Gibson, $5,395.

Engineers' estimate, $3,750.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Water Service).

On November 1 the Mayor approved a contract with Hugh McNulty for relaying water pipe in Braintree, Franklin and Hano streets, Brighton. Bids on this work were opened October 27, and were as follows:

Hugh McNulty, $1,066.55; Antony Cefalo, $1,251; Murphy & Dolan, $1,471; R. Cartullo, $1,694.50; John E. Palmer, $1,990.

Engineers' estimate, $1,350.

On November 1 the Mayor approved a contract with Thomas Burke for relaying water pipe in Chandler, Appleton, West Canton and Montgomery streets, city proper. Bids on this work were opened October 27, and were as follows:

Thomas Burke, $2,402.05; Charles M. Callahan, $2,489.05; J. A. Costello & Co., $2,746.50; John E. Palmer, $3,042.50; John T. Shea, Jr., $3,243.55; D. E. Lynch, $3,705.

Engineers' estimate, $2,750.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

On October 30 the Mayor approved a contract with the A. Varnerin Company for erecting and completing the elementary school, Magnolia street, in the Phillips Brooks District. Bids on this work, opened October 19, were as follows:

A. Varnerin Company, $63,947; McGahey & O'Connor, $65,497; John F. Griffin Company, $66,967; J. E. Locatelli Company, $67,312; C. S. Cunningham & Sons, $81,866.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without public advertisement, requests of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising, and also additions to and deductions from contracts.

ART DEPARTMENT.

The Mayor has approved a contract, made without advertising, with F. W. Bayley for keying and varnishing certain paintings at Faneuil Hall, at a cost of $1,111.60. In making request for authority to award, the chairman of the Art Commission states:

"I make this request on behalf of the Art Commission for the following reasons: This commission has had several bids from reputable firms for the work at Faneuil Hall, of which bids Mr. Bayley's was the lowest. Moreover, Mr. Bayley was to the commission the most satisfactory of the parties bidding; and Mr. Bayley's original bid was less than $1,000. Certain changes in the specifications, however, made it necessary to increase the contract sum to $1,111.60, above mentioned. This is well within the appropriation.

"Under the circumstances, the commission feels that it is well within the spirit of the charter in asking your Honor's permission to award this contract without advertising for bids."

PARK DEPARTMENT.

The Mayor has approved a contract, made without advertising, with the Loomis-Manning Filter Distributing Company, for furnishing and installing two cast-iron shell filters at the Aquarium at a cost of $2,500. In making request for authority the commissioners state that prices have been received on invitation bids as follows; Hygia Filter Company, $1,800; Dyar Supply Company, $1,600; Loomis-Manning Filter Distributing Company, $1,900 and $2,500.

Both Messrs. French and Hubbard and Mr. Austin advise that we accept the bid for the Loomis-Manning cast-iron shell filters at a price of $2,500. This price is the highest received but we are advised that the filter is the best for the purpose. The estimate on which the appropriation was made by the Council for the Aquarium included an allowance of $3,000 for the purchase of these filters, that being a rough estimate made of their cost by Messrs. French and Hubbard. Although the price that we now propose to pay is the highest received it is still less than our allowance provided for by the appropriation. We ask you to approve of the Loomis-Manning filters at the price of $2,500.

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Mayor has granted to the Commissioner of Public Works authority to do the following work with the department force without advertising for competitive bids:

Redeck and resheathe Norfolk Street Bridge (North) over New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $1,200.

Resurface with macadam Howard avenue, from Dudley street to Brookford street, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $1,300.

Pave with second-hand blocks Washington street, from northwest side of Erie street to the southeast side of Eldon street, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $1,650.

"This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

An addition, amounting to $191.92, on the contract with the Bertelsen & Peterson Engineering Company for repairing tugboat "Cormorant," on account of changing davits, as required by U. PERMISSION TO SELL.

Permission has been granted to the Commissioner of Public Works to sell a lot of junk, the property of the Water Service of the Sewer and Water Division of this department, now at Albany Street Yard of said service, value not to exceed $500.

CONDEMNATION OF BUILDING.

The Building Commissioner reports that the building, 5 Adams place, Ward 8, is in a dangerous condition and liable to fall. Several attempts have been made to communicate with the owner but without success. The Mayor has therefore granted the request, as provided for in section 5, chapter 550, Acts of 1907, that the commissioner enter upon the premises and take measures for securing the building.

CLAIMS.

The following awards made by the Committee on Claims of the City Council have been approved by the Mayor, after approval by the heads of departments involved and by the Corporation Counsel:

Patrick Blessington, employee of Cemetery Department, $27, for injuries received while in performance of his duty.

Patrick Flaherty, employee of Sewer Service Division, $129.37, for injuries received while in performance of his duties on May 1, 1911.

Mrs. Delia McGuinness, $50, for damage to her property No. 329 Bunker Hill street, caused by oil sprinkling team, June 2, 1911.

Mrs. Edward Toomey, $43.45, for damage occasioned by employees of the Water Service in shutting off water at premises No. 420 Summer street, East Boston.

SPEEDERS MUST FURNISH BOND.

A ruling has been established by the Indianapolis police that henceforth no person arrested for violating the automobile speed laws shall be released without first furnishing bond in the sum of not less than $100. The city has had no trouble with persons jumping their bonds, but the police believe if speed law violators are obliged to pay a visit to police headquarters and be subjected to the inconvenience of having to furnish bond there will be more hesitancy about breaking the laws.

FINANCE COMMISSION.

BOSTON, November 1, 1911.

HON. JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor:

SIR,—On October 14, 1911, your Honor requested the Finance Commission to investigate and report upon the collapse of a building at the corner of Hanover and Battery streets, Boston, on October 10, 1911, which resulted in the death of three men, in order that responsibility for the accident might be determined and means devised to prevent a recurrence of similar accidents hereafter.

The cause of the collapse has been investigated by the engineer for the commission, Mr. Guy C. Emerson, and his report, with sketches showing the conditions prior to the collapse, is submitted herewith.

The placing of responsibility upon all who contributed to the accident is difficult, if not impossible, as the principal witness, Joseph Adolph, the builder, is dead, having been killed by the collapse of the building. If he were living, his version of the accident and its causes might show that others shared with him primary responsibility for the accident.

The cause of the accident is not in dispute; it was due to the attempt to support a great weight by a column which rested on a pier that had been constructed of materials of insufficient strength and in an unworkmanlike manner. It was primarily due to the ignorance or recklessness of the builder, Joseph Adolph, who had charge of the construction. He could have had the pier built in a workmanlike manner of good stone blocks, laid in Portland cement, for practically the same cost as that of the faulty pier.

The owner of the building, Louis Weinberg, is the living witness of his relations with Joseph Adolph, the builder. His contract with the builder seems to have provided for sufficient money to construct the building of proper materials and in a proper manner, and it provides that the building shall be constructed in conformity with the building laws. He stated to the Finance Commission that he knew Adolph was not an architect, but that he had complete confidence in him and never heard anything regarding his building operations which would cause him to doubt his ability. He stated that his confidence was so great that he visited the building only two or three times during its construction. The Finance Commission has been informed that Adolph was a teamster, or expressman, up to about fourteen years ago and that he had not had any training up to that time which would specially fit him for the work of building, or supervising the construction of buildings; he has, however, been engaged in building operations since that time, generally in partnership with a competent builder. Mr. Adolph did not have the aid of an architect's supervision of the construction, as the architect was employed only to draw a plan which would pass muster at the Building Department. The law does not require the owner to provide an architect's supervision and apparently Weinberg believed it unnecessary, owing to his confidence in the builder. The results indicate that the builder was incompetent or reckless; but there is nothing to show that the owner had reason to believe that the builder would attempt to construct the pier in question in an improper manner and consequently the owner should not be held responsible for the accident.

The building inspector, Edwin H. Oliver, stated to the commission that the pier was constructed on or about the 15th of August, on a day when he did not visit the premises. He said that the builder told him that it was built of block stone, similar to that which had been laid in the wall extending back from Battery street and which had been properly constructed. It is known now that this statement, if made, was false; but the inspector says that there was a large granite block on the top of the masonry which was to support the column and that he took the builder's word that the rest of the masonry was of good construction. He could see only the top, as the pier was built in a hole and earth had been filled in around the pier prior to his visit. He knew that this pier was intended to support a column which would carry a load of about fifty-five tons, and that safety demanded a well-constructed pier of good materials to carry the column, but he said that he was satisfied with the appearance of the top of the pier and took the builder's word that it was well constructed throughout. Excavation, which would have taken perhaps an hour or two and would have cost the owner less than $1, would have permitted the inspector to examine the sides of the pier and to discover its weakness; but he said that he did not consider inspection necessary. Like the owner, he had confidence in the builder and confidence took the place of thorough inspection.

It now appears that the granite block, which the inspector saw on the top of the pier, was subsequently removed and that it was replaced by either four or five courses of brick, which, however, did not cover the entire upper surface of the pier. On the top of the pier there was a cast-iron plate, 16 inches square and 1 inch thick, upon which the column directly rested. This brick pier, resting on the top of the masonry pier, was not as strong a support for the column as the granite block it replaced would have been. If the granite block had remained there would have been no sudden collapse, though the engineer of the commission believes the pier would have gradually settled and would have collapsed ultimately, owing to the poor materials which were used and to the faulty manner of its construction. It seems that the iron column was too long, and that instead of cutting the column down to fit the granite block, or chiselling off the block to fit the column, the block was removed, and the brick pier, which was not so high as the granite block, was used instead, as a support for the column. This was done to save time or expense, or both. The inspector states that the taking away of the granite block and the substitution of the brick pier took place after the time when he had seen the granite block on top of the pier. He also states that the column was set on the pier in his absence. He says that he saw no brick pier, as the plate was set and smoothed up with cement; and he did not know that the granite block had been removed. So far as the commission knows, all these changes may have taken place on the same day. He thinks the column was set on the 27th of August. His records show that he visited the premises on the 26th and the 28th of August, but there is no record of a visit on the 27th. The column remained in place therefore from August 27th to October 10th, the date of the collapse, or forty-four days, but the commission knows of no apparent settling of the pier or other circumstances which took place in these forty-four days which would have given the inspector any warning as to the safety of the building. During these forty-four days the weight of the superstructure resting on the pier was constantly increasing as the building progressed, and rainfall softened the earth around the pier thereby decreasing its power of resistance.

The inspector is an architect of twenty-five years' experience in connection with buildings, and seems competent. His district is large and his duties are more than one man can perform efficiently. His district begins at Central Wharf on Atlantic avenue, follows a line through Milk street, to Washington, to School, to Beacon, to Joy, to Cambridge street, to the Charles river, and around by the waterfront to Central Wharf, taking in all the territory between these lines. He states that there were about 150 buildings in process of construction in his district at the time the building at the corner of Hanover and Battery streets was being erected, and that he was expected to cover his entire district once a week if possible. This means about twenty-five buildings a day; hence, in many cases, casual inspection.

These circumstances go far to relieve the inspector from responsibility for the collapse of the building. He cannot be blamed for his failure to visit the building on the day when the pier was built, or the day when the column was set in place, for he had more than enough work to occupy him elsewhere. But in the opinion of the commission he should have demanded that an excavation be made so that he could examine the sides of the pier. If this had been done the pier could have been rebuilt and there would have been no collapse. The circumstances justified putting the builder to the slight expense and inconvenience of the excavation. The builder had deviated from the plan filed at the Building Commissioner's office, by providing a single column at the corner of the building, instead of two columns a few feet apart, as shown on the plan. The inspector knew that no amended plan had been filed and that no permit for the changed construction had been granted; in other words, that this part of the structure had been erected without authority of law. He knew also that the plans which were filed were defective, because they failed to show essential details of construction; that no specifications were filed with the plans; that no architect had been employed to superintend the construction; and that the builder, a former expressman, was not an architect, nor a man specially trained for the business of erecting such buildings.

Custom seems to permit an inspector to use his discretion in regard to such omissions and corrections, but this seems to have been a case where the inspector should have been on his guard. The inspector's testimony as to the class of buildings of which Mr. Adolph was a representative shows that he must have appreciated the need of careful inspection in this district. It is as follows:

"Q. And is it true that in that section the builders have to be watched more carefully than builders in other sections, speaking generally? A. Yes, sir.

"Q. Without attempting to state the cause, you think that is the fact? A. That is the fact. Those builders are without the necessary training to build those buildings, they are men who have been butchers. Mr. Adolph himself was an expressman.

"Q. You mean prior to going into building? A. Prior to going into building; woolen merchants, real estate men, men who have absolutely no definite knowledge of the laws of building. They become owners by payment and builders at the same time; they sublet several portions — several parts — of the work and in many cases you will never see them again. In other words, there is no one on the job to whom the inspector can report the defects or his wishes. He will find a brick mason, or a stone mason, or a carpenter, or a plasterer, each interested only in that part which concerns him. All those buildings in that district lack a general building superintendent.

"Q. There was a builder, however, in this case? A. A builder, yes.

"Q. He didn't stay on the premises all the time? A. Not all the time, he sublet the several parts of the building.

"Q. Where did he go, what other buildings did he have? A. I couldn't answer that question.

"Q. Did he have other buildings to look after? A. He — well, I think he — he was interested in some property that was being built, or is being built, out to Roxbury Crossing way. If I may be allowed —

"Q. Had he been a carpenter or a mason himself, as far as you know? A. I have been told that he knew little about brickwork or masonry.

"Q. He was not an architect? A. He was not.

"Q. You distinguish that kind of a man from a man who is regularly employed in the occupation of a builder? A. Yes. The same condition exists in the district to-day.

"Q. That is, he is a builder by chance or by accident? A. By chance, by ownership. Men of that type in that district buy a piece of land and build — become a builder."

If, under these circumstances, the inspector was not justified in putting the builder to slight expense and inconvenience, in order to satisfy himself of the safety of the structure, it may as well be understood plainly that hereafter no builder need trouble himself to file amended plans or specifications, and to wait for permission to construct in a new way more profitable to him than the already authorized way, but that he may change the plan of his piers and foundation walls at will and execute his new plan with impunity, providing his piers or walls look all right on top and their sides have been concealed by filling in around them with earth or other materials. If this is to be the policy of the Building Department, the safety of the public will depend hereafter wholly upon the intelligence and the integrity of the builders, for there will be no practical restraint upon the ignorant or the reckless.

The commission believes that in all cases involving the foundations of buildings, the supports for columns and other parts of the structure which involve the safety of the future tenants, or the public, no such precaution as was omitted in the present case should be omitted hereafter. This does not mean that every trifling change in plan or construction should be compelled to await the inspection and approval of the Building Department officials, and that all work should stop meanwhile, but only that in the essentials of safe construction no reasonable precaution be omitted. The distinction between non-essentials and essentials should be clear to architects, builders and the Building Department officials — in short to all upon whom responsibility for human safety in building construction depends.

The officials of the Building Department whose duty it is to inspect plans are not entirely free from blame in this case. The examination and the approval of the plans for this building were entirely perfunctory. The Supervisor of Plans states that his assistant approved the plans and that he accepted his judgment; that afterwards the Building Commissioner authorized the permit. The permit never should have been granted. The supervisor now says that if he had examined the plans himself he would not have approved them. The plans are almost entirely barren of details of construction, in fact the architect who drew them stated that they were simply sketches. They show that two columns were to be placed at the corner of the building between the first and second floors, but they do not show upon what the columns are intended to rest. Presumably they were to rest on the foundation of the building, but if the plans were carried out one of the columns would rest on nothing, for there is an opening in the foundation wall directly under the spot where the bottom of this column appears on the plan. Presumably also the walls of the building were to rest on new foundations, as the plans seemed to provide for a new building and the permit was for a new building. But in fact there were old foundation walls on three sides of the building and the owner and the builder intended to erect the walls upon these old foundations. No specifications were filed with the plans, though this should be an absolute requirement in every building such as the one under consideration, in which there were to be eight living apartments with stores on the street floor. Here, as in the inspection of the building, confidence seems to have been the foundation of things.

The questions raised in your Honor's communication to the commission, respecting the organization of the Building Department, the proper amount to be appropriated, the licensing of builders, and the increase of the revenues of the department by the establishment of fees for inspection of buildings, cannot be answered without further investigation. The commission believes such investigation should be made and will undertake it at an early date. For the present the commission points out that the receipts of the department may be substantially increased without any change in the law, by means of a regulation which can be made by the Building Commissioner with the approval of the Mayor, under the authority of chapter 571 of the Acts of 1910, an act which the Finance Commission petitioned for and the Legislature enacted. Section 1 of this act is as follows:

"The heads of the various departments of the city of Boston may establish, subject to the approval of the mayor, reasonable fees or charges for the issuance of permits and licenses by said departments: provided, however, that the charge for a permit to make excavations in any street or sidewalk shall not exceed fifty cents."

Under this act a reasonable fee can be charged for issuing and recording permits, and the commission believes the reasonable cost of examining plans and specifications as a preliminary to the granting of the permit may be taken into account in fixing the fee. The Building Department in the year 1910-11 issued 19,097 permits of various kinds, and if fees had been established, graded according to the service required as a preliminary to the granting of the permit, a sum sufficient to pay ten additional inspectors could have been collected last year without hardship to the builders. The Street Department and the Public Works Department have collected under the terms of this act since May 26, 1910, when it went into effect, $39,167.08; the Wire Department has collected $2,746.50; the Health Department, $725; making a total of $42,638.58 for these three departments; but no other department has taken advantage of the act. In other cities, such as Denver, Indianapolis and Los Angeles enough is received in fees in the building departments to make them self-supporting. (See Finance Commission Reports, Vol. V., pp. 28, 29.) The service rendered by a building department should not be paid for wholly by the taxpayers generally, but a substantial portion of the cost should be borne by the individuals engaged in building operations. There is no excuse whatever for an insufficient number of building inspectors, if the department believes there should be more. This act affords a means of increasing the receipts of the department, and it could pay out of such receipts the cost of the permit division, thus allowing the employment of additional inspectors, out of the regular appropriations.

CONCLUSIONS.

1. The builder was primarily responsible for the collapse of the building at the corner of Hanover and Battery streets on October 10, 1911.

2. The owner was not responsible for the collapse.

3. The building inspector failed to make efficient inspection and is therefore secondarily responsible, though his record of faithful service and the fact that he was given more work than he could do well may justly be urged in extenuation.

4. The Building Department as a whole was also secondarily responsible. It permitted a system to exist which required the inspector to do more than he could do properly. It allowed the inspector to exercise his discretion as to permitting changes in construction involving the safety of structures, without first having an amended plan filed with and approved by the Building Commissioner. Furthermore, in this case the department's inspection of the plans was perfunctory and useless, and there was no request by the department for the filing of specifications. These latter faults, however, while they might have resulted in an accident, cannot be said to be a direct cause of the accident which occurred, as it was due to the collapse of a structure which was a departure from the plans.

5. A bad condition has grown up in the building practice in certain parts of the city, whereby a class of men, not fitted for such work, undertake large operations involving the safety of many people.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

1. The building inspector should be disciplined for his fault and for the good of the service.

2. The Building Department should require proper plans and specifications for all buildings of importance, and no departures which are substantial or which involve the safety of tenants or the public should be allowed until amended plans have been filed and approved and sufficient opportunity for inspection has been afforded.

3. The Building Department should require all plans to show essential details of construction and should examine the premises before issuing a permit.

4. The Building Commissioner, subject to the approval of the Mayor, should prepare and establish a schedule of fees for permits, under the provisions of chapter 571 of the Acts of 1910.

5. Additional inspectors should then be appointed if deemed necessary by the Building Commissioner and the Mayor.

6. No additional appropriation for the department should be asked for none is needed.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

BOSTON, October 18, 1911.

HON. JOHN A. SULLIVAN,

Chairman Finance Commission:

DEAR SIR,—I submit herewith report of the results of my examination regarding the building at the corner of Hanover and Battery streets, a portion of which collapsed on October 10, causing the death of three men.

The owner of the building is Louis Weinburg of Maplewood, Mass., and the contractor for the construction was Joseph Adolph, one of the victims of the accident.

The building occupies the space of two older buildings, one a brick building formerly on the corner of Battery and Hanover streets and the adjoining wooden building on Battery street. The foundations are very largely the old foundations of the corner building, a new back wall being erected for the extension on Battery street. The building was five stories high, of second class construction, and designed as an apartment house in the upper stories, with a store on the first floor. The walls were 12-inch brickwork. It appears that the original building at the corner of Battery and Hanover streets had a round corner, while the present building was built with a square corner above the ground floor. This change necessitated additional foundations at the corner for the support of the building. Such support was furnished by a hollow, cast-iron column, 7 inches in outside diameter, with walls 1 inch thick and 11½ feet in length; the upper end having a capital 1 foot square cast as a portion of the column. The lower end rested upon a cast-iron plate 16 inches square and approximately 1 inch in thickness, which, in turn, rested upon a masonry pier, approximately 4 feet square at the base, located outside of the old cellar wall, constructed of rubble stone masonry with a capping of four courses of brickwork, upon which the cast-iron base plate directly rested. The details of construction are shown, so far as they could be determined at the time of my examination, by the sketch herewith appended.

The plans for the building, as approved by M. W. Fitzsimmons, Superintendent of Plans, on file at the office of the Building Department, do not show any drawing of the proposed new foundation pier or any indication of the design according to which it was proposed to build, although the second-story plan shows two 5-inch Lalley columns, the object of which is not clear, as there is nothing to show with what they were to be connected at their upper ends, or the foundation upon which they were to rest at their lower ends. The actual construction shows that it was intended that a total weight of about forty-seven tons was to be supported upon the 7-inch column, as shown on the sketch hereto appended. This weight would have increased later to about fifty-five tons, on account of the live load of 50 pounds per square foot allowed by the building laws for such construction. The foundation pier was not built full size and was not symmetrical on account of limited space due to old foundation walls which were not removed. Moreover, the pier was loaded eccentrically, the base plate being near the easterly edge of the pier.

An analysis of the construction shows a number of defects which must have contributed to the accident, either in themselves, or by combination with other defects. The cast-iron column, even with the base as constructed, was perhaps of sufficient strength to have supported the necessary load upon it had it been centrally loaded. As a matter of fact it also was eccentrically loaded and therefore it was probable that the greater portion of the load was concentrated upon one side of the column and upon a comparatively small area of the footing plate. That such was the fact is indicated by an examination of the bottom of the column and the broken plate. The bottom of the column is considerably rounded at one edge and the broken plate is also rounded, indicating a probability that a concentration of the load took place beyond the actual shearing strength of the cast-iron plate. Another reasonable theory as to the cause of the breaking of the base plate is that the plate had an uneven bearing on the masonry pier, which caused bending and final fracture in the plate.

On account of the insufficient thickness of the plate and the imperfect construction of its foundation, failure was sure to occur from one or the other of the causes given, and the particular cause of failure is not important.

As regards the masonry pier, the building laws provide that for such construction the mortar shall be no poorer than one part natural cement, one part lime, and four parts sand. (See section 15, clause C of chapter 550 of the Acts of 1907). This mixture in itself is a very poor one and structures built with such mortar should be allowed considerable time to thoroughly harden before the weight is placed upon them. The mortar in which the masonry of the pier was laid was evidently no better than the quality allowed by law. It apparently contained natural cement, lime and a very large proportion of sand. The lime showed a streaky appearance, indicating that it was not thoroughly slaked before being incorporated in the mortar.

It does not seem probable that the section of the statute referred to contemplated the use of such a grade of mortar in a structure buried in wet ground, as the one under discussion was, and it is probable that the law intended that such mortar should be used in foundation walls, one face of which, at least, should be exposed to the air. Natural cement in itself is a material whose use has been abandoned for important structures, and the addition of lime and such a large percentage of sand as was used in this case would destroy its hydraulic properties and prevent the mortar hardening in wet ground.

The pier in question was built during August of the present year, and the mortar at the time of the accident had shown very little indication of hardening, as might have been expected. It was practically of no value in strengthening the masonry.

The masonry, instead of being good quality of squared stone, as contemplated in the building laws for such cases, was an extremely poor quality of rubble masonry without any attempt at bonding, so far as could be determined. It was composed of broken pieces of granite, irregular pieces of bluestone, and various similar materials, including some rounded field stones. The cap of brickwork was composed of apparently good material, although laid in the quality of mortar already described, without any attempt at bonding, so far as could be determined. The space in which the pier was built was confined to a corner in the old foundation and the pier was also eccentrically loaded, the plate being placed very near one edge as already stated. The proposed use of brickwork as a capping for the pier was faulty design and a single piece of dressed granite should have been used in such an important position.

There was no base to the column beyond the cast-iron plate already mentioned, and the column rested directly on the plate with no attempt to fasten the foot of the column in any way to the pier. Neither was there any bolting of the top of the column to the steel beams supporting the superstructure of the building, as required by law. (See Acts of 1907, chapter 550, section 27). At the time of failure it appeared that the foot of the column passed directly through the iron plate, shearing out a portion of the plate and breaking it into five pieces, as shown in the accompanying sketch. The center portion of the plate remained under the column and was found under the bottom of the column, which had settled about 4 feet through the masonry of the pier, or through the joint between the pier and the old foundation. It was not possible to tell if any movement had taken place in the pier, the pier being so loosely constructed as to make it impossible to determine whether the stones removed at the time of examination were portions of the pier or other loose stones. There was, however, evidence that the old cellar wall had been cracked and pushed in, but whether it was the result of the accident or some other cause cannot be determined. It is probable that the column in passing through the pier spread the stonework in the directions of least resistance. There was no evidence of any bond in the stonework, as already stated, and only one small stone showed any evidence of fracture, so far as observed.

To summarize:

1. The plans were incomplete and did not show essential details of construction, notably the pier and column in question.
2. The design, so far as can be determined from the construction, was faulty, both as regards the column and its supporting pier.
3. The construction was faulty, both as regards workmanship and materials.

CONCLUSIONS.

Had the pier been properly constructed of the best quality of masonry, it is probable that no great settlement would have occurred, although the margin of safety with the column as designed would have been small. It is clear that the footing of the column was of defective design. The pier itself, due to imperfect materials and equally imperfect methods of construction, was totally unable to bear the weight placed upon it and the actual cause of the failure may have been due either to the poor design, as already indicated, or to poor workmanship, or to a combination of the two.

It is also reasonably certain that had the column been supported by a heavy cast-iron base, such as is common in such construction, of sufficient area to distribute properly the load, even with the defective construction in the pier, there would have been no sudden collapse such as did take place, although a gradual settlement might have been anticipated.

A sketch showing a conventional design for a base plate to be used with a cast-iron column under such conditions as those reported upon is herewith appended.

PLAN TO BOND AUTO DRIVERS.

Mayor W. W. Zimmerman of Richmond, Ind., has a plan to cope with the reckless auto drivers. Says he: "I favor a law to repeal the present speed laws and provide that the owner of every automobile when registering his machine and receiving a number from the secretary of state shall be compelled to file bond in a penal sum of not less than $5,000. In case the automobile injures a citizen of this state action on the bond may be taken. I believe this would be the means of reducing the number of reckless and incompetent drivers to the minimum. Under the existing laws the incompetent driver is responsible for more accidents to pedestrians than the speeder."

Fifteen years ago Moscow started a city pawnshop. Since then it has lent more than $27,000,000 on nearly 7,000,000 articles left in pawn.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Thursday, October 26, 1911.

Special meeting of the City Council, held for the purpose of drawing jurors, in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at twelve o'clock m., President COLLINS in the chair and a quorum present. Jurors were drawn (the Mayor present) in accordance with the provisions of chapter 514, Acts of 1894, viz.:

Fourteen petit jurors, United States Circuit Court, to appear November 8, 1911:

George O. Stone, Ward 25; David Hammond, Ward 20; Herbert S. Litchfield, Ward 12; Edward L. Woods, Ward 1; John J. Feeney, Ward 13; Jesse H. Pierce, Ward 10; Thomas A. Noon, Ward 23; Andrew Casey, Ward 25; Frederick F. Ford, Ward 16; James D. Henderson, Ward 20; John W. Hennerty, Ward 2; George W. Smith, Ward 18; William A. Troy, Ward 16; Thomas F. Kiernan, Ward 20.

Thirty-five traverse jurors, Superior Civil Court, First Session, October Sitting, to appear November 13, 1911:

Hugh Bradford, Ward 22; Michael J. Hennessy, Ward 17; Patrick W. McNally, Ward 12; William J. Finnegan, Ward 23; Prospero Astrella, Ward 2; Bartholomew F. Roach, Ward 20; Thomas F. Phillips, Ward 20; John P. Donnelly, Ward 9; Dennis Conley, Ward 17; Henry Hambro, Ward 20; Edward L. Byrne, Ward 20; Daniel J. Chapman, Ward 16; George L. Peirce, Ward 22; James D. Ennis, Ward 12; Robert E. Wall, Ward 20; Gordon S. Donnan, Ward 15; Joseph F. Downey, Ward 18; William A. Rich, Ward 8; Stephen Ballas, Ward 15; Vincent Fogarty, Ward 15; Ralph W. Tolman, Ward 23; John E. McConlogue, Ward 3; William H. Seabury, Ward 11; Levi W. Dorsey, Ward 12; John A. O'Neill, Ward 5; Frederick A. Cadwell, Ward 25; John H. Carr, Ward 16; Daniel Boyle, Ward 9; Bertwell E. Whitten, Ward 20; Thomas F. Power, Ward 5; Thomas J. Pearson, Ward 13; William P. Cross, Ward 9; Frank Gogard, Ward 12; John M. Lehan, Ward 19; Irving E. Dale, Ward 12.

Thirty-five traverse jurors, Superior Civil Court, Second Session, October Sitting, to appear November 13, 1911:

Frank A. Osgood, Ward 23; Charles E. Parmelee, Ward 11; Walter Young, Ward 23; Daniel D. Cadagan, Ward 20; George F. Gammell, Ward 23; Thomas O. Hamilton, Ward 23; Daniel E. Hennessey, Ward 20; Edwin D. Miller, Ward 20; Edward Moore, Ward 8; Frederick H. Mills, Ward 24; George R. Dugad, Ward 15; George F. Gallagher, Ward 15; Daniel W. Colby, Ward 14; Charles Jackson, Ward 11; Charles J. Kaufman, Ward 22; R. Victor Knupfer, Ward 23; Eben F. Perry, Ward 25; Arthur J. Haney, Ward 7; Herbert M. Seaver, Ward 23; Arthur F. Powers, Ward 20; Michael C. Nelsen, Ward 19; James H. Graham, Ward 6; Edward J. Dowling, Ward 15; George M. Baker, Ward 17; Louis E. Allen, Ward 9; Christian H. Kaplinger, Ward 23; George F. Calhoun, Ward 3; Michael J. Moynihan, Ward 1; Frederick S. Baxter, Ward 20; Eric Adler, Ward 24; William J. Fitzgerald, Ward 20; James A. Flag, Ward 10; Charles H. Fitzgerald, Ward 4; Michael J. Dever, Ward 13; John T. O'Neill, Ward 8.

Thirty-five traverse jurors, Superior Civil Court, Third Session, October Sitting, to appear November 13, 1911:

Henry Tucker, Ward 24; Richard Connors, Ward 18; Samuel P. Brady, Ward 4; Robert E. May, Ward 12; Peter E. Kelley, Ward 22; Alexander Moore, Jr., Ward 14; Nathaniel F. Thayer, Ward 21; Peter Larkin, Ward 2; Edward L. Baxter, Ward 1; Eugene H. Vallee, Ward 21; Theodore J. Cromar, Ward 20; Hiram M. Couch, Ward 10; Frank E. Coombs, Ward 20; Albert F. Schmitt, Ward 23; Patrick McDermott, Ward 3; Ernest W. Kindred, Ward 14; Jeremiah Conway, Ward 17; Melbourne W. Frethey, Ward 24; Charles W. Noyes, Ward 25; Timothy J. Quinlan, Ward 21; Charles M. Flag, Ward 10; James D. McLellan, Ward 16; William A. O'Neill, Ward 5; Peter R. Peterson, Ward 23; Robert H. Marsh, Ward 9; Abraham Lazarus, Ward 17; Charles A. Burnham, Ward 20; George Roberts, Ward 23; Isaac H. Fish, Ward 21; Michael J. Doyle, Ward 14; George Edgar Pope, Ward 24; Byron L. Hill, Ward 24; William H. Smith, Ward 15; Joseph B. Horton, Ward 20; Nathan H. Dole, Ward 23.

Thirty-five traverse jurors, Superior Civil Court, Fourth Session, October Sitting, to appear November 13, 1911:

Edward Murray, Ward 21; Peter M. Gorman, Ward 20; Scott C. Carbee, Ward 10; Fred S. Charles, Ward 12; William E. Wyman, Ward 1; LeRoy H. Crandall, Ward 21; William E. Morris, Ward 4; Arthur W. Regular meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at three o'clock p. m., President COLLINS in the chair, and all the members present.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. CURLEY, to dispense with the reading of the records of the last meeting.

ACCEPTANCE OF CHAPTER 367.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 23, 1911.
To the City Council:

I beg to recommend the acceptance by your honorable body of chapter 367 of the Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to the Use of School Halls for Other than School Purposes."

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.
Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

BUILDING LIMITS.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 27, 1911.
To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a letter from Thomas F. Doherty, of the Eastern Grocery Company, requesting that an opportunity be given to the people of Dorchester to enter their protest before the ordinance is passed by the City Council, extending the building limits to the entire city. While one hearing has already been held, the matter is of great importance and I suggest that it might be satisfactory to a great many citizens if an opportunity for a full expression of opinion were granted them.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Eastern Grocery Company,
274 Blue Hill Avenue,
October 26, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I sincerely hope the people of Dorchester may have an opportunity to enter their protest before the ordinance is passed by the City Council extending the building limits to the entire city.

No class of people more than yours and mine have enjoyed and appreciated the difference between the tenement house district of Boston and the open space, light and air from the character of buildings in the Dorchester district.

It will be far better to hear protests now than a universal condemnation which is sure to arise from all the suburban districts if this ordinance is passed.

What we need is an up-to-date Fire Department. You would find it very inconvenient to ride to the City Hall behind horses now, and it is strange that the Fire Department continues to use the old fashioned method of horse power.

Every hydrant in Dorchester has power enough to play over any building in the district, and an automobile hose cart with two or three men can get to a fire quickly within its zone and extinguish it before much damage is done.

Boston has been standing still for ten years in many ways and will continue to do so until up-to-date methods are employed.

Respectfully yours,
THOMAS F. DOHERTY.
Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

ESTABLISHMENT OF CONVENIENCE STATIONS.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 27, 1911.
To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the secretary of the Health Department to the secretary to the Mayor, recommending that convenience stations be established at Roxbury Crossing, Dover and Washington streets, Dock square, Broadway and Dorchester street, Upham's Corner and City square, and that the present station on Flagstaff Hill be replaced by a larger one underground. The communication states that the appropriation already made for convenience stations will provide for the first five stations on this list and suggests that the remaining two, the cost of which is estimated at $22,000, be provided for from the income of the Parkman Fund.

As there may be some question, however, whether this is a proper use of the Parkman Fund, and the appropriations already recommended by me would almost exhaust the income of the fund now in the hands of the City Treasurer, I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the stated amount from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for convenience stations at City square and at or near Park square. The improvement is an important one and I trust that speedy action will be taken by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,

In City Council, October 27, 1911.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-two thousand dollars ($22,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds in conjunction with the Board of Health for convenience stations at City square and at or near Park square. Referred to the Executive Committee.

CHELSEA BRIDGE NORTH.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 23, 1911.

To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from the Commissioner of Public Works presents what seems to be a final solution of the problem relating to the construction of a satisfactory bridge across the north channel of Mystic river between Boston and Chelsea.

According to the statements of Commissioner Rourke, for the sum of $425,000 a bridge can be constructed which will provide two waterways, each of a width of 125 feet, one of which will be located so as to utilize the present channel, while the other will be in the more desirable situation preferred by many interested parties. It is believed that the construction of a double waterway will not only serve better the navigation interests up the river by avoiding in part the currents at the present location, but will conduce to an earlier widening of the channel. It will also diminish the number of openings necessary by making it possible for two vessels to pass in opposite directions at the same time, and thus present less hindrance to traffic across the bridge. As the present steel draw span and masonry pier can form part of the permanent structure when it is built, the cost of that structure will be reduced by nearly the amount invested in the present draw. The cost of erecting a short temporary bridge on the downstream side of the present structure is included in the estimate.

While the carrying out of these plans involves an additional appropriation of $175,000, it is understood that, according to the terms of chapter 581 of the Acts of 1911, Boston will be reimbursed for such portion of the cost as may be assessed upon other municipalities, and upon railways which, in the judgment of a commission to be appointed by the Supreme Court, will receive benefit from the improvement. The initial outlay, in other words, is not final, but is subject to an abatement the exact amount of which cannot be accurately determined at the present time.

A copy of this communication has been sent to the War Department in order that an extension of the time allowed for completing the bridge may be obtained, and it is believed that there will be no difficulty in securing this postponement as well as the necessary approval of the national authorities for the proposed plan.

I would request your honorable body to give earnest and immediate attention to this subject, which has already, for one reason or another, been held in abeyance for a long time.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
October 21, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

On June 3, 1910, the Secretary of War ruled that the Chelsea Bridge across the main or north channel of Mystic river "is an unreasonable obstruction to the free navigation of the said Mystic river (which is one of the navigable waterways of the United States), on account of insufficient width of draw opening and unsatisfactory location of the draw span," and ordered that the clear width of the draw opening be increased to not less than 100 feet and as much more as might be practicable without interfering with the existing tunnel or conduit of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Board under the present opening.

On August 1, 1910, his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald requested the Secretary of War to approve a plan for a temporary bridge on the downstream or easterly side of the existing bridge, this temporary bridge being intended to provide for traffic over a period of fifteen or twenty years, or until such time as a bridge of permanent construction could be built on the line of the existing bridge.

The temporary bridge was to have a lift draw, with a single channel 125 feet wide in the clear, and the channel through the existing bridge was to be widened to a width of 100 feet in the clear, as much as the present tunnel of the Metropolitan Water Works will allow.

Authority to build this temporary bridge was obtained from the Secretary of War on September 3, 1910. Work was not begun upon this proposed temporary bridge in 1910 as no appropriation therefor was made. Under the law as it existed at that time a very large proportion of the cost of construction and practically the whole cost of the maintenance of Chelsea Bridge was paid by the City of Boston and the small remainder by the city of Chelsea.

The bridge is largely used by the inhabitants of other communities and by public service corporations, notably a street railway company, all of whom derive great benefit from the bridge, and it was the belief of officials of Boston that all communities and corporations benefited should justly share in the expense of construction of this bridge.

The rebuilding of the structure was delayed to enable this city to appeal to the Legislature of 1911 for relief from its seemingly unjust burden of expense, and the time for the completion of the work, which had originally been fixed by the Secretary of War as June 30, 1911, was upon request of the city officials extended to October 31, 1911, to enable the city to seek the desired legislation.

A bill was prepared by the Corporation Counsel of Boston, and introduced into the Legislature, to authorize the City of Boston to construct, reconstruct and repair certain bridges between Boston and Chelsea, Winthrop and Everett (including the Chelsea Bridge), and providing that when work is done by the City of Boston upon any of the bridges named a commission may be appointed to apportion the cost upon the cities and towns and street railway corporations benefited, and empowered the City of Boston to collect from the cities, towns and street railway companies the amounts apportioned to them by this commission.

The bill as originally drawn included the Winthrop Bridge between East Boston and Winthrop and the Malden Bridge between Boston and Everett, but before passage the bill was amended, striking out these two bridges, so the law as it stands applies to the Chelsea Bridge between Charlestown and Chelsea and the Meridian Street and Chelsea Street Bridges between East Boston and Chelsea. This act was approved June 22, 1911.

On August 24, 1911, the City Council passed a loan order appropriating $250,000 "for the construction of a temporary bridge across the north channel of the Mystic river between the cities of Boston and Chelsea, said bridge to be built in conjunction with the city of Chelsea, under the statutes governing said joint construction, and to serve in place of the present structure known as 'Chelsea Bridge North.'"

Representatives of the City of Chelsea, at legislative hearings and at conferences with Boston officials, have objected strenuously to the proposed temporary bridge at one side of the present structure, which for fifteen or twenty years would divert travel from the direct route of the existing bridge; and they especially object to being forced to contribute towards such a structure, which they claim will be an obstruction to highway travel.

The United States Government has just completed the dredging of a channel 30 feet deep and 300 feet wide, extending a distance of more than one-half mile above the Chelsea North Bridge. This channel as already dredged would accommodate some of the largest steamers now entering this port if a proper opening through the bridge were provided. It is understood that further improvements of the channel above the bridge are in contemplation.

The navigation interests claim that the draw channel of the present bridge is not in a proper location and that it is extremely difficult to take large boats through the bridge on account of the velocity and direction of the current which at present runs counterwise to the draw channel. The navigation interests urge that a new channel be provided at midstream.

Although the Secretary of War has required that the existing channel of the Chelsea Bridge be widened, he recognizes "the unsatisfactory location of the draw span." It is apparent that the navigation interests are justified in asking for a new channel near the middle of the river, and were such a channel afforded them, the river would accommodate shipping, which could use the widened channel in the existing location only at considerable inconvenience and some danger to vessels.

The state, by the authorization of the new dock board and the appropriation of $9,000,000 for harbor improvements, has attacked the problem of the development of this port along broad lines, and it is felt that the city for its own good should cooperate in this movement by attacking its bridge problems in an equally broad way.

After an exhaustive study of the whole problem, taking account of all interests involved, the Public Works Department has prepared a plan which seems to meet all objections, and to solve the problem in an economical manner satisfactory to all interests.

This plan contemplates building, on the line of the present bridge, a new large swing draw span, which will provide two waterways through the bridge, each 125 feet wide and thirty feet deep. One of these waterways is substantially the widening of the present waterway, and is needed in order to properly connect with the channel already dredged by the government above the bridge. The other waterway will become available for the largest steamers entering this port just as soon as the government authorities do the small amount of dredging necessary to widen the existing channel up river. Provision is to be made for the deepening of both waterways through the bridge to thirty-five feet whenever the channel up river is dredged to that depth.

The draw span is to be of steel and is to be built upon a masonry pier and both will form part of the permanent steel and masonry bridge to be built in the future.

The second or southerly waterway to be provided is exactly at the middle of the river and in such a position as will well meet the requirements of navigation. The cross currents now present in the river at each run of tide, due largely to the obstructions of the shoals beneath the present pile bridge, will undoubtedly disappear when the dredging in connection with the proposed reconstruction is carried out.

The two waterways through the bridge will greatly aid navigation in permitting vessels to pass in opposite directions at a single operation of the draw span. By this means the number of times the draw is to be opened will be reduced, with the result that there will also be much less interruption and delay to traffic passing over the bridge than there would be if the draw were built with a single waterway.

To care for traffic during the construction of the permanent draw a short temporary bridge will be built in the downstream side of the present structure, this bridge to be in service for the few months necessary for the construction of the permanent work.

This scheme of rebuilding utilizes the existing pile bridge as far as possible; and although the outlay at the present time is greater than that for the temporary bridge previously proposed, this plan will effect a material saving in ultimate cost when the remainder of the permanent steel and masonry bridge shall be built on this site.

The estimated cost of the proposed bridge as outlined is $425,000, which cost will be apportioned between Boston and the towns benefited. The estimated cost of the so-called temporary bridge was $325,000, $250,000 of which was to be paid by Boston.

For the reasons above cited, I would respectfully request that this subject be re-opened with the War Department and that the necessary authority and money be secured for rebuilding Chelsea North Bridge as outlined above and as per attached plan. Respectfully,

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.
Referred to the Committee on Finance.

EIGHT-HOUR BASIS FOR AMBULANCE DRIVERS.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 17, 1911.

To the City Council:

In reply to your order, passed at the meeting of September 18, requesting the hospital trustees to inform the City Council what additional sum is necessary to place the ambulance drivers employed at the City Hospital upon an eight-hour basis, I transmit herewith a statement from the superintendent of the hospital.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

The Boston City Hospital,
October 16, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I have been directed by Hon. A. Shuman, President of the Board of Trustees, to state that the additional money necessary to place the ambulance drivers employed at the Boston City Hospital upon an eight-hour basis will be $5,208.84.

I remain, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,
JOHN H. McCOLLUM,
Superintendent.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PROPOSED SALE OF PARKMAN BUILDING.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 20, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith correspondence relating to the proposed sale, lease and letting without charge of the Parkman building at 33 Beacon street. The papers contain an offer of $68,000 for this estate, together with land and stable facing on Joy Street place; a request from the Boston Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis, which desires to use the first floor for the sale of National Red Cross Christmas seals, transmitted by Mr. John C. Kiley, and an offer from the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities to take a five-year lease of the property at $1,000 a year with the privilege of renewal for ten years or more.

This activity on the part of persons and societies interested in this estate opens up the question already laid before your honorable body in my message of September 28, 1910, whether this building, which was the home of Mr. Parkman, should not be retained by the city as a memorial to perpetuate his name. No expression of opinion has ever been given by your honorable body upon this point and I feel reluctant to take steps which might involve the rehousing of some of the city departments as well as the creation of a museum or architectural memorial without obtaining your views. I submit the correspondence, therefore, in the hope that you will favor me with your counsel and trust that you will find time to report upon the advantages of the various propositions that have been made.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 18, 1911.
Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I have been offered $68,000 for the estate No. 33 Beacon street, together with the land and stable facing on Joy Street place, the same being the property formerly owned and occupied by the late George F. Parkman and now owned by the City of Boston. The total assessed valuation of the property is $70,000, of which $7,600 is on the buildings and $62,400 on the land, consisting of 3,920 feet. The last offer we had for this property was $67,000, and was refused confirmation by the City Council about a year and a half ago. Since that time the best possible figure I have been able to get is $60,000. I am very much inclined to recommend that we sell for $68,000, rather than maintain the property in its present condition. The offer is made through the firm of E. H. Eldridge & Co., and they are anxious to know at once the decision of the city.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN C. KILEY.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 7, 1911.
Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I inclose herewith a letter from the Boston Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis. They desire to use the first floor of the Parkman building, 33 Beacon street, for the sale of National Red Cross Christmas seals, having been appointed agent by that organization, the proceeds from the sale to be used in the relief and control of tuberculosis in Boston and other cities and towns of this state.

I think that if we can legally do so, it would be a great help to the association to allow them the use of this property, and it might establish a precedent that would be strong enough to have the City Council appropriate funds to take over this building as municipal property.

Will you please let me know if I may grant the request of the association.

Very truly yours,
JOHN C. KILEY.

Boston, October 5, 1911.

Mr. John C. Kiley,
18 Tremont Street, Boston:

My dear Mr. Kiley,—This association has been appointed by the National Red Cross agents for the sale of the Red Cross Christmas seals in the state of Massachusetts. The proceeds from the sale of these seals are to be used for tuberculosis work in Boston and other cities and towns of the state. We need headquarters as our office is entirely inadequate. We have no room in our building, but city property at 33 Beacon street (Parkman estate) is very convenient to our office, and the front room on the street floor would make an excellent office for this purpose.

It will be necessary for us to have such a place for about three months, from November 1 to February 1. Would it be possible to secure, without charge, quarters at 33 Beacon street? The purpose of this organization is philanthropic, and our efforts are along the lines of preventive tuberculosis, and thus saving expense to the city.

If we can be granted this privilege it will be greatly appreciated by this association, and indirectly will benefit many others.

Yours very truly,
S. H. STONE, Secretary.

Boston, October 16, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Your Honor,—Agreeably to your request of October 13, I send you here a written memorandum of the request of the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities, with regard to the home of the late George Parkman at 33 Beacon street.

This society has set itself the public spirited task of creating for the use of the people, a museum of antiquities, particularly of such as relate to New England. In the short year and a half of its existence it has enrolled over five hundred members. It finds itself badly cramped in quarters which were never intended to be aught but temporary. It has been obliged to decline many gifts on account of lack of space in which to exhibit them. This is a distinct loss to the public, for the collections of such a society are truly public assets. Even the collection of photographs and picture postals of New England, some 800 in number and rapidly growing, cannot be properly shown.

Therefore, the society, through its officers, requests that the City of Boston so far cooperate with it as to permit it the use of the above mentioned George Parkman house, including the stable. There would be excellent precedent for allowing the society the use of a public building rent free (witness the Bostonian Society), but the society only asks to be allowed to lease the building at $1,000 per annum for five years, with privilege of renewal for ten or more years. This rental practically amounts to keeping the estate on the tax lists, for it is about what Mr. Parkman was paying in taxes. The society would maintain the building and turn it back in as good condition as it received it. The society would also maintain in the building a museum open free to the public. Moreover, it would gladly maintain in it a suitable memorial to Mr. George Parkman, a project which would undoubtedly appeal to all Bostonians.

On the other hand, the society would ask to be allowed to sublet such parts of the property as it could not profitably use. At the start this might be as much as two of the upper floors, but before long the society would doubtless use all. Should the rentals from subletting by any chance exceed the rental paid the city by the society, it suggests that such excess rental be divided evenly between city and society.

Should the city see fit to grant the society the above outlined lease, the society asks for thirty days in which to raise among its friends a guarantee fund to cover its increased expenses in these new quarters. No difficulty is anticipated in this matter.

However, should the unexpected occur and the society fail to raise the necessary guarantee fund, or should the city not wish to allow the society the lease of the entire building, then the society makes the following request:

It asks to be allowed to lease the entire second floor and stable, for the purpose of a public museum and an office and a suitable memorial to Mr. George Parkman. In consideration of the public service rendered, it asks that the rental for these premises be made very low, say $200 per annum. It asks for a five-year lease with option of renewal for ten or more years, and for as good terms with regard to heating arrangements, etc., as those which may be accorded to other tenants.

I have the honor to be,

Respectfully yours,
WILLIAM S. APPLETON,
Referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

SHELTER AT JAMAICA POND.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 25, 1911.
To the City Council:

I beg to transmit a statement from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners, requesting that an appropriation be made for a shelter house and boat landing at Jamaica Pond. All those who are familiar with this beautiful body of water know that the old boat landing and refreshment booth at this point, while serviceable enough perhaps in the earlier period when the spot was little used, have become entirely inadequate and should be replaced by structures which will increase rather than detract from the attractiveness of the pond. I believe that the sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) might very properly be expended for this purpose and recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring this amount from the Reserve Fund.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Board of Commissioners of the Department of Parks,
Jamaica Plain, Mass., October 23, 1911.
Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At the south end of Jamaica Pond stands a very shabby house for protection of skaters and for the sale of refreshments. The boat landing also* is not worthy of this beautiful site. We have urged the need of a better building there before now, and would ask you again whether it is not possible to give us now an appropriation for this. The large number of skaters using the pond need a good place in which to get warm and for the putting on of skates. Proper toilets are also desirable and if the boating facilities are made attractive there would probably be more boating. Evidently we could expend here almost any amount of money you find it possible to give us, considering its conspicuous position in such a finished neighborhood. We suggest that from $15,000 to $20,000 would be a sum that would produce something very useful and attractive.

Hoping you can see your way to arrange this, I remain,

Yours truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

City of Boston,
In City Council, October 25, 1911.
Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for a shelter and boat landing at Jamaica pond.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

VIOLATION OF EIGHT-HOUR LAW.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 25, 1911.
To the City Council:
In reply to an order passed at the meeting of your honorable body, held October 9, 1911, to the effect "that his Honor the Mayor be requested to call the attention of the Fire Commissioner to chapter 494 of the Acts of 1911, and to ask if said act is not violated in his department," I transmit herewith a statement on the subject from the Fire Commissioner.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Fire Department, October 24, 1911.
Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—Pursuant to an order received from the City Council requesting information as to whether this department is violating chapter 494 of the Acts of 1911, I have the honor to inform you that work in excess of eight hours is required in this department only when necessary for the public safety. Therefore the provisions of this act are not being violated in this department.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES D. DALY,
Fire Commissioner.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I would state that this order was presented at the request of the Firemen's Union, who contended that the men employed in the fire headquarters at Bristol street were working twelve hours a shift; and, since they are interested, I would respectfully move that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee and that the representatives of the union be invited to appear before the committee.

Coun. Curley's motion was carried.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING IN SOUTH BOSTON.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 30, 1911.
To the City Council:

A careful estimate of the cost of the new Municipal Building in South Boston shows that if the present plans are carried out the sum of $20,000 additional will be required. The plan contemplates a structure with a frontage of 100 feet, and a depth of 70 feet, 60 feet in height, with four floors. On the first floor will be a swimming pool, 90 feet by 25 feet, and twenty shower baths. The second floor will be taken up wholly with the court room and the offices connected therewith. The third floor will be devoted to a reading room of the Public Library, and a meeting room about 35 feet square, while the upper floor will be given over wholly to a large assembly hall. The plan seems to me an excellent one, and I shall be sorry to discard any of its useful features. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying loan order appropriating twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) for Municipal Building, South Boston.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
In City Council, October 30, 1911.
Ordered, That the sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) additional be appropriated for Municipal Building, South Boston, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of the city for said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

PORTICO OF OLD COURT HOUSE.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 30, 1911.
To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from the chairman of the special committee appointed to consider the disposition of the portico of the Old Court House requests further time for the consideration of the matter. Under the circumstances it seems to me desirable that this request should be granted. I suggest, however, that since the preservation of this fine bit of early nineteenth century architecture has interested so many citizens, and there is keen competition for it in different quarters, a hearing might be held at which architects and others would have an opportunity to express their opinions. I trust that your honorable body will take this view of the matter and will hold such a hearing perhaps in cooperation with the portico committee.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

20 Beacon Street,
Boston, October 30, 1911.
Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The committee appointed to consider the disposition of the portico of the Old Court House still feels that the Governor's Island site is the one best suited for it, but in case this site is not favored we would suggest as a second best position the Howe Memorial Park, South Boston.

In this event the committee recommends that it be used as the architectural feature of a monument commemorating the great services of Doctor Howe, both for the cause of human freedom and for the amelioration of the condition of the blind.

The portico, while not suitable for a gateway as has been suggested by others, is admirably adapted for use in connection with a monumental statue or group of sculpture. As such it would provide a noble monument in the park that is to commemorate Doctor Howe.

The committee, however, considering the lack of time for more careful consideration, recommends that the portico be stored, as the contract calls for, until the matter can be thoroughly studied.

Respectfully yours,
EDWARD T. P. GRAHAM.

EXTENSION OF ARLINGTON STREET.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, October 30, 1911.

To the City Council:

The final report of the Joint Board on Metropolitan Improvements states "That extension of Arlington street in the form of an ample highway from Castle square to the present Arlington street at Boylston street, by a widening of Ferdinand street, and extension across the vacant land formerly occupied by the Boston & Providence Railroad Station, and through the single row of estates intervening between that land and Boylston street, would be a highway of metropolitan importance and concern."

The report from the Chamber of Commerce, copies of which have been sent to the members of your honorable body, indicates the trend of opinion upon the subject of this improvement. I do not need to emphasize its importance in the development not only of the district adjoining Park square but of a wide zone extending in several directions from the site of the improvement itself.

A definite offer from the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, through its representative, Mr. Laurence Minot, now makes it possible to carry out the extension of this highway at a reasonable cost. The accompanying letter from the secretary of the Street Laying-Out Department estimates the cost of extending Arlington street, from Boylston street to Providence street, at a width of 70 feet, which is the width of the street as laid out across the property of the trust, and of widening Ferdinand street, from 40 feet to 58 feet, from Columbus avenue to Castle square to be $790,000. This does not include the reconstruction of the bridge on Ferdinand street, which in any event is believed to be necessary, and the widening of it to a width in conformity with the increased width of the street, which will probably be about $60,000. As against this cost of $790,000 the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad will make an offset on the damages to its property on Boylston street to any amount that may be assessed up to $270,000, so that the initial outlay for the city will be $520,000. The only conditions are that the city shall take official action before January 1, 1912, and that the damages awarded for the estates at 314-318 Boylston street, purchased by the railroad in order to carry out this extension, shall equal the amount originally paid for these estates, which was $381,550. The railroad also will give to the city the portion of Arlington street which extends across its own land. This offset of $270,000 is intended to cover all betterments on the property of the railroad. It is estimated by the secretary of the Street Laying-Out Department that later benefits, which may be assessed on the estates along Boylston street within the prescribed radius from Arlington street, will amount to about $120,000.

That this street must be cut through sooner or later is a matter that does not admit of question. The only question is as to the terms which the city should make with the interested parties. The city has already given evidence of its willingness to cooperate by the appropriations for changes in the grades of Berkeley and Providence streets and, in my opinion, the offer of the railroad is sufficiently liberal to warrant an immediate appropriation. That values will increase in the neighborhood and bring back in time, through additional taxes, the full amount laid out on the improvement is apparent to all who have studied the question, and the willingness of the railroad to contribute so liberally, not only by the laying out of streets but by the acceptance upon terms that are extremely favorable to the city of so large a sum in betterment assessments, is the best proof of the influence which this improvement will have in raising values in the neighborhood.

The borrowing capacity of the city now is something over $900,000. To supplement this sum, which is large for this period of the year, there is a Reserve Fund amounting to more than six hundred thousand dollars ($600,000). I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying loan order appropriating five hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($520,000) for the extension of Arlington street and the widening of Ferdinand street.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Street Laying-Out Department,
October 30, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Street Commissioners has had an estimate made of the cost of extending Arlington street from Boylston street to Providence street, to meet the new street laid out and constructed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad from Providence street to Columbus avenue, and also for the proposed widening of Ferdinand street from Columbus avenue to Castle square.

Exclusive of reconstructing the railroad bridge on Ferdinand street, which will be necessary, the estimate is $790,000.

The Board believes that substantially one-half the cost may be assessed back on the property which lies within the accessible distance of 125 feet.

Very truly yours,
J. J. O'CALLAGHAN, Secretary.

City of Boston,

In City Council, October 30, 1911.

Ordered, That the sum of five hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($520,000) be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended by the Board of Street Commissioners for Arlington street extension and Ferdinand street widening, and that to meet this appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

PRESERVATION OF PARKMAN HOUSE.

The following was received:

121 Beacon Street,
Boston, October 30, 1911.

Hon. Walter L. Collins,

President of the City Council:

Dear Sir,—I beg to inclose a copy of a letter from Mr. William E. Nickerson in regard to the preservation of the Parkman house, 33 Beacon street, also a copy of my letter to the Advertiser and Globe upon the same subject, to which he refers.

In his letter Mr. Nickerson gives evidence of the feeling of the late Mr. Parkman for his home and its associations. This evidence I can corroborate from my own personal conversations with Mr. Parkman. Perhaps it would be well to draw this letter to the attention of the Council in considering the proposed sale of the property.

As I have said before, I think the city government would, under the circumstances, be fully justified in appropriating money to purchase the house as a memorial building of a practical character.

I am,

Yours very truly,

CHARLES GIBSON.

Inclosed were a copy of letter from Mr. William E. Nickerson and letter published in Boston Globe.
Referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

546-547 Tremont Building,
Boston, October 30, 1911.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am much interested in the action of your honorable body concerning the disposition of the house of the late George F. Parkman, 33 Beacon street.

I have read with much interest an article by Mr. Charles Gibson, printed in the Boston Globe on October 26, urging that it be acquired by the City of Boston for civic uses and preserved for all time as one of the monuments to those individuals and to that spirit which has distinguished this city in the past and the occasional lapse of which, as in the case of the John Hancock house, is to be so bitterly deplored. As a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and deeply interested both by heredity and study in the things of the past and the preservation in the future of what should be imperishable, I sincerely urge upon your honorable body that suitable action be taken for the preservation of the Parkman house. We should hold fast to the things that we have both for our own benefit and for the city which is to come.

Very respectfully yours,

CLARENCE S. WARD.

COAL AND COKE LICENSES.

Copies of coal and coke licenses granted by the Secretary of the Commonwealth were received.
Placed on file.

APPROVAL OF FOREST HILLS STATION PLANS.

A communication was received from the Board of Railroad Commissioners approving of changes at Forest Hills Station of the Boston Elevated Railway Company as shown on Plans 28688 and 28689.

Placed on file.

EXTENSION OF BUILDING LIMITS.

The following was received:

United Improvement Association,
October 19, 1911.

To the President of the City Council:

Dear Sir,—In behalf of the United Improvement Association I desire to urge upon the City Council the desirability of giving further hearings upon the proposed change in the city ordinances regarding the building limits, in case the Council should seriously consider any material change in the form of the ordinance from that which has already been published.

We are not ready at the present time and shall not be ready until after the 1st of November to express the opinion of this association on the proposals of the Chamber of Commerce. It took more than a year for the Chamber of Commerce Committee to study the subject and agree upon their recommendations; it therefore seems to us that the general public should be given at least a month to consider such very important recommendations before they are enacted.

If the City Council is inclined to pass the ordinance as advertised, we do not request any delay in such action, but only in case its provisions are radically altered, as would be the case by substituting therefor the recommendations of the Chamber of Commerce.

Very truly yours,

UNITED IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION,
by WILLIAM C. EWING,

President.

RECONSTRUCTION OF MERIDIAN STREET BRIDGE.

The following was received:

Office of the City Clerk, October 27, 1911.

To the City Council:

You are hereby notified that the order for a loan of $63,000 for the reconstruction of Meridian Street Bridge, filed by the Mayor with the City Clerk on August 21, 1911, not having been rejected or withdrawn within sixty days after the date of said filing, was in force on October 21, 1911, as if adopted by the City Council, under the provisions of section 2 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909; and that, on October 23, 1911, the Mayor certified that the said loan was not, in his opinion, to meet a current expense.

Respectfully,

W. J. DOYLE, Assistant City Clerk.

Placed on file.

STORAGE OF EXPLOSIVES.

Notices were received that certain buildings were used for the storage of explosives, and of intention to use same for the ensuing year, viz.:

Frank H. Thorp, 200 Mt. Vernon street.

James A. Houston, 74 Maple street.

P. C. H. Bennett & Co., 11 Lansdowne street.

Alexander Steinert, 401 Commonwealth avenue.

Peerless Motor Car Company, 660 Beacon street.

A. Shuman, 90 Commonwealth avenue.

Placed on file.

ADDITIONAL ALLOWANCE FOR CLERICAL ASSISTANCE.

The following was received:

Suffolk, ss. Superior Court for the Transaction of Criminal Business.

To the Mayor and Council of the City of Boston: Respectfully petitions the undersigned, clerk of said court, that the additional sum of $1,500 be appropriated for additional clerical assistance in said office, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 165, section 38, of the Revised Laws of this Commonwealth.

JOHN P. MANNING, Clerk.

Referred to the Committee on County Accounts.

CLERK HIRE.

W. T. A. Fitzgerald, Register of Deeds, submitted a statement, in accordance with the provisions of section 33, chapter 22, of the Revised Laws, certifying that certain persons had been employed in his office from September 25, 1911, to October 23, 1911, and that work had been performed to the amount of $3,079.77.

Approved, and ordered paid.

RETIREMENT OF LABORERS.

A communication was received from the Finance Commission and was referred to the Executive Committee. (See City Record of Oct. 28, page 840.)

EXTENDED USE OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

A communication was received from the Finance Commission (see City Record of Oct. 21, page 820); also the reply of Mayor Fitzgerald thereto (see City Record of Oct. 28, page 843); and were both referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

THE "VIGILANT."

The following was received:

Boston Finance Commission,
Boston, October 26, 1911.

The Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—In response to the request of the City Council on September 11, 1911, for a report and recommendation on the subject of the replacement of the Health Department steamer "Vigilant" by a new and larger steamer, the commission respectfully submits herewith a report made by its engineer, Mr. Guy C. Emerson, under date of September 4, 1911, which should be read in connection with his earlier report, dated August 7, 1911, and the report of James Donald, naval architect. Mr. Emerson's report of August 7 is printed in the Minutes of the City Council under date of August 22, 1911 (pages 297, 298), and Mr. Donald's report appears in said Minutes under date of September 11, 1911 (pages 326-328). In Mr. Emerson's report of September 4 it appears that he is still of the opinion that a sufficient examination has not yet been made to warrant the conclusion that a new boat is necessary. He is still of the opinion that a proper examination by an individual or board familiar with wooden steamboat construction is likely to prove that repairs not exceeding $8,000 in cost will make the boat serviceable for fifteen years longer. If it should appear, after proper examination, that an expenditure of $8,000 or less for repairs would put the boat in condition for fifteen years longer service it would be a mistake to spend $48,000 now for a new steamer.

Neither the Finance Commission nor Mr. Emerson has at any time opposed the building of a new boat if an adequate examination should prove that the "Vigilant" could not be put in good condition for future service by the expenditure of a comparatively small amount for repairs. The commission believes the amount involved is large enough to warrant the making of such an examination as Mr. Emerson recommends; and that the appropriation for a new boat should not be made until such an examination is made and the necessity for a new boat demonstrated.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

September 4, 1911.

Hon. John A. Sullivan,
Chairman Finance Commission:

Dear Sir,—I return herewith the letters of William A. Leahy, secretary to his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald, with the appended report on the condition of the steamer "Vigilant," by James Donald, naval inspector, at present connected with the Fore River Shipbuilding Company.

I have examined the report of Mr. Donald carefully, and find that his investigation discloses exactly the same defects and weaknesses which were outlined in my letter of August 7, except that he also specifies the necessary strengthening to the towing bits and renewal of water tanks. These defects were pointed out to me, but were not given attention in my report as being in the nature of ordinary repairs and of slight importance. The examination made by Mr. Donald seems to have been practically the same in extent and as regards locations as previously made by Engineer Fay and his associate, except that a piece of inside ceiling was removed in one place below the water line. It is significant that in this place the timbers of the boat were found to be in good condition. No estimate of the cost of repairs has been furnished by Mr. Donald, and no figures or statements to disprove the maximum estimate of $8,000 for putting the boat in good condition, given in my report.

The statement of conditions disclosed by Mr. Donald's examination are contained on the first three pages of his report. The remaining five pages are devoted to a discussion of the deficiencies of the "Vigilant," viewed in the light of modern regulations for steam vessels, which regulations, however, do not apply to the "Vigilant," as such regulations have been enacted since the "Vigilant" was built. It does not appear that the reasons given by Mr. Donald for building a new boat, other than the structural conditions, have been previously mentioned in any of the discussions, or in the letter of Mayor Fitzgerald of June 8, transmitting documents to the City Council, together with the request for an appropriation; neither do these matters seem to be ones for expert judgment, and in regard to the same I have no comment to make.

Several articles have recently appeared in the daily press in connection with the matter that make it appear that the inspection of Mr. Donald developed conditions different from those shown by my examination and that his report is contradictory to my own. As a matter of fact you will see by reading the two reports that they disagree in no way, so far as they cover the same ground.

The intent of my report was to make it clear that, whatever was the actual structural condition of the boat, the recommendations for a new boat were not warranted by any structural condition so far shown. It does not appear that the present examination shows anything beyond what already has been shown. Neither, in my opinion, does the present examination as regards structural conditions warrant the conclusion that a new boat is necessary. The question, so far as conditions are known at present, seems to be whether it would be best to expend a comparatively small sum of money and use the present boat for a considerable term of years, with the same discomforts to the crew that they have experienced for twenty-six years past, or whether it would be advisable to spend a much larger sum to secure a larger boat with increased comforts and probably also material increase in running expenses.

While I do not pose as a naval architect, I was, for several years of my life, intimately associated with the construction and repairs of wooden shipping and am perfectly familiar with conditions and methods pertaining thereto, and my report was submitted after consultation with naval architects and shipbuilders actively engaged at the present time in the design and construction of wooden tow boats.

Respectfully submitted,

GUY C. EMERSON,
Consulting Engineer.

Referred to Executive Committee.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. BALLANTYNE called up Nos. 1 and 2, unfinished business, viz.:

1. Michael J. McTiernan and William H. Marnell, to be Constables for the term ending April 30, 1912. (To serve without bonds—truant officers.)

2. Francis X. Malley, to be a Weigher of Coal for the term ending April 30, 1912.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Ballantyne and Curley. Whole number of ballots cast 9, yeas 9, and the several appointments were confirmed.

HANDBALL COURT, L STREET BATH.

President COLLINS called up No. 3, unfinished business, viz.:

3. Ordered, That the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the appropriation for Handball Court and Shower Baths, L Street Bath House, to the appropriation for L Street Bath Additions, etc.

The order was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 9.

TRANSFER OF $25,000 FOR MAKING OF HIGHWAYS.

President COLLINS called up No. 4 on the calendar, unfinished business, viz.:

4. Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Highways, Making of.

The order was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 9.

WIDENING OF UNION PARK STREET.

President COLLINS took No. 5 from the calendar, unfinished business, viz.:

5. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for the Widening of Union Park Street, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Street Commissioners.

The order was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. SMITH voting nay.

PLAYGROUND, WARD 19.

President COLLINS took up No. 6 on the calendar, unfinished business, viz.:

6. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Playground, Ward 19.

The question came on the second and final reading and passage of the order.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to move that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee with instructions to get in touch with the St. Alphonsus Association and the members of the Mission Church, getting representatives down here some time in the course of the next week, so that we may find out exactly what the situation is. I would like to so move.

Coun. HALE later withdrew his motion to refer to the Executive Committee and moved instead that the matter be assigned for one week.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection, the motion stands withdrawn.

The motion to assign the matter for a week was carried.

WIDENING OF UNION PARK STREET.

President COLLINS next called up, under unfinished business, No. 7, viz.:

7. Ordered, That the sum of $75,000 be appropriated to be expended by the Board of Street Commissioners for the widening of Union Park street, between Washington street and Harrison avenue, and that the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that No. 7 on the calendar has been superseded by No. 5 on the calendar. The question comes on the rejection of No. 7 on the calendar.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I simply rise to a point of information. I believe on the "Vigilance" matter a loan was superseded by an appropriation. In this case it is apparently true that the same thing has happened, and I should like to simply ask for information on what ground this is being acted upon at the present time, whether it is the wording of the appropriation or what?

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that No. 7 is on the calendar of this Council, and in the opinion of the Chair, if an order is sent in by the Mayor taking money from taxes subsequent to a loan order, it does act as a virtual withdrawal. However, to save any difficulty as far as the particular matter before the Council is concerned, and to clean up the docket, in order that there may be no question, the Chair believes it is advisable for the Council to act positively and permanently on No. 7.

Coun. SMITH—That is, in your opinion, it is set aside regardless of our action?

President COLLINS—That is the opinion of the Chair.

Coun. SMITH—Regardless of the wording of the loan order or appropriation—doesn't depend on the exact wording?

President COLLINS—The Mayor has a perfect right to send in two orders on the same proposition, and if there is no intention on the part of the Mayor to withdraw the first order, both may stand and the Council will have to act on them. The Clerk has not the particular order before him at present. The Clerk will get the same and read it.

The Clerk read the orders under both Nos. 5 and 7 on the calendar.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that No. 7 has not been positively withdrawn; and, therefore, in order to be absolutely on the secure side, the Chair rules that the Council should act on No. 7.

No. 7 was rejected.

MINORS' LICENSES.

President COLLINS submitted reports on petitions for minors' licenses for twenty-five newsboys, one bootblack and one vendor—recommending that permits be granted.

Reports severally accepted; permits granted on usual conditions.

HOT WATER APPARATUS, REGISTRY OF DEEDS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, October 30, 1911.

To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable body, held June 14, 1911, an order was passed appropriating the sum of one thousand two hundred and fifty dollars ($1,250) from the Reserve Fund for hot water apparatus in the Registry of Deeds. The suggestion was made at the time that an additional sum, amounting to four hundred dollars ($400), might be properly expended for similar apparatus in the Social Law Library. The accompanying letter from the librarian of the Social Law Library sets forth the need of this improvement, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of four hundred dollars ($400) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for County of Suffolk County Buildings.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Social Law Library,
October 28, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I have been talking this morning with your secretary, Mr. William A. Leahy, about two matters connected with the Social Law Library, and he has asked me to lay them formally before you.

First. The Commissioners for the Enlargement of the Court House thought fit to make no provision for hot water either in the registry or in the Social Law Library. The quarters with which they provided both institutions are admirable, with this exception. Mr. W. T. A. Fitzgerald and I are both ambitious that the institutions respectively under our charge should be the best of their kind and should reflect credit on the City of Boston. Owing to the dust which necessarily accumulates upon books, and particularly in the library, owing to the wretched character of the sheep that has been used in binding for many years, and that disintegrates rapidly after three or four years' use, it is impossible to conduct our institutions to the best advantage, or even satisfactorily, without hot water, as your Honor will readily perceive. Our employees and our patrons need constantly to wash their hands, and water at the winter's temperature is not only disagreeable but almost useless for this purpose. Moreover, the water with which the rooms and appliances are cleaned must be fetched from several stories below. During the spring Mr. Fitzgerald saw or wrote to your Honor about the situation and your Honor authorized the letting of a contract for the supply of hot water to the registry. Mr. Fitzgerald, I think, mentioned the Social Law Library at the time, but probably because the matter was not brought insistently to your Honor's attention no provision for hot water in the library was made. The installation of hot water in the registry is now going actively forward. I am informed that the library can be connected with this system at an expense of $400 or less. The library seems to stand in precisely the same situation toward the City of Boston as the registry, and its needs, owing to the binding before mentioned, which has never been used at the registry, are even greater. I hope, then, that your Honor will feel authorized in directing that the library be connected with the work now going forward for the registry. I am told that in the estimate for the registry the cost of connection with the library was put at $400 or less, and that the contract was finally let to someone who undertook to do the work at less than the estimated price.

Second. During the demolition of the Old Court House a plaster bust of Caleb Cushing was found in an unused room. It is now in Elston's shed on Court street in front of the building. The Social Law Library formerly occupied quarters in the Old Court House, but whether this bust ever belonged to the library or not, I am totally unable to say. The disposition of the bust, if no one can show ownership in it, seems to rest with your Honor. I think that the fitting place for it is in the library, and if your Honor should agree with me, we should like very much to receive it either as a gift or a loan.

If your Honor would like to talk to me about either of the foregoing matters, I am at any time entirely at your Honor's disposition.

Very respectfully,

EDWARD B. ADAMS,
Librarian.

City of Boston,

In City Council, October 30, 1911.

Ordered, That the sum of four hundred dollars ($400) be transferred from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, County Buildings, to be expended for hot water apparatus in the Social Law Library.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

(6) Report on the message and order (referred October 16) to transfer appropriations for Branch Library, Charlestown, Estate, and Branch Library, Charlestown, Alterations and Completion, to an appropriation for Branch Library, Charlestown—that the same ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the order was passed, yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. SMITH voting nay.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to ask a reconsideration of that vote just taken.

Reconsideration was refused.

(7) Report on the order (referred October 16), to transfer $30,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for branch library, Charlestown—that the same ought to pass.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and passage of the order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I would like to have the matter laid on the table until after the Executive Committee has met. I shall try to see the Mayor in the meantime and try to get the transfer set down for $45,000 instead of $30,000.

The motion to lay on the table was declared lost. Coun. SMITH doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to lay on the table was lost, yeas 3, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Hale, Smith—3.

Nays—Coun. Ballantyne, Buckley, Kenny, McDonald—4.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I move reconsideration of the vote just taken.

The motion to reconsider the vote laying on the table was lost, yeas 3, nays 6:

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Hale, Smith—3.

Nays—Coun. Ballantyne, Buckley, Collins, Curley, Kenny, McDonald—6.

The report was accepted and the order passed, yeas 9, nays 0; and the order will take its second reading and passage not less than fourteen days from to-day.

(8) Report on the message of Mayor and order appropriating $150,000 for the widening of Norfolk street, Dorchester (referred October 2), recommending the passage of the order, although it is the opinion of the members of the City Council that the money should be taken from the Reserve Fund.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and passage of the order.

The order took its first reading and passage, yeas 9, nays 0, and will come up for second reading and passage not less than two weeks from to-day.

President COLLINS in the chair.

(9) Report on the order (referred from last year) appropriating $25,000 for the construction and site for engine house at Parker Hill, Ward 19, said amount to be raised by loan—recommending reference to the Fire Commission for report.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

CHAPTER 47 OF REVISED ORDINANCES.

Coun. McDONALD, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted a report on the message of the Mayor recommending the passage of an ordinance to amend chapter 47 of the Revised Ordinances of 1898 (referred October 9), recommending the rejection of the ordinance as submitted by the Mayor and the passage of the accompanying new draft of an ordinance:

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eleven.

An Ordinance amending chapter 47 of the Revised Ordinances of 1898, and chapters 5 and 6 of the Revised Regulations of 1898.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Section 1. Sections 30, 33, 35, 36, 37, 44, 46, 53, 55, 57, 60, 88 and 104 of chapter 47 of the Revised Ordinances of 1898 are hereby amended by striking out the words "Superintendent of Streets" wherever the same occurs in said sections, and inserting in place thereof the words "Commissioner of Public Works."

Section 2. Sections 69, 70, 71 as amended by chapter 13 of the Ordinances of 1908, 72 and 73 of chapter 47 of the Revised Ordinances of 1898, are hereby amended by striking out the words "Water Commissioner" wherever the same occur in said sections, and inserting in place thereof the words "Commissioner of Public Works."

Section 3. Sections 40, 56 and 89 of chapter 47 of the Revised Ordinances of 1898 are hereby amended by striking out the words "Board of Aldermen" wherever the same occur in said sections, and inserting in place thereof the words "Board of Street Commissioners."

Section 4. Section 18 of chapter 47 of the Revised Ordinances of 1898 as amended by chapter 5 of the Ordinances of 1901, chapter 7 of the Ordinances of 1906, and chapter 14 of the Ordinances of 1909, is hereby further amended by striking out the words "Superintendent of the Sanitary Department" and inserting in place thereof the words "Commissioner of Public Works."

Section 5. Chapter 5 of the Revised Regulations of 1898, as amended by chapter 2 of the Regulations of 1903, is hereby further amended by striking out the words "Superintendent of Streets" and "Superintendent" wherever the said words occur in the several sections of said chapter, and inserting in place thereof the words "Commissioner of Public Works" and "Commissioner" respectively; and by striking out the words "Board of Aldermen" wherever the same occur in the several sections of said chapter, and inserting in place thereof the words "Board of Street Commissioners."

Section 6. Sections 25, 26, 27, 31 and 33 of chapter 6 of the Revised Regulations of 1898 are hereby amended by striking out the words "Superintendent of Streets" wherever the same occur in said sections, and inserting in place thereof the words "Commissioner of Public Works."

Section 7. Section 28 of chapter 6 of the Revised Regulations of 1898 is hereby amended by striking out the words "Board of Aldermen," and inserting in place thereof the words "Board of Street Commissioners"; and by striking out the words "Superintendent of Lamps" and inserting in place thereof the words "Commissioner of Public Works."

Section 8. Chapter 3 of the Ordinances of 1902 is hereby amended by striking out the words "Board of Aldermen" and inserting in place thereof the words "Board of Street Commissioners."

Report accepted; ordinance passed.

RETIREMENT FUND FOR LABORERS.

On motion of Coun. CURLEY the Council took up past assignment, viz.:

9. Ordered, That chapter 413 of the Acts of the Massachusetts Legislature for 1911, entitled "An Act Relative to a Retirement Fund for Laborers Employed by the City of Boston," be and hereby is accepted by the City Council of Boston.

Coun. HALE moved reference to the Executive Committee.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, after listening to the discussion so far I find that everybody is so familiar with the subject that it is hardly necessary to refer the matter to the Executive Committee. I think we are all ready to vote on it now, and with unanimous consent I would be glad to withdraw my motion and then I would be glad to be allowed to speak on the merits of the question.

President COLLINS—By unanimous consent Coun. Hale will be allowed to withdraw his motion.

President COLLINS—The question comes on accepting No. 9 on the calendar. The Clerk will read the order.

The order was read.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I ask that when the vote is taken it be by roll call.

The roll was called, and the Council voted to accept the act, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. Hale and Smith voting nay.

Coun. CURLEY moved a reconsideration, hoping that the same would not prevail; declared lost. Coun. HALE doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. Reconsideration was refused, yeas 2, nays 7, Coun. Hale and Smith voting yea.

CONSTRUCTION OF SIDEWALKS.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along both sides of Catherine street, between Bourne and Florence streets, Ward 23, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone with granite edgestone, under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

Passed.

President COLLINS offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along both sides of Olney street, between Geneva avenue and Everton street, Ward 20, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of gravel, with granite edgestone, under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

Passed.

AMENDMENTS TO CHAPTER 413.

Coun. KENNY offered an order—That the Finance Commission be requested to prepare and file with the incoming Legislature amendments to meet the recommendations outlined in the report of the commission to the City Council, dated October 23, 1911, with respect to chapter 413 of the Acts of 1911 relative to the retirement fund for laborers employed by the City of Boston.

Passed.

CLOSING OF NORTH HARVARD STREET.

Coun. HALE submitted the following order—That the Police Commissioner be authorized to close to travel by vehicles, except fire, police, hospital and mail wagons, North Harvard street, from Western avenue to the Cambridge line, or such portion thereof as may be requested by the Harvard Athletic Association, on November 11, 18, and 25, between the hours of twelve noon and six o'clock p. m., or during such other hours as said association may require.

Passed.

QUESTIONS FOR FINANCE COMMISSION.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:

Ordered, That the Finance Commission be requested to report on the following questions:

1. What permanent improvements might properly be paid for out of borrowed money?

2. What amount has the city borrowed for such permanent improvements during each of the last ten years?

3. Based on the answer to the last question, what amount would be justified for the coming year?

4. Which departments have, strictly speaking, annually recurrent permanent improvements that do not differ greatly in amount from year to year; and what is the average cost of such permanent improvements?

5. What is the advisability of paying for the annually recurrent permanent improvements set forth in question No. 4 (such as sewers and the extension of highways) as compared with the advisability of paying for miscellaneous permanent improvements, like libraries, courthouses, etc., out of the tax levy?

6. Does the commission recommend the payment of either or both of the above classes of permanent improvements out of the tax levy; and if so, which class or classes?

7. Is it advisable to keep a margin between the amount raised by taxes each year and the amount legally possible to raise by taxes; and what is the size of such desirable margin, if any?

8. Will there be money available out of the tax levy, under existing laws, to pay for miscellaneous permanent improvements, like libraries, etc., if the city adopts the policy of paying for annually recurrent permanent improvements, like sewers and highways, out of the tax levy?

President COLLINS—The question comes on passing the order.

On a viva voce vote the Chair was in doubt, and called for a rising vote, whereupon it appeared that five voted in the affirmative and one in the negative, and the order was declared passed.

ELECTION RETURNS.

Coun. McDONALD submitted the following order—That the City Messenger be directed to make the usual arrangements for receiving election returns on the days of the coming state and city elections, and that the Mayor's hearing room be opened on the evenings of said days for the announcing of said returns, the expense of the same to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Passed.

INVITATION TO MR. LAWSON PURDY.

Coun. SMITH offered the following:

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to invite Mr. Lawson Purdy of New York to address the Council, the Finance Commission and the Assessors as soon as may be conveniently arranged.

The order was passed by unanimous consent.

KEEPING OF LIVE FOWL.

Coun. CURLEY offered the following:

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eleven.

An Ordinance.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Chapter forty-seven of the Revised Ordinances of 1898 is hereby amended by striking out section five of said chapter and inserting in place thereof the following new section:

Section 5. No person shall keep any swine or goats, except in accordance with a permit from the board of health; and no person shall keep any live fowl on the lands or premises owned or occupied by him after having been prohibited from so doing by a written order of the board of health.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

RETIREMENT ACT.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That chapter 619 of the Acts of 1910 as amended by chapter 338 of the Acts of 1911 be accepted by the City of Boston.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. HALE—I moved reconsideration of the reference.

President COLLINS—The question comes on reconsideration.

The question came on reconsideration of the reference. On a rising vote, six voted in the affirmative and none in the negative and reconsideration was declared to have prevailed.

President COLLINS—The question now comes on the acceptance of the act.

The Council refused to pass the order accepting the act. Coun. HALE doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The Council refused to accept the act, yeas 2, nays 7, Coun. Hale and Smith voting yea.

Coun. KENNY moved to reconsider, hoping it would not prevail; lost.

THE NEXT MEETING.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move that when the Council adjourns it be to meet two weeks from to-day at 3 p. m.

The motion was carried.

ROOM IN NEW CITY HALL ANNEX.

Coun. CURLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to grant the Department of Massachusetts United War Veterans the use of a room in the new City Hall Annex when the same is completed, as allowed heretofore in the Old Court House.

Passed.

In connection with the above was the following letter:

Department of Massachusetts,
United Spanish War Veterans,
Charlestown, Mass., October 24, 1911.

Hon. James M. Curley:

Dear Sir,—The Department of Massachusetts United Spanish War Veterans are trying to get a room for headquarters in the new City Hall Annex and I take the liberty of asking you to help us in the matter.

We have always had a room in the Old Court House, but as that is being torn down we have had to vacate and go to Gardner, Mass., which is greatly to our inconvenience.

The Mayor has always acted favorably towards us and I am sure if you will see him he will make arrangements whereby we can have a room in the new building.

Hoping you will help us in this matter and thanking you for past favors,

I am, sir,

Very respectfully,

NEIL F. McDONALD,
Junior Vice Department Commander,
Department of Massachusetts,
United Spanish War Veterans.
10 Tremont Street, Charlestown.

ADJOURNMENT.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I move that the Council do now adjourn.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, is that a motion to adjourn or to take a recess?

President COLLINS—To adjourn.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President—

President COLLINS—No debate is in order on a motion to adjourn.

The motion to adjourn was declared lost. Coun. CURLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, a resolution I have introduced is in the Executive Committee.

President COLLINS—No debate is in order on a motion to adjourn.

Coun. SMITH—I wish action taken on that matter before two weeks from to-day.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to adjourn was carried, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. Hale and Smith voting nay.

Adjourned, at 6.15 p. m., to meet on Monday, November 13, at 3 p. m.

UTILIZING THE WATER POWER AT WACHUSETT DAM.

On August 10 of this year the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Board of Massachusetts (Boston and vicinity) began delivering to a private corporation electrical energy created by the utilization of an unnecessary head in the conduit supplying water to Boston and the neighboring municipalities. This is believed to be the first instance in this country of a public water supply being used for the development of electrical energy to be sold commercially. Something the same thing is to be done in connection with the Los Angeles supply, but this project has not yet reached much more than the initial stage. Briefly, the decision to develop and in some way dispose of electrical energy in this way was reached because of the fact that the Wachusett reservoir of the metropolitan supply, located at the situation most favorable for storage, was found to give a head of 395 feet above Boston's city base, which was approximately 100 feet more than was considered necessary. This 100 feet represented a considerable amount of energy which would ordinarily have been wasted, but which it seemed worth while to try to save. It seems probable that there are many instances throughout the country of excessive head in storage reservoirs, but few if any in which the head between storage and distributing reservoir has been utilized.

The difficulty experienced by several of the suburbs of Boston in obtaining water supplies adequate in either quantity or quality and the advantages which it seemed would unquestionably be obtained by co-operation, led to an investigation of this subject by the Massachusetts State Board of Health in 1893, a report by the same to the Legislature in 1895 and the enactment by the same Legislature of a bill providing that the Governor should appoint three water commissioners to constitute a Metropolitan Water Board; which Board should construct, maintain and operate a system of waterworks to serve a metropolitan district. This district consisted of the cities of Boston, Chelsea, Everett, Malden, Medford, Newton, Somerville, Melrose and the towns of Belmont, Hyde Park, Revere, Watertown and Winthrop. Under permissive provisions of the act that any other city and town any part of which was within a radius of ten miles of the State House, could unite with those named, the city of Quincy and the towns of Nahant, Arlington, Stoneham, Lexington and Milton were admitted into the district; and under still other provisions water is supplied to the town of Swampscott and a portion of the town of Saugus. This makes nineteen municipalities within the district, the population of those outside of Boston being about 400,000.

The Metropolitan Water Board was in 1901 combined with the Board of Metropolitan Sewerage Commissioners, and the powers and duties of the two boards vested in a new one known as the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Board. Mr. Frederic Stearns, as chief engineer of the State Board of Health, had charge of the investigations made in 1893 and 1894, and held the position of chief engineer of the Water Board and of the Water and Sewerage Board from that time until recently, when he was succeeded by Dexter Brackett.

The idea of utilizing a portion of the unnecessary head created by the Wachusett reservoir is by no means recent, a Legislative act having been passed in 1895 which gave the Board authority to utilize the fall of water at any dam under its charge for the production of power or electricity and to transmit this in any way it saw fit and to sell the same at any point. Taking advantage of this authority the Board so made its plans as to permit the installation of hydro-electric machinery whenever this could be done to commercial advantage. Some months ago it entered into a five-year contract to sell to the Connecticut River Transmission Company, of Brattleboro, Vt., all the energy which could be generated at this point by the ordinary consumption of the metropolitan district, which is at present about 100,000,000 gallons per day. For this energy it will receive 53 cents per kilowatt hour. This is a very low rate, but the purchaser is under the disadvantage that the creation of energy is made secondary to the supplying of water to the metropolitan district, and he can receive the energy only when and at the rate at which the water is used for municipal purposes, and must, moreover, pay for all the energy created at whatever time and rate. It is probable that most of the energy will be used by the mills at Clinton, to which the company had previously been supplying current brought from Vermont over a high tension line.

This entire plant has cost the metropolitan district about $125,000, and as the Connecticut River Transmission Company under its contract will pay about $25,000 a year for the power generated, the entire cost of the plant will have been returned to the Board by the end of the present five-year contract.

The chief engineer of the Metropolitan Water Works is Dexter Brackett and the superintendent of the Wachusett division is E. R. B. Allardice. B. C. Thayer is the electrician. Prof. William L. Puffer acted as consulting electrical engineer for this installation.—Municipal Journal.

CITY TO RENT SIGN SPACE.

It may be of interest to those who are devoted to the "city beautiful" idea and who deplore the blots on the landscape caused by advertising signs in all sorts of incongruous places to learn that the city of New York is going into the business of furnishing sites for such signs. Controller Prendergast is preparing to receive bids for permission to build advertising signs on vacant property owned by the city and actually proposes to be a party to the placing of such signs along the Eastern Parkway, near the main entrance to Prospect Park.

AUTOMOBILE STREET CLEANERS IN BERLIN.

The city of Berlin has this year purchased for cleaning its streets a number of machines which are driven by electric power. These are squeegees, similar to those used in this country, except that the latter have all been horse-drawn.

CITY OF BOSTON.

PROPOSALS FOR REMOVING SNOW AND ICE.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 49 City Hall, invites proposals for removing snow and ice in the following snow districts, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6, and giving bond therefor of a surety company approved by the commissioner, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of bids may be obtained at Room 49, City Hall. Each bid should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Bid for Removing Snow and Ice," and left at the Hearing Room, second floor, City Hall, before 12 m. on Monday, November 13, 1911, with a certified check for two hundred dollars ($200) for each district, or twelve hundred dollars ($1,200) for all the districts, payable to and to become the property of the city if the bid after acceptance is not carried out. The bidder is requested to name the surety company which will sign his bond in case the contract is awarded him. The bids will then and there be publicly opened and read. Bids must be made in duplicate, the duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to award the contract as he deems best.

LOUIS K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works,
Boston, November 2, 1911. (Nov. 4.)

CITY OF BOSTON.

PROPOSALS FOR REPLANKING PIERS, SUMMER STREET BRIDGE.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 49 City Hall, invites proposals for replanking piers at Summer Street Bridge over Fort Point channel, and giving bond therefor of a surety company approved by the commissioner in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000). Only proposals obtained at said office, filled out, signed by the bidder and left at the Hearing Room, second floor, City Hall, before 12 o'clock m. of Monday, November 13, 1911, with a certified check for five hundred dollars ($500), payable to and to be the property of the city if the proposal is not carried out, will at said hour and place be publicly opened and read. The proposals must be made in duplicate, the duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best. The proposals should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, and marked "Proposal for Summer Street Bridge."

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

In publishing notice of award of contract for 125,000 paving bricks in last week's issue of the City Record it was incorrectly stated that contract had been awarded to J. P. O'Connell & Co. The contract was awarded to the Starrett-Fields Company. The prices were:

Starrett-Fields Company, per 1,000, $12; J. P. O'Connell & Co., $12.50.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following requests of departments to do work with the department forces, without advertising, also the following additions to and deductions from contracts.

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Mayor has authorized the Commissioner to do the following work with the department forces, without advertising for competitive bids:

Resurface with macadam, by the division force, Massachusetts avenue, from New England Railroad bridge to Edward Everett square, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $3,375.

Pave with second-hand blocks and regulate, by the division force, Middlesex street, Ward 4, from Main street to Essex street, the estimated cost being $2,050.

Relay granite block paving, gravel joints, and regulate Batterymarch street, from the angle of Batterymarch street to High street, with the division force, the estimated cost being $1,500.

Relay granite block paving, gravel joints, and regulate, by the division force, Franklin street, from Oliver street to Broad street, the estimated cost being $1,500.

"This is maintenance work and can, in my opinion, be done as advantageously by day-labor methods as any work now necessary.

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without public advertisement, requests of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising, and also additions to and deductions from contracts.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

In view of the representations contained in the accompanying communication, the Mayor has approved a contract awarded without advertising to the Isaac Coffin Company for completing the work of installing a heating and ventilating system in the Curtis Hall building Jamaica Plain. The estimated cost is given as $1,200.

November 2, 1911.

HON. JOHN F. FITZGERALD,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—On September 2, 1910, your approval was obtained to a contract between Mr. James P. Dwyer and the City of Boston for furnishing all necessary labor and materials to install a complete heating and ventilating system in the Curtis Hall building, South street, Jamaica Plain. The contract amount was $22,277. Certain changes were later made in the specification of the work and a deduction of $2,240 was made, leaving the contract price to be $20,037.

I am advised that Mr. James P. Dwyer has assigned or become insolvent and the contract as above mentioned is unfinished. Therefore, in accordance with Article 6 of the said contract, it becomes necessary for the city to proceed to complete work specified. I have conferred with the various parties interested and with Corporation Counsel Thomas M. Babson, and have concluded that the most satisfactory results can be obtained by selecting a competent party to complete the requirements of the said contract on a percentage basis as hereinafter described.

This is necessary as it is an indefinite proposition on which to obtain competitive estimates and to obtain a guarantee that the work when completed will be a finished job.

Mr. Dwyer has informed me that approximately twelve hundred (1,200) dollars will be required to complete the work, but in going over the conditions at the plant with the heating engineer we are of the opinion that this amount will be insufficient.

I respectfully request your authority to award a contract for doing the work to Isaac Coffin Company without public advertisement, on the following basis:

All materials, teaming, etc., to be charged at cost price plus ten (10) per cent.

Labor to be charged at rate of six (6) dollars per day, of eight (8) hours, for each pair of men, plus thirty-three and one-third (33 $\frac{1}{3}$) per cent.

The representative of Isaac Coffin Company will be paid one (1) dollar per hour, without further commission for each hour he is in attendance on the work as superintendent.

Cost of carfages to and from shop to job to be allowed but without commission.

Yours respectfully,

M. J. FISH,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

Permission has been granted to the Commissioner of Public Works to build, with the department force, a concrete conduit for the improvement of Mattapan brook, 6 feet in diameter and 5 feet 6 inches in diameter, and a sanitary sewer of 15-inch earthen pipe, in a taking made by the Board of Street Commissioners, August 25, 1898, between the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, New England Division, and Norfolk street, Dorchester district, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $11,553.

"The above work can, in my opinion, be as advantageously done by day labor methods as any work now necessary."

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved by the Mayor:

CONSUMPTIVES' HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.

An addition, amounting to $3, on the contract with E. C. Lewis, Inc., for the Consumptives' Hospital, Domestic Building, on account of installing buzzer in officers' dining room to ring from telephone switch board. Contract price, $8,239; total additions, $497; total deductions, $38.

A deduction, amounting to $300, on the contract with J. J. Hurley & Co. for the Consumptives' Hospital, Domestic Building, on account of 120 radiators not set temporarily at $2.50. Contract price, $5,046; total additions, $451; total deductions, $300.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

An addition, amounting to $48, on the contract with the John F. Griffin Company for the Repair Shop, Fire Department, at Albany and Bristol streets, on account of additional brass pipe in connection with hose testing trough and for screen in funnel under tire setter. Contract price, $94,988; total additions, $3,479.20; total deductions, $600; contract as standing, $97,867.20.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

An addition, amounting to \$1,090.33, on the contract with the John F. Griffin Company for enlarging the Girls' High School, on account of miscellaneous items of extra work, viz.: For putting $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch round bar iron hand rails on all fire escape stairs, both sides, \$181.50; for furnishing and installing grills and for painting lights of glass in Rooms 5 and 8, \$15.40; for installing soapstone sink and connecting up six laboratory tables with gas, furnishing turrets, burner, hot plate, etc., \$316.80; for changing numbers on doors, \$2.50, and for repairing and installing miscellaneous electric fixtures, \$574.13; total, \$1,090.33. Contract price, \$89,122; total additions, \$4,109.21; total deductions, \$1,864; contract as standing, \$91,367.21.

An addition, amounting to $225, on the contract with the Whiton & Haynes Company for the Ulysses S. Grant School, on account of furnishing and installing eighteen pivoting window sashes in corridors. Contract price, $112,000; total additions, $5,020.56; total deductions, $2,275; contract as standing, $114,745.56.

An addition, amounting to $280, on the contract with the John F. Griffin Company for the Pre-Apprentice School, on account of fireproofing around coal bin in basement, $265, and for raising radiators where new floors are laid, $15. Contract price, $9,968; total additions, $627.30; contract as standing, $10,595.30.

A deduction, amounting to $1,159, on the contract with the A. Varnerin Company, Inc., for the Elementary School, lower grades, Phillips Brooks District, on account of miscellaneous changes in the plans and specifications, viz.: Substituting 15-inch and 10-inch steel I-beams in foundations instead of those shown on plans, $381; substituting North Carolina pine finish instead of ash as specified, $300; substituting maple floors in wardrobes, $136; substituting flagpole 50 feet in height, $36; substituting 15-inch steel I-beams for concrete beams over coal and boiler rooms, $43; substituting "A" special steel expanded metal lath for lath specified, except ceilings over boiler and coal rooms, $263; total, $1,159. Contract price, $63,947; total deductions, $1,159; contract as standing, $62,788.

An addition, amounting to $1,850, being a bonus on the contract with the Hooper Waters Company for the Charles Bulfinch School, on account of completing contract work ahead of time. Date of completion November 3, 1911; work actually completed September 30, 1911; bonus thirty-seven working days at $50 per day. Contract price, $80,657; total additions, $3,154.55; total deductions, $5,331; contract as standing, $78,480.55.

An addition, amounting to $21.18, on the contract with the Hooper Waters Company for the Charles Bulfinch School, on account of furnishing a Ziegler multipolar relay in place of Bunnell. Contract price, $80,657; total additions, $3,535.73; total deductions, $5,331; contract as standing, $78,861.73.

An addition, amounting to $70.62, on the contract with the William N. Mc-Kenna Company for the Martin School, on account of changing locations of partitions around water-closets in the masters' and teachers' closets. Contract price, $2,775; total additions, $70.62; total deductions, $305; contract as standing, $2,540.62.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

The Board of Street Commissioners find that no person sustains damage in their estate or receives benefit by reason of the widening and construction of Beach street, Dorchester, as a highway at Park street. In connection with the public improvements consisting of the laying out and construction of Tetlow street, Roxbury, and the laying out and construction of an extension of Stratford street, West Roxbury, the Board finds that no person sustains damages, while benefits resulting from these improvements are assessed as follows:

Laying out and construction of Tetlow street:

Lot.	Amount.
1. Francis P. Sears.....	$46 00
2. Francis P. Sears.....	72 00
3. Francis P. Sears.....	108 00
4. Francis P. Sears.....	206 91
5. George Wyner.....	214 00
6. George Wyner.....	130 98
7. George Wyner.....	124 74
8. George Wyner.....	123 72
9. City of Boston (Schoolhouse).....	800 00
10. Winslow Warren, Trustee.....	500 00
11. Moses Williams et al., Trustees.....	195 00
12. Moses Williams et al., Trustees.....	245 25
13. Moses Williams et al., Trustees.....	149 04
14. Moses Williams et al., Trustees.....	149 04
15. Moses Williams et al., Trustees.....	142 56
	$2,407 24

Laying out and construction of extension of Stratford street:

Lot.	Amount.
1. Samuel C. Gunn.....	$197 37
2. Joseph A. L. Wallon.....	144 26
5. George L. Fisher and William J. Fisher.....	167 10
6. Ingemisca G. Baxter.....	166 84
	$675 57

The Board has awarded damages in the sum of $100 to Margaret E. and Albert H. Loehr on account of a taking made for sewerage works (relocation of Roslindale brook), October 6, 1908. In the matter of Marietta and Harriet E. Nute, who sought to secure an abatement of the assessment against their estate, Lot 9, for the laying out and construction of Everdean street, Dorchester, the Board has agreed to $100 as the amount to be assessed.

TRANSFER OF PROCEEDS OF SALE OF NORTH MARGIN STREET SCHOOL PROPERTY.

The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners have voted to appropriate the money, $8,100, derived from the sale of the North Margin Street School property, to the appropriation for the enlargement of the Girl's High School.

CLAIMS.

The Mayor has approved an award made by the Committee on Claims of the City Council to Theodore Jennings, $50, for personal injuries caused by defect in crosswalk on Boylston street at Tremont street, December 20, 1909.

PERMISSION TO SELL.

Permission has been granted the Infirmary Trustees to barter and sell hogs for the Long Island Hospital to the amount of five hundred dollars ($500).

PAYMENT TO DISABLED EMPLOYEE.

The following allowance granted by the Commissioner of Public Works has been approved by the Mayor:

Sewer Service.—James King, 14 days at $2.50, $35.

FREE MUNICIPAL CONCERTS.

The Music Trustees have selected the Municipal Orchestra for the season of 1911-12, and have elected Mr. William Howard as leader.

Prof. Louis Elson has again been engaged to describe and explain the various compositions on the programs previous to their rendition by the orchestra.

Besides the orchestral concerts the trio concerts and organ recitals, conducted so successfully last season, will form part of the schedule for this season, and the public will be given ample opportunity to enjoy the various classes of music.

The season will open on Tuesday evening, November 28, 1911, at Ford Hall, when Mr. Howard and the orchestra will render the following program:

PROGRAM.

Overture, "Ruy Blas,"	Mendelssohn.
Canzonetta from string quartet, op. 12,	Mendelssohn.
Romanza from opera, "Mignon."
"Knowest Thou That Fair Land."
Emma Eckert Krauth.
Selection from the opera "Aida."	Verdi.
Solo for flute, variation on "A Tyroler's Air,"	Boehm.
Mr. Frank H. Eaton.
Serenade Scherzo from "Rural Wedding Symphony,"	Goldmark.
Vocal selection, "After,"
Emma Eckert Krauth.
"Præludium," in C minor,	Chopin.

The following schedule has been arranged for the months of November and December:

November 28, Ford Hall, Ashburton place, Orchestral Concert.
 December 7, Dorchester High School, Trio Concert.
 December 8, Franklin Union, Berkeley street, Orchestral concert.
 December 12, Chapman School, East Boston, Orchestral Concert.
 December 13, Lowell School, Roxbury, Orchestral Concert.
 December 14, South Boston High School, Trio Concert.
 December 15, Roxbury High School, Orchestral Concert.
 December 18, Girls' Latin School, Huntington avenue, Trio Concert.
 December 19, Dorchester High School, Orchestral Concert.
 December 29, Faneuil Hall, Orchestral Concert.

Tickets for any of the concerts during the season may be had free by applying to secretary, Walter L. Finigan, 905 Carney Building, 43 Tremont street, or at the stores throughout the district in which the concert is to be given. The concert season will date from November 28, 1911, to the middle of April, 1912. Details relative to the locations and dates of future concerts may be found in each edition of the City Record, during the season.

BOSTON REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING STATISTICS.

Total transfers in 1910 of real estate in Boston, 9,523 (255 more than in 1909), Dorchester leading with 2,551; total mortgages, 8,712 (170 more than in 1909), representing $81,078,755, or $6,054,391 more than the value recorded in 1909. Building permits issued by Building Department in 1910, 1,558; alteration permits, 2,403; plumbing and gas fitting permits, 13,577. Total number dwelling houses in 1910, 72,087; stores, 3,742; miscellaneous buildings, 6,838; total buildings of all kinds, 82,667.

REPORT OF FIRE HAZARD COMMISSION.

HON. JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor:

SIR,—This commission was appointed by you to examine into the needs of the Fire Department and to study the general subject of the fire hazard in the City of Boston. We organized on August 31 and from that time until the date of this report have devoted a large amount of time to the work.

We have inspected in detail the various functions of the Fire Department, have familiarized ourselves with its workings, have visited a number of the apparatus houses, and have examined into the two principal auxiliary branches of the department, the fire-alarm office and the repair shop. We have carefully studied and analyzed the reports of other investigators and have been in communication with recognized experts both here and in other cities. We have been aided by the various reports of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and the Boston Chamber of Commerce. We also held several public hearings.

One of our members, Mr. Decrow, representing the commission, visited the exhibition of fire apparatus recently held in Milwaukee and examined into the workings of the fire departments in that city, Chicago and Detroit. The commission as a body visited Springfield, Mass., where every opportunity was given to witness the operation of the automobile apparatus in service there.

In making our report we have endeavored to hold to existing conditions and to realize that any corrective measures which may be adopted by law or ordinance to reduce and prevent the hazard from inflammable construction cannot for many years have any marked effect on Boston as it stands to-day. Fires must necessarily be of frequent occurrence and the great problem of to-day is to keep them as small as possible. The Chamber of Commerce of Rochester, N. Y., in a recent booklet on fire prevention and protection, printed at the top and bottom of each page the words, "Every fire is the same size at the start." These words represent very nearly the whole truth. To this it may be added with equal truth that the size after ten minutes depends on the discovery of the fire, the expedition of the discoverer in giving the alarm, the construction and contents of the building, the expedition of the Fire Department in responding and in the efficiency of its men and apparatus.

The city and its citizens have control over every one of these elements.

We have the honor to respectfully submit the following recommendations:

To Decrease the Time Between the Discovery of a Fire and the Giving of an Alarm.

(a.) The institution of a campaign of education on the location of the nearest alarm box and the method of operating same.

(b.) The substantial increase in the number of alarm boxes and the relocation of many of those now in service.

To Increase the Certainty of Uninterrupted Operation of the Fire-Alarm Service.

(a.) The relocation of the fire-alarm operating office in a building of absolute fireproof construction, free from any present or reasonably possible future exposure hazard, and the installation of the most modern and approved operating machinery and devices.

(b.) Until this is done the maintenance of an auxiliary cable station where, in the event of disaster to the present plant, temporary operating facilities could at once be connected in, and the extension of the present department telephone circuits to an exchange of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

(c.) The replacement of present overhead bare wires with either overhead or underground cables, as the case may require.

To Hasten the Response of Apparatus to the Scene of an Alarm of Fire.

(a.) The gradual replacement of the present horse-drawn apparatus with motor-propelled apparatus.

(b.) The relocation of certain of the apparatus houses.

To Increase the Numerical Efficiency of the Fire-Fighting Force.

(a.) The redistribution of the present fire-fighting force and a closer equalization of the force on duty, so that the variation between the number on duty day and night will be reduced.

(b.) The employment of a reserve force so that the force on duty may be always kept up to a definite standard.

(c.) The abolition of the practice of detailing members of the fire-fighting force for repair work, or work in auxiliary branches, whereby their services are lost to the fire-fighting force.

To Reduce the Conflagration Hazard.

(a.) The enactment of laws which shall prohibit the construction of any third class building within a certain area of the so-called metropolitan district.

(b.) The enactment of city ordinances which shall prohibit the construction of any third-class building within the city limits.

(c.) The enactment of a law prohibiting the construction of any but fireproof buildings within the congested business district of the city.

(d.) The passage of a law requiring all second or third class buildings now existing within the congested business district of the city to be equipped with sprinkler service, except that houses for habitation not used in any portion for any other purpose need not be so equipped, and that hotels and lodging houses need be so equipped only in the basement, first story and public halls, dining rooms or assembly rooms.

To Decrease the Possibility of Fires from Carelessness or Evasion of the Laws and Ordinances.

(a.) The immediate codification of all laws and ordinances relating to the prevention of and protection from fire and the protection of human life from fire and explosives with a view to the amendment of such laws that the enforcing power shall lie in one central body.

(b.) The enactment of laws imposing fees for licenses for carrying on certain trades likely to cause fires.

REASONS AND ARGUMENTS FOR RECOMMENDATIONS.

Public Cooperation and the Notification Service.

The principal auxiliary to an efficient fire department is the prompt notification of the existence of a fire. We believe that as a rule our department is not given the benefit of prompt notification. This results from two causes: First.—The ignorance of the average citizen of the location of the nearest alarm box, and means of operating it, and Second.—An insufficient number of alarm boxes and improper location of many of those now in service.

Better cooperation on the part of the public will do much to strengthen the work of the department. It is of little use to cut down the number of seconds required for a "hitch" after an alarm is given if minutes are to be wasted by the public before the department is notified.

In Appendix I. we outline some methods that may easily be adopted to correct this weakness in the notification service.

A substantial relocation of the alarm boxes of the city and a substantial increase in their number, especially in the southern suburbs, is an imperative need. When many of the boxes were put in service in their present locations, some nearly forty years ago, conditions as to number and extent of buildings were entirely different from those of to-day. Many areas have since been built up for which adequate alarm service has not been provided. Many of the existing boxes are in inconspicuous places, set in from 10 to 25 feet from the junction of intersecting streets so as to be visible from one street only. These boxes should be located on the corner if possible so as to be visible from all directions. All boxes should also be kept conspicuous by frequent coats of bright red paint, and wherever possible should be lamp-post boxes.

We believe that the expense of relocation and the addition of many new boxes would be far more than offset by the results in quicker notification service.

There are to-day in the city about forty schoolhouses which are not supplied with a fire-alarm box connected with the fire-alarm circuits. These should be installed at once. The amount of money needed for this improvement is small in comparison with the resulting protection to the thousands of children in our schoolhouses.

We therefore recommend that a sufficient appropriation be made to enable the Fire-Alarm Branch to install one hundred new street boxes, and to relocate properly many of the existing boxes, and that a sufficient appropriation be made to enable the Schoolhouse Department to equip all schoolhouses with an auxiliary box and auxiliary equipment of the latest type, and also to remove such of the remaining inside boxes as may properly be so removed to the outside of the buildings.

The Fire-Alarm Operating Office.

The uninterrupted operation of this department is a very vital part of the fire organization. The building in which the central office apparatus is located and in which is centered all the department's electrical means of communication is the headquarters building on Bristol street. This building is of general fireproof construction, but is wrongly placed, is on a narrow street, has an excessive exposure hazard, and contains much unnecessary woodwork. Should this building be gutted by fire the city would be entirely without fire-alarm service, all the incoming box circuits, the outgoing tapper and gong circuits and the department telephone system centering there.

A still further danger lies in the fact that all the cables of the fire alarm and telephone circuits are brought into the building at one point. Within the past year a slight fire in or near the manhole dangerously threatened to disrupt all arteries of communication.

The general set-up and construction of the operating office is out of date and seriously at fault. Some of the operating apparatus is obsolete and should be removed. Some should be replaced by more modern machinery. The defects are being remedied to a certain extent, but we believe that the plant can never be brought up to the best modern practice without a removal to another building.

We are strongly of the opinion that as soon as it is possible to do so a one-story and basement structure of absolutely fire-proof construction, for the exclusive use of the fire-alarm operating service, should be built on a location where freedom from future exposure hazard is assured. The Charles street side of the Common offers an ideal location. The requirements of the public safety should override any remonstrance to placing another building on the Common. The building need not be a large one and could be of an ornamental character.

Until this is done we believe that an auxiliary cable station should be placed in the basement of the new City Hall Annex, so that in the event of disaster to the headquarters building the cables could be picked up at this auxiliary station and attached to temporary operating apparatus.

Some arrangement should be made, while present conditions exist, whereby the department telephone circuits may be immediately cut in on to one of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company's switch boards in case of accident to the operating plant. Such an arrangement, while crude, would, with the public telephone system as a substitute for alarm boxes, afford reasonable notification service during any period of disaster.

The department telephone system itself while fairly efficient is not up to modern standards. It would gain in efficiency if equipped and maintained by the local commercial company.

Much of the wiring of alarm circuits, especially in the southern suburbs, is old. In many cases bare wires are carried on poles with high tension circuits. This condition should be remedied as soon as possible in order that a repetition of the consequences of the Christmas storm of 1909 may not recur. At that time considerable portions of Roxbury, West Roxbury and Dorchester were without fire-alarm service for many days.

The Fire-Alarm Branch should be furnished with suitable automobiles. Many of the outlying box circuits carry a large number of boxes, covering a considerable area, so that any interruption of the circuit cuts off a large section from alarm service. It is important that the department have means for quickly reaching and locating the scene of circuit troubles. As it is to-day the efficiency of this branch is reduced through the enormous amount of time taken to reach the outlying circuits. Far more time is often spent on the road than is required to make the actual repairs.

Motor-Propelled Apparatus.

Motor-propelled apparatus has reached a stage in its development where it is an assured factor in a city fire department. This is especially true as regards hose wagons and chemical engines, where the proposition is not far different from the commercial trucking field, the chief difference being in the added speed and in the construction necessary to withstand this added speed. In order that the best results may follow we do not advise that any large proportion be changed at once, but rather that the installation be made gradually.

In Appendix II. we outline a plan with reasons for the gradual installation of motor-propelled apparatus, and we advise the immediate appropriation of the money necessary to purchase and install such apparatus.

Relocation of Apparatus Houses.

Boston, outside of the city proper, is made up of cities or towns which have been annexed and many of which before annexation had fire departments of their own. Some of the houses of these departments are in use to-day. Under conditions which were in existence then, these houses were properly located. Take for example the house of Engine 19 at Mattapan. When this house was built Mattapan was a detached village considerably removed from any other center of habitation. The engine company located there did not have nearly the territory to cover which it could have covered, but still it was necessary. To-day the territory between Grove Hall and Mattapan is largely built up and Engine 19's location is now far "off center"—its circle of activity is cut almost in half by its location close to the Neponset river, the boundary line between Boston and Milton. Moved to the north about three-quarters of a mile on Blue Hill avenue, it would still be in a position to quickly reach Mattapan square, and at the same time to reach quickly the rapidly building Wellington Hill district and the territory to the south of Franklin Field. Other similar instances of "off center" locations are Engine 16 and Ladder 6 on River street at Milton Lower Mills and Engine 37 and Ladder 26 at Longwood. This latter apparatus might very profitably be moved to the southeast near the junction of Huntington avenue and Tremont street. Before any extensive repairs or alterations are made on any of these houses we advise that the question of relocation be carefully considered.

Effect of High Pressure System and Motor-Propelled Apparatus on Number of Firemen.

The effect of the installation of the high-pressure water system in the down town section on the number of firemen required presents an interesting problem, but one which in our judgment can be answered correctly only after the test of experience. We believe that it is impracticable to consider this factor in determining the necessary number of firemen for to-day and indeed for several years to come, for the decrease in the necessary number, if a decrease is possible, will be so small that it can be taken care of more or less automatically by pensions and resignations as they occur.

On the other hand we are of the opinion that the installation of motor-propelled apparatus will in the long run have a considerable effect on the number of men required. One man released from the care of his horses, and thus available for actual fire duty, added to some of the companies on a meal period at the present time would make the difference between efficiency and inefficiency.

We are convinced that not only will motor-propelled apparatus eventually have a very considerable effect on the number of men required, but that it will further have a considerable effect on the number of pieces of apparatus required. While there cannot be any material decrease from the present amount of apparatus for several years to come, we believe that with the growth of the city only small periodic increases should hereafter be necessary.

Size of Fire-Fighting Force.

The city is carrying on its pay rolls to-day as a nominal fire-fighting force something over nine hundred men out of a total enrollment of about 1,018 in the Fire Department. A reduction in this nominal number is caused by detachments from various companies of men for duty in the auxiliary branches, the Fire Alarm service and the Repair Shop. The result is that the Repair Shop is so efficiently manned that it not only fills its auxiliary duty of keeping the apparatus in shape, but finds time to build new apparatus, and the Fire Alarm office has on duty a number in excess of that required in other cities where the amount of work is about the same. Various other more or less temporary details for repair work further reduce the efficient strength of the fire-fighting force. We are of the opinion that with a very few exceptions these detailed men should be returned to duty with the fire-fighting force, and that as men are required for the efficient working of the Fire Alarm and Repair Shop they should be employed as such, without drawing from the fire-fighting force.

The Fire Department should be relieved of certain duties now imposed upon it which have no connection with the fire service. Among these are the winding and the care of thirty odd public clocks, the painting of hydrants and the flushing of streets. These duties decrease the efficiency of the force.

Each engine company should have one engineer and two assistants, each competent and licensed to take charge of the engine. This would not entail any expense upon the city, as assistant engineers receive the same salary as ladder-men and hosemen, while it would greatly relieve the practice of detailing men from one company to another.

The problem of efficiently manning the apparatus necessary to protect the city may be solved by properly distributing and equalizing the present force without any substantial increase. Indeed, it is conceivable that 100, or even 150, men could be added to the department without making their presence conspicuous and without adding greatly to its efficiency as at present organized.

An ideal department would have an equal and constant number of men on duty during each hour of the twenty-four. Such a result can be obtained only by maintaining two equal shifts. While we hold to the present system the number of men on duty at night will always surpass the number of men on duty at meal hours during the daytime. The problem is to keep the apparatus efficiently manned at the time of the greatest weakness without unduly enlarging the number of men. As at present organized many of the companies are undermanned at one period and overmanned at another.

The plan we suggest involves some possible sacrifice on the part of the members of the department. We believe they will cheerfully give their cooperation and willingly assume the sacrifice where the result will show such a manifest advantage to the department itself in whose welfare the men justly take the deepest pride. Indeed, with the adoption of the plan outlined it will be possible to allow each man additional time to be spent with his family without detriment to the service.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters in its last report on Boston's department made recommendations as to what it believed to be an efficient minimum to man the various pieces of apparatus. As an alternative for the maintenance of this minimum the board recommended that the present chemical companies be enlarged in numbers and be equipped with automobile apparatus for service as auxiliary companies.

We believe that both recommendations may be profitably adopted and without increasing substantially the present force. At present eleven and one quarter hours of each day are given over to meals. The meal periods of one and one-fourth hours each are coupled in groups so that each group consumes three and three quarters hours. By spreading the groups into five hours each, or a total of fifteen hours per day, the minimum of men on service during the meal hours will be increased so that every company will be at all times efficiently manned. The change will require the men to begin their meal periods at 6 a. m. and continue them until 9 p. m., as against the present method of beginning at 6.45 a. m. and ending at 8.30 p. m. Any inconvenience that this early breakfast hour may cause may be minimized by a rotation of meal periods so that one group of men will go on that period for one month and another group another month with the result that no one group will have this early hour more than one month out of every four or five. The inconvenience of the last evening period may be very properly offset without loss of efficiency by a daily change, and allowing the men to remain away from quarters from 7.45 until 10.30 or 11 p. m. This would give every man one evening at home between days off.

Furthermore, the saving to the city of the salaries of extra men to do the same work will go a long way toward providing an increase to the present salary rate which has remained unchanged for nearly twenty-five years. In fact, it is not inconceivable that even with a salary increase it would be cheaper for the city when the matter of pensions is taken into account.

Coupled with the change in meal hours is the proposed change in the distribution and character of apparatus. The proper protection of the city requires the maintenance of a large number of apparatus units, so distributed that a small number of these units can reach any point within a short time and a larger number within a reasonably short time thereafter. It is also necessary that each of these units should be manned at all times by a force sufficient for independent action. In view of the fact that it is seldom that any considerable number of the units are in operation at one time and the same time, it is only necessary that each unit have constantly on duty the force necessary for independent action at a large majority of fires. In order to provide against the extraordinary fires certain additional units may be created, each capable in itself of either independent action, or of cooperation with and augmentation of the efficient minimum manning the other apparatus. Each of these additional units will cover a territory considerably greater than that covered by any of the present apparatus.

Every engine and ladder company will then be at all times efficiently manned for independent action and from six to twelve men as a minimum will in addition be available at every first-alarm fire for either independent or auxiliary duty.

This plan includes both recommendations of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and is with the proposed changes in apparatus worked out in detail in appendix 3.

In view of the foregoing we do not advise any increase in the number of the present fire-fighting force other than the filling of existing vacancies and the employment of such reserve force as may be found necessary to keep filled temporary vacancies caused by injury, sickness or special leave.

Reserve Force.

It is desirable that a reserve force be maintained against disaster that may incapacitate a large number of men or to fill vacancies at times of vacations or illness that may lower the numbers beyond the point of efficiency.

Such reserve force may be made up from the civil service list of eligibles in a manner analogous to the practice followed by the postmaster of Boston in providing for reserves during vacations and the holiday season. From such reserve men regular men should be appointed as vacancies occur. Gains to the department follow, not only in having such a force to call upon in time of need, but from the fact that regular men may thus be drawn from those who have already had some experience as firemen. The size of such a reserve force should be determined by the Fire Commissioner after the working out of a plan such as has been tested in the post office. See Appendix 4.

Changes in Types of Apparatus.

We are of the opinion that without loss of effectiveness the present ladder companies 8 and 14, located in Fort Hill square, may be combined into one company. Each covers practically the same territory. A motor-propelled 85-foot aerial truck, equipped with proper and sufficient ground ladders, similar to the motor-propelled aerial truck at Springfield, would fulfill all the requirements of the two companies and the location of a motor-propelled combination chemical in the same quarters would add largely to the efficiency of the intown department. Other changes in apparatus recommended appear in Appendix 2.

Conflagration Hazard.

We can add but little to the excellent recommendations of the Boston Chamber of Commerce report on this matter except that it is our opinion that the construction of third class buildings should be prohibited, not only within this city but also within adjacent territory in the Metropolitan District. We also believe that the conflagration hazard in the present built-up suburban sections would be minimized by the requirement that all roofs be of some non-inflammable material.

Carelessness and Evasion of the Laws.

At the present time the enforcement of laws and ordinances relating to the protection of life and property from fire and explosives is scattered through many departments of the state and city. Permits for the transportation, sale, use or storage of one kind of explosives are issued from one office, for another kind from another office, while licenses to operate under the permits come from still other offices.

In the last analysis the Fire Department is better qualified to pass on these matters and the most interested in the enforcement of laws and ordinances relating to them. We are of the opinion that all such laws and ordinances should be codified and amended to the end that the Fire Department have entire control over the permits and licenses and the making of reasonable regulations for the transportation, sale, use or storage of explosives or highly inflammable substances and initiatory power in the enforcement of laws, ordinances and regulations.

Reasonable fees may be charged for such licenses or permits and similar licenses or permits should be required for the use or operation of certain other trades likely to cause fire.

These fees and the moneys accruing from fines from violations of ordinances relating to them might well go to a pension fund for the Fire Department. New York has some such system.

The entire work of revising, redrafting, codification, fees, etc., is so great as to warrant a special commission which should draft suitable laws.

In conclusion we wish to express our appreciation of the valuable assistance rendered the commission by the Secretary, Mr. Harry A. Gilman.

Respectfully submitted,

COMMISSION ON FIRE PREVENTION.

November 9, 1911.

The question of the extension of the fire limits to include the whole city is now a subject of earnest, serious discussion on the part of the trade unions, various commercial and other organizations, and is also being debated before the City Council. It involves a complete revolution of the whole building question with as sincere and earnest men in opposition to the drastic measure proposed as are found advocating the change. I cannot approve at this time the remedy proposed with the uncertainty as to the actual increased cost, which must of necessity all come upon the rent payer, without a thorough and exhaustive discussion of every phase of the matter. Until this period of hysteria has passed and the atmosphere is somewhat clearer upon this subject, I cannot subscribe to any recommendation except one which would cover the question of non-inflammable roofs.

With this single exception I am in hearty accord with the recommendations of the commission.

Representing Boston Central Labor Union.

APPENDIX 1.

OUTLINE OF PLAN FOR CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION ON LOCATION AND OPERATION OF FIRE-ALARM BOXES.

1. At least once in every school year have every school class in the city, excepting elementary grades been visited by a fireman in uniform, with a fire-alarm box. The method of opening the box and of giving the alarm to be explained and illustrated and then each pupil caused actually to open the box and pull the hook. This should be followed by a brief talk on the necessity of the pupil's family being familiar with the location of the nearest box to their homes.

2. Place a dummy fire-alarm box (not connected in circuit) in each of the various apparatus houses in the suburban districts. Invite citizens to visit at any reasonable hour the apparatus houses to operate a fire-alarm box.

3. District chiefs or other officers may, upon request, attend meetings of the local improvement societies or similar organizations, exhibit and explain the fire-alarm box, as in the schools, and give brief talks on location of boxes and the prevention of and protection from fire.

4. Have the members of the various companies in the residential districts fill out cards similar to the form attached hereto. Leave cards with each family requesting that the card be hung upon the telephone or posted in a conspicuous place.

APPENDIX 2.

MOTOR-PROPELLED APPARATUS.

We advise the immediate purchase of:
Ten motor-propelled combination chemicals.

Six motor-propelled hose wagons.

One motor-propelled aerial ladder truck.

Three motor-propelled ordinary ladder trucks.

Seven automobiles for district chiefs.

Two suitable automobiles for Fire Alarm Branch.

One suitable automobile for repair shop.

One motor tractor for steam fire engine.

One power boat for marine district chief.

Combination chemicals should carry from 500 to 800 feet of leading hose, a double chemical tank equipment, with the necessary chemical hose, one or two short extension ladders and the usual equipment of tools, etc.

Of the ten combination chemicals advised nine should be put in service in the locations outlined in Appendix 3, while the tenth should be used as a relief for the combination chemicals and the hose wagons.

While we advise the immediate purchase of only six motor-propelled hose wagons, we believe that all wagons should eventually be motor-propelled, and would recommend that after the initial purchase they be installed at the rate of ten a year. This would give ample opportunity to develop the necessary chauffeurs and would give the department a chance to gradually accustom itself to the change. At the same time the city would have the opportunity to take advantage in its later purchases of any improvements in apparatus or types. Of the first six wagons we are of the opinion that one should be installed with either Engine 13, 14, or 37 in order to give Parker Hill the protection of one of these wagons. Another might well be placed with Engine 46 at Peabody square, Dorchester, and another with Engine 45 at Roslindale. Each of the last two companies covers a large radius with long runs in all directions. As a general rule companies covering large areas and where the hydrant pressure is generally ample without an engine, should be supplied with these wagons before any of the intown companies are changed.

We have advised only a small initial purchase of ladder trucks as we believe they are not yet such an assured success as are hose wagons. Springfield, however, has had most excellent results with the electric aerial ladder truck, and we advise the location of a truck of this type at Fort Hill square as explained in another part of this report. We also advise the location of a motor-propelled truck in the present quarters of Chemical 11 in Dorchester in place of that piece of apparatus. The two other trucks advised may be located where they will receive good tests.

If the results of the work of the above trucks warrant it, after a fair trial, we advise that other motor-propelled ladder trucks be purchased and installed yearly, in about the same proportion as hose wagons.

For chief's vehicles automobiles are highly desirable, and if funds permit, all chiefs might well be supplied with them. We do not believe that they are an absolute necessity in all the districts. Districts 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 14 are the districts most in need of such vehicles. Each of these districts have runs which it is impossible for a district chief to cover with best results with a horse. It is required that district chiefs visit daily all quarters under their command, and this entails a very considerable mileage and loss of time on the road. The duties of a district chief are now so numerous, in addition to command at fires, that all reasonable means should be taken to conserve their time. We therefore advise the purchase of automobiles for the above districts, and we recommend that the remaining districts be similarly supplied as funds permit. We also recommend that the chief of the marine district be provided a suitable power launch. A large and valuable part of his duties is to familiarize himself with wharf and dock property and its construction. It can readily be seen that without the aid of such a craft during his inspection he may be separated from his command at a time of need.

In this connection we may mention the desirability of dredging the approaches to any point on the water front where a fireboat could be of service.

For the reasons stated in the body of our report, we are of the opinion that not less than two suitable automobiles are a necessity for the Fire-Alarm Branch from the point of view of both efficiency and economy.

The same reasons support the purchase of an automobile for the use of the superintendent of the repair shop.

Gasolene pumping engines do not appear to have reached a sufficiently assured development to warrant their purchase by this city except in the nature of an experiment. There are engines on the market to-day which would probably stand the test of suburban service, but we cannot feel assured of this. Extreme speed in an engine is not ordinarily necessary in the suburbs, and reliability is, for the engine may be called upon for heavy service in the congested districts.

There are on the market to-day several so-called tractors, by the use of which a steamer can be converted into a motor-propelled vehicle. These are of two types; one of a detachable nature requiring little change in a horse-drawn steamer, excepting the removal of the front wheels, and the other requiring a complete rebuilding of the steamer from the pumps forward. New York City has one of the latter type now in service, and we advise watching for a time the work of this New York engine before purchasing such apparatus. The detachable tractor appears to be efficient and practical. The average cost of these tractors, which are gasolene, gasolene-electric and pure electric driven, is about $5,000.

We believe that for the purpose of test and experience one of these tractors should be purchased and placed in service with a motor-propelled hose wagon.

APPENDIX 3.

DISTRIBUTION OF FORCE.

The distribution of the members of the department given below is based on the plan of having the department go to meals in four periods instead of three, as is the practice to-day. We believe, however, that this will not operate to prevent such men as may reasonably desire so to do having two meal periods of two hours each every day.

The number of members assigned to each piece of apparatus includes both officers and men and provides for only the regular stated absences on days off and meal hours. We are aware that a certain amount of outside work (such as inspection of buildings, salting hydrants and testing fire-alarm boxes) is necessary, but believe that except in the case of inspection of buildings in the down-town districts, the time required for this work is so small that it may be carried on with the companies at the strength indicated. The companies in the down-town districts are large enough not to be interfered with by the necessary inspection work.

It will be seen that the accompanying plan involves the creation of nine new crews with combination chemicals and the manning of the remaining ladder, engine and chemical companies without the addition of men to the department. Under a three-shift meal period this arrangement would leave all companies practically as well manned as they are at present. With a four-shift meal arrangement the proposed plan shows that in a large majority of cases companies will be stronger during the meal hours, from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m., than they are to-day. In addition to the present strength the department will have the crews of the combination chemicals with apparatus sufficient to handle a large majority of the fires.

The running cards of the combination chemicals should be so arranged that at least one will respond on a first alarm to every box in the city. For the most beneficial results the equipment of these companies should not be used except when first to reach a fire. They should also be the first pieces of apparatus to be returned to quarters.

Approximately 885 officers and men are required to man the various pieces of apparatus. This leaves as a surplus twenty or more men from the present force. These may be so placed that they fill the vacancies caused by a captain acting as district chief, etc., and other temporary vacancies as far as possible.

Vacancies caused by the vacation season and by sickness, injury or special leave may be filled from the reserve force. Experience may show that many of the companies, operated in conjunction with the combination chemicals, can for short periods stand single vacancies and that only a small reserve force may be necessary to supply such emergencies.

In addition to the various chiefs and their aides, chauffeurs, or drivers, we believe that the apparatus with the changes, additions and substitutions which we have advised should be named as follows:

RESERVE FORCE.

This force will be drawn from the eligible civil service list. Such men as are thought necessary may be maintained at the drill school where their temporary service will afford preparation for their later work as regular men. The size of the reserve force and the manner in which it may be kept available may be estimated by following the analogous situation in the Boston post office.

In the post office the reserve men assist in maintaining an auxiliary force from which men are drawn as they are needed in the service. This involves no expense to that department except when a man is actually filling a temporary vacancy. A number of such reserves will always be on duty in the fire department as the regular force is certain to be reduced below its efficient minimum from illness or injury. During the vacation period a larger number of reserve men may be drawn upon to keep the companies up to the standard outlined in appendix 3. This elastic arrangement will prevent overmanning, and insure against undermanning of the department.

FREE LECTURES AT PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Free public lectures with lantern illustrations are now being given in the lecture hall of the Boston Public Library. No tickets are required. The entrance is from Boylston street only. The doors will be opened at seven o'clock and closed when the hall is filled.

GIVING THE CHILDREN A SHOW.

Milwaukee is about to establish child welfare centers in the poorer districts of the city with the object of teaching the mothers how to keep the children healthy. The first center has already been opened in the Polish section and Polish speaking doctors and nurses will here instruct the mothers. Visiting nurses will also be provided at the city's expense. Most municipalities pass ordinances against playing ball on the streets and like regulations and then leave the children to shift for themselves. The public owes it to every child, especially the child of those parents who are too poor to pay for the services, to give it a place to play and for recreation, and every child is entitled to such care as will develop all its faculties both physical and mental.—City Hall.

PROCEEDINGS OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Nov. 6, 1911.

A regular meeting of the School Committee of the City of Boston was held in the School Committee Chamber, Mason-street Building, at 8.07 o'clock P. M., the Chairman presiding.

Present: Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Ellis and Leen.

AMENDMENT AND APPROVAL OF RECORDS.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the records of the meeting of Oct. 16, 1911, be amended as follows:—

Page 130. Transfers: Insert the word kindergarten after the word "assistant" in the rank of Blanche Horner, so that the item will read as follows:—

Lawrence District, Blanche Horner, assistant, kindergarten, to the same position in the Henry L. Pierce District, Oct. 17, 1911.

The reading of the records of the last meeting was omitted, the Board approving them as printed and amended.

APPOINTMENTS OF TEACHERS.

The Chairman stated the question was on approving the appointments of teachers as reported by the Superintendent and laid over at the last meeting.

The appointments were approved.

CO-OPERATION OF SCHOOL BOYS AND SCHOOL GIRLS WITH CITY AUTHORITIES IN KEEPING STREETS CLEAN.

The following communication was received:—

CITY OF BOSTON.
Office of the Mayor.

October 20, 1911.

Boston School Committee,
Mason street, Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen: About a year ago, or, more precisely, on September 21, 1910, I addressed a communication to the School Committee, enclosing an appeal to the school boys and school girls of Boston to aid the authorities in keeping the streets clean. Many teachers and pupils responded and the result has been a marked improvement in the appearance of our public thoroughfares. There is a tendency, however, owing to the forgetfulness and careless habits of many citizens, to revert to the unsightly conditions against which my appeal was directed. My attention has been called particularly to the danger to rubber tires of auto vehicles from fragments of glass bottles, especially unreturned milk bottles, that may in some manner be cast into the roadways.

I should appreciate an effort on your part to reawaken interest among the hundred thousand scholars of the public schools and should think that this might be accomplished by having my earlier letter read once more in the different classes at an appointed time.

Very truly yours,

John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor.

Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Secretary be directed to transmit a sufficient number of copies of the letter issued by the Mayor, with reference to the co-operation of school boys and school girls with the City authorities in keeping the streets clean, to the principals of schools and districts to enable them to furnish each teacher with a copy thereof which shall be read to their classes.

ESTABLISHMENT OF A NEW SCHOOL, UPPER GRADES, IN THE DWIGHT DISTRICT.

An order was received from the City Council, under date of Oct. 16, 1911, that the Board be requested, through His Honor the Mayor, to consider and report on the advisability of establishing a school, upper grades, in the Dwight District.

Referred to the Superintendent for consideration and report.

ESTABLISHMENT OF KINDERGARTEN, WILLIAM LLOYD GARRISON SCHOOL-HOUSE.

A communication was received from the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners, under date of Oct. 23, 1911, stating that in accordance with the order passed at the meeting of Oct. 2, 1911, (see p. 127) an additional kindergarten has been established in the William Lloyd Garrison School-house, Lewis District, to take effect Oct. 3, 1911.

Placed on file.

COMPLETION OF JOHN WINTHROP SCHOOL-HOUSE.

A communication was received from the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners, under date of Oct. 31, 1911, reporting that the new John Winthrop School-house has been sufficiently completed to be occupied on Monday, Nov. 6, 1911.

Placed on file.

DISCONTINUANCE OF PREMISES HIRED FOR SCHOOL ACCOMMODATION.

A communication was received from the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners, under date of Nov. 1, 1911, stating that the following hired premises, used for school purposes, were given up Oct. 31, 1911:—

Stores, 295 and 301 Blue Hill avenue.
Chapel, 33 Chambers street.
All Saints' Hall, 1446 Columbus avenue.
Stores, 1448 Columbus avenue.
Stores, 511 and 515 Dudley street.

Placed on file.

TRANSFER OF APPROPRIATION FOR ADDITIONAL SCHOOL ACCOMMODATIONS.

The following communications were received:—

CITY OF BOSTON—SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Oct. 27th, 1911.

Mr. Thornton D. Apollonio,
Secretary, School Committee,
Mason street, Boston.

Dear Sir:—

In explanation of the accompanying request, I would say that on March 16, 1910, this Board notified you of the amounts required for additional accommodation in the school districts specified in your vote of March 7, 1910. Among them was Item No. 5, Washington-Allston District, elementary school, lower grades, land only, $15,000.

On November 5, 1910, the Board notified the Board of Street Commissioners to take a piece of property containing, approximately, 26,000 square feet, situated on Holmes avenue, Brighton, in the Washington-Allston District. For this piece of land there has been paid the sum of $5731.99, leaving a balance of $9218.01.

After a conference with Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Brooks, it has been decided, and papers dated October 25, 1911, have been forwarded to the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of a piece of property situated on Washington Street and Corey Road, Brighton, containing, approximately, 30,000 square feet. It has been discovered that this piece of property is not in the Washington-Allston District, but is in the Bennett District, and this order simply covers the transfer of the balance unexpended as originally voted to meet the cost of the second taking.

Very truly yours,
Charles Logue,
Chairman.

Boston, October 27th, 1911.

Mr. Thornton D. Apollonio,
Secretary, School Committee,
Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners have this day

VOTED: That subject to the approval of His Honor the Mayor, that the School Committee be requested to concur in the vote of this Board, as follows, viz:—To transfer the following unexpended balances of various appropriations for additional school accommodations:—

From Elementary School, Washington-Allston District, lower grades, land only, Bond issue of 1910 $9218.01

To Elementary School, Bennett District, lower grades, land only $9218.01

A true copy.

Attest:

H. B. Fisher,

Assistant Secretary.

The communications were placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That this Board hereby concurs in the action of the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners on Oct. 27, 1911, in transferring the following unexpended balance of an appropriation for additional school accommodations:—

From Elementary School, Washington-Allston District, lower grades, land only, Bond issue of 1910 $9218.01
To Elementary School, Bennett District, lower grades, land only $9218.01

CITY OF BOSTON—SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Nov. 6, 1911.

Mr. Thornton D. Apollonio,
Secretary, School Committee,
Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

In order to meet certain deficits which exist or will exist on various items of additional school accommodations under construction, the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners ask the School Committee to act in concurrence with this Board and make the transfers indicated on the accompanying statement.

Yours very truly,
Charles Logue,
Chairman.

(Statement enclosed.)

Placed on file.

ORDERED, That the following-named teacher be retired on pension, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 589 of the Acts of 1908 as amended by Chapter 617 of the Acts of 1910, the date of retirement and rate of pension to be as hereinafter specified:—

Sherwin District—Elizabeth F. Todd; length of service, 40 years, Nov. 1, 1911, $328.
Passed, a majority of the Board voting in the affirmative.

WITHDRAWAL OF AN ASSIGNMENT, DISCIPLINARY CLASS, ABRAHAM LINCOLN DISTRICT.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of Nov. 6, 1911, withdrawing, subject to the approval of the Board, the assignment of F. Helen Mayo, assistant, to the disciplinary class in the Abraham Lincoln District, to take effect Dec. 4, 1911.

Placed on file, and the withdrawal of the assignment approved.

EMPLOYMENT OF ANNIE E. BANCROFT IN THE CONTINUATION SCHOOL.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the employment in the Continuation School as an assistant, elementary course, beginning Oct. 31, 1911, of Annie E. Bancroft, assistant in the Agassiz District, is hereby authorized for the school year 1911-12 unless previously terminated by the Superintendent. Miss Bancroft to be paid at the rate of one thousand eighty dollars ($1080) per year while serving in the Continuation School.

SUPERVISOR OF LICENSED MINORS ON HALF TIME AND HALF PAY.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That beginning Nov. 1, 1911, Philip Davis, Supervisor of Licensed Minors, be placed on half time and that he be paid at the rate of one-half of his regular compensation during such service.

INSPECTION OF EVENING AND CONTINUATION SCHOOLS IN CINCINNATI.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the Director of Evening and Continuation Schools is hereby authorized to inspect evening and continuation schools in Cincinnati and to attend the annual meeting of the National Industrial Education Society at an expense not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100).

DISMISSAL OF SPECIAL CLASSES ON FRIDAYS.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That principals of elementary districts in which special classes are established are hereby authorized to suspend the afternoon session of such classes on such Fridays as the assistant superintendent in charge of special classes may request, said suspension being for the purpose of allowing teachers to visit the homes of pupils or to attend lectures or courses provided for the benefit of teachers.

ADMISSION OF OBSERVATION AND PRACTICE TEACHERS TO TRADE SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That with the approval of the Massachusetts Board of Education the Board of Superintendents is hereby authorized to admit not to exceed six persons to the Trade School for Girls, for the purpose of observation and practice teaching during the school year 1911-12. Persons so admitted shall have such qualifications as the Board of Superintendents, with the approval of the Massachusetts Board of Education, shall establish. They shall perform such duties in the school as the principal may direct and shall be subject to the control and direction of the principal in all matters exactly as regular teachers in the school, but shall receive no compensation for their services. The Board of Superintendents shall determine the length of the training period and may issue a certificate covering attendance and accomplishment to such persons who have satisfactorily completed the work prescribed.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MEMBERSHIP, OCTOBER 31, 1911.

The following report from the Superintendent, under date of Nov. 6, 1911, was received:—

The total membership of all public day schools of the city of Boston, including the Normal, high, Latin, elementary grades, kindergarten, Horace Mann and Spectacle Island schools and the Trade School for Girls was, on Oct. 31, 1911, 101,634. This is a net increase, compared with the corresponding date of last year, of 24 pupils.

This number of pupils is distributed as follows:—

Normal School.....	228
High and Latin Schools.....	13,438
Elementary Schools.....	87,520
Special Schools.....	448

Total.....101,634

The high and Latin Schools have 575 more pupils than last year. The elementary grades have fallen off 893 but the kindergartens have increased 313, making a net elementary school decrease of 580. The number in the special schools is 31 larger than in 1910, and in the Normal School the number is 2 less.

It should be noted in connection with the loss in the elementary schools that their increase between September 30 and October 31, 1911, was 1659 as compared with an increase of but 1215 during the corresponding period of last year, which may indicate that the present deficiency in numbers may be made up shortly.

The number belonging October 31, 1911 and 1910, by schools was as follows:—

	1910	1911
Normal	230	228
High and Latin.....	12,863	13,438

REMOVAL OF OLD AND UNAUTHORIZED BOOKS FROM THE SCHOOLS.

A communication was received from the Board of Apportionment, under date of Nov. 6, 1911, in response to the order passed at the meeting of Oct. 16, 1911 (see p. 138), instructing that Board to see that books which have become unduly worn or unclear are not permitted to be used in the public schools; and to have removed from the schools as rapidly as may be practicable, all text and reference books which are no longer on the authorized list. This report states that a circular has been issued directing principals of schools and districts to see to it that books now in use in the schools which are no longer upon the authorized list are replaced by authorized books as soon as practicable, and to make requisitions for this purpose out of the per capita appropriation for 1912 before ordering additional or new equipment. Principals have also been asked to arrange for the return of all unusable books. It would not, however, be possible because of lack of space in the quarters occupied by the Supply Room, to arrange for the receipt at one time of an unlimited number of books, such as would result from carrying the above instructions fully into immediate effect.

Arrangements may, however, be made for the exchange of a particular line of books, and the Board of Apportionment has now asked for the return of all of the old Franklin Arithmetics in the schools, and principals of districts have been requested to send to the office of the Business Agent by Dec. 15, 1911, a requisition for a sufficient number of new Arithmetics selected from the authorized list. In case principals shall find it impossible under the per capita appropriation to complete this change in books in the near future, they have been directed to present their respective cases to the Assistant Superintendent in charge and obtain authority to act otherwise.

The old books are not to be sent from the respective school buildings until the new books have been received.

CLERICAL ASSISTANCE FOR BOARD OF SUPERINTENDENTS.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Oct. 30, 1911, in response to the order passed at the meeting of Oct. 16, 1911 (see p. 138), requesting that Board to report whether or not its members are now provided with sufficient clerical assistance to meet their reasonable requirements, and if not, what additional assistance of this character is now needed, stating that the nature of the clerical service required by the individual Assistant Superintendents makes it somewhat difficult to arrange a schedule which will entirely meet their convenience, and yet will not result in the time of the clerk or clerks assigned to them being too fully occupied at one time, and not sufficiently so at another.

The Board of Superintendents is of the opinion that the number of assistants now employed to render this service, which was increased from one to two last December, is for the present sufficient to meet the requirements of the individual members of the Board; provided, the time and efforts of these assistants are properly apportioned and employed. A plan has been recently adopted and is now in operation, having this end in view, which seems to promise satisfactory results.

Under these circumstances, the Board respectfully reports that for the present, at least, no further clerical assistance is required, aside from occasional and temporary work in connection with examinations or other special work, and that it will feel at liberty to request additional clerical assistance hereafter whenever, in its judgment, the same shall be required for the proper discharge of the duties its members are called upon to perform.

HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTION FOR DEAF CHILDREN.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Oct. 23, 1911, to whom was referred at the meeting of Oct. 2, 1911 (see p. 128), a communication from Joshua Cohen and other graduates of the Horace Mann School for the Deaf, asking that opportunities for high school instruction be afforded deaf pupils, reporting that in the judgment of the Board it is advisable to provide high school instruction for such deaf pupils as may wish to profit thereby.
Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Superintendent is hereby authorized to arrange for the admission of graduates of the Horace Mann School for the Deaf beginning September, 1912, to such one of the general high schools of the city as he may determine, and that an extra teacher especially qualified for the work be assigned to the school to assist these pupils to do the regular work of the school.

TEACHERS TO QUALIFY IN PALMER SYSTEM OF PENMANSHIP.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Nov. 6, 1911, with reference to new teachers qualifying in the Palmer System of Penmanship.
Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That all teachers in the elementary schools and all teachers of commercial branches in the high schools who have entered the permanent service since Sept. 1, 1911, and all of such teachers who shall hereafter enter the service, shall qualify in the Palmer System of Penmanship within two years from the date of such appointment.

Placed on file, and the course of study amended accordingly.

AMENDMENTS TO RULES AND REGULATIONS.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Oct. 23, 1911, recommending amendments to section 138, paragraph XXIV. of the rules with reference to the day industrial school certificate and licenses.
Placed on file.

The following order was offered:—
ORDERED, That the rules be amended as follows:

Sect. 138, par. XXIV. Strike out the paragraph describing the certificate requirements, and substitute in place thereof the following:

The requirements for this certificate are: At least five years' successful experience in a public day industrial school under a license granted by the board of superintendents.

Strike out the closing sentence in the paragraph describing the issue of licenses, and substitute in place thereof the following:

Licenses shall expire on the thirty-first day of August of the sixth year following the date of issue and shall not be extended or renewed, so that the paragraph will read as follows:

The board of superintendents may issue licenses to teach industrial subjects in evening industrial schools to persons who present satisfactory evidence of possessing good character and health, and who, upon investigation, shall be found to have had three years' satisfactory experience in the practical pursuit of the industry the candidate is to teach, or one year's successful experience in teaching such subject to classes. Licenses shall expire on the thirty-first day of August of the sixth year following the date of issue and shall not be extended or renewed.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Oct. 30, 1911, recommending an amendment to section 221, paragraph 2 of the regulations with respect to permitting publishers of books or manufacturers of educational material to visit principals.
Placed on file.

The following order was offered:
ORDERED, That the regulations be amended as follows:

Sect. 221, par. 2. Add the following at the close of the paragraph,—provided, that publishers of books or manufacturers of educational material who shall obtain a permit from the office of the Superintendent of Schools, may visit principals at such times as will not interfere with the regular work of the schools,—so that the paragraph will read as follows:

2. No agent or other person shall be permitted to enter any school premises for the purpose of exhibiting, either to teachers or pupils, any book or article offered for sale, or for any commercial purpose whatever; provided, that publishers of books or manufacturers of educational material who shall obtain a permit from the office of the Superintendent of Schools, may visit principals at such times as will not interfere with the regular work of the schools.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

ELECTION OF A TRUANT OFFICER.

A communication was received from the Secretary, under date of Nov. 6, 1911, reporting that pursuant to the order passed at the meeting of Oct. 16, 1911 (see p. 139), directing him to make application to the Civil Service Commission for the certification of names of candidates eligible for appointment to a vacancy in the truant officer force, the following-named candidates have been certified for said position:—

Francis P. Aieta, Patrick J. Chambers, and Joseph W. Ferris.
Placed on file.

The Board proceeded to act on the aforesaid certification, and by direction of the Chairman, the Secretary called the roll. The members as their names were called respectively stated that they voted as follows:—

For FRANCIS P. AIETA:—Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Ellis and Leen—4.

Absent—Mr. Lee—1.

The Chairman declared Francis P. Aieta duly elected as truant officer, the appointment to take effect Nov. 10, 1911.

MEDICAL ATTENDANCE FOR PUPILS.

A communication was received from the Business Agent, under date of Oct. 24, 1911, transmitting bills for medical services rendered a pupil in the Chapman School, together with an opinion of the Corporation Counsel to the effect that the City is under no legal obligations to pay these bills.

Placed on file, and the Secretary directed to address a communication to the Chief of the Division of Child Hygiene or the Board of Health, calling his attention to the fact that occasionally pupils in the public schools are in urgent need of immediate medical attention, and that it might be well to consider some means by which such emergencies may be promptly and properly dealt with by the staff of school physicians.

APPROPRIATIONS AND EXPENDITURES TO NOV. 1, 1911.

A communication was received from the Business Agent, under date of Nov. 1, 1911, submitting a statement showing the appropriations, expenditures and balances of the first ten months of the current financial year, the total expenditures and expenditures for the corresponding ten months of the financial year 1910-11, with the increases and decreases in the several items.

Placed on file.

Paragraph VI. Add to the clause describing certificate inclusions XIX., XX., XXIII., XXIV.—to read as follows:—

This certificate includes certificates designated VII., VIII., XIII., XIV., XV., XIX., XX., XXIII., XXIV.

Paragraph VII. Insert in the third line of the second clause the word "day" to read as follows:—

The requirements for this certificate are: Evidence of three years' successful experience in teaching and governing regular graded day schools. (See, also, Section 359.)

Paragraph XI. Add to clause three the words "except as hereinafter specified", to read as follows:—

For members of the supervising staff: Such as the board of superintendents may determine, except as hereinafter specified.

Paragraph XI. Insert to follow the paragraphs describing the requirements for certificates in special studies valid in day high schools, the following:—

Certificates in special studies valid in day high schools are valid for the same subjects in evening high schools, in evening elementary schools, in day industrial schools and in evening industrial schools.

Paragraph XI. Add at the close of the paragraph describing the requirements for industrial instructors in dressmaking and millinery the following:— or four years' successful experience in teaching industrial subjects in a day industrial school.

The industrial instructors' certificates include the industrial assistants' certificates in the same branches—to read as follows:—

For industrial instructors in household science: Graduation from a college or university approved by the board of superintendents, and evidence of one year's successful experience in teaching classes in household science and arts; or three years' successful experience in teaching in the High School of Practical Arts. For industrial instructors in dressmaking and millinery: Either a diploma from an institution giving approved courses in industrial training, and two years' successful experience in teaching industrial subjects; or four years' trade experience, a satisfactory portion of which shall include experience in teaching, and such evidence of business ability as the board of superintendents may determine; or three years' successful experience in teaching industrial subjects in the High School of Practical Arts; or four years' successful experience in teaching industrial subjects in a day industrial school.

The industrial instructors' certificates include the industrial assistants' certificates in the same branches.

Paragraph XIX. Add to the clause describing certificate inclusions—XXIII.—to read as follows:—

This certificate includes certificates designated XX., XXIII.

Paragraph XXIV. Insert the two following paragraphs to follow the paragraphs describing the requirements for day industrial school certificate.

This certificate includes certificates designated XX., XXIII.

Candidates holding valid certificates other than certificate designated XXIV. may be employed in the day industrial schools if, in the opinion of the board of superintendents, they possess the requisite qualifications.

Strike out the closing paragraph under Licenses.

Section 140, paragraph 2. Strike out the paragraph and substitute in place thereof the following:—

2. The holder of a certificate is eligible for appointment as a member of the supervising staff, or as a permanent, temporary or substitute teacher in the day, evening or continuation schools, or in playgrounds; provided, that the rank to which the appointment is made is included in the certificate which the candidate holds. (See Elementary School, Special Certificate, and Sect. 297 of the regulations for playground certificate requirements.)

Section 143, paragraph 4. Strike out the paragraph and substitute in place thereof the following:—

4. Certificates issued to graduates of the Boston Normal School prior to June 1, 1906, shall cease to be valid June 30, 1912, except as hereinafter specified; provided, that the limitation as to age shall not affect the validity of certificates issued prior to January 1, 1909.

Section 144, paragraph 1. Add the following—nor affect the validity of certificates issued prior to January 1, 1909—to read as follows:—

Section 144. 1. No person shall, after January 1, 1909, except as hereinafter provided in this section, be appointed to a permanent position as a member of the supervising staff or as a teacher in the public schools, whose name does not appear among the highest three of the names on the proper eligible list willing to accept such appointment, without regard to the dates on which the names were placed on said list; nor shall any person be appointed in accordance with the provisions of this section to take effect later than the thirtieth day of June following the fortieth birthday of such person; provided, however, that these restrictions shall not affect the promotion of a permanent teacher to a higher rank in a school of the same class as that in which such teacher is already employed; and provided, further, that the limitation as to age shall not affect the promotion of permanent teachers to any position in the public schools, nor affect the validity of certificates issued prior to January 1, 1909.

Section 144, paragraph 2. Strike out the paragraph and substitute in place thereof the following:—

2. The names of persons appointed to permanent positions in the day school service shall be removed from the eligible lists. A person whose name appears upon such lists may, upon request, have the same removed therefrom at any time, and upon written application made during the month of June, may have it restored to the next eligible lists with the same rating as before, or, if a graduate of the Boston Normal School, with such re-rating as the board of superintendents may determine; provided, that such restoration shall not affect the validity of the certificate and shall not operate to extend the original period for which the certificate is valid.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

The order laid over at the meeting of Oct. 16, 1911 (see pp. 135 and 136), amending section 138, par. XI. of the rules, with reference to the requirements for special certificates was taken up and amended by striking out the five closing paragraphs which follow the paragraph relating to assistants in music and substituting in place thereof the following:—

Strike out the paragraph describing the requirements for certificates in special studies valid in day high schools, and substitute in place thereof the following:—

For certificates in special studies valid in day high schools, including commercial branches, music and physical training: A diploma from a high school approved by the board of superintendents, or evidence of an equivalent academic education, and evidence of three years' successful experience in teaching and governing schools of such grade or grades as the board of superintendents may determine.

For the special certificate, drawing and manual training in high schools: A diploma from an art school, or from a manual training school, approved by the board of superintendents, or evidence of an equivalent academic education; and evidence of three years' successful experience in teaching and governing schools of such grade or grades as the board of superintendents may determine.

The order as amended passed.

DISCONTINUANCE OF RANKS OF INSTRUCTOR AND ASSISTANT INSTRUCTOR IN HIGH SCHOOLS.

The order laid over at the meeting of Oct. 16, 1911 (see pp. 133-135), amending sections 290 and 291 of the regulations with reference to the discontinuance of the ranks of instructor and assistant instructor in high schools was taken up and amended as follows:—

Paragraph 7. Strike out the paragraph and insert in place thereof the following:—

7. In each high and Latin school attended by girls, one instructor in physical training may be appointed. When the number of girls belonging exceeds 500, one assistant instructor in physical training may be appointed; and when the number of girls belonging exceeds 1200, one additional assistant instructor in physical training may be appointed.

Paragraph 9, clause 6. Strike out the clause and insert in place thereof the following:—

In the Mechanic Arts High School one first assistant, who shall be head of a department, four assistants, and instructors in mechanical departments, instead of junior-masters.

Paragraph 10, clause 4. Strike out the clause and insert in place thereof the following:—

In the Mechanic Arts High School one clerical assistant, and in the mechanical departments two masters who shall be heads of departments, three instructors, one special assistant for each shop or drawing room in constant use, and three special assistants to serve as tool keepers.

The order, as amended, passed.

The order laid over at the meeting of Oct. 16, 1911 (see p. 135), with reference to the change in the rank of assistant instructors in high schools beginning Jan. 1, 1912, was taken up and passed.

The order laid over at the meeting of Oct. 16, 1911 (see p. 135), eliminating the word "special" in designating the rank of teachers in high schools was taken up and passed.

The order laid over at the meeting of Oct. 16, 1911 (see p. 135), authorizing the substitution of instructors for junior masters and assistant instructors for assistants in high schools was taken up and passed.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That beginning Jan. 1, 1912, the rank of assistant instructor in the mechanical departments of the Mechanic Arts high school is hereby discontinued and that thereafter the persons now serving as assistant instructors be designated as instructors, but this change in the rank of said teachers shall not affect their salaries during the remainder of the school year 1911-12.

ADDITIONS TO LIST OF AUTHORIZED TEXT-BOOKS.

The order laid over at the meeting of Oct. 16, 1911 (see p. 135), authorizing the use of certain books as text-books for pupils in the intensified commercial courses in the Roxbury High School was taken up and passed.

The order laid over at the meeting of Oct. 16, 1911 (see p. 135), authorizing the use of "English for New Americans," by W. Stanwood Field and Mary E. Coveny, in the evening elementary schools was taken up and passed.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE TO ASSUME FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR SCHOOL ATHLETICS.

The report received from the Superintendent at the meeting of Oct. 2, 1911 (see p. 124), with reference to the desirability of the School Committee assuming the financial control of school athletics, was taken from the table, and placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That upon the presentation of a satisfactory plan which will meet with its approval, the School Committee is prepared to consider the assumption of the financial responsibility for school athletics.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE.

The Superintendent submitted the following report, under date of Nov. 6, 1911, in response to the order passed at the meeting of Oct. 2, 1911 (see p. 128), authorizing him to report what his policy is with regard to vocational guidance, and to submit a plan for safe and sane vocational guidance:—

Vocational guidance must continue to be given as it always has been given, chiefly by the teachers in the schools. In order to make the advice of these teachers as effective as possible, it is desirable that every facility be offered to them; on the one hand, to inform themselves with reference to the actual needs of the various professional, commercial and industrial vocations of the community and the particular abilities needed on the part of employees in these vocations, and on the other hand, to increase their ability to judge as accurately as possible the latent abilities of each pupil.

The work of vocational guidance should be chiefly concerned with assisting the pupil to select that form of additional education which will ultimately enable him to advance himself in his life work. In order to accomplish this purpose the work of vocational guidance should include the following items:—

1. A careful investigation of the vocations of the community, both with reference to the opportunities afforded in each and the requirements for success in each.
2. A consideration of the details of the school system so that such additional modifications of the course of study and methods of instruction as may be necessary to the better preparation of pupils for entrance into vocations may be made.

3. Work with teachers so that they may more rapidly become familiar with the needs of the community, more expert in the ability to judge the qualities of pupils, and more thoroughly informed with reference to the particular merits of each of the various opportunities for continued education existing in various public and private evening and continuation schools. This involves the organization of conferences between business men and vocational counsellors, definite courses of instruction for vocational counsellors, and conferences with individual counsellors with reference to particular cases and special difficulties.

4. Work with parents by means of lectures and personal conferences to the end that they may understand the importance of a wise selection of a vocation for their children and may co-operate fully and intelligently with the school in its effort to adapt itself to the general needs of the community and to the particular needs of each pupil.

As supplementary to the above purposes I deem it desirable that an adequate system of keeping track of pupils for the first two or three years after they leave school should be established, and that accurate records of work accomplished be kept.

Manifestly any system of giving vocational advice is likely to be in error, but the possibility of error will certainly be decreased in proportion as the counsellors increase in information and skill.

The Superintendent feels confident that the work outlined above cannot be accomplished unless it is given in charge of some one who gives his entire time and attention to this important problem. Mr. Louis P. Nash, who was requested last year to investigate and report with reference to vocational guidance has completed very satisfactorily the work assigned to him but prefers at this time to remain in regular school work. Since there is no one else now in the service whose experience justifies promotion to the position of director, I am of the opinion that the permanent establishment of the department should be deferred.

The Superintendent recommends, therefore,

- (1) That the Superintendent be authorized to assign temporarily not to exceed two teachers to the investigating of one or more lines of business opportunity and to the following up of the pupils in a limited number of districts.

- (2) That the Vocation Bureau be authorized to continue the work of instructing vocational counsellors; and

- (3) That the work of interesting parents be left as it now is to the School and Home Association and to the Vocation Bureau.

Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Superintendent is hereby authorized to assign temporarily one or two teachers to the work of investigation in connection with vocational guidance during the school year 1911-12.

AMENDMENT TO SCHEDULE OF ELIGIBILITY OF CERTIFICATE HOLDERS.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the schedule of eligibility of holders of certificates as adopted at the meeting of Nov. 7, 1907, and amended at the meeting of Dec. 2, 1907, is hereby further amended as follows:—

Add to Item 6 under the heading "Evening Elementary Schools. Principal" (see p. 18), the words—to June 10, 1907—so that the item will read as follows:—

6. Elementary School, Class A—
From June 25, 1906, to June 10, 1907.

APPOINTMENT OF JUDGES, NEWSBOYS' TRIAL BOARD.

The term of Mitchell Freiman as Chief Judge of the Newsboys' Trial Board expiring on the second Saturday in November, 1911, and Mr. Freiman declining to continue longer service on said Board, on motion, it was ORDERED, That Paul V. Donovan is hereby appointed Chief Judge of the Newsboys' Trial Board for the term of one year beginning the second Saturday in November, 1911.

The term of Alexander I. Peckham as Judge of the Newsboys' Trial Board also expiring on the same date, on motion, it was ORDERED, That he be reappointed to the same position for an additional term of one year.

The Secretary was directed to tender the thanks of this Board to Mr. Freiman for the valuable service rendered by him during his term on the Newsboys' Trial Board.

NUMBER OF BOSTON CHILDREN IN INSTITUTIONS.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Secretary be directed to address a communication to the Children's Institutions Department and to the Board of Trustees in charge of the Lyman School for Boys and the State Industrial School for Girls requesting a statement showing the number of Boston children who are under the charge of said Boards, as well as those who have been placed out to board in families, including the ages of such children and from what school districts in Boston they came; and that the Chief Truant Officer be instructed to report at each meeting of the Board the names and school districts of children brought before a court for violation of the truancy laws.

PETITION FOR DAY SCHOOL TEACHER TO TEACH IN EVENING SCHOOL.

A petition was received from W. H. Price and E. H. Whitehill, Superintendent and Principal of the Watertown Public Schools, respectively, under date of Nov. 4, 1911, that Mabel Kinsey, trade assistant in the Trade School for Girls, be permitted to teach in the Watertown Evening High School.

Placed on file, and the Secretary directed to reply thereto to the effect that the Board cannot consent to suspend its regulation which prohibits such employment.

PETITION FOR EVENING CLASSES FOR DEAF ADULTS.

A petition was received, under date of Oct. 30, 1911, signed by twenty-five deaf persons, that evening classes for deaf adults be established.

Referred to the Board of Superintendents for consideration and report.

ADDITIONAL ASSISTANCE, OFFICE OF SECRETARY.

ORDERED, That the Secretary is hereby authorized to employ such additional assistance in his office, and at such compensation, as he may deem expedient during the months of November and December, 1911.

DEFERRING OF PRINTING OF THE MINUTES.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That in view of the general elections to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 7, 1911, and the consequent pressure on newspaper space the following day, the printing of the proceedings of this meeting in the Boston Daily Advertiser be deferred one day and appear on Thursday, Nov. 9, 1911.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Board adjourned at 10.05 o'clock P.M.

Secretary.

WATER WASTE PREVENTION.

Water waste prevention in New York has been carried on by the inspection method during the past year and its results, as described in the annual report of Commissioner Thompson of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, show that where carelessness exists in using water the system can accomplish much good. The work has resulted in reducing the average daily consumption from 540,000,000 gallons to 480,000,000 gallons. Two methods have been followed. Along the water front, districts have been isolated one at a time and investigated by the pitometer method and some heavy leakages have been detected in this way. One of them an underground leak at the Battery, is estimated to have been discharging 880,000 gallons daily into the harbor for many years, an amount of water worth over $42,000 annually at meter rates. The second method of checking waste has been a house to house inspection. In a little more than two months 97,245 buildings were visited. Second inspections were made in many cases to ascertain whether repairs had been made as directed. Both methods of checking waste have cost about $30,000, and the water saved by them is estimated to be worth about $2,000,000 a year. The main value of the work has been in conserving the supply until the Catskill works are finished, and for this purpose it has unquestionably proved efficient and cheap. But it is not a complete substitute for a universal meter system and the records of the house-to-house inspection show this. Out of 55,371 buildings examined during the first inspection, 36,431 were found to contain 158,363 leaking fixtures; on a second inspection of 41,874 buildings, leaks were still discovered in 14,000 of them. This shows that even when it was known that a failure to repair leaks would mean a fine in addition to the expense of repairs, a large number of people failed to have the work done. When the danger of re-inspection has passed the old conditions will, undoubtedly, become established again. The carelessness which permits waste will develop and the same people who are watchful about unnecessary use of gas and electricity, because both are bought by meter, will look upon water as something as free as air. Meters ought to be installed not only that the city may demand payment for the exact amount of water taken by each consumer, so that all are treated alike, but also that the day may be far removed when additional expensive works for increasing the supply become needed.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, November 13, 1911.

Regular meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at three o'clock p. m., President COLLINS in the chair, and all the members present.

The Council voted, on motion of Coun. BALANTYNE, to dispense with the reading of the records of the last meeting.

JURORS DRAWN.

Fifteen traverse jurors were drawn for the Superior Civil Court, Fourth Session, to appear November 22, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 514, Acts of 1894, viz.:

Thomas J. O'Brien, Ward 1; John J. Gormley, Ward 1; Almon C. Brown, Ward 24; Linwood Lewis, Ward 20; Joseph S. Silva, Ward 6; John J. Murphy, Ward 14; John F. Biggans, Ward 22; Timothy McCarthy, Ward 12; Axel Olsen, Ward 12; William Bowman, Ward 14; Stacy L. Hall, Ward 20; Charles B. Sawtelle, Ward 23; Charles G. Stellberger, Ward 22; David R. Crowe, Ward 10; Cephas B. Lyman, Ward 25.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE MAYOR.

Subject to confirmation by the City Council the Mayor submitted the following appointments, all for the term ending April 30, 1912, viz.:

(1) Tasker C. Crosson (736 Shawmut avenue, Ward 18), to be a Weigher of Coal.
(2) Clarence E. Doane (107 Lexington street, Ward 1) and Patrick J. Ryan (2 Clayton place, Ward 17), to be Weighers of Coal and Measurers of Wood and Bark.
(3) Jacob A. Rosenbaum (7 Plant avenue, Ward 22), a Constable of the City of Boston.
Severally laid over under the law.

APPORTIONMENT OF COUNTY EXPENSES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 10, 1911.

To the City Council:

Under chapter 482 of the Acts of 1911, provision is made for the appointment of a commission to consist of three disinterested persons, not residents of the County of Suffolk, who shall, after such notice and hearing as they deem sufficient, consider and report upon an adjustment and apportionment of the expenses of the county that should fairly be borne by the municipalities of Revere, Winthrop and Chelsea. The commission is to expend such sums of money as may be necessary, and as shall be approved by the Supreme Judicial Court, and shall receive such compensation as the court may fix. The court in its decree shall apportion the expenses and compensation among the cities and towns of Suffolk County.

The accompanying order initiates action on this measure by authorizing the Corporation Counsel to apply to the Supreme Judicial Court for the appointment of commissioners. I believe that the City of Boston has hitherto borne far more than its share of the county expenses, and that a just apportionment will result in considerable financial relief. For this reason I recommend the passage of the accompanying order by your honorable body.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel be and hereby is authorized in the name of the City of Boston to apply to the Supreme Judicial Court for the appointment of commissioners under chapter 482 of the Acts of the year 1911, to consider and report upon such an adjustment and apportionment of the expenses of the County of Suffolk and the proportion thereof as should fairly be borne by the municipalities of Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

COST OF POLICE STATION, SOUTH BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 10, 1911.

To the City Council:

In reply to your request, conveyed in an order passed at the meeting of October 16, 1911, that I ascertain through the proper department and advise the Council of the probable cost of a new station for the Police Department, Sixth Division, in South Boston, I transmit herewith a statement from the Superintendent of Public Buildings, which estimates the cost of a station providing accommodations for about one hundred (100) men as eighty thousand dollars ($80,000), exclusive of the cost of the site.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Public Buildings Department,
November 8, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir—In reply to your communication of the 24th ultimo relating to the inclosed order of the City Council requesting information as to the probable cost of a new station for the Police Department, Sixth Division, in South Boston, I wish to advise you that I have conferred with the Police Commissioner and with the captain of the Sixth Division in South Boston as to their anticipated requirements and have thereby been enabled to arrive at a probable cost.

A police station in that district should provide accommodations for about one hundred (100) men. It should be of second-class construction and I estimate cost to be in the vicinity of eighty thousand dollars ($80,000), exclusive of cost of site.

Yours respectfully,

M. J. Fish,

Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

MORTUARY IMPROVEMENT, CITY HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 4, 1911.
To the City Council:

The accompanying letters from the Medical Examiner of the Southern District and the District Attorney explain the need of an additional appropriation for the improvement of the mortuary at the City Hospital. I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Hospital Department, Improvement of Mortuary.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Boston, November 2, 1911.

John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Your Honor,—In a previous communication to your office I called attention to conditions existing at the morgue, used jointly by the Boston City Hospital and the Southern Medical Examiner District, which needed prompt attention. I was asked at that time to take the matter up with the trustees of the Boston City Hospital and was authorized to expend a small amount of money and take other measures to meet the acute emergency existing at that time.

The permanent steps necessary in order to prevent a recurrence of these unfortunate conditions could best be carried out in cold weather when bodies might be kept without artificial refrigeration. There has been appropriated for the purpose of remodeling the morgue the sum of $15,000. This sum will care for the rebuilding of the columbarium but will not provide for the work of the Medical Examiner. The District Attorney of Suffolk County will communicate with you in reference to the necessity of adequate quarters and equipment for the Medical Examiner service if its work is to be well done. The present quarters are a makeshift and lead to a wasteful expenditure of energy and time in the doing of even routine work. There is lacking the privacy essential to medico-legal work and there is not room for the equipment which even a business office requires. The enlargement of the columbarium without raising the building will result in cutting down the small amount of space at present available.

Mr. Edward P. Dana has been asked by the trustees of the Boston City Hospital to make rough plans for the building after consultation with Dr. John H. McCollom and myself. The result of our conference was a tentative plan for a building of two stories, enlarging the present mortuary structure and furnishing enlarged quarters and a well-isolated autopsy room for the Medical Examiner service. Mr. Dana estimates that the cost of the remodeling according to these plans will be $28,000. This expenditure I believe to be necessary and I therefore recommend that an additional sum of $13,000 be appropriated for this purpose.

Very sincerely yours,

TIMOTHY LEARY, Medical Examiner.

Boston, November 2, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Mr. Mayor,—I believe that Medical Examiner Dr. Timothy Leary has laid before you certain suggestions relative to giving him as Medical Examiner somewhat better quarters and accommodations than he has at present.

The figures regarding the amount of business handled by him, and by that I mean the number of sudden deaths due to violence or unknown causes, are simply appalling. We all agree that the bodies of these unfortunates where an autopsy must be performed should have the most respectful care and attention. This the people demand and this I know to be the feeling of the Medical Examiner. The crowded conditions for such dead are inexcusable in our great city.

In the next place the Medical Examiner is charged with a tremendous responsibility not only in so far as detection of crime is concerned but also in reaching his conclusions regarding cause of death, which affects the families and friends of the deceased and the public morals also. He therefore should have adequate quarters for the performance of his important work. He should have privacy and should also have a well equipped laboratory, for this sort of work is an integral part of his official investigations.

I sincerely join in the request that he has made upon you and trust that you will see your way clear to grant his application regarding increased accommodations. I am sure that the people of Boston would not begrudge the necessary expense to give him adequate and satisfactory quarters.

Very truly yours,

J. C. PELLETIER,
District Attorney.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Hospital Department, Improvement of Mortuary.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ROOM FOR SPANISH WAR VETERANS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 13, 1911.
To the City Council:

In reply to your request contained in an order passed at the meeting of your honorable body held on October 30, 1911, "that his Honor the Mayor be requested to grant the Department of Massachusetts United Spanish War Veterans the use of a room in the new City Hall Annex when the same is completed," I beg to transmit a letter from the architect of the building, which states that it is entirely feasible to grant this request, and I have ordered that in arranging the plan of the building he provide accommodations for the society designated by you.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

20 Beacon Street,

Boston, November 9, 1911.

Mr. William A. Leahy,
City Hall, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Mr. Leahy,—In answer to your letter of the 9th instant concerning space for the United Spanish War Veterans in the City Hall Annex, there is space enough to give this organization a place.

Respectfully yours,

EDWARD T. P. GRAHAM.

INVITATION TO LAWSON PURDY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 13, 1911.
To the City Council:

In compliance with your request contained in a resolution passed at the meeting of October 30, 1911, that "his Honor the Mayor be requested to invite Mr. Lawson Purdy of New York to address the Council, the Finance Commission and the assessors as soon as may be conveniently arranged," I inclose a copy of my letter to Mr. Purdy and his reply thereto.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 7, 1911.

Mr. Lawson Purdy,
President Department of Taxes and Assessments, New York, N. Y.:

Dear Sir,—The City Council and the Finance Commission of Boston have given attention recently to the Somers System of Real Estate Valuations, which is said to be in operation in the city of New York. It has occurred to the members of the Council that a personal conference with the assessing officials of your city would be advantageous. I write, therefore, to invite you to meet these bodies at some date when it may be convenient for you to visit Boston.

Trusting that we may be honored by your presence as our guests, and assuring you that we shall do everything possible to make the visit agreeable, I remain,

Yours very truly,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Department of Taxes and Assessments of the City of New York,

November 10, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I have received your letter of the 7th, and regret that my duties here are so exacting at this season that I cannot well make a visit to Boston. If you could send someone to New York we should be pleased to show him our methods, books, etc. It is incorrect to say that the Somers system is employed here. The system long in use in this city has certain points in common with the system recommended by Mr. Somers.

Yours truly,

LAWSON PURDY

REPORT OF FIRE HAZARD COMMISSION.

A report was received from the Fire Hazard Commission and was referred to the Executive Committee. (See page 880.)

PLAYGROUND WARD 7.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 7, 1911.
To the City Council:

At your meeting of June 26, 1911, I recommended the passage of an order transferring the unexpended balance of an appropriation for a playground in Wards 7 and 9, amounting to over $16,000, to the appropriation for a playground in Ward 7. This order, I am informed, was referred to the Finance Committee and from that committee to the Executive Committee, which now has it under consideration. The accompanying communication from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners requests early action on the transfer, and I respectfully urge your honorable body to take up the matter as soon as may be convenient and consolidate this remnant of an appropriation, which is of little value standing by itself, with the appropriation for the Ward 7 Playground, which needs this addition in order to provide a suitable site.

Yours very truly,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Board of Commissioners of the Department of Parks,

November 4, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You will remember that we have asked lately that an unexpended balance of about $16,000 originally appropriated to be spent in Wards 7 and 9 be so transferred that we may expend it on the purchase of playground in Ward 7. This was reviewed at a meeting that our Board had with you and the Council, and it did not seem as if anybody objected, but the transfer has not been made and our purchases have been held up in consequence. Will you kindly give it your attention and get the transfer made if it can be properly done?

Yours truly,

ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

HIRING OF GOODWIN ESTATE—VETO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 1, 1911.
To the City Council:

I return herewith, without my approval, the order passed by your honorable body at its meeting of October 16, authorizing the Superintendent of Public Grounds to hire for playground purposes during the current year the Goodwin estate on Carolina avenue, Jamaica Plain, and to pay therefor the sum of one dollar ($1) and the taxes for the present year, charging this amount to his own appropriation. The Superintendent of Public Grounds, in a communication attached hereto, gives the reasons which seem to me satisfactory for disapproving this order.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Public Grounds Department,

October 18, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In regard to the inclosed order of the City Council, dated October 16, 1911:

"That the Superintendent of Public Grounds be authorized to hire for playground purposes during the current year the Goodwin estate on Carolina avenue, Jamaica Plain, and to pay therefor the sum of $1 and the taxes assessed on said estate for the present year, the amount so paid to be charged to the appropriation for Public Grounds Department."

I would say that while it has been the custom to pass orders of this description for many years, I think a correction should be made, as rented playgrounds should be placed under the supervision of the Department of Parks which has charge, practically, of all the city playgrounds and the proper facilities for conducting them.

Very truly yours,

D. H. SULLIVAN, Superintendent.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

REPORT ON RANDIDGE FUND EXCURSIONS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 7, 1911.
To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Penal Institutions Commissioner, inclosing a report from the official in charge of the Randridge Fund excursions during the season of 1911.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Penal Institutions Department,
October 1, 1911.

To His Honor the Mayor:

I transmit herewith the report of Mr. William A. Boudrot, official in charge of the Randidge Trust Fund Excursions during the season of 1911.

Respectfully yours,
FRED S. GORE, Commissioner.

City of Boston,
Penal Institutions Department,
October 1, 1911.

Hon. Fred S. Gore,

Penal Institutions Commissioner:

Sir,—I respectfully submit my report of the management of the Randidge excursions for the season of 1911.

In the early part of June last I was appointed official in charge by his Honor the Mayor, through you, and immediately started to arrange matters, in consequence of which the excursions began on Thursday, July 6.

Prior to 1909 the Penal Commissioner had charge of the Randidge excursions. In 1909 the late Mayor Hibbard was requested to place the School Committee in charge of the excursions, and after a meeting of several people interested in matters of this kind the change was made.

The director of vacation schools, who was selected to arrange for and take charge of the excursions, was obliged to abandon the Long Island picnic grounds because it was deemed inadvisable to use the Penal Institutions Department steamboat for transportation. Consequently arrangements were made whereby the use of Short Beach, Nahant, was secured and special rates for transportation on the Nahant steamboats. Seventy-two hundred eighty-six (7,286) children were provided for and $2,229.67 expended, a per capita cost of $0.306 for each child. Of the above amount $982 was paid for transportation.

In 1910 his Honor the Mayor appointed a committee of thirteen to take charge of the excursions and on June 18, 1910, they organized as the Boston Children's Outing Committee.

Because of the cost of transportation to Short Beach, Nahant, and its unsuitability as a picnic ground that place was not considered by the committee. The old picnic grounds at Long Island were unavailable for picnic purposes and finally the committee, through his Honor the Mayor, secured the use of Bumpkin Island, where the Burrage Hospital for Crippled Children is located. This establishment, which had not been in use for three years, was generously given by Mr. A. C. Burrage. The island is located in Hull Harbor, between Pemberton and Nantasket Point, the distance from Boston being about ten miles. It covers forty-eight acres of ground, the size of Boston Common, and while there are no trees on the island yet the lower part of the hospital building afforded ample protection from sun and rain.

Through your cooperation with the committee they secured the use of the steamboat "Monitor" to bring the children to and from Bumpkin Island, the preparation of food for luncheons, the erection of swings and tilting boards and labor necessary to make the island suitable for picnic use.

Thirteen thousand three hundred fifty-nine (13,359) children were cared for during the season, an average of two hundred eighty-four (284) each day. One thousand nine hundred sixty-five and $\frac{1}{2}$ (1,965.43) dollars was expended, a per capita cost of \$0.147 for each child.

This year Bumpkin Island was secured again, through his Honor the Mayor. We had the use of the entire lower part of the hospital building where every facility for serving lunches, recreation rooms and sanitary accommodations were at hand. Additional water service was extended to the outside of the building so that the children could have drinking water on the playgrounds, thus keeping them from continually running in and out of the building, which had been repainted and put in perfect order. The swing posts and tilts were all painted and furnished with new hooks and bolts in order to make them safe and secure, and they were constantly in use. A ball field with regulation diamond was laid out and constructed and steps were built leading down to the bathing beach. A space for quoit games was also laid out and a double set of games provided for. These additional features were greatly enjoyed by the children.

Miss Bertha Carvel, formerly head nurse at the Burrage Hospital, was engaged to look after the needs of the children and during the season 115 cases were cared for, but I am pleased to state that no serious accident occurred.

DAILY PROGRAM.

The steamboat "Monitor" sailed daily except Sunday, at 9 a. m. and arrived at Bumpkin Island at 10.45 a. m.

Bathing from 11 a. m. until noon.

Luncheon at 12.30 p. m.

Baseball, quoits, running races and various kinds of games conducted by attendants from the time of arrival until departure from the island.

Boat left at 3.40 p. m. and arrived in Boston at 5 p. m. Sometimes the department business delayed us on our return, but usually we made schedule time.

One feature of the daily trips, appreciated very much, was the sail up and down the harbor, which consumed about three hours of the outing.

For luncheon each child was given a bag containing six cookies (assorted), two bananas, one pint of peanuts, cake of ice cream and a mug of lemonade. During the afternoon lemonade was served to the children who wanted it. Formerly ice cream was served at 2 p. m., but we found that it was better for the children to have all their refreshments at one serving, thus saving time and labor and giving the children the entire afternoon for recreation.

Forty-nine (49) outings were scheduled and four were abandoned because of rain and fog. The total number of children carried upon the excursions this year was 14,454, an average of 321 each day. One thousand seven hundred eighty-one and $\frac{3}{4}$ (1,781.35) dollars was expended, a per capita cost of \$0.123 for each child.

All applications for an excursion were taken care of, although in many cases it was impossible to grant the number of tickets requested as arrangements had been made to care for only 300 children each day. From careful observation it seems to me that this situation could be easily overcome by making a change in the refreshments. I noticed that many of the children, fully 90 per cent, carried lunches, so that our serving of luncheons was unnecessary and in some instances a waste of food. By eliminating this feature of the outings twice the number of children, approximately 30,000, could be given a day's outing without any increase of cost. Ice cream and lemonade could be supplied for all and with the other features obtainable, I believe that a much larger number of the children of Boston would be benefited and enjoy a satisfactory day's pleasure.

I desire to express my thanks to all who have helped to make these excursions successful. I am deeply grateful to Mr. James H. Cronin, Master of the House of Correction and his assistants for the invaluable aid rendered by his department; to Capt. Fred D. Cook and assistants of the steamboat "Monitor" for their kindness and patience; to the Bath Trustees who furnished a life guard and bathing suits; to the Police Commissioner who furnished an officer and to the Superintendent of Printing for work done in our behalf.

Yours respectfully,

WILLIAM A. BOUDROT,

Official in Charge of Randidge Excursions.

REPAIR OF MONUMENT, THOMAS PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 1, 1911.

To the City Council:

The report of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for 1910 contains a paragraph relating to the condition of the monument on Dorchester Heights. The superintendent states that "the monument needs a general repointing and repairing as there are many visible and long, open spaces in the mortar joints between the marble blocks." The accompanying letter from Mr. John J. Toomey, editor of the South Boston Gazette, reiterates the need of repairs on this monument, and the Superintendent of Public Grounds included in a letter of March 7, transmitted to your honorable body and read at its meeting of August 22, an estimate of three thousand dollars ($3,000) for these repairs. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, appropriating three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the Reserve Fund for repairing the monument on Thomas Park.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

The South Boston Gazette,
South Boston, October 30, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Some time in the latter part of September I received from your office a letter in answer to my appeal that some attention be given immediately to the Dorchester Heights Monument on Thomas Park. It was stated that you had conferred with the Superintendent of Public Grounds and in your letter I was requested to confer with Mr. Sullivan.

Superintendent Sullivan very promptly acknowledged my letter of October 6 and my detailed statement to him containing the very important needed repairs to the monument. I personally secured the services of an expert mason to look over the monument, and the report was that a great deal of repointing is necessary, which must be done well; that is, to completely fill in the crevices between the blocks of marble, and not only on the outer part; also, that there is needed a cement floor at the upper part of the monument to prevent the damage caused by the rain pouring in and down through the monument. My attention was called by Superintendent Sullivan to his efforts to have the city government appropriate $3,000 for necessary repairs on the monument and that the whole solution of the problem depends upon the securing of a special appropriation of $3,000 to remedy all the trouble.

For the good name and honor of the City of Boston and in keeping with the written promise made to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in 1899, "that the City of Boston will care for and maintain in good order, for all time, monument and surrounding grounds," I trust that you will give this your personal attention to the end that the monument may be put in proper condition and not to continue the butt of criticism and remarks of visitors from all sections of the country who visit Thomas Park. Personally I do not know where $3,000 could be expended, but I do know that if the work is done now, before the cold and wintry weather sets in, the expense will be many hundreds of dollars less than it will require if there is further delay and neglect until next spring.

There is imperative need of much repointing and the laying of a cement floor. That should be done now. It would much improve the interior appearance of the monument if the iron stairway and walls of the shaft were freed from the rust and dirt that has accumulated. If there is no immediate provision for this, it might wait until spring.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN J. TOOMEY.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for Thomas Park, Repairing of Monument.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFER FOR CIVIL COURT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the clerk of the Superior Civil Court, requesting that the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) be transferred to his department for clerical services. This request requires action by the City Council and I await an order passed by your honorable body in the usual manner.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts,

Superior Court,

Clerk's Office, Suffolk County,

Boston, November 6, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I respectfully ask that the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) be transferred from some appropriation to this office, to be used for the purpose of paying the salaries of extra clerical hire.

Respectfully,
FRANCIS A. CAMPBELL, Clerk.

Referred to the Committee on County Accounts.

APPROPRIATION FOR CONVENIENCE STATIONS, ETC.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 11, 1911.

To the City Council:

In my message to your honorable body, dated October 16, 1911, on the subject of improvements in the smaller parks, I recommended an appropriation of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) from the income of the Parkman Fund, for convenience stations, bubble fountains and other improvements in the public parks and squares. On further consideration it seems to me that this amount should be increased by five thousand dollars ($5,000), and I beg to withdraw the earlier orders relating to this subject and substitute the accompanying order, which I recommend for passage.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) be and hereby is appropriated from the income of the Parkman Fund for the present year, to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for convenience stations, bubble fountains and other improvements in the public parks and squares.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, in connection with that order from the Mayor I would like to state that the sum was increased by the Mayor from $20,000 to $25,000, in order to meet the recommendation of the Superintendent of Public Grounds in the matter of providing convenience stations in various parks that come under the Parkman Fund distribution, and I hold here in my hand a communication from the Superintendent of the Public Grounds Department, outlining just how this money is to be apportioned. I would like to have that order placed on its passage at this time, and to file this communication from the Superintendent of Public Grounds and have it put in the record.

President COLLINS—Does the Chair understand that the member moves a suspension of the rule?

Coun. KENNY—Yes—

The rule was suspended and the question came on the passage of the order.

The order was passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

PETITIONS REFERRED.

The following petitions were received and referred to the committees named, viz:

COURTHOUSE, ETC., CHARLESTOWN.

Office of Public Buildings Department,

November 8, 1911.

The Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—In response to the request of the City Council of October 30, 1911, for a report in relation to an order that eighty thousand dollars ($80,000) be appropriated and expended for new combination courthouse and police station in Charlestown, I wish to advise you that, acting on instruction of his Honor Mayor Fitzgerald, on April 13, 1911, I made a thorough examination of the present old City Hall building which is used as a district court, police station and branch library, with Mr. James E. McLaughlin, the architect, to determine whether or not it would be advisable to reconstruct the same for suitable quarters for a combination courthouse and police station.

We both are of the opinion that it would not be practicable to reconstruct the present old building on account of the cost of same, and that it would be much more desirable to erect a new three-story building and basement of first-class construction on the present site; the basement to contain boiler room, coal pockets and storage hall; the first floor to be used for quarters for police station, cell room, etc.; the second floor to be taken up with main court room, juvenile court, offices for the judge and various court officers; the third floor to be devoted to dormitories and locker rooms.

Mr. McLaughlin made a few floor plans which would be suitable for a new building on the present site and I send you herewith blueprints of the same.

This building would cover an area of about 7,000 square feet of land and would cost in the vicinity of $127,000.

Yours respectfully,

M. J. FISH,

Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Referred to Committee on Finance.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING, WARD 7.

The Council granted Coun. Attridge unanimous consent to submit the following letters:

Boston, November 5, 1911.

John J. Attridge,

Boston City Council:

Dear Sir,—As the matter of a municipal building for Ward 7 is still before the City Council for decision, I deem it proper to offer a word in the interest of this important proposition.

My position as pastor of a church in this ward is sufficient reason for my personal interest in a matter so closely related as I believe to the moral welfare of the community.

In regard to Ward 7, its position and character both emphasize the need of an institution such as a municipal building would provide. If such buildings are to be established—as we all admit they should be—where ought they to be placed if not in the heart of the city, where we find concentrated all that makes the city what it is—its crowds, theaters, hotels, saloons and resorts, all representing in various ways its business, its attractions and its amusements, but also unfortunately its vices.

When I think of what the young people are exposed to every day and night upon our streets, I tremble for those whose houses bring them in almost hourly contact with so much that is calculated to demoralize and lead astray in a district like this, which is the common place of meeting for the idle and the vicious from all sections of the city. Anything in the line of wholesome amusement or occupation that will keep our young people off the streets should be encouraged and helped by all who have the welfare and best interests of the city at heart. Moreover, the city that elevates its citizens, protects and strengthens itself.

The cosmopolitan character of the inhabitants of Ward 7 is another reason for establishing here such an institution as a municipal building.

These various nationalities may be molded into a common American citizenship by the influence of a municipal building, and there is no better means for reaching those who are beyond the school age and those who are advanced in life.

Ward 7 and its immediate neighborhood is perhaps the most cosmopolitan district in the city.

I do not wish to trespass upon your time or patience by rehearsing various other reasons that might be given in support of the claims of Ward 7 for special consideration in this matter, but as my profession leads me naturally to the moral aspect of the question, I will content myself with calling that specially to your attention.

I beg to subscribe myself,

Very respectfully yours,

WILLIAM P. MCQUAID,
Pastor St. James Church.

Boston, November 10, 1911.

Hon. John J. Attridge,

118 Malden Street, Boston:

Dear Sir,—We respectfully request your consideration of the following extracts from the minutes of the last meeting of the South Cove Civic Committee, held to consider the matter of a municipal building for Ward 7, which matter is before your Executive Council.

The population of Ward 7 was 11,112 according to the State census of 1905. The population of Ward 7, as determined by the thirteenth census of the United States, 1910, is 14,913, showing an increase of 3,801 in population, an increase of about 35 per cent.

In considering the amount asked for it should be noted that in Ward 7 the city is paying at the present time $720 per year for the use of room on Broadway extension for library purposes, and is also paying $500 per year for the use of the Tyler Street Gymnasium, making a total of $1,220, which amounts to 4 per cent on $30,500.

Both of these institutions would be accommodated in the proposed municipal building.

The school population for the district which would benefit by such a building is as follows:

The population of the Quincy Grammar School (day), 631; Quincy Grammar School (evening), 450; Tyler Primary School, 246; Way Street Primary School, 119; Pierpont, primary and grammar grades, 151; Parochial School, Harvard street, 225; Andrews School, 526; (primary and kindergarten), Winthrop-Brimmer (Abraham Lincoln School), 1,761; Skinner Primary, 280; Warrenton Street Kindergarten, 50.

Statement by Mgr. William P. McQuaid:

"In regard to the future of this district, about which some people have doubts, I believe that we can be guided in this by what has happened in such cities as New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. They have grown more rapidly than Boston and have arrived at a state now in which they have had the experience that we expect to have in years to come.

"The business has surrounded and passed beyond them and still left a large population. Thirty years ago I know that it was freely prophesied with regard to certain churches in the business districts of New York and Philadelphia that they would be entirely wiped out by the inroads of business. To-day those churches are tended by about the same number of clergymen that there were twenty-five years ago.

"With regard to this district, too, twenty-five years ago I was told that this district would probably be wiped out and have no use for St. James Church, but we still have four clergymen attending to the duties of the parish and they have all they can do. Personally, I do not anticipate any sudden change and probably not for forty years to come is there any chance of this district being wiped out by business."

Statement by State Councilor John Quinn, Jr.:

"The tendency in the center of Boston is now to do away with single houses in the South Cove district, as has practically been accomplished in the North and West Ends. In those sections practically all the single houses have been reconstructed into large tenement houses, three and four and sometimes five stories high, and while that has not yet started with any degree of force at the present time, it must naturally come in the future because this ward is as near to the City Hall, to the great center of business, and the State House, as the North and West Ends are and the land is very much cheaper down here and there will be a demand for investors to purchase the small estates here and put up large dwelling houses. We are more likely to have large dwelling houses than business establishments, for the encroachments of business establishments have been very slow below Essex street during the last thirty years, and from my own personal knowledge, the people who owned houses on Hudson and Tyler streets twenty-five years ago expected at that time that business would encroach, but the property, as a matter of fact, still stands as dwelling houses, and instead of single families occupying them, now three or four families are living in the same building.

"Even though money is expended now, and after twenty-five or thirty years business does encroach, the value of the city property under those circumstances will be very much increased and would be a good investment, as have all other buildings of similar character that have been sold by the city in the past."

Statement by Mr. Frederick W. Swan, Master of the Quincy School:

1. "I desire to call the attention of the City Council to several things; first to the report of the Special Committee on Branch Libraries on May 1, 1911, City Document No. 73, page No. 4.

"Cove District, so called.

"This section of the city is served by the Broadway Extension Reading Room, which is poorly located and has very bad accommodations. The room now used will not accommodate more than sixty persons and is poorly ventilated and is subject to the noise made by the Boston Elevated Railway trains, which pass overhead nearby. The one small room serves both young and old and is very much used and frequented. This place should be abandoned as soon as possible.

"The trustees and the committee believe that a branch building is not necessary for library purposes in this district and agrees that one large, well lighted, suitable room would be sufficient for the needs of this locality, and the trustees, we understand, would not object if a large room were provided in the proposed municipal building for Ward 7."

2. "In a district so congested, and so much in need of means for presenting American ideals to an emigrant population, there are no halls where the people can congregate. There is no wardroom in the district, the former wardroom, or the room used for ward purposes, was taken two years ago to accommodate the increased school population."

3. "The School Department is planning for no diminution in the near future, which is evident from the fact that a four-room building and the Abraham Lincoln School have been erected recently, and that over $50,000 have been expended on enlarging and improving school property in the South Cove within the last three years."

4. "In the same vicinity $25,000 was recently appropriated by the City Council for a playground for the use of the children, thus showing that there is need for it in Ward 7."

Whereas we concede that it may not be advisable for the City of Boston to borrow money for such a building, we earnestly request immediate action in order that the amount desired may be drawn from the funds available at this time, which we understand amount to $500,000.

MINORS' LICENSES.

President COLLINS submitted reports on petitions recommending that minors' licenses be granted to twenty-six newsboys, one bootblack and one vendor.

Reports accepted; licenses granted on the usual conditions.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF COMMITTEE.

President COLLINS announced that Coun. Collins and Ballantyne had been appointed by him on November 10 to be members of the committee to perambulate the boundaries.

WIDENING OF NORFOLK STREET.

President COLLINS called up No. 1, unfinished business, viz.:

1. Ordered, That the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Street Commissioners for widening of Norfolk street, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

On October 30 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

The question came on the second and final reading and passage of the order.

The order took its second reading and final passage, yeas 9, nays 0.

BRANCH LIBRARY, CHARLESTOWN.

President COLLINS called up No. 2, unfinished business, viz.:

2. Ordered, That the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the appropriation for Branch Library, Charlestown, Estate, and Branch Library, Charlestown, Alterations and Completion, to an appropriation for Branch Library, Charlestown.

On October 30 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I understand the order as it reads at the present time does not put it in the province of the Library Trustees to expend this money. That is what Colonel Benton has said. If that is so, I would like to have action on this matter postponed, in order that that oversight may be corrected.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection, the matter will lie on the table.

President COLLINS also called up unfinished business, No. 3, viz.:

3. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Branch Library, Charlestown.

On October 30 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

On motion of Coun. McDONALD, No. 3 was also laid on the table.

Later in the session the following message was received from the Mayor:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

For the sake of clearness I recommend that the orders recommended by me at your meetings of May 22 and June 26, relating respectively to the consolidation of two appropriations for a Branch Library, Charlestown, Estate, and Branch Library, Charlestown, Alterations and Completion, and the addition of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) to the original amount, be passed in the amended draft submitted herewith, which specifically states that the appropriations are to be expended by the Library Trustees.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the City Auditor be, and hereby is, authorized to transfer the appropriations for Branch Library, Charlestown, Estate, and Branch Library, Charlestown, Alterations and Completion, to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Library Trustees for Branch Library, Charlestown.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Library Trustees for Branch Library, Charlestown.

The question came on the passage of the orders. President COLLINS—The Chair would state that, in his opinion, in order to be absolutely on the secure side, it is wise that the orders shall take two readings. The Clerk will call the roll to ascertain whether or not the Council is in favor of passing the orders.

The orders were given their first reading and passage, yeas 9, nays 0, and will take their final reading and passage not less than two weeks from to-day.

President COLLINS called up Nos. 2 and 3, above, which had been laid on the table, and on motion of Coun. BUCKLEY the two orders, which had been laid on the table pending the receipt from the Mayor of the message submitting new orders, were indefinitely postponed.

ENTER—THE NEW AMERICAN CITY.

A city built like a home—with every provision for comfort, convenience, beauty, happiness—did your mind ever dwell on such a city as this? A city designed by architects, engineers, educators, artists, by experts employed by the city and thinking of the city—a city for the people, for all the people—did your dreams ever linger on such a municipal vision?

There are many such cities in Germany, and Frederic C. Howe tells of what may be accomplished in America, in "Hampton's Magazine." The German cities, he says, have been designed by experts, just such experts as you would employ were you building a home. These cities are built for use; they are planned for business, for factories, for people with a far-visioned outlook on the future and a consciousness that the city must be controlled in the interest of humanity if it would not destroy humanity.

"I have gone among the cities of America to find what they are doing," says Mr. Howe. "I have been among the unnoticed men and women, numbered by the thousands, working in countless organizations, who are doing things and dreaming things. Most of them are unconscious of more than their own little piece of work. They are not in public office—not yet. Some day they will be. Just now they are paving the way for that day by forging new tools for the city, new charters by which the city will be able to express the people's will. They are working for the commission plan of government, for the initiative, referendum and recall through which the people themselves can build as they will. More than 100 cities in twenty-three states have adopted this new form of government. It has spread from California to Massachusetts and every month sees new commission cities added to the roll.

"The American city is being born.

"This new idea that the city should be built as men build homes received its inspiration from the World's fair in Chicago in 1893. Then men began to say to themselves: 'Why cannot we live in cities as beautiful as this play city, which will disappear at the end of the summer? Why cannot our cities be built for comfort, for convenience, for beauty, for joy, and be planned by experts and architects trained for the purpose?'

"City building is the municipal side of conservation. It means that beauty is to have its place in municipal life, that the slum is to be treated as a plague spot that the privileges of the franchise corporation and the land speculators are to be subordinated to the rights of the whole community. It was fortunate that the inspiration of the World's fair found its first expression in the nation's capital. Here was a city planned in the beginning as all cities of the future will be. It had been laid out on a map by an expert engineer, with a knowledge of all the great cities.

"To remake Chicago meant blasting a way through brick and stone. Daniel H. Burnham believed it could be done. More than that, he convinced the business men of Chicago that it could be done. He awakened their enthusiasm. For four years he worked on plans for rebuilding the city, plans which are literally colossal. They involve a probable cost of $250,000,000. The preparation of the drawings alone cost $75,000, contributed by members of the commercial club. Out of the heart of the business district a spacious city center is to be carved, about which the public buildings of the future are to be erected. Dominating this central group, as well as the city, provision is made for a huge municipal building, whose dome rises high above all else.

"From this center, wide walls or boulevards are to be cut to the suburbs, radiating like the spokes of a wheel. These are to be the main arteries of the city's life. They are to be cut through the gridiron plan of streets much as do the radial avenues which beautify Washington. Some distance out in Lake Michigan, and extending along the entire city front, artificial parkways are to be made by dumping the city's refuse. The parkways are to be separated from the shore line by lagoons for pleasure craft and are to be the center of all kinds of recreation. Near the middle of this water parkway a great circular harbor is designed to be the city gateway.

"Such a program would stagger any city except Chicago. But this is only the spectacular part of the plan. Two sets of circular boulevards (one of which is nearly completed) are to be cut through the city, widening out at intervals into parkways, gardens and open spaces, while far out in the country woods are to be acquired like those possessed by the German and Swiss cities.

"Beauty is only incidental in this new Chicago. Experts cooperated in the study of every department of the city's life. Provision is made for water and rail transportation and for a central clearing house from which freight is to be distributed, while still other experts developed the future passenger transportation policy of the city.

"Cleveland, an industrial community of 500,000 people, intensely radical in its democracy, has planned a great center about which the life of the community will radiate. Here all her public and semi-public buildings are to be grouped, at a cost of over $20,000,000. Land was acquired for a third of a mile along the lake front and an equal depth back to the center of the business district. A lake park of fifty-five acres has been made, at comparatively little expense, by dumping refuse into the harbor. Upon the banks, overlooking the lake park, a county courthouse has been erected at a cost of $3,500,000, while ground has been broken for a city hall of equally stately proportions. Midway between these monumental structures and opening into a wide esplanade is the site for the new union railway station. It opens into a spacious mall 600 feet wide and 2,000 feet in length.

"The contagion of the city center has spread to a score of cities. Denver and Rochester are proceeding with plans for monumental civic groups, while St. Louis has planned a great city plaza about which public and semi public buildings are to be grouped, with the city hall in the center. St. Paul has prepared designs for a commanding approach to the state house, and Buffalo for an entrance into the city with the union station at one end and Lake Erie at the other. Several other cities are planning similar groups of public buildings.

"City planners say that street arrangement controls not only the appearance but the life of the community. Good street plans are the keystone of the city.

"It was William Penn who designed the street plan of the American city. To his Quaker soul the crooked streets of London and Boston were an abomination. He laid out Philadelphia like a checker board, with streets an equal distance apart. As men go from place to place they zig-zag across the city at a great loss of time, while the streets themselves are not only monotonous, but fail to afford proper arteries for traffic.

"Then came L'Enfant, who, in designing the nation's capital, laid across Penn's rectangular plan a system of wide boulevards which radiate out from various local points or converge at natural centers. These were the accepted plans for city streets up to a few years ago. Now the German city planners are protesting against any formal plan. Not uniformity, but diversity, coziness, the unexpected is the thing to be studied in the laying out of the city streets. Streets ought to follow the contour of the land and preserve every natural vista or outlook. In the suburbs they may curve so as to obtain recurring views of the house fronts. Some of these experts insist that the old medieval street, broken sharp off at street intersections, affords an opportunity for beauty that is impossible with any purely formal street plan.

"Philadelphia has already found its rectangular street plan inadequate and has cut a great mall 250 feet in width and nearly a mile in length from the city hall through to Fairmount Park. Part of the land so acquired will be resold to hotels, theaters, clubs and department stores at an increased cost, while a broad parkway, patterned after the Champs Elysees of Paris or Unter den Linden of Berlin, lined with public and semipublic institutions, will open into a plaza, surmounted by a museum, at the entrance to Fairmount Park.

"Some of our cities plan their improvements so as to make them pay for themselves. Kansas City laid out a park and boulevard system of 4,000 acres at a cost of $10,000,000 without issuing any city bonds or levying any taxes to do it. The parks were paid for by assessing the cost back on the land benefited by them. The value of the surrounding land was increased by 325 per cent, while $25 to $50 a front foot was added to the value of that which abutted on the parkways. Of this increase in value the city took from $6 to $9 a foot for the cost of the park and boulevard and left the remainder for the owners.

"The Germans have discovered a richer mine than this. They keep the street railways, gas, water and electric lighting franchises because they consider it bad business to keep only the things like sewers that lose money and give away valuable privileges that make money.

"Now they have gone a step further. The growth of the community makes land valuable; why, then, should not the community keep that which it creates? So they make the speculators divide up their profits from increasing land values by taxing the 'unearned increment' at from 1 to 33 per cent. If the land is vacant the tax is twice what it is if the land is improved. This makes sit to the advantage of the owner to improve his property."

CIRCUMFERENTIAL BOULEVARD FOR CITY OF WASHINGTON.

The commissioners have formed plans for the construction of a boulevard which will circle the city and will connect the old-time Civil War fortifications about the national capital. The construction will require the cooperation of the national government and the states of Maryland and Virginia. An appropriation will be sought from Congress but not so large in amount as might be supposed because many sections of road already built will be incorporated in the scheme. To connect all of the forts it will be necessary that roads be built in unison with the scheme in Maryland and Virginia.

THE DISTRIBUTION OF TRAFFIC IN AMERICAN CITIES.

Most American cities of any considerable size stand face to face with a problem of rapid transit that is, or soon will be, a serious one. Few of them bring any systematic effort to bear on its solution. The result is, in most instances, a sort of patchwork, never wholly adequate, and generally unsatisfactory in spite of earnest and genuine efforts at improvement. The growth of American cities within the last quarter of a century has borne no relation whatever to normal increase in population. The relation between birth rate and death rate, once to be relied upon for at least a tolerable approximation, cuts very little figure since the growth is by immigration and by aggregation, the country and smaller towns being robbed of their theoretical increase in population by its transference to the larger centers. It is this feature of having to deal with an unknown and unknowable prodigiously rapid growth that makes provisions for rapid transit so difficult a matter.

One possible remedy for some of the current troubles seems in large measure to have escaped notice, certainly to have escaped adoption on any effective scale, and it is a matter which should be commended to the attention of municipal authorities. In very many cities an examination of the lines of traffic provided by the street cars shows that, by accident or by design, the system is so constituted as to deliver most of the passengers at or near a single point irrespective of the direction from which they come or the particular district to which they wish to go. The very frequent result, particularly when, as usual, all the lines are under the control of one company, is serious congestion within a limited district and frequently great trouble at crossings. These conditions are painfully familiar and need a remedy, a somewhat drastic remedy at that, since a ten-story business district has usually to discharge itself into a one-story transportation system. For this condition it is not easy to find a remedy, but some relief could certainly be obtained by an attempt to segregate, even to a very modest extent, the traffic coming from different directions. It is not in the least necessary that the lines converging east, west, north and south should meet and snarl themselves into an inextricable tangle at a single point. Most of the functions of rapid transit could be better fulfilled by having separate termini not distant, yet not contiguous, for the traffic coming from different suburban regions.

On the whole the average passenger would be carried as near to his destination on this plan as on any other and the chance for congestion would be very greatly diminished. If one could free even a small central area, so small as on the whole to cause very little inconvenience, from street car tracks altogether, and bring in the passengers to the margin, the whole question of distribution of traffic would become a relatively simple one and probably the average distance which each passenger would have to walk, certainly the average time taken in reaching his destination, would be rather diminished than increased by the change. A logical addition to this scheme would be the "ringbahn" familiar in some European cities, which permits a passenger desiring to go from his residence on one side of the city to a place of business on the other, to get there without ever going through the congested center of traffic at all.

The long and short of the matter is that the ordinary street car system of an American city, be it surface, elevated or in subways, has been developed without a consistent scheme of action based on future conditions, and there is a constant tendency to patch it up without a comprehensive plan. The time has come, however, when transportation companies are thinking of something beyond next year's dividends and are endeavoring to mold their plans in view of the future. With a little efficient cooperation between municipalities and the transportation companies, it should now be possible to look ahead and build for something beyond to-morrow. The plan of operation here suggested is certainly worth investigation in many cities before permitting any further waste of energy in temporizing with the big problem of rapid transit.

WAGES OF MEN ON ENGLISH PUBLIC WORKS.

The engineer of Horbury, England, Mr. J. H. Drew, has recently compiled a table, which has been published in the Surveyor giving the wages paid in a part of Yorkshire to workmen engaged on public works. His figures were obtained from twenty districts and boroughs and cover a variety of classes of labor. They show that so far as the hours of work are concerned there is not much difference between the prevailing practice in Yorkshire and that in our northeastern states. The peculiarity, as compared with our own customs, is mainly in making a difference between the hours per week during summer and during winter. For example, in Liversedge, forty-four hours per week is the standard in winter and forty-nine and a half in summer. In Castleford the hours are fifty-one per week in summer and winter, which is the highest of any of the districts reported. The average is about eight and a half hours per day, for six days in the week. In a few cases only are the men not paid during the national holidays; in the majority of cases they are given eight to ten days a year on pay. In a little more than half the cases there is no pay for overtime, except under unusual circumstances. In the remaining cases the overtime pay is usually at the regular rate.

When it comes to the actual wages paid it is at once evident that they are extremely low, judging by our standard. For example, the road laborers receive only 75 cents to $1 a day, as a rule. The average rate per hour is 10 to 12 cents. Masons receive from 16 to 18 cents an hour, and their helpers from 10 to 12 cents, and the same is true with pavers and their helpers. The laborers engaged at sewage disposal plants receive from $5 to $6 a week, and street sweepers seem to average about the same amount. Night watchmen get about 75 cents a day. When it comes to skilled laborers, like plumbers, the contrast between English and American rates is still more striking, for the former range from $6 to $8 a week. Foremen on road work are better off than the higher class of employees on any other kind of municipal work, for they average from $6 up to $12.50, the last being the rate in the city of Leeds. The next class seems to be the foremen of sewage disposal works, who receive from $6 up to $11.

Particular attention is called to these figures because they must be considered carefully in any attempt to arrive at a good understanding of the expenses of municipal public work in England. Road construction, the cleaning of streets and many other branches of city engineering operations involve large amounts of skilled and unskilled labor, and the cost and efficiency of this labor are very important matters. This is well shown if a comparison is made between the road maintenance of England and that of France. Casual observers without engineering knowledge, who judge of the roads of the two countries by automobile tours over a few routes, often return to the United States with incorrect notions of the conditions in the two countries. As a matter of fact, the roads average better to-day in Great Britain than in France because more money is spent on them. The figures relating to such work in the two countries have been given so often that it is unnecessary to repeat them here. It has been said that the difference between the organizations for road maintenance in the two countries is responsible for the alleged better conditions of the French highways. As a matter of fact, this is not so. The French roads are rapidly wearing out because it has been considered impossible to devote to them the funds necessary for their proper maintenance. The first international road congress was organized by the French government for the purpose of ascertaining from experience elsewhere if it was possible to keep up its great system of highways at a cost which it considered within its resources. No answer has yet been found to this question, although we have partial answers. Road maintenance costs a very large sum of money in any country, and a large part of this expense goes for labor. This should be kept in mind when discussing the expense of keeping up our public works, something that has not been done to any extent in most American cities and rural districts. Our roads and streets have been left to take care of themselves altogether too much. We have little information as a guide for good maintenance work, and we must not mislead ourselves into believing that maintenance equal to that of England can be obtained for the same price here. Our public works must cost more than those of England, in cases where labor charges form a considerable proportion of the expense, and it is unfair to our engineers and contractors to expect anything different.—Engineering Record.

THREE SOUTH AMERICAN CITIES THAT ARE MAKING MUNICIPAL PROGRESS.

"Cities like Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Ayres and Santiago de Chile, when put beside the larger municipalities of either North America or Europe, creditably stand comparisons that show how municipal progress has benefited the inhabitants," says the Boston Christian Science Monitor. "In some respects these cities can furnish their sister cities of elsewhere interesting lessons."

The Monitor says that in many respects Santiago is like Paris, while in its municipal operation, Rio de Janeiro resembles Washington.

As part of the beautification scheme of Buenos Ayres, there is a commission created by the municipality whose business it is to encourage art in architecture. A gold medal and prize money are offered annually for the most artistically designed structure, and in addition to this reward, the owner of the building is excused from paying taxes on his property. This prize offering has proved a great incentive to both owners and architects and the result is apparent along many of the prominent streets.

CIRCULARS FROM THE MAYOR.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, BOSTON, MASS.

To the Heads of Departments:

You are requested to call at this office as soon as possible for the purpose of receiving blank forms upon which detailed statements of the appropriations required for the fiscal year 1912-13 are to be entered. In filling out these forms the following instructions must be carefully followed:

1. All the appropriations in this budget are derived from the tax levy. The wages of employees who may be carried on loan accounts, or other expenditures from such accounts, must not be included in the estimates.

2. Separate returns should be made for the departmental divisions, where such exist, on the blanks marked for this purpose. In all such cases the central office should be regarded as one division; the other divisions will consist of the natural groups into which the work of the department is divided.

3. In the itemization of general expenses and construction (the latter again including only expenditures derived from the tax levy) on Form 7, the grouping in the Auditor's report should be followed rather closely, except for minor items, which may properly be gathered together under the head, miscellaneous.

4. Additions and deductions for overtime, illness, or other causes, may be grouped in a footnote on Form 5.

5. Succinct and specific reasons for every material increase asked for must be given in the blank spaces provided for this purpose on the various forms, and heads of departments should be prepared to explain their estimates before the City Council.

6. All items must be kept as low as may be consistent with the proper standard of efficiency and a reasonable return for labor. Where members of labor unions are employed, the union rate of wages should form the basis of the estimate for these employees.

7. Returns must be made without delay as soon as the necessary tabulations and forecasts of future requirements have been made.

8. The forms must be filled out in duplicate, and must not be rolled or folded. They must be returned in the envelopes provided for this purpose, one copy for the Mayor and one for the Finance Commission.

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, BOSTON, MASS.,

November 18, 1911.

To the Heads of Departments:

You are hereby directed, in framing your estimates for 1912-1913, to include and explain such increases of salary as may be absolutely required during the year. It seems desirable that the practice of many business houses should be followed in that the wages fixed at the beginning of the year are maintained throughout the entire period. In this way a stable policy will be established and employees will be put in a settled frame of mind, while heads of departments will be relieved from personal importunities and the constant presentation of claims for increase of pay. By gathering up all the proposed increases in one annual statement fairer comparisons can be made between the various candidates for advancement and the results should be better than under the present haphazard methods.

The adoption of this system will enhance the importance of the estimates which you are preparing and may increase the amount of text required for explaining the proposed changes. Should your requests be granted and the appropriations made in accordance with the higher scale suggested by you, no further increases will be allowed during the year except in cases of extraordinary urgency.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

FREE MUNICIPAL CONCERTS.

FINANCING THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Under the present arrangement the municipal expenses of the nation's capital city are paid half and half by the national government and the people of the District of Columbia. The amount of taxes paid by the latter is very near what would be paid in any American city. The government of Washington is necessarily expensive, and a great deal of the most valuable property in the city pays no taxes because it belongs to the national government. It is now proposed to change this plan by making the nation responsible only for a stipulated sum each year. The people who live in Washington and pay taxes there object very strenuously to the change which they contend, will greatly increase their taxes and may deteriorate the quality of the administration.

BEAUTIFYING CHICAGO.

While there are various organizations working for the future beautifying of Chicago, Mayor Harrison proposes an art commission to take charge of immediate and present issues. As, for example, the city is just entering upon an extensive scheme for municipal lighting, having secured a great amount of electric power through the development of the drainage canal. Various types of posts are needed for carrying lights and wires and designs for trolley posts are also required.

BOSTON NOTES.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT.

Consists of 30 municipalities, including Boston, or 13 cities and 17 towns, all within 10 miles of State House. Population in 1910, 1,378,435, or 151,577 more than in 1905. Total valuation of taxable property in district on April 1, 1910, $2,214,446,549, of which $820,681,126 was outside of Boston. Net municipal debt of district, $104,213,329, of which the 29 municipalities outside Boston owed $34,626,564. The total net metropolitan debt for water, parks, sewers, and Charles River Basin improvements on February 1, 1911, was $60,008,172, which added to the net municipal debt makes a total of $164,221,401. Of 1910 tax rates, the highest was Chelsea's ($22.40); the lowest (except Nahant's) was Milton's ($11.90). Only four towns and no city had a lower tax rate than Boston, viz., Nahant ($9), Milton ($11.90), Brookline ($12.50), Swampscott, ($15.00). Total of registered voters in district outside of Boston in 1910, 121,914; total registered in Boston, 110,326. Democratic majority over all in entire district in 1910, for Governor, 23,128. In the 35 years, 1875-1910, the population of the district outside Boston increased 454,287, or 179.16 per cent; in Boston, 328,666 or 96.12 per cent.

PROCEEDINGS OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Nov. 20, 1911.
A regular meeting of the School Committee of the City of Boston was held in the School Committee Chamber, Mason-street Building, at 8 o'clock P. M.
Present: Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Lee and Leen.

CHAIRMAN PRO TEMPORE.

In the absence of the Chairman, the Board was called to order by Mr. George E. Brock, the senior member.
On motion, Mr. George E. Brock was unanimously elected Chairman pro tempore.

AMENDMENT AND APPROVAL OF RECORDS.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the records of the meeting of Nov. 6, 1911, be amended as follows:—

Page 144. Transfers, under Hugh O'Brien District: Strike out the words "Wendell Phillips District" and substitute in place thereof Phillips Brooks District, so that the item will read as follows:—

Hugh O'Brien District—Mary J. Hynes, assistant, to the same position in the Phillips Brooks District, Oct. 30, 1911.

The reading of the records of the last meeting was omitted, the Board approving them as printed as amended.

APPOINTMENTS OF A PRINCIPAL AND TEACHERS.

The Chairman stated the question was on approving the appointment of a principal and of other teachers as reported by the Superintendent, and laid over at the last meeting.

The question came first on approving the appointment of James A. Treanor as master of the Phillips Brooks District, to take effect Dec. 1, 1911.

The appointment was approved by the following vote:—

Yeas—Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Lee and Leen—4.

Absent—Mr. Ellis—1.

The remaining appointments were approved.

USE OF GYMNASIUM, GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL, BY GENERAL PUBLIC.

A communication was received from His Honor the Mayor, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, stating that it has been suggested to him that the gymnasium in the Girls' High School be opened for use by the general public, and asking the opinion of the Board as to the practicability of opening the building for this purpose at certain times, and also to estimate the cost of such opening.

Laid on the table.

TUITION OF NON-RESIDENT PUPILS, EVENING INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL, AND EVENING TRADE SCHOOL.

A communication was received from the State Board of Education, under date of Nov. 13, 1911, stating that on Nov. 10, 1911, that Board passed the following resolution:—

VOTED: That the State Board of Education fix the rate of tuition of non-resident pupils in the Evening Industrial School of the city of Boston for the term of 1911-12 at five dollars per month, and of the Evening Trade School for Girls of Boston at four dollars per month.

Placed on file.

EXIT FROM FIRE ESCAPE, GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL ADDITION.

A communication was received from the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners, under date of Nov. 14, 1911, stating that the yard space of the new addition to the Girls' High School is so small that there might be some congestion in case of hurried exit from the building by means of the fire escape; that the German Lutheran Society, whose property adjoins that of the school, has consented to allow part of their property to be used for an exit, provided, the taxes assessed by the City are assumed by the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners. The rental of this property would come out of rents and taxes given that Board by the School Committee in excess of the repair money, and the Schoolhouse Commissioners recommend that an order be passed authorizing the hiring of this property.

Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners be requested to hire a piece of property belonging to the German Lutheran Society, and adjoining the Girls' High School, for the purpose of providing a proper exit from the fire escape of that building.

AMENDMENTS TO RULES AND REGULATIONS.

The Superintendent offered the following:—

ORDERED, That the regulations be amended as follows:—

Section 291, paragraph 10. Insert the following new clause:—

In the English High School one clerical assistant.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

The Superintendent offered the following:—

ORDERED, That the regulations be amended as follows:—

Section 420. Add the following as new paragraph 7:—

7. The Superintendent may permit members of the supervising staff to be absent, without loss of pay, two days in each school year to visit the schools of other towns and cities for the purpose of observing methods of instruction and discipline.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, recommending an amendment to paragraph XI., section 138, of the rules, with respect to the inclusion of vocational assistant.

Placed on file.

The following was offered:—

ORDERED, That the rules be amended as follows:—

Section 138, paragraph XI. Insert in the fourth line to immediately follow the word "schools," the following:—to vocational assistant in the High School of Practical Arts,—so that the paragraph will read as follows:—

XI. Special: To members of the supervising staff, to teachers of special studies and of special schools, to industrial instructors and industrial assistants of day high schools, to vocational assistant in the High School of Practical Arts, and to special assistant of day high schools.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

The following was offered:—

ORDERED, That the order passed at the meeting of Nov. 6, 1911, (see p. 151) amending Section 138, par XXIV. of the rules, with reference to the requirements for day industrial school certificates is hereby amended by striking out the paragraph describing the issue of licenses, and substituting in place thereof the following:—

The board of superintendents may issue licenses to teach industrial or related subjects in day industrial schools to persons who present satisfactory evidence of possessing good character and health, and who, upon investigation, shall be found to have had three years' satisfactory experience in the practical pursuit of the industry the candidate is to teach, or one year's successful experience in teaching such subject to classes. The board of superintendents may issue licenses to serve as aids in the day industrial schools to persons who satisfactorily complete the course of study in said schools. Licenses shall expire on the thirty-first day of August of the sixth year following the date of issue and shall not be extended or renewed.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

The following was offered:—

ORDERED, That the regulations be amended as follows:—

Section 239. Add the following at the end of the section—or to such exercises of the evening schools as may be held on the last session preceding Christmas Day—so that the section will read as follows:—

Sect. 239. No exercises in which dancing is participated in by pupils attending the day or evening schools shall be conducted in the evening under the auspices of any school or under the name of any school, or of any school organization composed wholly or in part of school pupils; provided, however, that this restriction shall not apply to such annual graduating exercises of schools as may be held in the evening or to such exercises of the evening schools as may be held on the last session preceding Christmas Day.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

EVENING CLASSES FOR DEAF ADULTS.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, to whom was referred at the meeting of Nov. 6, 1911 (see p. 156), a petition for the establishment of evening classes at some convenient place for deaf adults, reporting that in its opinion it is advisable that opportunity for instruction in the evening schools be afforded these pupils, and recommending the establishment in the Central Evening High School of a class for the accommodation of deaf adults, the understanding being that the regular classes of the school shall be open to such of these pupils as may be able to profit thereby.

Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Superintendent is hereby authorized to establish in the Central Evening High School a class for deaf adults, and that an extra teacher specially qualified for the work be assigned to the school to assist these pupils to do the regular work of the school.

INTRODUCTION OF A MORE COMPLETE AND THOROUGH SYSTEM OF VISITATION.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, in response to the order passed at the meeting of Oct. 16, 1911 (see p. 138), requesting that Board to consider and report a method by which a more complete and thorough system of visitation of the schools and teachers may be introduced through an enlargement and extension of the Department of the Supervisor of Substitutes, or otherwise, with an estimate of the cost thereof, submitting the following recommendations:—

1. That each principal be furnished with a clerical assistant. It is primarily the business of the principal to train teachers and to supervise closely the work of the class room. Freedom from clerical routine will enable principals to give the major portion of their time and efforts to the work of actual supervision. Estimated cost—$25,000.

2. That the Superintendent be authorized to take advantage of the provision now in the regulations to appoint a special assistant to the room of the first assistant in charge. The first assistant may then, under the direction of the principal, assist in the work of supervision, not merely in her own building but in any adjacent primary building where there is no first assistant. Estimated cost—$40,000.

3. That the office of the Supervisor of Substitutes be enlarged to include the supervision and control of all temporary teachers, that is, substitutes, temporary teachers and special assistants, and that an additional assistant to the Supervisor of Substitutes be appointed in order that opportunity may be afforded for the necessary inspection of the work of all temporary teachers, both for the purpose of re-rating and for the purpose of assisting principals in supervising the methods of instruction of such temporary teachers. Estimated cost—$1836.

The Board further recommends that the title of the Supervisor of Substitutes be changed to that of Director of Substitutes and Temporary Teachers.

Laid on the table.

REDUCTION IN QUOTA OF PUPILS TO A TEACHER.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Nov. 13, 1911, submitting the following report in compliance with the order passed at the meeting of Oct. 16, 1911 (see p. 138) requesting that Board to consider and report what further reduction in the quota of pupils to a teacher in the elementary schools is desirable, and to submit appropriate recommendations to this end:—

The Board of Superintendents believes that it is highly desirable to reduce the number of pupils to a teacher, and recommends that the plan specified in the report of the Board of Superintendents, under date of Mar. 19, 1907, (see 1907 Minutes of School Committee, p. 32) be extended by providing that beginning Sept., 1912, the quota of pupils to a teacher shall be as follows:—

For the school year 1912-13: in all grades above the first..... 43
For the school year, 1913-14: all grades..... 42
For the school year, 1914-15: all grades..... 41
For the school year, 1915-16: all grades..... 40

The Board of Superintendents further recommends that the quota of pupils to a teacher in ungraded classes be immediately changed from 35 to 30.

The Board of Superintendents wishes again to emphasize the unfortunate conditions arising from the presence of unimprovable children in the regular class-rooms and the inadvisability of assigning these children to the special classes now existing. The Board therefore recommends that arrangements be made to care for such children in some central place, pending an application to the Legislature for the establishment, either by the state or city, of a suitable permanent institution therefor.

Referred to the Business Agent for an estimate of the cost of carrying the recommendations into effect.

A further communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Nov. 13, 1911, substantially as follows:—

In connection with the discussion of the reduction in the number of pupils to a teacher in the elementary schools, the Board of Superintendents wishes to call attention to the statement of the Finance Commission in its recent report that only one of twenty cities reported upon exceeds Boston in the size of high school classes. The Board of Superintendents believes that the present quota of pupils to a teacher in these schools is too large, and recommends that a plan of gradual reduction be adopted as follows:—

For the school year 1912-13, 34 pupils to a teacher.

For the school year 1913-14, 33 pupils to a teacher.

For the school year 1914-15, 32 pupils to a teacher.

For the school year 1915-16, 31 pupils to a teacher.

For the school year 1916-17, 30 pupils to a teacher.

Referred to the Business Agent for an estimate of the cost of carrying the recommendations into effect.

INVESTIGATION OF CHILDREN IN SPECIAL CLASSES.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Board of Superintendents be requested to investigate and report the number of children who are attending the schools who are below the standard for special classes including those children who are already enrolled in such classes.

CENTRAL INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR BOYS.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, with reference to naming the Central Industrial School for Boys.

Laid on the table.

The following was offered:—
ORDERED, That the Pre-Apprentice School, located in the Brimmer School-house on Common street, is hereby renamed the Central Industrial School for Boys, subject to the approval of the Massachusetts State Board of Education.
Laid on the table.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, recommending the adoption of an accompanying Course of Study for the Central Industrial School for Boys.

Laid on the table.

SCHEDULE OF COMPENSATION, EVENING SCHOOL JANITOR SERVICE.

A communication was received from the Business Agent, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, recommending that the schedule of compensation for janitor service of evening high and elementary schools be amended to include the Dorchester High and Washington School-houses.

Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the schedule of compensation for janitor service of evening high and elementary schools adopted June 15, 1908, be amended by the insertion of following item under "Compensation for Cleaning Halls, Gymnasias, Baths and Locker Rooms of Evening High and Elementary Schools":—
Dorchester High School, Assembly Hall $1.03.
Gymnasias, Bath and Locker Rooms $1.50.
Washington School, Assembly Hall 67c.

PERMITS TO CHILDREN TO ATTEND EVERETT SCHOOLS.

A communication was received from the Business Agent under date of Nov. 10, 1911, recommending that permits be issued to children living in Charlestown to attend Everett schools on account of the distance they would be compelled to travel to attend a Boston school.

Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Business Agent is hereby authorized, during the school year of 1911-12, to issue permits to children living in that part of Charlestown adjoining Everett and lying beyond the Mystic River to attend school in Everett, the City of Boston to pay tuition for such attendance.

TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE, SUPPLY ROOM.

A communication was received from the Acting Auditor, under date of Nov. 8, 1911, requesting authority to employ temporary assistance in the Supply Room during November and December.

Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Acting Auditor is hereby authorized to employ such temporary assistance in the supply room and at such compensation as he may deem advisable.

JANITORSHIP, JAMES OTIS SCHOOL-HOUSE.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, submitting a list of applicants for transfer to the janitorship of the James Otis School-house, and recommending that Florence J. Nugent, janitor of the Charles C. Perkins School-house and Portable No. 13, who stands at the head of the list, be transferred to said position, to take effect Nov. 26, 1911.

Placed on file, and the transfer of Florence J. Nugent to said position approved, to take effect on the date stated.

JANITORSHIP, SHERWIN SCHOOL-HOUSE.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, submitting a list of applicants for transfer to the janitorship of the Sherwin School-house, and recommending that David F. Sennott, janitor of the Peter Faneuil School-house, who stands at the head of the list, be transferred to said position to take effect Nov. 26, 1911.

Placed on file, and the transfer of David F. Sennott to said position approved to take effect on the date stated.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE TO A JANITOR.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, recommending that Thomas F. Durkin, janitor of the Rice School-house, be granted leave of absence on half pay for six months to take effect Dec. 1, 1911.

Placed on file, and leave of absence granted Thomas F. Durkin, for six months, to take effect Dec. 1, 1911, on one-half of his net compensation, the amount thereof to be determined by the Secretary and the Schoolhouse Custodian.

APPOINTMENT AND PAYMENT OF ACTING JANITORS.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, submitting a list of temporary appointments and reappointments of janitors, for periods of ten days or less, and amounts due for services as follows:—

INVESTIGATION OF SCHOOLS OF PORTO RICO.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, stating that he was recently invited by the Bureau of Insular Affairs of the United States Government and by the Governor and Commissioner of Education of Porto Rico to inspect and report upon the schools in Porto Rico in co-operation with Mr. Meyer Bloomfield, and inasmuch as it would be difficult for him to be absent from his regular duties, the services of Assistant Superintendent Augustine L. Rafter are requested in his place.

Placed on file.

The following order was offered:—

ORDERED, That Assistant Superintendent, Augustine L. Rafter, is hereby granted leave of absence from Nov. 25 to Dec. 22, 1911, for the purpose of investigating the schools of Porto Rico under the direction of the United States government.

A roll call being ordered, the order was declared passed by the following vote:—
Yeas—Messrs. Brock, Corcoran and Lee—3.

Nays—Dr. Leach—1.
Absent—Mr. Ellis—1.

INVESTIGATION OF SCHOOL SYSTEM OF NEW YORK CITY.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, stating that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of the City of New York is conducting an extensive examination of the school system of that city, and the Committee on School Inquiry has invited him to undertake an inquiry into the organization of the work of the Board of Education, the estimated amount of time necessary for such an investigation being fixed at six weeks.

Placed on file, and the secretary instructed to inform the Committee on School Inquiry that the Board regrets its inability at the present time to grant leave of absence to the Superintendent for the purpose stated.

POPULATION AND WATER SUPPLY.

The engineer is accustomed to look upon water supplies with a critical eye and to weigh their quality and quantity carefully in passing upon questions relating to domestic and industrial supplies and irrigation, but it has been reserved for Mr. W. J. McGee to jump far ahead of the most ambitious mental flights of the plodding engineer and look upon the available water resources of our country as the limiting influence upon the growth of its population. It is a speculation so unlike those ordinarily connected with water supply problems that a survey of it, as he elaborates it in "Science," is worth while as affording a new aspect of an old problem. Furthermore, his investigations lead him to make a larger estimate of future populations than those of Mr. Henry Gannett, which are so well known. The latter estimated some time ago that the population would be 90,000,000 in 1910, 250,000,000 in 2000 and 500,000,000 in 3000. While none of us will be present to check up these estimates, Mr. McGee asserts they are very conservative and it must be said the figures have a decidedly encouraging amplitude to those who fear the growth of race suicide.

It is pointed out that 25 acre-feet of water properly used on five acres have been found adequate in agriculture by irrigation to support a family of five for a year. This is equivalent to a population of one person per acre or one person per 5 acre-feet of water. This standard determined by experience in the arid regions is confirmed by researches in Germany and the United States which have led to the general deduction that the agricultural duty of water is the production of one-thousandth part of its weight in average plant crop. Assuming that meats require in their production ten times as much water as plants, a man who eats 200 pounds of bread and 200 pounds of meat in a year, in addition to drinking about a ton of water, requires something like 4,401 tons of water for these things alone, so that the practical requirement of 5 acre-feet, or 6,800 tons for all purposes, does not seem to be open to very serious criticism. These figures are applied to the problem of future growth of population by assuming about 3,000,000 square miles of territory in the United States, outside of Alaska and the insular possessions; if this territory were peopled as densely as Belgium the population would be about 2,000,000,000. But Mr. McGee holds that this is an impossible condition because the annual rainfall averages only 30 inches or 5,000,000,000 acre-feet, or only enough for a population of 1,000,000,000 assuming that most of it could be utilized for agricultural purposes.

If the country is divided into the humid eastern states, thirty-one in number, the six semi-humid central states, and the eleven semi-arid states, a consideration of their water resources affords still more light on the population problem. In the first group of states, the average rainfall is about 3,000,000,000 acre-feet, or nearly two-thirds of the country's entire supply. On the basis of 5 acre-feet per person, the present population of 75,000,000 may be increased eight times only, and to do this would require intensive cultivation of the land in order that food supplies for the cities might be produced. In the same way, Mr. McGee estimates that the semi-humid central states could support a population of 200,000,000, or twenty times that of to-day, and the semi-arid states might support 200,000,000 more, or thirty times the present population. The total of the three sections is 1,000,000,000 persons.

The population of 600,000,000 in the eastern states is about equal to that of China and Japan to-day, and its density, 500 per square mile, is the same as that in Lombardy, only a trifle above that of Holland now, and far below that of Belgium and Saxony. The 200,000,000 in the central states is considerably under the population of British India, and its density, 333 per square mile, is below that of Japan and about 10 per cent above that of Germany and Italy. The population of 200,000,000 in the western states gives a density of 167 per square mile, which is below that of France, Switzerland, Bavaria and Austria. The total of 1,000,000,000 for the whole country gives a density of 333 per square mile, about midway between that of the United Kingdom and Germany, little more than half of that of Belgium and less than half that of Saxony.

Mr. Gannett's prediction of the 1910 population of this country proved to be about 2,000,000 too low, and Mr. McGee is of the opinion that his estimates for later years will also prove increasingly low for the same cause. Recent years have seen great advances in etiology, surgery, sanitation and other things which are helpful in giving greater health and virility, so that the increase in population is large in spite of a declining birth-rate. The country's production of food materials and textiles has been developing very rapidly and an enormous immigration adds to our population from outside sources. Against these conditions must be set the rapidly mounting cost of living, which may prove to be but a temporary check, and various industrial conditions which may have some restraining influence on the development of all the resources of the country for a time.

It is well known that there is a steady decrease in the percentage of increase in the population every ten years. The percentage of increase between 1800 and 1810 was 36.4, while between 1890 and 1900 it was 20.7. Mr. McGee assumes that the percentage will be twenty in the period from 1910 to 1920 and will get down to ten about the year 2020, when he estimates that the population will be about 425,000,000 as against 299,000,000 estimated by Mr. Gannett. After that the change in the rate of increase will be slower, so that by 2100 the population will be 757,000,000. Mr. Gannett's estimate for this year is 500,000,000.

In commenting on these estimates, Mr. McGee points out that the capacity for population of a country depends as much upon the utilization of its natural resources as upon the resources themselves. The nation which takes advantage of its opportunities to the greatest extent is the most virile, and in a country of such resources as the United States a people so resourceful as Americans have good grounds for assuming that the population will develop more rapidly than in other lands where material advantages are not so numerous and the spirit of progress is less marked. While other factors limiting development may arise as mentality extends and becomes intensified, that most evident to-day in this and several other countries is the water supply, he reiterates, and the only one likely to influence materially the rate in increase of the population outlined above.

TERMINALS FOR NEW YORK BARGE CANAL.

The terminals for the New York Barge Canal, which will cost nearly $20,000,000, were authorized at the recent election and consequently nothing now remains lacking in the way of money to put this water upon the basis which its advocates have always desired. It is rather amusing to those who have all along found it impossible to agree with the rosy estimates of the canal's future made by its friends to observe that the recent election was carried in no small degree by reason of a feeling that after the state has appropriated the $101,000,000 for the canal proper, it would be unwise not to add enough more to make that heavy initial investment profitable if such a thing is possible. Many who are of the opinion that the barge canal will prove a failure have been willing to take what they consider a long chance at getting their money back and so they voted for financial help to finish it completely with all the terminal facilities its friends demand. The original proposition to build the canal was carried by the votes of New York City, for the rest of the state voted strongly against it. In the recent election the vote was more favorable throughout the state than before. The advocates of waterways will never have a better opportunity than this vote insures to prove the value of canal transportation in the United States under the most favorable circumstances, and it is to be hoped that the work on the terminals will be carried out with the greatest attention to the probable requirements of the business, so that no valid criticism can be made about the facilities which the state is affording. The days of the canal as a regulator of railroad rates are passed, because the Interstate Commerce Commission and the various public service commissions now control such charges. The only advantage of the canal, therefore, is its primary purpose as a means of transportation, and the $120,000,000 which New York State is now spending to find out if American shippers will utilize such a waterway should be regarded as a sufficiently large investment in undertakings of this nature until the outcome of it is definitely settled. Surely the advocates of other waterways should be willing to wait until a few years' experience with the New York Barge Canal has demonstrated beyond question what measure of usefulness such routes possess in these days of keen railroad competition.

CHICAGO'S WOODEN BUILDINGS INCREASE HAZARD.

The cost of wooden buildings erected in Chicago in 1909 was $13,500,000, and of those erected in Philadelphia, $38,000, says the Tribune. This helps to explain why there are more fires in Chicago than in the Quaker City.

THE GARDEN CITY MOVEMENT IN ENGLAND.

The "Garden City" was instituted about thirty years ago as a housing adjunct for a great industrial enterprise. In 1887 the firm of Lever Brothers, soap manufacturers, bought some land between Birkenhead and Liverpool on which to build homes for their employees. The first houses constructed were too costly to be profitable, and of late years the expense of maintaining roads and parks has risen so that on an investment of $1,500,000 there is no profit after the payment of fixed charges; but Mr. Lever believes in carrying on the enterprise, because employees living in a community which promotes good health are more intelligent and efficient.

In 1902 a tract of 3,800 acres, at $200 per acre, was bought by the First Garden City, limited, 1,200 acres being designed to house a population of about 30,000 people. The remaining 2,600 acres are devoted to an agricultural belt which encircles the town and which shall remain inviolate. A limit of twelve houses to the acre has been established, and a conscious effort has been made to provide housing facilities for all sorts and conditions of men, the rents ranging from $5 to $6 a month up to $40 or $50.

A part of the property, lying close to the railroad but screened by a hill and a belt of trees, has been set aside for factory enterprises. Already more than twenty different enterprises have left London and found it to their financial benefit to operate their works on cheap land, where the homes of the operatives may be within walking distance of their work.

The directors have wisely held the most attractive portion of the land for a future civic center. The population of Letchworth is now 7,000; and the idea is to use small temporary municipal buildings until the city approaches its final population of 30,000.

The most attractive London suburb, Hampstead Garden, which is only twenty minutes from the heart of London, was developed by the Hampstead Garden Suburb Trust, which, for $2,500 per acre, bought from Eton College 240 acres of rolling country bordering Hampstead Heath. The building upon the property is upon a preconceived plan, designed by Barry Parker and Raymond Unwin. The land is not sold, but lots are rented for 999 years. Three very successful copartnership societies have built homes, all of which must be approved by the architects so that the harmony of the treatment may not be disturbed. Only eight houses are permitted to the acre, so that there are ample gardens and open spaces. The informal treatment of the streets and the placing of buildings, sometimes in groups of two and three, have produced very charming street pictures.

The houses in Bournville, another of the "garden cities," are attractive brick structures with gardens in front and behind. The "Village Trust" offers prizes for the best kept garden and for the finest fruit and vegetables. With this incentive the gardens are always neatly cultivated, and it has been estimated that the produce raised reduces the rent of every family in Bournville nearly fifty cents a week. There are tennis and football fields, a swimming pool and a gymnasium. The death rate in Bournville is five per 1,000 while in Birmingham, only four miles away, it is fifteen.

The Bournville boys of twelve are three inches larger around the chest than their city neighbors in Birmingham. The enterprise was made over in 1900 by George Cadbury to a perpetual trust, which will carry out his ideas. The undertaking is on a strictly business basis, the net profits of about 4 per cent being devoted to the building of more houses.—Municipal Engineering.

TO PLAN A CAPITAL CITY.

The government of the Commonwealth of Australia is inviting designs for a complete city to serve as the capital city of that country, offering premiums of £1,750 £750 and £500 respectively, for those decided to be the first, second and third in excellence. The city will be located in the district of Yass-Canberra, in the state of New South Wales and will be the permanent seat of government of Australia, the meeting places of the Federal Parliament and the official residence of the Governor-General. It will, therefore, be the official and social center of Australia.

In the design consideration must be given to proper provision for an assumed population of 25,000, and for the following public buildings: Houses of Parliament, with a frontage of about 600 feet and depth of 200; residences of the Governor-General and the Prime Minister; offices of the Departments of the Prime Minister, External Affairs, Attorney-General, Home Affairs, Treasury, Trade and Customs, Defence and Postmaster-General. Also courts of justice, places of public worship, mint, national art gallery and library, state house, printing office, government factories, university, technical colleges, city hall, general postoffice, museum, central railway station, railway yards, military barracks, criminal and police courts, jails, hospitals, national theatre, central power station, gas works, markets, stadium, parks and gardens.

It is probable that military equipment and other products for the government's use will be manufactured within this area; and provision must, of course, be made for commercial and residential buildings. Street railways, water supply, sewerage, street lighting, etc., must, of course, be arranged for.

This is probably the first time in the history of the world that competitive designs have been asked for a complete city of so great importance as this, including provision for all buildings and other necessary structures. The street plan of the city of Washington was prepared by L'Enfant, but we believe the design stopped there. Several industrial cities have been designed and constructed fully prepared for all the functions of a considerable population, but these were not of such national importance nor, we believe were general invitations sent out for competitive plans for them.—Municipal Journal.

STREET CAR CONGESTION.

Street car congestion on busy corners is rapidly becoming a very important feature of municipal engineering work. In Newark, N. J., for instance, the number of cars scheduled to pass the intersection of Broad and Market streets in the afternoon rush period is really extraordinary, when it is kept in mind that this schedule is actually lived up to. Between 4.45 and 5.45 the schedule calls for 508 crossings. As the hour advances this number rises until between 5.15 and 6.15 the maximum of 562 crossings is reached. From this number there is a gradual falling off until between six and seven o'clock only 441 crossings are scheduled.

These figures were those of the schedule of a typical day, January 23, of the current year. In order to maintain any such movement as this, the city has adopted rigorous traffic regulations, which are enforced effectively. Moreover, many of the cars are not allowed to stop within several blocks of the crossing, so that their movement is not checked by halts to take on or let off passengers. In other cities variations of this problem arise. In New York, for instance, one of the worst traffic congestions in the country exists at the corner of Fifth avenue and Forty-second street during a part of the year. The travel on the avenue is very heavy at certain hours and consists mainly of a dense crowd of automobiles. On the intersecting street there is a double-track railway carrying a heavy traffic and the roadway is used by many vehicles. At Bridgeport, Conn., there is a somewhat similar intersection, which produces a snarl of traffic whenever the police control at this corner is at all lax. Such problems of congestion are comparatively new in this country, yet they are becoming apparent in many cities and relief must be found for them, for otherwise our streets will fail to perform their service. In some cases it is undoubtedly true that by deflecting at least part of the traffic to parallel streets some relief will be afforded, yet the opinion is growing among those who have had occasion to study the problem most thoroughly that subway intersections for the street railways will prove the only really satisfactory solution.—Engineering Record.

A MUNICIPAL PAWN SHOP PROPOSED TO LOAN COLUMBUS, O., WATERWORKS DEPOSITS.

If the plan of the city officials develops, Columbus, O., will soon have a municipal pawn shop. It is planned to operate the pawn shop in connection with the waterworks department, which is also owned by the city, and the deposit funds of the waterworks department, which are required of customers, will provide the capital to be loaned out. Opposition to the ordinance which was adopted by council recently came from the fact that no money was in the city treasury or would accrue there under the Smith 1 per cent tax law, which could be used for loaning purposes. Councilmen declare they have reached a solution of the problem by combining it with the waterworks office, and another ordinance with these provisions will be introduced in council. The clerks of the waterworks department will also look after the pawn shop, thus doing away with the necessity for additional clerks.

STATIONARY POLICE POSTS.

The system adopted in New York City about six months ago for the location of police at certain street intersections, instead of allowing them to move about over a beat, seems to be working very well and has gradually been extended to cover most of the city. The frequency of the posts varies, of course, with the density of population, but it averages every fifth street. The post is at the center of the intersection and commands a view of the streets now straight and even, from one post to another. The policeman remains at his post unless something calls to require his attention elsewhere, and in that case the position is filled as soon as possible by a patrolman. The great advantage of this arrangement is that the policeman can be found when needed, whereas if he is out on a beat, a long search may be required to locate him. This is the London system adapted to an American city. New York now has 771 fixed posts of this sort.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Complaints, inquiries or suggestions regarding the work of municipal departments should be made in writing to the officials directly in charge. The failure of such officials to make reply within a reasonable length of time should be brought to the attention of the Mayor. Communications should be directed as follows:

TO THE BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS, Room 41, City Hall, for information relative to the laying out, relocation, widening and discontinuance of highways; the taking of real property for municipal purposes; the assessments of betterments for streets and sewers; the plotting of undeveloped areas for streets and the opening of private ways; the granting of licenses for the storage or sale of merchandise in public streets; the regulation of street traffic; the making of specific repairs in public streets; the naming of public streets; the planting and removal of trees in public ways; the issuing of licenses for the storage of gasoline, oil and other inflammable substances or explosive compounds; the use of the public ways for any permanent or temporary obstruction or projection in, under or over the same, including the location of conduits, poles and posts for telephone, telegraph, street railway or illuminating purposes, signs, marquises, bay windows, coal holes and vaults.

tion as to the watering, cleaning, lighting and repairing of streets, the construction and care of sewers and catch-basins, the operation of the ferries, the maintenance of bridges and drawbridges and the removal of ashes and offal.

To Room 45, City Hall, for information relative to the supplying or metering of water and the water charges of the city.

TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH, 100 Summer street, for information relative to the inspection of milk, vinegar, meat, fish and vegetables, the issuance of permits for stables, slaughter houses, etc., smoke nuisances, the existence of contagious diseases or public health nuisances.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC GROUNDS, 154 East Cottage street, for information as to the care of the Common, Public Garden, and the small parks throughout the city other than playgrounds, and the extermination of the gypsy moth and the charges made for the same.

TO THE PARK COMMISSIONERS, Pine Bank, Jamaica Plain, for information as to Franklin Park and Field, Commonwealth avenue, the Back Bay Fens, Marine Park, and playgrounds in general throughout the city.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, Mason street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

TO THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, 120 Boylston street, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following requests of departments to do work with the department forces, without advertising, also the following additions to and deductions from contracts:

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Commissioner of Public Works has been granted authority to do the following work with the department force, without advertising for competitive bids.

Build a sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Percival street, from Fox street about 470 feet south, Dorchester, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $1,350.

Build a sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Lansdowne street, between existing sewer about 215 feet east of Allerton street and Allerton street, Roxbury district, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $1,160.

"This work can, in my opinion, be as advantageously done by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

"Public necessity and convenience require that this work be done after November 15, for which your authority is requested.

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

PARK DEPARTMENT.

Similar authority has been granted to the Park Commissioners to build the sanitary accommodations at the Public Landing, Marine Park, for which the department has an appropriation of $2,000.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved by the Mayor:

PARK DEPARTMENT.

An addition, amounting to $2,404.20, on the contract with the Carroll Construction Company for the erection of an Aquarium building at Marine Park, on account of supplying hydrolithic cement to wells and floor of cistern and tunnel. Contract price, $94,218; total addition, $2,404.20; contract as standing, $96,622.20.

An addition, amounting to $1,646.29, on the contract with the Carroll Construction Company for the erection of an Aquarium building at Marine Park, on account of 1,301 feet 5 inches extra depth of concrete piles. Contract price, $94,218; total additions, $4,050.49; contract as standing, $98,268.49.

PUBLIC GROUNDS DEPARTMENT.

An addition, amounting to approximately $850, on contract with Coleman Brothers for tree pits in Bennington street, East Boston; Dorchester street, South Boston, and Avenue Louis Pasteur, Roxbury, on account of draining tree pits in certain sections.

TRANSFER OF APPROPRIATION.

The Mayor has approved a transfer of $5,000 from the Suffolk School appropriation to the Placing Out and Office Division of the Children's Institutions Department. In making request for this transfer the trustees explain that in presenting estimate for 1911 an appropriation of $110,400 was asked for because of the increase over previous years in the cost of board of children placed in private families. The appropriation granted was but $103,000.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

The Board of Street Commissioners has awarded to Edward O. Webster the sum of $250, and to Martha H. Knight $300, on account of damage occasioned to their estates by the laying out of Mead street, Charlestown.

In the matter of Rudolph C. Pacht, who sought an abatement of an assessment of $50 levied against his estate, lot No. 6, on account of a sewer laid in Houston street, West Roxbury, in 1892, the Board has granted an abatement of $25.12 from such of the assessment which remains unpaid.

The Board has awarded damages in the sum of $9,000 to Richard E. Cochran for damage occasioned to his estate corner of Washington and Tower streets, West Roxbury, by a taking in fee made for sewerage works (relocation of Stony brook, between Morton and Tower streets), April 12, 1910. For a temporary taking made for the same purpose the Board awards $1 and costs.

The Board has entered into an agreement with Thomas Minton whereby he agrees to accept $275 from the city as full payment for land taken and damage occasioned to his estate between Morton and Tower streets for sewerage works in connection with Stony brook relocation.

FEES FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT PERMITS.

The Fire Commissioner has adopted the following schedule of fees for permits issued by the department:

Storage and sale of explosives, $1; 50 cents for registration of certificate of renewal.

Storage and sale of fireworks and firecrackers, 50 cents for permit.

Use of fireworks and firecrackers, 50 cents for permit.

Transportation of explosives: 50 cents for permit.

Blasting: 50 cents for permit.

Fires in open air: 25 cents for permit.

The account of the fees charged for the first four permits is limited by separate statute in each case. The amount charged for permits for blasting and fires in the open air is as stated in chapter 571 of the Acts of 1910.

APPROPRIATION FOR CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 27, 1911.

To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable body, held October 2, 1911, I transmitted a letter from the chairman of the Consumptives' Hospital Department, urging an appropriation of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) for the erection of a hospital to contain fifty beds for children with demonstrable tuberculosis. The matter was referred to the Committee on Finance, and as no report has been made I recommend the passage of the accompanying loan order, appropriating the sum required for this purpose.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $50,000 be appropriated, to be expended by the Consumptives' Hospital Trustees for a Children's Hospital, and that the city treasurer be authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

OPENING OF AQUARIUM AND ZOO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 27, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners, containing a statement of the funds appropriated for the Aquarium and Zoological Garden, and an estimate of the amount needed in order to open these institutions on June 1, 1912. It appears that the sum of $125,000 is required, according to the Park Commissioners, before that date, in addition to the amount already appropriated. As it is desirable that the Aquarium and Zoological Garden should be opened next summer if possible, I trust that your honorable body will bear in mind the needs of these institutions, as set forth in the accompanying letter.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,

November 24, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Inclosed herewith is a statement of the funds appropriated and the obligations entered upon for the Aquarium and Zoological Garden. Also a statement as to what money will be needed to carry out so much of the work as we have aimed to have ready for opening on June 1, 1912. At that time, as you know, we hope to have the Aquarium, the bear dens and the bird cage built and occupied and the bird house well under way so that it may receive the birds in the autumn. Also we hope to have a few yards for small hardy animals. To accomplish this we shall need to receive, as per this statement, $114,500, or, as unforeseen incidentals will occur, it will be safer to ask for $125,000 between now and next June. Will you give this your attention and if possible see that we can count upon this sum of $125,000 in installments between now and June, 1912?

Yours truly,

ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

FERDINAND STREET WIDENING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 27, 1911.

To the City Council:

It has come to my knowledge that Mr. Laurence Minot, who has represented the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad in its negotiations with the city in regard to the development of the Park square property, has recently acquired an estate on Piedmont street, near the junction of Ferdinand street. This parcel adjoins another previously owned by him, but it is nearer to the line of the proposed widening. The assessed valuation of the original estate is about $2,100 and that of the estate recently purchased about $1,800. Should the widening be made under the excess condemnation act, so called, both estates might be taken by the city either through purchase or by eminent domain. Should the city decide not to avail itself of the privilege accorded to it under the recent constitutional amendment both estates would be subject to betterment assessments and, on the other hand, would undoubtedly share in any increase of valuation that would result therefrom.

I have felt it my duty to lay this circumstance before you. It was not known to me when I recommended the widening of Ferdinand street, and I am unable to say that the arguments for this great public improvement, which commended themselves to my judgment two weeks ago, have lost any of their force because of the fact that a representative of the railroad may derive some benefit from the city's act.

It has been suggested that Arlington street might be extended as far as Columbus avenue and the Ferdinand street widening be treated as a distinct proposition. Unfortunately, however, the proposition of the railroad looks upon the whole improvement as a unit, and it is questionable whether it might not withdraw its offer of $270,000 in betterment assessments. The railroad virtually gives to the city two important streets constructed on its own land, Arlington street, between Providence street and Columbus avenue, and Stuart street. Besides this it widens Providence street to a width of one hundred feet and guarantees that $270,000 shall be deducted from the damages to the estates which it owns on Boylston street.

Ever since the destruction by fire of the depot of the Boston and Providence Railroad, the Park square district has been an eye-sore and an obstacle to development. An opportunity is now offered to remedy this condition and failure to act at this juncture might conceivably result in an indefinite postponement of the entire scheme. The mere fact that the property is owned by a great railroad corporation should not prejudice the case but the proposition should be considered like any other, strictly upon its merits and with a view to the resulting benefit to this particular section and to the city as a whole.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

GYMNASIUM, WARD 8.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, November 27, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the vice chairman of the Bath Trustees, requesting an additional appropriation of $15,000 for the remodeling of the Blossom Street Wardroom as a bath house and gymnasium. The appropriation on hand amounts to something less than $25,000, while the lowest bid on the plans approved by the department amounted to something over $35,000. The improvement is an important one and I believe that the suggestion of the Bath Trustees should be carried out. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying loan order, appropriating the sum of $15,000 additional for Gymnasium, Ward Building, Ward 8.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Bath Department, November 24, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

My dear Sir,—I desire to ask your cooperation in securing an additional appropriation of $15,000 for the remodeling of the Ward 8 building into a bath house and gymnasium. The plans for this have already been drawn by Mr. Edward P. T. Graham, architect, and the lowest bids were submitted by the William Crane Company, Vassar street, Cambridge, and amounted to $35,113. The amount of the appropriation now on hand is $24,405.85. It is especially desirous to put through the plans and specifications already drawn, as the pressing needs of this community call for the plans already agreed upon.

The reason why nothing has been done towards securing this appropriation up to this time was owing to an investigation which was being conducted by the Finance Committee, relative to the specifications on plumbing. A recent communication from the Finance Commission set forth that they desire to see this building put through to a speedy completion, and as the Bath Trustees are of the same opinion, I trust that you will secure this additional appropriation of $15,000 for carrying out the work contemplated, as the people of this section of the city are especially desirous of having this building completed as soon as possible. I trust the urgency of their appeal will merit your immediate consideration.

Very truly yours,

WILLIAM M. MURPHY,
Vice Chairman, Bath Trustees.

Ordered, That the sum of $15,000 additional be appropriated, to be expended by the Bath Trustees for Gymnasium, Ward Building, Ward 8, and that to meet said appropriation the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

QUARTERS IN PARKMAN HOUSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 17, 1911.
To the City Council:
I transmit herewith a communication from the Commander of Roger Wolcott Camp, No. 23, U. S. W. V., Department of Massachusetts, requesting that if the Parkman estate is retained by the city for patriotic purposes this camp be assigned quarters in the building.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Headquarters Roger Wolcott Camp No. 23,
United Spanish War Veterans,
Boston, November 17, 1911.
Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—We have been informed that the "Parkman Estate" at No. 33 Beacon street is to be retained by the city for patriotic purposes. We respectfully ask that we be assigned to quarters in said building under the act of the Legislature permitting the use of public buildings at a nominal rental for Grand Army posts and camps of Spanish War Veterans.

We are the largest camp in the state and bear the name of the honored war Governor, Roger Wolcott. Trusting you will arrange a time to confer with a committee from our camp, I remain,

Respectfully,
P. JOSEPH O'LEARY, Commander.
Referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

IMPROVEMENTS, HIGHLAND PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 17, 1911.
To the City Council:
At the meeting of your honorable body held November 13, 1911, an order was passed transferring the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Thomas Park, Repairing of Monument. At the same meeting the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) was appropriated from the income of the Parkman Fund for convenience stations, bubble fountains, and other improvements in the public parks and squares. In the course of the debate on the latter order a schedule of proposed improvements which could be made under this appropriation was submitted by the Superintendent of Public Grounds, and the last item of the schedule, reading "Thomas Park, Repairs on Monument," was identical with the subject of the earlier appropriation made by transfer from the Reserve Fund. The schedule had not been submitted to me and I presume has absolutely no binding force but as there happens to be another appropriation of three thousand dollars ($3,000) asked for by the Superintendent of Public Grounds, I recommend that the appropriation for Thomas Park, Repairing of Monument, be transferred to a special appropriation for Highland Park, Improvements, and have drafted an order effecting this transfer.

In the annual report of the Superintendent of Public Grounds, dated February 1, 1911, it is stated that "the Roxbury standpipe grounds remain in the same dilapidated condition which prevailed when the lot was transferred to this department some years ago, owing to the fact that no appropriation was ever made for ground improvements, although the standpipe has been thoroughly repaired, which makes the unsightly condition of the lot more apparent. The renovation of this area may be accomplished for $3,000 and again I urgently recommend it."

In my opinion the improvement is one which should be undertaken and I trust that the accompanying transfer order will be passed.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That an appropriation of three thousand dollars ($3,000) for Thomas Park, Repairing of Monument, be transferred to a special appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Grounds for Highland Park, Improvements.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CONNECTIONS, HYDE PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 23, 1911.
To the City Council:
I beg to recommend the passage of the accompanying order, based on the request of the Fire Commissioner for an additional appropriation of five thousand dollars ($5,000) for the purpose of enabling the fire alarm division to make proper connections with the Hyde Park fire alarm.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Headquarters, Fire Department,
November 21, 1911.
Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I have the honor to request that $5,000 additional be transferred to the appropriation of the Fire Department for the purpose of enabling the fire alarm division to make proper connections with the Hyde Park fire alarms. It is the intention of this department to use the Hyde Park system as it is at present. The work to be done at this time will allow the Hyde Park alarms to be recorded at this office, and the Boston alarms to be transmitted to the Hyde Park central station.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES D. DALY,
Fire Commissioner.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be, and hereby is, authorized to transfer the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Fire Department.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

COMMEMORATION OF WENDELL PHILLIPS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 25, 1911.
To the City Council:
As Wednesday, November 29, is the one hundredth anniversary of the birthday of Wendell Phillips, it seems to me timely to suggest to your honorable body that some attempt should be made to commemorate in a permanent way the life and works of this distinguished Bostonian. The son of our first mayor, and a graduate of the Boston Latin School and Harvard University, he dared to face in his early youth social ostracism and personal peril in the expression of his convictions. His name is immortalized with that of William Lloyd Garrison as one of the leaders of a group of New England men who stood ready to make any sacrifice that the American nation might become a nation of free men. In his later years, when the movement for the abolition of slavery had triumphed, he espoused other causes which revealed no less distinctly his liberal and philanthropic nature, such as the emancipation of women, the freedom of Ireland, the improvement of wages and conditions among what are called the laboring classes, and the reduction of the evil of intemperance. His brilliant eloquence and apostolic fervor gave him the renown, and to some extent the influence, of a missionary in those fields.

It would seem that Boston should be ready to do something for this great advocate, whose fine and brave personality is still remembered by many of the older generation, and whose influence, though he held no office, was greater than that of many who are styled statesmen. Through his superb apostrophe to the portraits in Faneuil Hall, and his connection with the attempted rescue of the fugitive slave Burns, he is identified with events that have become a part and parcel of our history. While Garrison has his statue on Commonwealth avenue, no similar public memorial exists to remind the citizens or visitors of the career of so great a man. I feel sure that the City Council will regard the subject as worthy of its attention on the eve of the centenary which is about to be observed.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.
Referred to the Executive Committee.

ACCEPTANCE OF INVITATION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 20, 1911.
To the City Council:
Continuing the subject of the invitation extended to Lawson Purdy, Esq., president of the Department of Taxes and Assessments of the city of New York, to visit Boston and meet the members of the City Council with other city officials, I beg to inform you that Mr. Purdy has promised to come on any date in February that may be named and that I have invited him to come on Thursday, February 1, 1912.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.
Placed on file.

EMPLOYEES OF "MONITOR."

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 20, 1911.
To the City Council:
In reply to your request, contained in an order passed at the meeting of November 13, that the Corporation Counsel report to the City Council his opinion as to whether the employees of the steamer "Monitor" are employees of the County of Suffolk or of the City of Boston, I transmit herewith a statement on this subject from the Corporation Counsel.

Yours very truly,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, November 17, 1911.
Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:
Dear Sir,—I am requested by the Honorable City Council, through your Honor, for my opinion as to whether or not the employees of the steamer "Monitor" are employees of the County of Suffolk or City of Boston.

Persons employed on the steamer "Monitor" are employees of the Penal Institutions Department, which is, as far as the management of the House of Correction is concerned, a county department. As far as its other duties are concerned, it is a department of the City of Boston. I am informed by the Penal Institutions Commissioner that the employees on the steamer "Monitor" are employees of the City of Boston, that their pay is not reckoned as a county expense and that they are under the civil service rules as employees of the city.

Yours respectfully,
THOMAS M. BABSON, Corporation Counsel.
Placed on file.

CLERICAL ASSISTANCE, SUPERIOR CIVIL COURT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 27, 1911.
To the City Council:
At the meeting of your honorable body held on November 13, 1911, I transmitted a communication from the Clerk of the Superior Civil Court, in which he requested that three thousand dollars ($3,000) be transferred to the appropriation for the maintenance of that court, for the purpose of paying the salaries of needed extra clerks. It was my intention to specifically recommend the passage of such an appropriation, but the wording of my communication may be considered vague. I therefore recommend the passage by your honorable body of the accompanying draft of order, transferring the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Superior Court, Civil Session.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $3,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Superior Court, Civil Session.

Referred to the Committee on County Accounts.

CLERICAL ASSISTANCE, CRIMINAL COURT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 27, 1911.
To the City Council:
I transmit herewith a communication from the clerk of the Superior Criminal Court, requesting that the sum of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) be appropriated for additional clerical assistance in his department, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying draft of order transferring this amount from the Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Superior Court, Criminal Session.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) from the Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Superior Court, Criminal Session.

Referred to the Committee on County Accounts.

WALTER L. COLLINS,
WALTER BALLANTYNE,
Councilors.
JOHN T. PRIEST,
City Clerk.
LOUIS K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

(Annexed were the descriptions referred to, all as contained in City Document 125.)
Accepted, and ordered printed.

ENGINE HOUSE, PARKER HILL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Headquarters, Fire Department,
November 22, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Pursuant to an order with respect to an appropriation for a site for an engine house on Parker Hill, referred to this office for a report on October 30, I have the honor to report as follows:

Under date of February 17, 1911, this office recommended to the city government certain measures to be taken for the better protection of the Parker Hill district. These measures were: "First. A road free from excessive grades upon the northern slope of the hill.

"Second. The installation of an automobile chemical hose wagon in the quarters of Engine 37.

"Third. The installation of a separate water main along Parker Hill avenue in front of the hospital property thereon, and connecting with a stationary pump in the quarters of the Robert B. Brigham Hospital."

The following action has resulted from these recommendations:

"First. The road on the northern slope of the hill is in the process of construction.

"Second. This office, under date of February 17, forwarded to the office of his Honor the Mayor requests for permission to enter into contract with the American-LaFrance Fire Engine Company for the purchase of an automobile chemical hose wagon to be installed in the quarters of Engine 37.

"Third. The Department of Public Works is in consultation with the trustees of the Robert B. Brigham Hospital with the idea of adjusting the necessary details with respect to the installation of a pump and water main on the top of the hill."

It has not been found possible to make practical arrangements with the Brigham Hospital trustees such as this department considers necessary. Therefore, it would seem desirable that a sufficient sum of money be made available for the acquisition of a site to be used for either a department house, or a location for a stationary pump, or both. There is already available for this purpose the sum of $14,972.70. If the Council cares to add to this sum the funds will be acceptable.

This office urges the immediate completion of the road up the northern slope of the hill, and as soon as the funds are available it will install motor apparatus in the adjacent houses.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES D. DALY,
Fire Commissioner.

Placed on file.

Report accepted; order passed.

REIMBURSEMENT OF FEE.

The following was received:

Licensing Board for the City of Boston,
November 24, 1911.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Licensing Board for the City of Boston respectfully petitions for reimbursement in the amount of $5 from sums hereinafter received by the City Solicitor on account of miscellaneous licenses; said $5 having been paid to the City Collector on December 31, 1910, as a license fee for a common victualler's license which was granted by said Licensing Board on December 8, 1910, to Melville E. Shorey, as James Gilson & Co., 55½ Kneeland street, and never issued, same being canceled for nonpayment of license fee on December 13, 1910.

Very respectfully,
for the Board,
EZRA H. BAKER, Chairman.

Coun. BALLANTYNE in connection with the communication offered an order—That there be repaid to the Licensing Board for the City of Boston the sum of $5, paid by said Board to the City Collector by mistake as a license fee for a common victualler's license granted December 8, 1910, to Melville E. Shorey, and afterwards canceled and not issued; said sum to be paid from the income received from miscellaneous license fees.

Passed.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President COLLINS called up Nos. 1 and 2, unfinished business, viz.:

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Ballantyne and Kenny. Whole number of ballots cast 6, yeas 6, and the several appointments were confirmed.

IMPROVEMENTS, ORCHARD PARK.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to recommend the appropriation of balance of Parkman Fund Income on hand December 31, 1911, for improvements at Orchard Park, Ward 17.

Passed.

MEMORIAL TO WENDELL PHILLIPS.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to confer with the Art Commissioners in regard to the erection of a suitable memorial in honor of the late Wendell Phillips.

The order was passed.

PLAYGROUND, WARD 7.

President COLLINS called up unfinished business, No. 3, viz.:

3. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the balance of the appropriation for Playgrounds, Wards 7 and 9, to the appropriation for Playground, Ward 7.

On November 13 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9.

BRANCH LIBRARY, CHARLESTOWN.

President COLLINS called up unfinished business, No. 4, viz.:

4. Ordered, That the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the appropriation for Branch Library, Charlestown, Estate, and Branch Library, Charlestown, Alterations and Completions, to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Library Trustees for Branch Library, Charlestown.

On November 13 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9.

President COLLINS called up unfinished business, No. 5, viz.:

5. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Library Trustees for Branch Library, Charlestown.

(9) Report on report of Executive Committee (recommitted September 18), for location by the Boston Elevated Railway Company for elevated structures, platform, station and approaches thereto at Washington and Dover streets, Boston, as shown on plan numbered 28206—that the order ought to pass as originally reported.

The report was accepted and the order declared passed. Coun. HALE doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The report was accepted and the order passed, yeas 6, nays 3.

Yeas—Coun. Attridge, Ballantyne, Collins, Curley, Kenny, McDonald—6.

Nays—Coun. Buckley, Hale, Smith—3.

10. Report on the message of the Mayor and order (referred October 16) for the transfer of $90,000 from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for Municipal Building, Ward 7—that the order ought to pass.

The question came on accepting the report.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to move that action upon the matter be postponed until after the meeting of the Executive Committee to-day.

President COLLINS—Coun. Hale moves that this matter lie on the table.

Coun. HALE—I am ready to limit the motion so that the matter will lie on the table until we have had a committee meeting to-day and have had a chance to confer with the Mayor and with Commissioner Daly.

It was voted that action upon the transfer orders for Municipal Building, Ward 7, Branch Library, East Boston, and Ward 2 Playground be postponed until after the Executive Committee meeting.

Coun. HALE—At this time I would like to offer, so that it may go with the papers, the rough draft of a resolution, because it deals with a matter which should be discussed at the same time.

Coun. HALE offered the following:

Resolved, That the sum of $250,000 should be set aside from the Reserve Fund for the purchase of fire apparatus and equipment, and that his Honor the Mayor be requested to send in a transfer order covering the same.

President COLLINS—The resolution will be referred to the Executive Committee, under the rules.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I don't think that that is in order at this time, in connection with a committee report, to introduce a resolution.

President COLLINS—If there is any objection—

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I guess Coun. Attridge did not hear what I said. I simply asked the privilege of putting this in so that it would be considered with the papers before the Executive Committee. I don't care to have it discussed now.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—That could be done by the gentleman on this side of the Chamber calling it to the attention of the Executive Committee when the papers are before the committee.

Coun. HALE—I think it will be considered as more formally before the committee, if introduced in this way.

President COLLINS—The resolution will be referred to the Executive Committee.

(11) Report on order (referred May 15) to pay Margaret Donaghue the sum of $500, owing to her husband being killed, recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That chapter 171, Acts of 1911, entitled "An Act to Authorize the City of Boston to Pay a Sum of Money to the Widow of George A. Donaghue," be and the same is hereby accepted, and the sum of five hundred dollars be hereby paid to Margaret Donaghue, widow of George A. Donaghue, said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Report accepted; order passed.

(12) Report on order (referred May 22) that the Board of Street Commissioners charge a fee for all permits for use of Apple Island—recommending the passage of the order in the following new draft:

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested to issue permits for the use of camping sites on Apple Island, Boston Harbor, and charge a nominal fee for the same.

Report accepted; order passed.

EXPENSE OF REMOVING WALL, SEAVER STREET.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Boston Elevated Railway Company be requested to state whether they would bear all or any part of the expense of removing a wall now bounding Franklin Park on Seaver street, adjoining their tracks.

Passed.

INVESTIGATION OF PLAYGROUNDS, WARD 19.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Finance Commission be requested to investigate the location of the playgrounds in Ward 19.

The question came on the passage of the order.

It was voted, on motion of Coun. CURLEY, that the vote be taken by roll call, and the order was passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

COST OF LAYING OUT WESTERN AVENUE.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested to furnish the City Council with the estimated cost of laying out and paving Western avenue from the Charles River Bridge to the Watertown line, either as a state highway or under chapter 393 of the Acts of 1906.

The order was passed.

ROPING OFF OF RANDOLPH STREET PLAYGROUND.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the City Messenger be authorized to rope off the Randolph Street Playground on November 30, 1911, for the annual football game of the Cathedral Young Men's Catholic Association, the expense attending the same to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Passed.

REPRINTING OF ORDINANCES.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the City Clerk be instructed to have reprinted an edition of three hundred copies of Document 47 of 1909, being the ordinances and regulations passed in the municipal year 1908, the expense to be charged to the appropriation for City Documents.

Passed.

MODERN STREET CARS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Boston Elevated Railway Company be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to dispose of the old rolling stock now in use and equip the road with cars of a modern, up-to-date type.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to suggest amending the order so as to read as follows: "That the Boston Elevated Railway Company be requested, through his Honor the Mayor to investigate and report to his Honor upon the practicability of disposing of the old rolling stock now in use and equipping the road with cars of a modern, up-to-date type."

The amendment was adopted, and the order as amended was passed.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING, WARD 7.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That the sum of ninety thousand dollars ($90,000) be and hereby is appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings for Municipal Building, Ward 7, and that to meet this appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

BRANCH LIBRARY, EAST BOSTON.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) be and hereby is appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Trustees of the Boston Public Library for Branch Library, East Boston, and that to meet this appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PLAYGROUND, WARD 2.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) be and hereby is appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for playground accommodations in Ward 2, and that to meet this appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue bonds or certificates of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRACKS ON BEACON STREET.

Coun. BALLANTYNE presented a petition, signed by Charles F. Hill and others, residents of Brighton, asking that surface tracks be laid on Beacon street, from Massachusetts avenue to Charles street.

In connection with the petition Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to ask the Boston Elevated Railway Company to lay tracks on Beacon street, from Massachusetts avenue to Charles street, for the accommodation of patrons of said railway.

Passed.

FIREMEN'S MEAL HOURS.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered the following: Resolved, That it is the opinion of the City Council that the adoption of the recommendations of the Fire Hazard Commission to increase the so-called "periods" of meal hours for firemen from three to four would be a hardship to the members of the department.

Resolved, That in the opinion of the City Council the present system of meal hours should remain unchanged.

The resolution was referred to the Executive Committee.

DISTRIBUTION OF BOOKS.

Coun. BALLANTYNE (for Coun. McDonald) offered an order—That from the balance of the edition of the volume entitled "The Consolidated Statutes Relating to the City of Boston, 1908," now in the custody of the City Messenger, one thousand copies be set aside for free distribution under the direction of the Committee on Printing, the remaining copies to be sold and accounted for as provided in the order approved November 7, 1908.

The question came on the passage of the order. President COLLINS—If there is no objection the Chair will refer the order to the Executive Committee.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 4.37 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. KENNY, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Chamber and were called to order by the President at 5.40 o'clock p. m.

COUNTY ACCOUNTS.

Coun. CURLEY, for the Committee on County Accounts, submitted the following:

(1) Report on message and order (referred to-day), transferring $3,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Superior Court, Civil Session—that the order ought to pass. Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9.

(2) Report on message of Mayor and communication (referred November 13) relative to additional allowance for clerical assistance in Superior Civil Court—recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That in addition to the amounts heretofore allowed for clerical assistance in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court for Civil Business for the County of Suffolk, for the financial year 1911-12, there be allowed the further amount of three thousand dollars; said sum to be charged to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Superior Court, Civil Session.

Report accepted, order passed; yeas 9.

(3) Report on message of Mayor, petition of Clerk of Superior Criminal Court (referred to-day) and order authorizing transfer of $1,500 from the Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Superior Court, Criminal Session—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9.

(4) Report on petition of Clerk of Superior Criminal Court (referred October 30) for additional allowance for clerical assistance—recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That in addition to the amounts heretofore allowed for clerical assistance in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court for Criminal Business for the County of Suffolk, for the financial year 1911-12, there be allowed the further amount of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500); said sum to be charged to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Superior Criminal Court.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9.

FINANCING OF MUNICIPAL IMPROVEMENTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I desire to move that the reports and orders from the Executive Committee for the appropriation from the Reserve Fund of $90,000 for the municipal building, Ward 7, $50,000 for branch library, East Boston, and $50,000 for playground, East Boston, with communications, be taken from the table.

The motion to take the reports and orders referred to from the table was carried by a rising vote, 7 to 2.

President COLLINS—If the Chair understands the councilor correctly, the first order that he called up was the order for the municipal building in Ward 7. That order will be taken separately.

The question came on accepting the report of the Executive Committee and passing the order appropriating from the reserve fund $90,000 for municipal building, Ward 7, reported earlier in the session.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. Chairman, I move that the debate close at 6.33 o'clock, unless the closing of debate is sooner reached.

(It was now 6.31 p. m.)

The motion was declared carried by a rising vote, 6 to 2.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would move a reconsideration of that vote.

Reconsideration was refused by a rising vote 3 to 4.

The order took its first reading and passage, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration of the vote, not because there is any chance of its prevailing, but because I wish to have the usual privilege accorded to a member of the Council to finish what he wants to say.

The question came on reconsideration of the passage of the order.

At 6.56 p. m. Coun. McDONALD said:

Mr. President, I move that we take a vote on the question before the body at 6.57 p. m., unless the vote is sooner reached.

The Council voted to take a vote at 6.57 p. m., unless sooner reached, by a rising vote, 4 to 3.

Reconsideration was lost, yeas 2, nays 7, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting yea.

The question next came on the order transferring from the Reserve Fund $50,000 for a library in East Boston, as reported by the Executive Committee.

The report was accepted and the question came on the first reading and passage of the order.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I move (at seven o'clock p. m.) that we take a vote on this matter at 7.05, unless sooner reached.

The motion was carried by a rising vote, 7 to 2.

The order will take its second reading not less than two weeks from to-day.

The question next came on the order, reported by the Executive Committee transferring from the Reserve Fund $50,000 for playground, Ward 2.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

The order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

The order will take its second reading not less than two weeks from to-day.

SIDEWALKS, MAXWELL STREET.

Coun. BALLANTYNE presented a petition signed by Ida W. Harlow and others, residents of Maxwell street, asking that sidewalks be laid on said street.

In connection with the petition Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along both sides of Maxwell street, between Milton avenue and Capen street, Ward 24, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width and to be built of artificial stone under the provisions of chapter 437 of the Acts of 1893.

The order was passed.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Reports on orders (severally referred to-day), for loans for various purposes—that the same ought not to pass, viz.:

Order for $50,000 for playground accommodations in Ward 2.

Order for $90,000 for municipal building in Ward 7.

Order for $50,000 for branch library, East Boston.

Reports accepted; said orders rejected, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

(2) Report on resolve (referred to-day), that $250,000 be set aside from the Reserve Fund for the purchase of fire apparatus, etc.—that the order ought not to pass.

Report accepted; order rejected.

RAILROAD ESTABLISHES SAFETY BUREAU.

A Safety Bureau has been established on the Chicago Great Western Railroad. A comprehensive plan is being developed to encourage systematic watchfulness in all departments of the company's service so that accidental personal injuries to employees as well as patrons of the road may be reduced to the absolute minimum. Such a bureau if managed energetically and given real authority ought to accomplish a great deal of good. There is a great difference between the care exercised in this respect on different roads, as commercial travelers know very well. On some lines, notably the Pennsylvania Railroad, the discipline is everywhere manifest and employees and passengers are instinctively aware that the company's rules must be respected. On some other roads the discipline is so lax that the rear brakemen think they can use their own judgment about going back on the line to protect a train that has been halted. The best of regulations without discipline to enforce them are worth nothing, and good discipline which is not guided by the most carefully drawn rules is likely to be not much more helpful. It is an indication of current tendencies, however, to organize a bureau for the express purpose of increasing the safety of transportation on an important railroad system, and it is a step in the right direction that deserves to be heartily commended. But the step should be followed by others until everybody on the Chicago Great Western Railroad is proceeding steadily toward the one great necessity in such matters, the reduction of individual carelessness to the absolute minimum which is possible.—Engineering Record.

MISSOURI CROSS-STATE HIGHWAY.

The Missouri Cross-State Highway is one of the most interesting road projects recently undertaken. For a number of years a local feeling developed steadily in favor of a road suitable for use the year around between St. Louis and Kansas City, a distance of about 300 miles. Between the two cities are ten rich agricultural counties with about half a million people, and it was finally decided by them that the best way to secure the desired highway was for each locality to build the portion through its own district, since such an improvement was needed anyway. Then a strong competition began to secure the route along one of three lines; early this year the competition became acute. People along the three lines constructed drag scrapers and ironed out their local roads with them, cleaned up the ditches and fixed over the culverts for an official inspection by Governor Hadley and the State Agricultural Commission, which is in charge of all state road work. This inspection was made in July, and as a result of it one of the most famous trails in American history has been selected for improvement as the cross state road. From St. Louis it runs to St. Charles, and then follows Boone's Lick road, which was surveyed by a son of Daniel Boone, to Old Franklin; this became a stage route in 1819. The road was extended in 1821 from Old Franklin to Fort Osage, which is 276 miles from St. Louis, and formed part of what soon came to be known as the Santa Fe trail, a route that vies in historical interest with the Oregon trail to the Northwest.

RIGHT UP TO DATE.

Street cleaning in the city of Berlin is now largely done with automobile squeegees. The streets are wet and then scrubbed and rubbed off, much as a window is cleaned, and when the work is done every particle of dust and dirt has vanished.

CITY OF BOSTON.

PROPOSALS FOR MERIDIAN STREET BRIDGE.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 49 City Hall, invites proposals for building the draw span pile bridge, etc., of Meridian Street Bridge over Chelsea Creek, East Boston to Chelsea, and giving bond therefor of a surety company approved by the commissioner in the sum of forty-five thousand dollars ($45,000). Only proposals obtained at said office, filled out, signed by the bidder and left at the Hearing Room, second floor, City Hall, before 12 o'clock m. of Thursday, December 7, 1911, with a certified check for three thousand dollars ($3,000), payable to and to be the property of the city if the proposal is not carried out, will at said hour and place be publicly opened and read. The proposals must be made in duplicate, the duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals, or to award the contract as he deems best. The proposals should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, and marked "Proposal for Meridian Street Bridge."

Boston Disposal Company submitted a bid without prices.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without public advertisement, requests of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising, and also additions to and deductions from contracts.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

The Mayor has approved a contract with the National Safety Wood Paving Company to pave with safety wooden blocks Boston street, between Ralston street and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Bridge, awarded without inviting proposals by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and materials (furnished by the contractor), being $3,000, and by the city nothing.

"This is a special form of pavement designed to insure footing for horses and it is so constructed that it is applicable for laying on grades, etc., and it is the desire of the department to give it a test at this point.

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Mayor has authorized the Commissioner of Public Works to do the following work with the department force, without advertising for competitive bids:

MOST EFFICIENT WATERWAYS.

The most efficient waterways of Europe are the Rhine and the Elbe rivers, according to an address which Prof. Edwin J.
Clapp, of New York University, made before the New York Railroad Club some weeks ago. He pointed out that these rivers exhibit a high degree of modernization in the floating stock operating on them, in the river harbors which collect and distribute freight and in the cooperation that obtains between rivers and railroads. This form of water transportation is so effective in the case of the Elbe that it carries four-fifths of the trade of Hamburg with that part of the interior which is reached by both waterways and railways. These facts are not considered a demonstration of the importance of water transportation of itself, but of other factors which contribute to make it commercially desirable. Professor Clapp pointed out that Germany has a density of population of 290 per square mile, Belgium of 620 and those parts of West Germany served by the waterway have a density more nearly like that of Belgium than of the average of the whole empire. The Central States in the Mississippi Valley, on the contrary, have an average density of thirty-four to the square mile. West Germany is a great manufacturing district, whereas the same cannot be said for our Mississippi Valley. West Germany imports large amounts of raw materials for manufacturing, the Mississippi River States import very little which comes to them from the territory reached by water.
All of our trade movements, speaking generally, are east and west and not north and south, so that the Mississippi river does not have any of those conditions which make the great German rivers so useful. Transportation on the Mississippi has not died for lack of a channel, for the river has 9 feet depth for 840 miles and 8 feet depth for a distance of 1,000 miles from its mouth.
The Rhine on the other hand has a 6½-foot channel for only 350 miles. Professor Clapp's studies have led him to the conclusion expressed many times in this journal, that not only is there no prospective commerce justifying any great expenditure for deepening the Mississippi, but that the cities along the river must provide terminal facilities which will make handling less expensive that it is at present.—*Engineering

INAUGURAL ADDRESSES.

REPRINTS OF ADDRESSES DELIVERED BY THE MAYORS OF BOSTON AT THEIR INAUGURATION FROM THE INCORPORATION OF THE CITY.

William H. Whitmore, formerly City Registrar, and a man who delighted especially in the preservation of historical data relating to the city, started in 1890 a compilation of the inaugural addresses of the mayors of Boston. Up to that time they were available only in odd and scattered municipal documents, kept with indifferent care, or in some instances in privately printed documents.

In 1894 he produced the first volume, which contained the addresses from Phillips to Bigelow. In 1896 he published a second volume, with the addresses from Chapman to Norcross. The two volumes make not only substantial but interesting reading for all citizens. Because of the fact that the volumes in question are out of print, it is proposed to reprint the addresses in occasional installments in the City Record.

Mayor Quincy's farewell address to the Board of Aldermen, which was delivered January 3, 1829, was as follows:

No. 8.

Gentlemen of the Board of Aldermen:

Having been called nearly six years since by my fellow citizens to the office of their chief magistrate, and having during that period been six times honored by their suffrages for that station, I have endeavored uniformly to perform its duties to the best of my ability with unremitting zeal and fidelity. At the late election it was twice indicated by a majority of those who thought the subject important enough to attend the polls that they were willing to dispense with my services. According to the sound principles of a Republican constitution, by which the will of a majority distinctly expressed concerning the continuance in office of public servants is to them the rule of duty, I withdrew from being any longer a cause of division to my fellow citizens, declaring that "no consideration would induce me again to accept that office." These were not words of passion, or of wounded pride, or temporary disgust, but of deep conviction concerning future duty, in attaining which my obligations to my fellow citizens were weighed as carefully as those which I owe to my own happiness and self-respect.

I stand then to this office in a relation—final and forever closed. There are rights and duties which result from this condition. It is an occasion on which acknowledgments ought to be made, feelings to be expressed, justice to be done, obligations to be performed. To fulfill these duties I have thought proper to seek, and avail myself of, this opportunity.

And first, gentlemen, permit me to express to you that deep and lasting sense of gratitude which is felt for all the kindness, support and encouragement with which you have lightened and strengthened official labors. In bearing testimony to the intelligence, activity and fidelity with which you have fulfilled the duties of your station, I but join the common voice of your fellow citizens. With me your intercourse has been uniformly characterized by a willing and affectionate zeal, leaving in this respect nothing to be desired, and resulting on my part in an esteem which will make the recollection of our association in these duties among the most grateful of my life. Accept my thanks for the interest and assiduity with which you have aided and sustained endeavors to advance the prosperity of this city.

I owe also to the gentlemen of the Common Council a public expression of my obligations for the candor and urbanity with which they have received and canvassed all my communications. It is a happy omen for our city that for so many successive years the intercourse between the branches and members of its government has been distinguished for gentlemanly character not less than for official respect. The collisions which are naturally to be expected in a community where rival interests and passions exist have never disturbed the harmony of either council. When diversity of opinion has arisen, a spirit of mutual concession has presided over the controversy. Happy if in this respect past years shall be prototypes of those which are to come.

To my fellow citizens who for so many years have supported or endured an administration conducted on none of the principles by which popularity is ordinarily sought and acquired I have no language to express my respect or my gratitude. I know well that recent events have given rise in some minds to reflections on the fickleness of the popular will, and on the ingratitude of republics. As if the right to change was not as inherent as the right to continue, for the just exercise of this right the people being responsible and to bear the consequences. As if permission to serve a people at all, and the opportunity thus afforded to be useful to the community to which we belong and owe so many obligations, were not ample recompense for any labors or any sacrifices made or endured in its behalf. Is it wonderful, or a subject of reproach, that, in a populous city where infinitely varying passions and prejudices and interests and motives must necessarily exist, an individual who had enjoyed the favor of its citizens for six years should be deprived of it on the seventh? Is it not more a matter of surprise that it has been enjoyed so long than that it is lost at last?

At no one moment have I concealed from myself or my fellow citizens that the experiment carrying on was one very dubious in its effects on continuance in office. Who that knows the nature of man and the combinations which for particular ends at times take place in society could hesitate to believe that an administration which should neither court the few nor stand in awe of the many, which should identify itself exclusively with the rights of the city, maintaining them not merely with the zeal of official station but with the pertinacious spirit of private interest; which, in executing the laws, should hunt vice in its recesses, turn light upon the darkness of its haunts, and wrest the poisonous cup from the hand of the unlicensed pander; which should dare to resist private interest seeking to corrupt, personal influence striving to sway, party rancor slandering to intimidate, would in time become obnoxious to all whom it prosecuted or punished—all whose passions it thwarted, whose projects it detected, whose interests it crossed? Who could doubt that from these causes there would in time come an accumulation of discontent; sooner or later the ground swell would rise above the landmarks with a tide which would sweep it from its foundations?

In the first address which, nearly six years ago, I had the honor to make to the City Council, the operation of these causes was distinctly stated almost in the terms just used, and the event which has now occurred was anticipated. Nothing was then promised except "a laborious fulfillment of every known duty, a prudent exercise of every invested power, a disposition shrinking from no official responsibility, and an absolute self-devotion to the interest of the city."

I stand this day in the midst of the multitude of my brethren, and ask without pride, yet without fear, Have I failed in fulfilling this promise? Let our hearts answer.

Other obligations remain. A connection which has subsisted long and happily is about to be dissolved, and forever. To look back on the past and consider the present is natural and proper on the occasion. I stand indebted to my fellow citizens for a length and uniformity of support seldom exemplified in cities where the executive office depends upon popular election. They have stood by me nobly and with effect in six trials. In the seventh, though successful, I was not forsaken.

To such men I owe more than silent gratitude. Their friendship, their favor, the honors they have so liberally bestowed demand return, not in words, but in acts. I owe it to such goodness to show that their confidence has not been misplaced, their favor not been abused, and that their friendship and support so often given in advance have been justified by the event.

What then has the departing city administration done? What good has it effected? What evil averted? What monuments exist of its faithfulness and efficiency?

If in the recapitulation I am about to make I shall speak in general terms, and sometimes in language of apparent personal reference, let it be understood once for all that this will be owing to the particular relation in which I stand at this moment to the subject and to my fellow citizens, and by no means, to any disposition to claim more than a common share of whatever credit belongs to that administration. This I delight to acknowledge is chiefly due to those excellent and faithful men who during successive years have, in both branches of the City Council, been the light and support of the government, by whose intelligence and practical skill I have conducted its affairs full as often as by my own. The obligations I owe to these men I mean neither to deny nor to conceal. Speedily, and as soon as other duties permit, it is my purpose in another way, and in a more permanent form, to do justice to their gratuitous labors and unobtrusive fidelity.

Touching the measures and results of the administration which will soon be past, I necessarily confine myself to a few particular topics, and those either the most vital to our safety and prosperity, or, in my apprehension, the most necessary to be understood. Time will not permit, nor on this occasion would it be proper, to speak of all the various objects of a prudential, economical, restrictive or ornamental character which, in adapting a new organization of government to the actual state of things, have been attempted or executed.

I shall chiefly refer to what has been done by way of protection against the elements; in favor of the general health; in support of public education, and in advancement of public morals.

The element which chiefly endangers cities is that of fire. It cannot at this day be forgotten by my fellow citizens with what labor and hazard of popularity the old department was abolished and the new established. From the visible and active energy which members of a fire department take in the protection of the city against that element, they always have been, and always must be, objects of general regard. Great as is the just popularity at present enjoyed by that department, the same public favor was largely enjoyed by their predecessors. Those who at that time composed it were a hardy, industrious, effective body of men, who had been long inured to the service, and who having the merit of veterans naturally imbibed the errors into which old soldiers in a regular service are accustomed to fall. They were prejudiced in favor of old modes and old weapons. They had little or no confidence in a hose system, and, above all, they were beset with the opinion that the continuance of their corps was essential to the safety of the city. More than once it was said distinctly to the executive of the city that "if they threw down the engines, none else could be found capable of taking them up." Under the influence of such opinions they demanded of the city a specified annual sum for each company. It was refused, and in one day all the engines in the city were surrendered by their respective companies, and on the same day, every engine was supplied with a new company by the voluntary association of public spirited individuals.

From that time a regular systematic organization of the fire department was begun and gradually effected; the best models of engines were sought; the best experience consulted, which our own or other cities possessed; new engines were obtained; old ones repaired; proper sites for engine houses sought; when suitable locations were found, purchased, and those built; when such were not found, they were hired. No requisite preparation for efficiency was omitted, and every reasonable inducement to enter and remain in the service extended.

The efficient force and state of preparation of this department now consists of 1,200 men and officers; 20 engines; 1 hook and ladder company; 800 buckets; 7,000 feet of hose; 25 hose carriages, and every species of apparatus necessary for strength of the department or for the accommodation of its members.

In this estimate, also, ought to be included 15 reservoirs, containing 350,000 gallons of water, located in different parts of the city, besides those sunk in the Mill Creek and the command of water obtained by those connected with the pipes belonging to the aqueduct.

Of all the expenditures of the city government none perhaps have been so often denominated extravagant as those connected with this department. But when the voluntary nature of the service, its importance, and the security and confidence actually attained are considered, it is believed they can be justified.

In four years all the objects enumerated, including the reservoirs, have cost a sum not exceeding $60,000, which is about $48,000 more than the old department in a like series of years was accustomed to cost. The value of the fixed and permanent property now existing in engine houses and their sites, engines and apparatus and reservoirs, cannot be estimated at less than $20,000. So that the actual expenditure of the new department beyond the old for these four years cannot be stated at more than $5,000 a year, or $20,000. Now it will be found that in consequence solely of the efficiency of this department there has been a reduction of 20 per cent on the rate of insurance within the period above specified. By this reduction of premiums alone there is an annual gain to the city on its insurable real estate of $10,000; the whole cost remunerated in two years. In this connection let it be remembered how great is the security in this respect now enjoyed by the city, and that previously to its establishment two fires, that in Central, Kilby and Broad streets and that in Beacon street, occasioned a loss to it at the least estimate of $800,000.

Unquestionably greater economy may be introduced hereafter into this department in modes which were impracticable at its commencement, and in its earlier progress. Measures having that tendency have been suggested. These, doubtless future City Councils will adopt, or substitute in their stead such as are wiser and better.

All the chief great expenses necessary to perfect efficiency have been incurred, and little more remains to be done than to maintain the present state of completeness in its appointments.

Under this head of protection against the elements may be justly included the preservation of our harbor from the effects of waves and tempests. By the vigilance and successive application of the city government the protection of the two great islands, on which depends the safety of our internal and external roadsteads, has been undertaken by the general government, and works are finished or in progress of a magnitude and strength exceeding all antecedent hope or expectation.

In relation to what has been done in favor of general health, when this administration came into power of the two great branches, on which depend the health of a city, the removal of street dirt and of that which accumulates in and about the houses of private families, the former was almost entirely neglected and the latter was conducted in a manner exceedingly offensive to the citizens. So great was the clamor and urgency of the citizens, and so imperious was deemed the duty, that the records of the Mayor and Aldermen will show that the present executive on the first day of his office, indeed before he had been inducted into it an hour, made a recommendation to the City Council on the subject. From that time to the present the arrangement of those subjects has been an object of incessant attention and labor. It was until early in the present year a subject of perpetual struggle and controversy; first with the old Board of Health, who claimed the jurisdiction of it; then with contractors whose interests the new arrangements thwarted; then with the citizens with whose habits or prejudices or interests they sometimes interfered. The inhabitants of the country were indignant that they could not enjoy their ancient privilege of carrying away the street dirt when they pleased, and the offal of families as they pleased. The inhabitants of the city, forgetting the nature of the material, and the necessity of its being subjected to general regulations, were also indignant, because they "could not, as they did formerly, do what they would with their own." For three years the right of the city to control this subject was contested in courts of law, and it was not until last April, that the city authority overcame all opposition and acquired by a judicial decision complete jurisdiction in the case.

Since that time the satisfaction of the citizens with the conduct of this troublesome concern, indicated not only by direct acknowledgment but also by evidence still more unequivocal, has equalled every reasonable wish and exceeded all previous anticipation. I state as a fact that in a city containing probably 65,000 inhabitants, and under an administration inviting and soliciting complaints against its agents, during seven months, from May to November, both inclusive, amidst a hot season in which a local alarm of infectious fever naturally excited great anxiety concerning the causes tending to produce it, the whole number of complaints from citizens whose families were neglected by the agents of the city made or known to the Mayor or to any officers of the city amounted only to the number of eight in a month, or two in a week, for the whole city; and four-fifths of these it is asserted by the intelligent and faithful superintendent of the streets were owing to the faults of domestics rather than to his agents. A degree of efficient action on a most difficult subject which it is the interest of the citizens never to forget, as it shows what may be done and therefore what they have a right to require.

I refer to this topic with the more distinctness, because it is one of vital interest not only to this but to all populous cities. I know not that the practicability of establishing an efficient system for the removal from populous cities of these common and unavoidable nuisances has anywhere been more satisfactorily put to the test. Nor has the evidence of the direct effects of such efficiency upon the general health of the population been anywhere more distinctly exhibited by facts. I speak before citizens who have enjoyed the benefits of these arrangements, who now enjoy them, who see what can be effected, and what it is reasonable therefore for them in this respect to claim at the hands of their public agents.

I cannot close this head without referring to the tables connected with and the facts stated in the address I had the honor to make to the City Council at the commencement of the present year.

It is there stated that the city authorities commenced a systematic cleansing of the city and removal of noxious animal and vegetable substances with reference to the improvement of the general health and comfort in the year 1823.

"That the bills of mortality of this city and calculations made on them for the eleven years from 1813 to 1823, inclusive, show that the annual average proportion of deaths to the population was about one in forty-two."

"Similar estimates on the bills of mortality of this city since 1823 show that this annual average proportion was for the four years from 1824 to 1827, inclusive, less than one in fifty, for the two years from 1826 to 1827, inclusive, less than one in fifty-five."

It now appears that on the principles stated in these tables for the three years just terminated, 1826, 1827, 1828, the annual average proportion of deaths to population was less than one in fifty-seven.

Upon the usual estimates of this nature, a city of equal population in which this annual average should not exceed one in forty-seven would be considered as enjoying an extraordinary degree of health.

From the facts thus stated it is maintained that this city does enjoy an uncommon and gradually increasing state of general health, and that for the four last years it has been unexampled. And although the whole of this important improvement in the general health of the city is not attributed to the measures of the police, yet since in the year 1823, a system was adopted expressly for the purpose of preventing disease by an efficient and timely removal of nuisances, it is just and reasonable to claim for that system a portion of the credit for that freedom from disease which, subsequently to their adoption has resulted in a degree so extraordinary.

The residue of what was then said upon this topic I repeat as being important enough to be reiterated.

"I am thus distinct in alluding to this subject because the removal of the nuisances of a city is a laborious, difficult and repulsive service, requiring much previous arrangement and constant vigilance, and is attended with frequent disappointment of endeavors, whence it happens there is a perpetual natural tendency in those intrusted with municipal affairs to throw the trouble and responsibility of it upon subordinate agents and contractors, and very plausible arguments of economy may be adduced in favor of such a system. But if experience and reflection have given certainty to my mind upon any subject, it is upon this, that upon the right conduct of this branch of the police the executive powers of a city should be made directly responsible more than for any other, and that it can never for any great length of time be executed well except by agents under its immediate control and whose labors it may command at all times in any way which the necessities, continually varying and often impossible to be anticipated, of a city in this respect require."

"In the whole sphere of municipal duties there are none more important than those which relate to the removal of those substances whose exhalations injuriously affect the air. A pure atmosphere is to a city what a good conscience is to an individual, a perpetual source of comfort, tranquility and self-respect.

In relation to what has been done for the support of public education, considering the multiplied and pressing objects of attention, necessarily occurring in the first years of a new organization of government, I know not that a greater degree of support of this branch of public service could have been justly given, or reasonably expected than has occurred. Under our ancient institutions the scale of appropriations for this object, was of all others the most liberal and complete. It was found in 1823 with an annual expenditure of $44,500. It is left at this day with one of $56,000. In the interval two schoolhouses have been built, and sites purchased at an additional direct expenditure of upwards of $55,000. In addition to which the House of Reformation of juvenile offenders, which is in fact a school of most important character, has been established and supported at an expense, already incurred of upwards of $16,000.

But the High School for girls has been suspended. As, on this topic, I have reason to think very gross misrepresentations and falsehoods have been circulated in every form of the tongue and the press I shall speak plainly. It being in fact a subject on which my opinion has at no time been concealed.

This school was adopted declaredly as "an experiment." It was placed under the immediate care of its known authors. It may be truly said that its impracticability was proved before it went into operation. The pressure for admission at the first examination of candidates, the discontent of the parents of those rejected, the certainty of far greater pressure and discontent which must occur in future years, satisfied every reflecting mind that, however desirable, the scheme of giving a high classical education, equal about to a college education, to all the girls of a city whose parents would wish them to be thus educated at the expense of the city was just as impracticable, as to give such an one to all the boys of it at the city's expense. Indeed, more so, because girls not being drawn away from the college by preparation for a profession or trade would have nothing except their marriage to prevent their parents from availing of it. No funds of any city could endure the expense.

The next project was so to model the school as that, although professedly established for the benefit of all, it might be kept and maintained at the expense of the city for the benefit of the few. The School Committee were divided equally on the resulting questions. The subject was finally postponed by the casting vote of the chairman. As all agreed that if the school was to be maintained according to its original conception new and great appropriations were necessary the chairman was directed to make a report on the whole subject to the City Council. The report indicated that, in such case, appropriations were indispensably necessary, but did not recommend them because a majority of the committee were not favorable to the project. That report was printed and circulated throughout the city. A year has lapsed, and not an individual in either branch of the City Council has brought forward the question of its revival by moving the necessary appropriations.

No shield has ever before been protruded by the individual principally assailed as a defence against the calumnies which have been circulated on this subject. It has now been alluded to more for the sake of other honorable men, who have for a like cause been assailed by evil tongues and evil pens than for his own.

In all this there is nothing uncommon or unprecedented. The public officer who from a sense of public duty dares to cross strong interests in their way to gratification at the public expense always has had and ever will have meted to him the same measure. The beaten course is, first, to slander in order to intimidate, and if that fail then to slander in order to sacrifice. He who loves his office better than his duty will yield and be flattered, as long as he is a tool. He who loves his duty better than his office will stand erect and take his fate.

All schools requiring high qualifications as the condition of admission are essentially schools for the benefit comparatively of a very few. The higher the qualification the greater the exclusion. Those whose fortunes permit them to avail themselves of private instruction for their children during their early years,—men highly educated themselves, who have leisure and ability to attend to the education of their own children and thus raise them at the prescribed age to the required qualification,—will chiefly enjoy the privilege. To the rest of the community, consisting of parents not possessing these advantages, admission to them is a lottery in which there is a hundred blanks to a prize. The scheme to reduce the school to an attendance of one year seems to be a needless multiplication of schools and of expense, as it is plainly far better that a year should be added to the continuance in the Common Schools, and their course of instruction proportionably elevated.

The great interest of society is identified with her Common Schools. These belong to the mass of the people. Let the people take care lest the funds which ought to be devoted exclusively to the improvement and elevation of these Common Schools, thus essentially theirs, be diverted to schools of high qualification. Under whatever pretence established their necessary tendency is to draw away not only funds but also interest and attention from the Common Schools. The sound principle upon this subject seems to be that the standard of public education should be raised to the greatest desirable and practicable height, but that it should be effected by raising the standard of the Common Schools.

In respect of what has been done in support of public morals, when this administration first came into power, the police had no comparative effect. The city possessed no House of Correction, and the natural inmates of that establishment were in our streets, on our "hills," or on our commons, disgusting the delicate, offending the good and intimidating the fearful. There were parts of the city over which no honest man dared to pass in the nighttime, so proud there, and uncontrolled was the dominion of crime. The executive of the city was seriously advised not to meddle with those haunts, their reformation being a task altogether impracticable.

It was attempted. The success is known. Who, at this day sees begging in our streets? I speak generally, a transient case may occur. But there is none systematic. At this day, I speak it confidently, there is no part of the city through which the most timid may not walk by day or by night without cause of fear of personal violence. What streets present more stillness in the nighttime?

Where, in a city of equal population, are there fewer instances of these crimes, to which all populous places are subject?

Doubtless much of this condition of things is owing to the orderly habits of our citizens, but much, also, is attributable to the vigilance which has made vice tremble in its haunts, and fly to cities where the air is more congenial to it; which, by pursuing the lawless vender of spirituous liquor, denying licenses to the worst of that class, or revoking them as soon as found in improper hands, has checked crime in its first stages and introduced into these establishments a salutary fear. By the effect of this system, notwithstanding, in these six years the population of the city has been increased at least 15,000; the number of licensed houses has been diminished from 679 to 554.

Let it be remembered, that this state of things has been effected without the addition of one man to the ancient arm of the police. The name of police officer has, indeed, been changed to City Marshal; the venerable old charter number of twenty-four constables still continue,—the entire array of city police; and eighty watchmen, of whom never more than eighteen are out at a time, constitute the whole nocturnal host of police militant to maintain the peace and vindicate the wrongs of upwards of 60,000 citizens.

If it be asked, why more have not been provided, I answer, it has frequently been under consideration. But, on a view of all circumstances, and experience having hitherto proved the present number enough, there seemed no occasion to increase it from any general theory of its want of proportion to the population, seeing that practically there seemed to be as many as were necessary.

The good which has been attained, and no man can deny it is great, has been effected by directing unremittingly the force of the executive power to the haunts of vice in its first stages and to the favorite resorts of crime in its last.

To diminish the number of licensed dramshops and tipping houses, to keep a vigilant eye over those which are licensed, to revoke without fear or favor the licenses of those who are found violating the law, to break up public dances in the brothels, to keep the light and terrors of the law directed upon the resorts of the lawless, thereby preventing any place becoming dangerous by their congregation, or they and their associates becoming insolent through sense of strength and numbers, these have been the means. And these means, faithfully applied, are better than armies of constables and watchmen. They have been applied with as much fearlessness as though the executive office was not elective, without regarding the fact that the numerous class thus offended, their landlords, dependents and coadjutors had votes and voices in city elections. So far as these classes had any influence on a recent event, and it must have been small, the cause is not a matter of regret but of pride.

Without pressing these topics further into detail, and without stating how the condition of things was found at the coming in of this administration, because the faithful men who executed the ancient town government did as much as the form of the organization under which they acted permitted, I shall simply state in one view how the city affairs in respects not yet alluded to have been left.

Every interest of the city, so far as has come to the knowledge of the city government, has been considered, maintained and as far as practicable arranged; all the real estate of the city surveyed and estimated; plans of it prepared; the whole analyzed and presented in one view for the benefit of those who come after; the difficulties of the voting lists laboriously investigated, and the sources of error ascertained, and in a great degree remedied; the streets widened, the crooked straightened, the great avenues paved and enlarged; they and other public places ornamented; heights levelled, declivities smoothed or diminished; the common sewers regulated and made more capacious; new streets of great width and utility in the center of population obtained without cost to the city; its markets made commodious; new public edifices in the old city and at South Boston erected; the old repaired and ornamented.

These things have been done, not indeed to the extent which might be desired, but to a degree as great, considering the time, as could reasonably be anticipated.

But then "the City Debt"; "the taxes"; "we are on the eve of bankruptcy"; "the citizens are oppressed by the weight of assessments produced by these burdens"—such are the hollow sounds which come up from the halls of caucussing discontent!

The state of the city debt has recently been displayed by official authority, by which it appears that after deducting funds in the hands of the committee for the reduction of the city debt, and also the amount of bonds, well secured by mortgages, payable to the city, the exact city debt amounts to $637,256.66, concerning which subject I undertake to maintain two positions:

First. It has not been, and never can be, a burden,—that is, it has not been, and never will be, felt in the taxes.

Second. So far from city bankruptcy, the state of its resources is one of enviable prosperity.

It may be stated with sufficient accuracy that the present city debt is entirely the result of operations which obtained for the city the new Faneuil Hall Market, the City Wharf, and land north of the block of stores on North Market street, and of those which gave it, free of incumbrance, the lands west of Charles and Pleasant streets.

Now, this property, thus newly acquired by these operations, for which the city debt was incurred, may be exchanged, no intelligent man can doubt, at any hour in the market for an amount equal to the entire city debt.

The property thus acquired, now in actual unincumbered undisputed possession of the city, consists —

1. Of the new market and its site estimated by its annual incomes ($26,000), which are in their nature permanent, and must increase rather than diminish, at	$500,000
2. City wharf, estimated by some at $100,000, on this occasion, it is put down at	75,000
3. 8,528 feet of land on both sides of the Mill Creek and the new streets now completing in that vicinity, on this occasion estimated at, as an unquestionable price, although its real value probably greatly exceeds	12,000
4. Twenty-eight acres and a half of land west of Charles and Pleasant streets, exceeding 1,200,000 square feet, estimated only at ten cents, which how far it is exceeded by the fact my fellow citizens understands, is set down at	120,000
	$707,000

Consisting of a real estate, of an unquestionable value, exceeding $700,000 as an offset for a debt of $637,000.

It may confidently be said that no capitalist of intelligence and resources, equal to the purchase, would hesitate an hour to contract on condition of a transfer of that property to assume the whole city debt. Should I say he would give a hundred thousand dollars as a bonus for the bargain I should probably come nearer the truth. Am I not justified then in my position that the marketable value of the real estate acquired and left to the city by that administration greatly exceeds the amount of debt it has left? The scales are not simply even, they greatly preponderate in favor of the value of the property above the debt. It is no answer to this to say, that the property thus newly acquired is of a nature or value so important to the city that it ought never to be disposed of. This is probably true, at least of a very great part of it. But what of this? Does not the fact show that greatly as the marketable value of the property exceeds the debt, the value of it in its interest or importance to the city greatly exceeds even that marketable value? After this have I not a right to assert, according to the usual and justifiable forms of expression under circumstances of this kind, that so far as respects the operations of the administration, now passing away, they have left the city incumbered with no debt; because they have left it possessed of a newly acquired real property far greater in marketable value than the whole debt it has incurred.

Again, it has not only done this, but when this subject is considered with reference to annual income received, and annual interest to be paid, it will be found that this administration leaves the city with a property in real estate and bonds and mortgages, the income and interest of which amounts to $52,000, while the annual interest of the debt, which it leaves is only $47,000.

If, then, the annual income of the property left, be now and ever must be far greater than the annual interest of the debt incurred, if the newly acquired real estate is, and always must be far greater in marketable value than the whole amount of that debt, has not this administration a right to say that so far as respects its financial operations it has left the city incumbered with "no burden and no debt."

If there is no debt, then there is no bankruptcy. Whatever estate the city now has over and above that which is above specified is so much clear and unincumbered property to be used or improved for its advancement or relief in all future times and emergencies; according to the wisdom and fidelity of succeeding administrations. Unless, indeed, that wisdom direct, as it probably will, that the property above specified, obtained for the city by this administration, shall be kept as the best possible investment of city capital, and the proceeds of the other lands applied to the discharge of the debt incurred for the purchase of the property thus acquired.

Now what is that clear unincumbered city property which remains after deducting that thus newly acquired? It consists of nothing less, as appears by the official report of the committee on public lands, than upwards of 5,300,000 feet of land on the neck, and in different parts of the city, lands capable of being sold without any possible objection, lands belonging to the House of Industry, amounting to sixty acres, and a township of land in the state of Maine, being neither of them included in this estimate.

Without taking into consideration then the encouragement given to our mechanic interests; to the influx of capital and population which have been necessarily the effect of the activity of capital, induced by the measures of the city government, and confining myself to the single consideration of the amount and unincumbered state of the real property of the city, am I not justified in the assertion that it is in respect of its financial resources one of enviable prosperity?

But "the taxes,"—"the taxes" are heavy beyond all precedent. In answer to which I state that the taxes have not increased in a ratio equal to the actual increase of property and population. The assessor's books will show that the ratio of taxation has been less in every year of the seven years in which the city government has had existence than was the ratio of any year in the next preceding seven years of the town government, one year only excepted, and even in this it was less than in one of those next preceding seven years above mentioned. Comparing the average of the ratios of these two periods of seven years together it will be found that while the average of the ratios of seven years of the town government was $8.15, the average of the ratios of the seven years of the city government has been only $7.27.

I might here close, but there have been objections made publicly to this executive, which, although apparently of a personal nature, are in fact objections to the principles on which he has conducted his office. Now, in the particular relation in which that executive stood to his office, it was his duty well to consider those principles since they might become precedents, and give a character and tone to succeeding administrations. He has uniformly acted under a sense of this relation, and of the obligations resulting from it, and intentionally has done nothing, or omitted nothing, without contemplating it. On this account, it may be useful to state those objections and answer them. And, first, it has been said, "The Mayor assumes too much upon himself. He places himself at the head of all committees. He prepares all reports. He permits nothing to be done but by his agency. He does not sit solemn and dignified in his chair and leave general superintendence to others, but he is everywhere, and about everything; in the street; at the docks; among the common sewers; no place but what is vexed by his presence."

In reply to this objection I lay my hand first on the city charter, which is in these words: "It shall be the duty of the Mayor to be vigilant and active at all times in causing the laws for the government of said city to be duly executed and put in force, to inspect the conduct of all subordinate, officers in the government thereof, and, as far as in his power, to cause all negligence, carelessness and positive violations of duty to be duly prosecuted and punished. It shall be his duty, from time to time, to communicate to both branches of the City Council all such information and recommend all such measures as may tend to the improvement of the finances, the police, health, cleanliness, comfort and ornament of the city."

Now let it be remembered that to the performance of these duties he was sworn, and that he is willing to admit that he considers an oath taken before God as a serious affair, and that having taken an oath to do such services he is not of a spirit which can go to sleep or to rest after shifting the performance of them upon others.

As to his "seeing to everything," who has a better right than he, who, at least, by popular opinion, if not by the city charter, is made responsible for everything?

Besides, why is it not as true in affairs of police as of agriculture, that "the eye of the master does more work than both his hands."

If those who made these objections intended, "by doing everything," that he has been obstinate, wilful or overbearing in respect of those with whom he has been associated, I cheerfully appeal to you, gentlemen, how willingly on all occasions he has yielded his opinion to yours, and how readily he has submitted whatever he has written to your corrections. If he took upon himself generally the character of draughtsman of reports, it was because your labors were gratuitous and for his a salary was received. It was because he deemed it but just that the "hiring" should bear the heat and burden both of the day and the labor.

Great assiduity and labor did appear to him essential requisites to the well performance of duty in that office. He could not persuade himself that the intelligent and industrious community which possess this metropolis could ever be satisfied in that station with an indolent, selfish or timid temper, or with anyone possessed of a vulgar or criminal ambition.

I cannot refrain on the present occasion from expressing the happiness with which I now yield this place to a gentleman possessing so many eminent qualifications; whose talents will enable him to appreciate so readily the actual state of things, who will be so capable of correcting what has been amiss, changing what has been wrong, and of maintaining what has been right. May he be happy, and long enjoy the honors and the confidence his fellow citizens have bestowed!

And now, gentlemen, standing as I do in this relation for the last time in your presence, and that of my fellow citizens, about to surrender forever a station full of difficulty, of labor and temptation, in which I have been called to very arduous duties, affecting the rights, property and, at times, the liberty of others; concerning which the perfect line of rectitude, though desired, was not always to be clearly discerned; in which great interests have been placed within my control under circumstances in which it would have been easy to advance private ends and sinister projects, under these circumstances, I inquire, as I have a right to inquire, for in the course of the recent contest insinuations have been cast against my integrity in this long management of your affairs, whatever errors have been committed, and doubtless there have been many, have you found in me anything selfish, anything personal, anything mercenary?

In the simple language of an ancient seer, I say "Behold, here I am. Witness against me. Whom have I defrauded? Whom have I oppressed? At whose hand have I received any bribe?"

Six years ago, when I had the honor first to address the City Council in anticipation of the event which has now occurred, the following expressions were used: "In administering the police, in executing the laws, in protecting the rights and promoting the prosperity of the city, its first officer will be necessarily beset and assailed by individual interests, by rival projects, by personal influences, by party passions. The more firm and inflexible he is in maintaining the rights, and in pursuing the interests of the city, the greater is the probability of his becoming obnoxious to the censure of all whom he causes to be prosecuted or punished, of all whose passions he thwarts, of all whose interests he opposes."

The day and the event have come. I retire—as in that first address I told my fellow citizens, "if, in conformity with the experience of other republics, faithful exertion should be followed by loss of favor and confidence," I should retire "rejoicing, not, indeed, with a public and patriotic, but with a private and individual, joy, for I shall retire with a consciousness weighed against which all human suffrages are but as the light dust of the balance."

CITY OF BOSTON.

PROPOSALS FOR MASON WORK.

Proposals on blanks obtained on and after December 14, at the engineer's office, Franklin Park, for building seam face granite walls and concrete stairway at the bears' dens in Franklin Park, signed by the bidder and left before 3 p. m. of December 21, 1911, at Room 827, Tremont Building, 73 Tremont street, with a certified check for $200, payable to and to be the property of the city if the proposal is not carried out, will then and there be publicly opened and read. A duplicate proposal, without the check, must be deposited with the City Auditor previous to said time for opening the bids. The commissioners reserve the right to reject any or all proposals.

JAMES M. PRENDERGAST,
DANIEL H. COAKLEY,
Commissioners.

(Dec. 9.)

CITY OF BOSTON.

PROPOSALS FOR CONCERT GRAND PIANOS FOR THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The School Committee invites bids for furnishing and delivering at school buildings, in accordance with specifications, concert grand pianos for use in the public schools. Only proposals obtained at the office of the Acting Auditor of the School Committee, Room 53, 168 Tremont street, signed by the bidder, and left before 12 o'clock m. on Friday, December 15, 1911, at said office, with a certified check for $100, payable to the city if the proposal is not carried out, will then and there be publicly opened and read. Each proposal should be plainly marked "Proposal for Concert Grand Pianos." The bid must be in duplicate, one to be sent as above, the other to be filed with the City Auditor, City Hall, previous to the time named for opening the bids. The bidder awarded the contract will be required to deposit a surety bond or certified check for a sum not exceeding 30 per cent of the contract, payable to the City of Boston, which check shall become the property of the city unless the bidder carries out his agreement in accordance with the specifications. The School Committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to accept such bid or part of a bid as may be deemed best for the interests of the city.

WILLIAM T. KEOUGH,

(Dec. 9.) Acting Auditor School Committee.

CITY OF BOSTON.

PROPOSALS FOR GALLERY AND STAIRS AT THE CALF PASTURE PUMPING STATION.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 49 City Hall, invites proposals for gallery and stairs over boiler at the Calf Pasture pumping station, Dorchester, and giving bond therefor of a surety company approved by the commissioner in the sum of five hundred (500) dollars to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Engineer's estimate, $1,870.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

On December 12 the Mayor approved a contract with the John F. Griffin Company for erecting and completing elementary school building in the Roger Wolcott District. Bids on this work, opened December 7, were as follows:

John F. Griffin Company, $41,575; J. E. Locatelli Company, $47,239; McGahey & O'Connor, $47,667; A. Varnerin Company, $51,000; J. W. Duff, $56,168.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without public advertisement, requests of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising, additions to and deductions from contracts and an assignment of contract:

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The Mayor has approved a contract, made without advertising, with F. M. Ferrin for the purchase of 18,000 feet of ten duct circular loom cable required for the Boston-Hyde Park connection, the price being at rate of $170 per thousand feet, a total of $3,060.

"The reason for not advertising this contract is the urgent necessity of proceeding with the construction work immediately. I have obtained several bids for this cable. The firm of F. M. Ferrin alone is able to supply the cable in the immediate future. Inclosed is a list of the propositions submitted to this office:

Safety Insulated Wire and Cable Company, $165 per thousand feet; F. M. Ferrin, $170 per thousand feet; Pettingell-Andrews Company, $262.70 per thousand feet.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES D. DALY,
Fire Commissioner."

WIRE DEPARTMENT.

The Mayor has approved a contract, made without advertising, with the Cartercar Company for furnishing one touring car Model M. complete, including windshield, speedometer, Prestolite gas tank, top, tools, pump, jack, etc., the price being $1,875.

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Mayor has granted to the Commissioner of Public Works authority to do the following work with the department force without advertising for competitive bids:

Build 115 linear feet, 12-inch pipe sanitary sewer, and three catch-basins and connections, in Dix place, between Washington and Tremont streets, city proper, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $816.

Build seven catch-basins and connections in Mt. Ida road, between Bowdoin street and Marie street, Dorchester district, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $1,100.

"This work can, in my opinion, be as advantageously done by day labor methods as any work now necessary. Public necessity and convenience require that the above work be done after November 15, for which your authority is requested.

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved by the Mayor:

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

A deduction, amounting to $50, on the contract with Thomas A. Elston & Co. for removal of Old Court House, on account of not being required to remove the granite steps, etc., over the tunnel entrances at the Old Court House, Court street. Contract price, $2,000; total deductions, $50; contract as standing, $1,950.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

An addition, amounting to $169, on the contract with A. Varnerin, Inc., for the Lewis District Elementary School, on account of changing position of heat duct opening in the concrete floor of assembly hall, extending floor of stage, etc. Contract price, $108,173; total additions, $169; total deductions, $2,550; contract as standing, $105,792.

ASSIGNMENT OF CONTRACT.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

On December 14, 1911, Mayor Fitzgerald approved the assignment by Daniel E. Lynch to James Doherty of contract for excavating, filling in, etc., in Sachem street.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACT ON OLD COURT HOUSE.

On account of the delay in the removal of the portico of the Old Court House building and also the delay caused by the controversy with the Boston Transit Commission about not allowing the columns of portico to go over the subway without being split into drums, Thomas A. Elston & Co. have been given a second extension of time of completion of work on the contract. Extension to be for seventeen (17) working days from the date of the expiration of the first extension of time, namely, November 23, 1911.

No sum is to be allowed if the work is completed after November 23, 1911, but before the expiration of this second extension of time. If the work is delayed beyond the time specified in this second extension, then ten (10) dollars a day is to be deducted.

AN AMERICAN MUNICIPAL FOREST.

San Diego, Cal., is said to be the first American city to take up scientific forestry as a municipal enterprise. It has, however, an exceptional opportunity. The city owns 7,000 acres of land that has heretofore lain waste, as a heritage from the time when it was a Mexican pueblo. This tract is now set aside for growing eucalyptus, and last spring 40,000 seedlings were planted. Eucalyptus is very valuable and takes the place of many of the more familiar hardwoods that are becoming so expensive; it grows with truly tropical rapidity; it will stand an enormous amount of cutting, and seems to thrive under it; and a grove once well started apparently will last forever. In San Diego the more optimistic taxpayers are looking forward to a time when the forest will relieve them of all taxes and perhaps even pay them for being citizens of San Diego!

UPLIFT WORK IN GERMANY.

RECREATION FACILITIES IN THE CITY OF ERFURT.

In answer to an inquiry, Consul Ralph C. Busser furnishes the following information concerning the German agencies which supply recreation facilities gratuitously or at a nominal charge in Erfurt:

Erfurt, with its recently acquired suburban additions, has now a population of about 120,000, and the principal industries consist of the manufacture of shoes, furniture, and machinery, and the cultivation of seeds, plants, and flowers for domestic and foreign markets.

The river Gera and its branches traverse various parts of the city, and there are so many bridges and such picturesque life along the water that Erfurt has long been known as the "Venice of Germany." The public bath houses are located at convenient points along the river, which has its source in the mountains or the Thüringer Wald, and is kept free from pollution, so that all classes of people have the privilege of bathing and swimming in fresh, running water within walking distance of their homes. The largest public bathing establishment here is divided into two sections, one of which is free, while admission to the other is only 10 pfennigs (2½ cents), when the patron brings his own bathing requisites; otherwise the charge is a little more than 3½ cents. These sections are, of course, divided into compartments for men and compartments for women. Children are instructed in the art of swimming by competent persons.

PLAYGROUNDS.

Erfurt has beautiful public parks which skirt the river Gera, and the municipality employs a large force of landscape gardeners and laborers to keep everything in order. The city also owns and maintains for public recreation the Steiger Wald, a forest extending for a number of miles in the bordering region. In these public parks and woods summer houses, benches, and tables are located at intervals, which are free to all, except that children accompanied by nurses are restricted to particular places reserved for them. At these children's playgrounds there are generally piles of sand, low tables, and seats, where the little ones are permitted to play and romp. Flowers cannot be plucked in the parks, but in the Steiger Wald the public are free to stroll and gather flowers where they will, the only restraint being the enforcement of regulations necessary to protect the trees and plants from injury, preserve order, and prevent nuisances.

The city also owns several large tracts which are inclosed and fitted up as playgrounds for athletic clubs. Certain hours are reserved for each club using the grounds, for which an annual fee of $1.20 is charged.

SUMMER OUTINGS.

Ferien-Kolonien, or vacation camps, are established each summer for the benefit of the poor children of Erfurt, who receive outings in the woods for four weeks in July or August, free of cost for food and other essentials. They do not remain at the colony or camping ground over night, but are brought there each morning from their homes in the city when the weather is favorable. The children are accompanied by school teachers or other competent adults, and proper facilities are furnished for their exercise and entertainment. These summer outings are conducted under the supervision of a private charitable organization, the Erfurter Jugendhort. The municipality, however, makes an annual appropriation which covers part of the cost of maintenance.

MUNICIPAL THEATER.

The Stadttheater is the principal opera and playhouse in Erfurt. This theater, with all its properties, is owned by the city, and the franchise or lease thereof is disposed of each year to the highest bidder. One of the conditions of the lease is that the regular stock company shall give one suitable play or opera each week during the winter to which the price of admission shall be not more than 10 cents, and 5 cents to children under ten years of age. The tickets are sold by lot or chance, without regard to time of purchase, so that no preference is shown in the distribution of seats. These performances given at prices considerably less than cost of production are called Volks-vorstellungen, and they are generally educational as well as entertaining, including as they do the productions of Shakespeare and of Schiller, and well selected plays of modern authorship.

LECTURES AND CONCERTS.

Frequently during the winter the working people of Erfurt have the opportunity of attending, at a nominal cost, lectures and concerts arranged under the supervision of the public school authorities and private associations. The prices of admission range from 2½ to 12 cents. These entertainments are mostly of a high order, and the lectures are frequently illustrated by stereopticon views.

Free concerts are also given in the central part of the city each Sunday by one of the military bands stationed in Erfurt. These bands often play free of charge at entertainments given for charitable purposes; they also play frequently in the beer gardens and other public resorts to which an entrance fee of 5 to 7 cents is charged. Good music can be heard somewhere nearly every summer evening in Erfurt at little or no cost.

CITY OF BOSTON.

PROPOSALS FOR STREET LAMPS.

The Supply Department of the City of Boston, Room 826, Tremont Building, invites proposals for furnishing approximately 11,000 gas mantle lamps, complete with single burner, to be used in lighting streets, parks and alleys. Forms of bids and specifications can be obtained at the office of the Superintendent of Supplies, Room 826, Tremont Building. Bidders must state the price for furnishing each lamp complete. Samples of the equipment to be furnished must be submitted with the bid. Each bid must be inclosed in a sealed envelope and marked "Bid for Inverted Gas Mantle Lamps," and left at the office of the Superintendent of Supplies, Room 826, Tremont Building, before 12 m., Wednesday, January 24, 1912, at which time and place the bids will be publicly opened and read. The bid must be accompanied by a certified check for $1,000, payable to and to become the property of the City of Boston if the bid after acceptance is not carried out. A bid in duplicate, without a check, must be filed with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. A bond for one-quarter of the amount of the contract in a surety company doing business in the State of Massachusetts and acceptable to the Superintendent of Supplies will be required for a faithful performance of the contract. The superintendent reserves the right to reject any or all proposals should he deem it for the interest of the city so to do.

PROCEEDINGS OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Dec. 4, 1911.

A regular meeting of the School Committee of the City of Boston was held in the School Committee Chamber, Mason-street Building, at 8.08 o'clock P.M., the Chairman presiding.

Present: Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Ellis, Lee and Leen.

APPROVAL OF RECORDS.

The reading of the records of the last meeting was omitted, the Board approving them as printed.

APPOINTMENTS OF A PRINCIPAL AND OTHER TEACHERS.

The Chairman stated the question was on approving the appointments of a principal of an evening school and of other teachers as reported by the Superintendent, and laid over at the last meeting, but not including the appointments to schools in Hyde Park.

The question came first on approving the appointment of Joseph T. F. Burrell as principal of the Phillips Brooks Evening School, to take effect Dec. 11, 1911.

The appointment was approved by the following vote:—

Yeas—Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Ellis, Lee and Leen—5.
Nays—0.

The remaining appointments, except those to schools in Hyde Park, were approved.

TRANSFER OF BOSTON NORMAL SCHOOL TO STATE CONTROL.

The following communication was received:—

CITY OF BOSTON OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

Nov. 27, 1911.

School Committee,
Mason street,
Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:—

I am informed by the Commissioner of Education for the Commonwealth that the State Board of Education is about to make a report in response to the terms of Resolve 97 of the Acts and Resolves of 1911, relative to State support and State control of the Boston Normal School. The Commissioner cites a report of the Finance Commission, submitted to me on Feb. 25, 1911, recommending that the city retain control of the school but that legislation be passed providing that the State share in its maintenance. He adds that the State Board will probably not accept this view but that it will adhere to the policy of combining support and control in the same jurisdiction, and asks whether there would be strong opposition to transferring the control as well as the support of the Boston Normal School to the State.

I believe this subject is one upon which the School Committee could give an authoritative opinion, and would respectfully ask you to advise me whether in your judgment the loss, if any, in effectiveness, through the transfer of the Normal School to the State would more than offset the financial benefit to be derived therefrom.

Yours very truly,
John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor.

Laid on the table.

To Henry J. Mahoney, Old East Boston High and Austin School-houses, from Nov. 21 to Dec. 4, 1911, inclusive, forty-four and 12-100 dollars ($44.12).

To Jacob Mayer, Joshua Bates School-house and Portables Nos. 37 and 43, from Nov. 21 to Dec. 4, 1911, inclusive, thirty-seven and 4-100 dollars ($37.04).

To William O'Connell, Peter Faneuil

School-house, from Nov. 26 to Dec. 4, 1911, inclusive, twenty-seven and 22-100 dollars ($27.22).

To William O'Connell, Sherwin School-house and Portables Nos. 58 and 79, from Nov. 21 to Nov. 25, 1911, inclusive, nineteen and 90-100 dollars ($19.90).

To Frank Powers, High School of Commerce Annex, from Dec. 3 to Dec. 4, 1911, inclusive, three and 56-100 dollars ($3.56).

To Frank Powers, John Lothrop Motley School-house, from Nov. 21 to Nov. 25, 1911, inclusive, six and 76-100 dollars ($6.76).

To William Sennott, Noble School-house, Portable No. 61 and Annex, from Dec. 3 to Dec. 4, 1911, inclusive, five and 37-100 dollars ($5.37).

To Edward Sullivan, James Otis School-house and Portables Nos. 27 and 107, from Nov. 21 to Nov. 25, 1911, inclusive, fifteen and 57-100 dollars ($15.57).

To Joseph T. Whitehouse, Samuel G. Howe School-house, from Nov. 21 to Dec. 4, 1911, inclusive, thirty and 48-100 dollars ($30.48).

NEWSBOYS' TRIAL BOARD.

A communication was received from Elihu A. Hershenson, who was appointed judge of the Newsboys' Trial Board at the meeting of Nov. 20, 1911 (see p. 159), under date of Dec. 1, 1911, stating that although he has been commonly called "Alex" his correct name is Elihu A., and asking that the proper correction be made on the records.

Placed on file, and the minutes amended accordingly.

RESIGNATION OF SUPERVISOR OF LICENSED MINORS.

A communication was received from Philip Davis, under date of Nov. 21, 1911, tendering his resignation as Supervisor of Licensed Minors to take effect Dec. 1, 1911.

Placed on file, and the resignation accepted.

CONSOLIDATION OF ANNUAL REPORTS OF BUSINESS AGENT AND AUDITOR.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the detailed reports required to be made by the Business Agent and by the Auditor under section 60 and section 80 of the rules shall, for the year ending Jan. 31, 1912, and for each financial year thereafter, be consolidated into one report which shall contain properly classified statements of the appropriations, income and expenditures of the Board, of the cost of books, fuel and other materials furnished and charged to the various officers, schools and departments, the disposition of the same and an inventory of the stock on hand, but no duplication of material.

CLOSING OF SCHOOLS FOR CHRISTMAS RECESS.

On motion, and under a suspension of the rules, it was ORDERED, That the public schools close for the Christmas vacation not earlier than 12 o'clock noon, on Thursday, Dec. 21, nor later than the end of the afternoon session of the same day at the discretion of the individual principals.

AUSTIN SCHOOL ESTATE TO BE DISPOSED OF.

The following was offered:—

ORDERED, That it is advisable to sell the Austin School Estate on Paris street, East Boston, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 259 of the acts of 1906. Passed unanimously.

REQUESTS FOR INCREASE IN SALARY.

A communication was received from the Assistants in Drawing, under date of Nov. 7, 1911, requesting that their maximum salary be increased.

Laid on the table.

A communication was received from Marjorie Bouve, under date of Dec. 1, 1911, requesting a hearing for the teachers of physical training before the Board to discuss the salary question.

Laid on the table.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE, TRADE SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

A communication was received from Anna F. Wellington, Secretary of the Advisory Council of the Trade School for Girls, under date of Dec. 1, 1911, stating that at a recent meeting, the following vote was passed:—

VOTED, That the School Committee be requested to inform the Council of any action on their part relating to the duties of Advisory Committees or to the welfare of the school.

Laid on the table.

SPECIAL TICKETS ADMITTING PUPILS TO BOSTON ARENA.

A communication was received from W. M. Lougee, General Manager, Boston Arena, under date of Nov. 29, 1911, requesting permission to distribute to high school pupils through the head-masters of such schools tickets of admission to the Boston Arena at a special rate.

Placed on file, and the Secretary directed to reply to the effect that the Board feels it cannot consistently grant the desired permission.

REQUEST FOR NAMES AND ADDRESSES OF GRADUATES.

A communication was received from John A. Bigham, under date of Nov. 28, 1911, requesting permission to secure from certain schools the names and addresses of colored graduates.

Placed on file, and the Secretary directed to inform Mr. Bigham that the Board deems it inexpedient to comply with his request.

BAND OF MERCY MOVEMENT AMONG SCHOOL CHILDREN.

A communication was received from A. Judson Leach, State Organizer of the American Humane Education Society, under date of Nov. 25, 1911, requesting the privilege of introducing the Band of Mercy movement among the pupils of the various schools.

Placed on file, and the application granted subject to the conditions that the time to be so occupied in any school shall not exceed fifteen or twenty minutes, shall be approved by the principal, and shall not interfere with the regular program of the school.

MEDICAL ATTENDANCE FOR PUPILS.

A communication was received from Dr. William J. Gallivan, Chief of the Division of Child Hygiene of the Board of Health, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, in response to the action of the Board at its meeting on Nov. 6, 1911 (see p. 151), calling attention to the fact that occasionally pupils are in urgent need of immediate medical attention, and asking his Division to consider some means by which such emergencies may be promptly and properly dealt with by the staff of school physicians, stating that after consideration, his Division feels that any departure from the present system would be unwise, and therefore any suggestion that the school physician, in his official capacity, should treat or prescribe for pupils in the public schools does not meet with its approval.

Placed on file.

USE OF CHARLESTOWN HIGH SCHOOL-HOUSE FOR BASKET-BALL CONTESTS.

Communications were received from Councillor Timothy J. Buckley and Representative James J. Brennan, under date of Dec. 4, 1911, requesting favorable action on the petition received at the meeting of Nov. 20, 1911 (see p. 163) for the use of the Charlestown High School-house for basketball contests.

Placed on file, and the Secretary directed to inform the petitioners that the Board is prepared to grant the desired permission, subject to such restrictions and supervision as it may wish to impose; provided, that there shall be no admission fee charged for such contests.

SCHEDULE OF COMPENSATION FOR JANITORS OF EVENING SCHOOLS.

A proposed schedule of compensation for janitors of buildings occupied by evening high or evening elementary schools was received from the Janitors' Association, and referred to a Committee consisting of the Secretary, the Business Agent and the Schoolhouse Custodian for consideration and report.

AMENDMENTS TO RULES AND REGULATIONS.

The order laid over at the meeting of May 15, 1911 (see p. 65) amending paragraph 1 of section 344 of the regulations with reference to no deduction being made from the salaries of members of the supervising staff and teachers absent on leave granted by the Superintendent for a period not exceeding three days, was taken up.

A roll call being ordered, the order was lost by the following vote:—

Yeas—Dr. Leen—1.

Nays—Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Ellis and Lee—4.

BOSTON INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR BOYS.

The communication and orders relative to the Central Industrial School for Boys which were received from the Board of Superintendents at the meeting of Nov. 20, 1911 (see p. 161), was taken from the table. Messrs. Charles A. Prosser and Charles R. Allen representing the State Board of Education, Assistant Superintendents Jeremiah E. Burke and Frank V. Thompson, and William C. Crawford, master of the school, appeared and were heard on the subject.

The proposed course of study reported by the Board of Superintendents was recommended to that Board with instructions that it be made primarily a course of two years in length, and that further extensions of the course be left to be developed in the light of subsequent experience.

The question came on the passage of the order laid over at the previous meeting to re-name the school the Central Industrial School for Boys.

On motion, the order was amended by substituting for the name "Central Industrial School for Boys" the name, Boston Industrial School for Boys.

The communication was placed on file, and the order as amended passed unanimously.

NAMING OF OLIVER HOLDEN SCHOOL-HOUSE.

The order laid over at the meeting of Nov. 20, 1911 (see p. 163), that the school on Pearl street, Charlestown, known as the Doane Building School, be named the Oliver Holden School, was taken up and passed unanimously.

USE OF GYMNASIUM, GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL, BY GENERAL PUBLIC.

The communication from His Honor the Mayor received at the meeting of Nov. 20, 1911 (see p. 157), with reference to the use of the gymnasium in the Girls' High School-house by the general public, was taken from the table, and the following reply thereto ordered to be transmitted to His Honor the Mayor:—

There can be no doubt that, as your Honor says, a well equipped gymnasium would be of great advantage to this crowded section of the city; the object is a good one, and it would be well if a special appropriation be made to the School Committee for the purpose of opening this and other buildings for such purposes not of a strictly educational nature. The cost of carrying on the gymnasium would be somewhere in the neighborhood of $125 a week, or $2500 for a period of twenty weeks.

As to the practicability of opening the building for this purpose, the School Committee believes that it would not be proper for it to appropriate to this object money needed for the carrying on of the schools.

CO-OPERATION OF DENTAL AND MEDICAL CLINICS WITH THE SCHOOLS.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Advisory Committee on School Hygiene be asked to ascertain whether the various dental clinics can be held at hours more convenient for the school children, and whether other medical clinics and hospitals can be got to co-operate more closely with the schools.

RECESS.

The Board took a recess at 10 o'clock P.M.

The members of the Board reassembled in the School Committee Chamber and were called to order by the Chairman at 11.45 o'clock P.M.

AMENDMENTS TO RULES AND REGULATIONS.

The following order was offered:—
ORDERED, That the regulations are hereby amended as follows:—

Section 303. Strike out the section and substitute in place thereof the following:—

Sec. 303. There shall be a director of substitutes, one first assistant director of substitutes, and one assistant director of substitutes.

Section 423. Strike out the word "supervisor," and substitute in place thereof the word director, so that the section will read as follows:—

Sec. 423. The director of substitutes shall perform such service in assigning, visiting and assisting substitutes, temporary teachers and special assistants and such other duties as the superintendent may direct.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

RANK OF MARY C. MELLYN.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the rank of Mary C. Mellyn, Supervisor of Substitutes, is hereby changed to that of Director of Substitutes, without change of anniversary or salary.

RANK OF LILLIAN M. TOWNE.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the rank of Lillian M. Towne, Assistant Supervisor of Substitutes, is hereby changed to that of First Assistant Director of Substitutes, without change of anniversary or salary.

SALARY OF ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF SUBSTITUTES.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the salary of the Assistant Director of Substitutes is hereby established for the school year 1911-12 as follows:—

First year $1332, annual increase $72, maximum $1836.

ORDERS RELATING TO HYDE PARK PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The Board took up the various appointments and orders relating to the Hyde Park Public Schools which were laid over at the meeting on Nov. 20, 1911 (see pp. 163-166).

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the records of the meeting of Nov. 20, 1911, be amended as follows on page 164 under Appointments:—

Hyde Park High School—Marion Gee, assistant instructor in commercial branches. Strike out the words "assistant instructor in commercial branches" and substitute in place thereof the word assistant, so that the item will read as follows:—

Hyde Park High School—Marion Gee, assistant.

Manual Training—Strike out the word "instructor" and substitute in place thereof the words—assistant instructor, four-fifths time—so that the paragraph will read as follows:—

Manual Training—M. Gertrude Burnaby, assistant instructor, four-fifths time.

Music—Strike out the words "assistant, two-fifths time" and substitute in place thereof the word assistant, so that the item will read as follows:—

Music—B. Harold Hamblin, assistant.

The appointment of Margaret E. Bertram as assistant in the Henry Grew District was withdrawn, she having tendered her resignation to take effect Dec. 22, 1911.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of Dec. 4, 1911, withdrawing the order presented at the meeting of Nov. 20, 1911 (see p. 165), relative to the employment of an assistant in music on two-fifths time and his assignment to the Elihu Greenwood and the Henry Grew Districts.

Placed on file.

The orders relating to the Hyde Park Schools, but not including appointments were collectively passed.

The appointment of George W. Earle as head-master of the Hyde Park High School, to take effect Jan. 1, 1912, was approved by the following vote:—

Yeas—Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Ellis, Lee and Leen—5.
Nays—0.

The appointment of Horace L. Brittain as master of the Elihu Greenwood District, to take effect Jan. 1, 1912, was approved by the following vote.

Yeas—Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Ellis, Lee and Leen—5.
Nays—0.

The appointment of Louis P. Nash as master of the Henry Grew District, to take effect Jan. 1, 1912, was approved by the following vote:—

Yeas—Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Ellis, Lee and Leen—5.
Nays—0.

The remaining appointments were collectively approved.

APPOINTMENT OF A TEMPORARY TEACHER.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of Dec. 4, 1911, stating that subject to the approval of the Board, and in accordance with the rules and regulations, he had appointed the following-named Hyde Park teacher as a temporary teacher in the district named herein, to the rank and to take effect on the date set opposite her name:—

Henry Grew District—Alice M. Lamb, assistant, Jan. 1, 1912.

Placed on file, and the appointment approved.

SALARY OF ALICE M. LAMB.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the salary of Alice M. Lamb, assistant, Henry Grew District, is hereby established at the rate of four hundred fifty-six dollars ($456) per year for the school year 1911-12.

EMPLOYMENT OF M. GERTRUDE BURNABY ON FOUR-FIFTHS TIME.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the employment beginning Jan. 1, 1912, of M. Gertrude Burnaby, assistant instructor in manual training on four-fifths time is hereby authorized.

DISCONTINUANCE OF RANK OF INSTRUCTOR IN HIGH SCHOOLS.

A petition was received from instructors in the high schools that they be promoted to the rank of junior master at the present time, because they entered the service with the understanding that such promotion would occur.

Placed on file, and the Secretary directed to inform the petitioners that the Board was not a party to any such understanding, and that the decision arrived at with respect to this matter seems to the Board to be on the whole a fair one, and it is therefore unwilling to change it.

DEFINITION OF REGULAR SALARY OF ELEMENTARY SCHOOL TEACHERS.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Business Agent be informed that in the opinion of the Board the additional compensation at the rate of $48 per annum payable to teachers in the elementary day schools whose regular maximum salary is $1000 or less, as specified in an order included in the general schedule of salaries adopted at the meeting of July 20, 1911 (see p. 101), is a part of the regular salary of such teachers, and should be so regarded in the case of teachers who may be promoted to a higher rank.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Board adjourned at 11.56 o'clock P.M.
Attest:

THORNTON D. APOLLONIO,
Secretary.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Wednesday, December 13, 1911.

Special meeting of the City Council, in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at three o'clock p. m. President COLLINS presided. Absent, Coun. Curley. The meeting was held pursuant to the following call:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, December 9, 1911.
To the Members of the City Council:

You are hereby requested to assemble in the City Council Chamber, City Hall, Boston, on Wednesday, December 13, 1911, at 3 p. m., for the purpose of considering a contract for the disposition of the city's refuse and garbage.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Placed on file.

DISPOSAL OF REFUSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
December 12, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor and the City Council:

On December 5, 1911, bids were opened for the disposal of a part of the city refuse for a period of ten years. Four bids were received, the two lowest of which are favorable bids from the city's standpoint. The two lowest bids are the Boston Disposal Company, $1,443,738, and the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, $1,432,000. I have accepted the bid of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company as the lowest bid, and transmit the same herewith for your approval and that of the City Council, in accordance with the provisions of Section 6 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909. Attached, herewith, are the plans and communications in connection with the same.

I also forward for your information the bids, communications and plans of the Boston Disposal Company, which is the second lowest bidder.

Respectfully,

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Communication and inclosures referred to the Executive Committee.

RECESS.

On motion of Coun. KENNY the Council voted, at 3.10 p. m., to take a recess, subject to the call of the Chair.

The members reassembled in the Chamber and were called to order by President COLLINS at 3.31 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORT.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted a report on communication from Commissioner of Public Works (referred to-day) concerning bids for disposal of part of city refuse for a period of ten years, and notifying the City Council of acceptance by him of bid of Boston Development and Sanitary Company—recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That a public hearing be given by the City Council on Wednesday, December 27, 1911, at seven thirty o'clock p. m., on the bid accepted by the Commissioner of Public Works with the Boston Sanitary and Development Company for the disposal of garbage and refuse for a period of ten years, and that the City Clerk be directed to give seven days' notice of said hearing in the City Record and daily newspapers: the expense of said hearing and notice to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Report accepted, order passed.

PRINTING OF GARBAGE PAPERS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That all bids and papers relative to contracts for the disposal of garbage, as submitted by the Commissioner of Public Works, be printed as a public document.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, if I understand that order it includes all bids, whether or not they were mentioned by the superintendent to us?

President COLLINS—The Chair will state that this order refers to those bids and papers relative to contracts for the disposition of garbage as submitted to the Commissioner of Public Works.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, the order should read, to have printed all the bids which have been submitted to the Commissioner of Public Works—changing the word "by" to "to."

President COLLINS—The Clerk will make the amendment.

The order as amended was passed.

TAKING OF LAND, SPECTACLE ISLAND.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Law Department is respectfully requested to give its opinion, first, as to whether the city has the power under right of eminent domain to purchase land on Spectacle Island in fulfillment of its part of the contract for the disposal of city waste. Second, whether the city under the terms of said contract receives free of all expense, at the end of ten years, the land and fixtures which the other party to the contract has occupied and used.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I presume every member of this Council has received letters from attorneys employed by both of the bidders on the contract. There seem to be conflicting statements as to whether we actually have a right to take land on Spectacle Island under right of eminent domain; and there also seems to be some doubt whether the fixtures on the land erected by the successful bidder become the property of the city at the termination of the contract. Merely to clear up these two points I have asked this question of the Law Department.

The order was passed.

COST OF BIDS FOR DISPOSAL OF REFUSE.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That an accountant be employed to estimate the comparative cost to the city of the two bids now before the Council for the disposal of city waste, such accountant to be paid out of the City Council, Incidental Expenses.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as I understand it, the two leading bidders for this contract are within eleven odd thousand dollars of each other. The difference comes largely in the cost of the land, and it is largely a bookkeeping matter. Opinion differs as to the cost to the city. It seems to me well for this Council to have some expert advice as to just what that difference would amount to. When you take into consideration the fact that one set of bids runs up and the other runs down, and there is an interest charge in there, when you take into consideration the fact that the city would have to buy the land on one bid and would not on the other, that interest on the land would have to be considered and things of that kind, it would seem necessary for the City Council to get some accountant's figures on this subject.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I would like to suggest, if satisfactory to Coun. Smith, that this order be amended so that the Finance Commission be requested to employ an accountant to do this. Wouldn't that be just as satisfactory to you? I think very likely they have an accountant on their staff; at any rate they know exactly where they can lay their hands on one, whereas we would be squabbling in an indefinite way as to what accountant to take.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I accept that amendment.

Coun. HALE offered the following order as a substitute:

Ordered, That the Finance Commission be requested to employ an accountant to estimate the comparative cost to the city of the two bids now before the Council for the disposal of city waste, and to make a report to the City Council on or before December 27, 1911.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, what I would like to know is, if there are two bids before the City Council?

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that there are two proposals before the City Council.

Coun. BUCKLEY—But Mr. Rourke in his letter says he has accepted one. Does that put the other bid up to us also and leave it to our discretion whether or not we shall decide that that is the better bid of the two?

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that under the charter this type of contract first meets with the approbation of the Commissioner of Public Works, and then is left with the City Council for its approval or disapproval. The Chair would state that it has been the custom to first get the approval of the Commissioner. In fact, that is the Chair's understanding of the statute, that the Commissioner first accepts a bid, that then there shall be a public hearing, and the City Council shall pass on it.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, the only reason I ask the question is this, that it seems to me, in order to be fair and in order that the public may have the benefit it is entitled to, of information as to what is contained in every bid, Mr. Rourke, if he accepts one bid, should not only submit to us that bid, but should in all fairness submit to us every other bid which he has received, in order that the citizens of Boston may know just what has been submitted to the Commissioner of Public Works and may be able to form an opinion to that extent as to whether he has or has not made a mistake.

President COLLINS—The Chair would be very glad to entertain a motion to that effect from the councilor after the substitute order has been disposed of.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I would move that the substitute order be amended by inserting "Commissioner of Public Works" in place of "City Council."

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I have a brand new substitute order to submit which will cover all that.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection, we will receive the substitute order.

Coun. HALE offered the following substitute: Ordered, That the Finance Commission be requested to employ an accountant to estimate the comparative cost to the city of the two bids now before the Commissioner of Public Works, and to report as to the outcome of said investigation, and also as to the relative features of the two aforesaid bids, to the City Council on or before the public hearing.

The question came on the adoption of the new substitute order.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, as I introduced the order originally I have been somewhat interested in its growth. My idea in introducing the order was to find out from a public accountant, to get his unbiased opinion, as to just which bid was the cheaper. I don't care who employs the accountant, so long as he is not somebody already in the city employ—whether it is the Finance Commission, the Commissioner of Public Works, or who it is, but I did not intend to have anything else attached to the order. I wanted simply that one statement of which bid is the cheaper. If he gets into a discussion of the relative merits of the bids, the facts in that respect may all be brought out at the public hearing.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, I will eliminate the last part of that.

President COLLINS—There being no objection, the substitute order offered by Coun. Hale is withdrawn and the following substitute order is offered:

Ordered, That the Finance Commission be requested to employ an accountant to estimate the comparative cost to the city of the two bids now before the City Council for the disposal of city waste, and report to the City Council before December 27.

This last substitute was adopted and passed.

REQUEST FOR BIDS.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I move you, sir, that the Commissioner of Public Works be requested to submit all the bids which he has received for the disposal of garbage to the City Council at its public hearing on December 27.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I ask, simply for information, whether this refers to the last set of specifications?

Coun. BUCKLEY—The last.

Coun. BUCKLEY'S motion was carried.

On motion of Coun. ATTRIDGE, the Board voted at 3.45 p. m. to adjourn, to meet on Monday, December 18, at 3 p. m.

Wednesday, December 13, 1911.

Special meeting of the City Council, in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 3.45 o'clock p. m., to draw jurors.

President COLLINS in the chair. Absent, Coun. Curley.

MUNICIPALITY AIDS CONSUMER.

The municipality of Buenos Ayres has established a "free market" to bring together producer and consumer without the intervention of middlemen. The prices charged in this market are in some cases only one-half those asked in private markets.

PAVEMENT OF LEATHER WASTE SUCCESSFUL.

A leather pavement has stood a successful trial of a year near Birmingham, England. The material is leather waste, shredded almost to pulp and treated with bitumen and tar. The road is not affected by heavy wheels, gives off little dust, resists wear and is not influenced by weather. Its noiselessness and springiness give a novel kind of comfort to horses and drivers.

MONEY FOR REPAIR OF MYSTIC SEA WALL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a letter from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners, stating that the sum of $10,000 is needed in addition to the appropriation of $4,000 already made for repairs to the sea wall at Mystic Playground in order to insure absolute safety to the children who use the playground.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum of $10,000 from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Mystic Playground, Sea Wall and Fence.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,

December 18, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You will remember that it was found that the appropriation of $4,000 made for repairs to the wall, etc., at Mystic Playground was found to be insufficient for the necessary work. On investigation it appeared that the sea wall was in much worse condition than we had anticipated. Moreover there is a great demand to have this wall raised 4 feet in height because that would permit the flooding of the playground for skating. To put the wall in condition and raise it in this manner, thus incidentally enlarging the space in the playground, it appears now will cost $14,000 instead of $4,000. We ask you, if possible, to let us have this extra $10,000 beyond the present appropriation in order that we may expend it in the manner here described.

Yours truly,

ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $10,000 from the Reserve Fund to the appropriation for Mystic Playground, Sea Wall and Fence.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

BATH HOUSE, DEWEY BEACH.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Park Commissioners, under date of December 8, 1911, requesting that money be appropriated for a bath house at Dewey Beach. This beach has been extensively patronized in the past by the people of Charlestown, and I believe they should have the same facilities that are given to the residents of other sections of the city.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order, transferring the sum of twenty-four thousand dollars ($24,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Park Department for Bath House, Dewey Beach.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,

December 8, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You asked the Park Commission to learn what would be the cost of a bath house on Dewey Beach.

Mr. Austin has made a sketch and estimates for this work, arranged for a building to contain the necessary toilets, offices, etc., and 320 lockers in the men's bath house (arranged somewhat like those at the L Street Bath House) and 102 dressing rooms for women, and the cost of this building would be about $24,000.

If you can arrange for an appropriation for this work, we shall be glad to go on with it at once.

Yours truly,

ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-four thousand dollars ($24,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for Bath House, Dewey Beach.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

MONEY FOR ZOO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a statement from the City Treasurer, estimating the amount on hand from the income of the George F. Parkman Fund, December 12, 1911, as $19,017.19, to which about $100 of income will be added before the close of the calendar year. The most appropriate purpose to which this income could be applied at the present time is the completion of the zoological garden at Franklin Park. I append a letter from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners stating that the sum of $19,100 should be applied to the construction of the flying cage and a panel at the bear's den, and recommend the passage of the accompanying order appropriating the sum of $19,000 from the income of the Parkman Fund to be added to the appropriation for Zoological Garden and Aquarium.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Amount on hand..... $19,017 19
Estimate of income to December 31, 1911..... 100 00

Estimate December 31, 1911..... $19,117 19

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,

December 18, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—We lately wrote you asking for an appropriation of $125,000 from the Parkman Fund for the completion of work that we desire to have ready on June 1, 1912, at the Aquarium and Zoological Garden. In reply to your recent inquiry we would say if we could have $19,000 of this sum given us now we should expend it on the netting and stone work for

Flying cage (about)..... $13,500 00
Panel at bear den..... 600 00
Water and sewerage to flying cage and bird house (about)..... 5,000 00

Total..... $19,100 00

If these items do not cost these full sums we should expend any surplus on the other objects enumerated in our recent letter to you.

Yours truly,

ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of $19,000 additional be and hereby is appropriated from the income of the Parkman Fund and added to the special appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for Zoological Garden and Aquarium.

Referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

PARKMAN MEMORIAL TABLET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

It has been suggested that in conformity with the practice of placing memorial tablets on buildings identified with the careers of our foremost citizens, such a tablet should be placed on the home of the late George Francis Parkman. I heartily approve of this idea and recommend the passage of the accompanying order, appropriating the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars ($250), to be expended under the direction of the Art Commission for this purpose and to be charged to the income of the Phillips Street Fund.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Art Commission be authorized to place a memorial tablet on the home of the late George Francis Parkman, and that the expense, not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) be charged to Phillips Street Fund Income.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

RELEASE OF LAND TO MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.

To the City Council:

For the reasons given in the accompanying letter of Mr. John C. Kiley, real estate expert attached to this office, I recommend the passage of the following order, releasing for a nominal consideration to the Massachusetts General Hospital, a triangular parcel of land containing 26 square feet, more or less, bounded by North Grove and Fruit streets, adjoining the hospital property.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston, Office of the Mayor,

Real Estate Appraiser, December 16, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Trustees of the Massachusetts Hospital have purchased the old Harvard Dental School property, together with the adjoining property, formerly owned by the George F. Parkman Estate. By recent survey it was found that the City of Boston owns a small triangular parcel of land, containing twenty-six (26) square feet, more or less, bounded by North Grove and Fruit streets, adjoining the hospital property. As they own all of the property, except this triangular parcel, fronting on North Grove street, north of Fruit street, they are desirous of closing up North Grove street and erecting a building thereon. This triangular parcel owned by the city has no commercial value and the trustees of the hospital are desirous of having it conveyed to them by the city for a nominal consideration.

The Trustees of the Massachusetts General Hospital recently assisted very materially in saving the City of Boston a great loss by accepting a reconveyance of the property on Warrenton and Common streets, acquired as a site by the city for the High School of Commerce. This is the first opportunity that the city has had to show its appreciation for what the trustees of this hospital did in the High School of Commerce matter, and I recommend that the triangular piece of land be conveyed to them. If you agree with me, I suggest sending the inclosed order, which has been prepared by the Law Department, to the City Council for consideration.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN C. KILEY.

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized in the name and behalf of the city and by an instrument satisfactory to the Law Department to release for a nominal consideration to the Massachusetts General Hospital a triangular parcel of land containing 26 square feet, more or less, and bounded southerly by Fruit street 2 1/2 feet; westerly by North Grove street, 21 5/8 feet, and northeasterly by land of said Massachusetts General Hospital, 21 7/8 feet.

Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

APPROVAL OF CHELSEA BRIDGE PLANS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 13, 1911.
To the City Council:

I transmit herewith, in order that it may be placed in the files of the City Clerk, an instrument from the War Department, approving the map of location and plans of a bridge, to be reconstructed by the city across the main or north channel of the Mystic river.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.
(Annexed were papers, plans, etc., referred to).
Placed on file.

APPROPRIATION FOR CHELSEA BRIDGE NORTH.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 14, 1911.
To the City Council:

At the meeting of your honorable body held October 30, 1911, I transmitted a communication from the Commissioner of Public Works which explained the status of the transactions relating to the new bridge over the north channel of the Mystic river, between Boston and Chelsea. In this communication the commissioner stated that the new plans which had been drawn up would provide a bridge of a substantially permanent character calling for an additional appropriation of $175,000. Since that time the necessary approval of these plans has been obtained from the War Department and the commissioner, in the accompanying letter, renews his request for the additional appropriation required and asks, also, that the title of the present appropriation be changed from Chelsea North Temporary Bridge to Chelsea Bridge North.

I trust that there will be no hesitation on the part of the City Council in accepting these recommendations, and I recommend for passage the accompanying order effecting the change of title desired by the commissioner and providing the necessary additional funds for the work.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
December 12, 1911.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

The War Department having approved plans for Chelsea North Bridge which will necessitate an estimated increase of $175,000 in the appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North, I respectfully ask that the honorable City Council be requested to provide this amount; also that the unexpended balance of the present appropriation for Chelsea North Temporary Bridge be transferred to the appropriation for Chelsea North Bridge, for the reason that no temporary bridge is contemplated under the present plans.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROUKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Ordered, That the balance of the appropriation for Chelsea North Temporary Bridge be transferred to an appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North, to be expended by the Commissioner of Public Works; that the sum of one hundred seventy-five thousand dollars ($175,000) be and hereby is appropriated and added to the aforesaid appropriation for Chelsea Bridge North, and that to meet this additional appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized, on the request of the Mayor, to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

REPAYMENT OF COLUMBIA ROAD ASSESSMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 13, 1911.
To the City Council:

Having passed an order at the meeting of November 27, 1911, accepting the provisions of chapter 415 of the Acts of 1911, and authorizing the abatement of assessments made upon the property owners along Columbia road, the City Council should now provide means whereby the repayments called for in this act may be made from the resources of the Park Department. The letter of the secretary of the Park Department, attached hereto, states in substance that the department would be unable to divert any funds from its maintenance appropriation without impairment of its own proper and necessary work. I am informed by the Collecting Department that the unrevived assessments which have been paid in to it, and which alone call for repayments under the act in question, amount to thirty-eight thousand dollars ($38,000). As the maximum assessment is 20 per cent it is obvious that a transfer of eight thousand dollars ($8,000) would provide the means from which the Park Commissioners could make the repayments rendered necessary by the acceptance by the city of the act of the Legislature.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of eight thousand dollars ($8,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Repayment of Columbia Road Assessments.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.
City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,
December 6, 1911.

Mr. William A. Leahy,
Secretary to the Mayor,
City Hall, Boston:

Dear Sir,—In reference to the order of the City Council, which proposes to abate a portion, not exceeding 20 per cent, of the assessments for laying out Columbia road, and authorizes repayment of such proportion of any assessment already paid, the expense thus incurred to be charged to the appropriation for Park Department, upon which you request the views of this department, I am directed to say that the Board objects to any diversion of its funds that have been appropriated for and which are needed for the maintenance of the parks.

Chapter 394 of the Acts of 1897, under which Columbia road was laid out and constructed, provided that a specified amount of the cost of that improvement, as determined by the Street Commissioners with the concurrence of the Park Commissioners and the approval of the Mayor, should be provided by loan and deemed and considered as expenditures for public park purposes. This having been done, the Board does not think that any further expenditure on this account should be charged to this department.

Yours truly,
GEORGE F. CLARKE, Secretary.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of eight thousand dollars ($8,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Park Department, Repayment of Columbia Road Assessments, to be expended in accordance with the provisions of chapter 415 of the Acts of 1911.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

APPROPRIATION FOR AUTOMOBILE AMBULANCES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 13, 1911.
To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from the president of the Board of Hospital Trustees explains the advantage of an additional automobile ambulance. The sum of six thousand dollars ($6,000) has already been appropriated by your honorable body for two conveyances of this type and the reasons given by the president of the Board of Trustees for an addition to their number seem to me to be convincing.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Automobile Ambulances.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Boston City Hospital,
December 11, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Board of Trustees to-day, December 11, it was decided to ask your Honor to transfer $3,000 for the purchase of an automobile ambulance. Mr. Joseph P. Manning, secretary pro tem of the Board of Trustees, has already explained the matter to you. In the early part of November it was voted that $3,000 be reserved from the appropriation for maintenance for the purchase of this ambulance. Certain unexpected bills, due to contingencies of the service in the X-Ray Department and in various other departments of the Hospital, necessitated taking nearly all of this $3,000 for maintenance. Your Honor's attention is called to the fact that if an additional $3,000 is added to the $6,000 already reserved, it will enable the trustees to purchase three automobile ambulances. These, in addition to the one now in service, will give four automobile ambulances, which will do the work of eight horse ambulances, and will be the most important factor in improving the ambulance service.

The trustees are of the opinion that these ambulances should be purchased without advertising for bids. The reasons for this are set forth in the letter to your Honor dated November 28, 1911, as follows:

First. The style of the ambulance required is one that has been in use at the hospital, especially built for our purpose.

Second. If an advertisement is required, it will take so long a time that it would be impossible to have the ambulance delivered as soon as the exigencies of the service require.

Third. The style of the ambulance is something that is different from any other ambulance built; also, the chassis can be delivered immediately, and for this reason particularly, the trustees respectfully request permission to waive advertising.

Although there have been many improvements, comprising painting, purchase of new instruments and installation of surgical and medical appliances, the trustees have the satisfaction of reporting to your Honor that while the high standard of the hospital has been maintained during the year, the appropriation for the fiscal year has not been exceeded.

I have the honor to remain, on behalf of the trustees,

Very respectfully yours,
A. SHUMAN,
President, Board of Trustees.

Ordered, That the title of the appropriation for Two Hospital Ambulances be changed to Hospital Ambulances, and that in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to the said appropriation for Hospital Ambulances.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SALE OF CITY PROPERTY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 15, 1911.
To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a vote of the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners notifying the City Council that the estate at No. 9 Warrenton street, taken for school purposes, is no longer required, and a letter from John C. Kiley, real estate expert, attached to my office, informing me that he has received an offer of ten thousand dollars for this estate. This is the last of the parcels included in the original taking for the High School of Commerce on Common and Warrenton streets. Its net return to the city last year, according to Mr. Kiley's computations, was less than 2 per cent on the amount offered and the figure set by the prospective purchaser seems to me to be an extremely advantageous one.

I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order which authorizes me to sell the property on the terms indicated.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Boston, December 12, 1911.

Gentlemen,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners of the City of Boston, having charge of the parcel of land on Common and Warrenton streets in said Boston, which was taken for school purposes by an order and statement of the Board of Street Commissioners of said city recorded with Suffolk Deeds on the 25th day of June, 1910, in lib. 3463, page 282, hereby notifies you that in its opinion a portion of said premises, to wit, a parcel of land containing 1,582 square feet, more or less, taken as aforesaid from George P. Darrow heirs and Mary C. Darrow is no longer required for public purposes.

CHARLES LOGUE,
JOHN F. KENNEDY,
CHARLES B. PERKINS,
Schoolhouse Commissioners.

City of Boston, Office of the Mayor,
Real Estate Appraiser, December 13, 1911.
Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The City of Boston now owns No. 9 Warrenton street, consisting of a brick three and one-half story dwelling house, assessed for $3,200, and 1,600 square feet of land, assessed for $6,400, making a total assessed valuation of $9,600. This property was acquired in 1910 by the city as a part of the site selected for the High School of Commerce. It was taken from the heirs of George P. Darrow, by eminent domain, and an award of $11,830 was paid to the owners.

The estate rents for $600 a year. I have been offered $10,000 and, notwithstanding that it cost $11,830, feel certain that at $10,000 the property would be well sold. The building has been rented for practically one year and my books show that after deducting the taxes which should be charged against the property, and the cost of maintenance, there is but 1.72 per cent net return on $10,000. The building is occupied as a lodging house, and is not in good condition. Each year it will need repairs which will seriously impair the net return.

I therefore inclose herewith a notice from the Schoolhouse Commissioners to the City Councilors informing them that this property is no longer required for public purposes.

I also inclose an order drafted by the Law Department of the City of Boston, which is in proper form, for your Honor to forward to the City Council, authorizing you to dispose of this property at a sum not less than $10,000.

The offer which is made is good until canceled, but I feel that the purchaser may not care to wait for an indefinite period for an answer.

Very truly yours,

JOHN C. KILEY.

City of Boston,
In City Council,

Whereas, The Board of Street Commissioners, under authority conferred upon said Board by acts of the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, did take for school purposes, by an instrument recorded with Suffolk Deeds on the twenty-eight day of June, 1910, certain lands situate on Common and Warrenton streets, in said Boston, including a parcel of land containing 1,582 square feet, more or less, supposed to belong to George P. Darrow heirs and Mary C. Darrow; and

Whereas, The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners, having charge of said lands taken as aforesaid, has notified the City Council that in its opinion the above-mentioned parcel of land containing 1,582 square feet, more or less, taken from said George P. Darrow heirs and Mary C. Darrow is no longer required for public purposes; it is hereby Ordered, That the Mayor be and he is hereby authorized in the name and behalf of the city and in accordance with the provisions of chapter 25, section 50, of the Revised Laws, to sell and convey said parcel of land taken as aforesaid from said George P. Darrow heirs and Mary C. Darrow for a sum not less than ten thousand dollars and for such consideration, and upon such other terms as he may consider proper, to execute in the name and behalf of the city a deed of said premises satisfactory to the Law Department.

Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

QUARTERS FOR EAST BOSTON COURT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 13, 1911.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings, requesting a transfer of two thousand two hundred dollars ($2,200) from the Reserve Fund in order to fit up the wardroom at the corner of Maverick and Bremen streets, East Boston, as temporary quarters for the East Boston District Court. This building has been selected as the most economical for the housing of the court during the building of the new courthouse, and I desire to express my approval of the superintendent's request and to recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring the necessary amount from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for East Boston District Court, Temporary Quarters.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
December 11, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—An appropriation is available for the purpose of erecting a courthouse and police station in East Boston, and a great deal of consideration has been given to the matter of a site for the said building. It has been decided that the new building be erected on the site of the Old East Boston High Schoolhouse, in which are now quartered the district court, branch library and also some rooms used for school purposes. At a meeting held on Monday, June 26, 1911, the School Committee, which has control of the Old East Boston High School, passed a vote of which the following is a copy:

"Ordered, That his Honor, the Mayor be informed that upon provision being made satisfactory to this Board, for the housing of the school children, who would otherwise be accommodated in the Old East Boston High Schoolhouse, this Board is willing to surrender said school estate on the payment of $40,000, but until other and satisfactory school accommodations shall be provided, the surrender of said school estate cannot be entertained."

Mr. Charles Logue, Chairman of the Schoolhouse Commission, has advised me that they expect to vacate the Old East Boston High Schoolhouse about the 1st of March, 1912.

It is my intention to provide temporary headquarters for the district court, during the erection of the new building, in the city building now used as a wardroom, at the corner of Maverick and Bremen streets, East Boston, thereby saving payment of outside rental.

I have had plans prepared by this department of the layout for the temporary quarters and the same have been approved by the officials of the district court.

I estimate that the sum of twenty-two hundred ($2,200) dollars will be required to fit up these temporary quarters in making over judge's bench, clerk's bench, building temporary offices for officials, building prisoner's dock, installing plumbing apparatus, painting, etc., and respectfully recommend that a special appropriation for the amount specified above for this purpose be made. I desire to start work on the above immediately after the city election on January 9, 1912.

Items on above are as follows:

Carpentry work.....	$925 00
Plumbing work.....	310 00
Painting work.....	165 00
Alterations and additions in steam piping.....	300 00
Alterations and additions on electric lighting.....	200 00
Moving furniture, records, etc.....	300 00
	$2,200 00

Yours respectfully,

M. J. FISH,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of two thousand two hundred dollars ($2,200) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for East Boston District Court, Temporary Quarters, to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings. Referred to the Executive Committee.

PLAYGROUND SITE, WARD 25.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 29, 1911.
To the City Council:

The need of a playground in the Brighton district was impressed upon me last year and I submitted two loan orders of $15,000 each, providing for the purchase of a site. Brighton is remote from the large playgrounds which are used in common by the young people of the whole city, such as Franklin Field, and its area, which is about equal to that of South Boston and Charlestown combined, makes the single playground which it now possesses, situated at the extreme northern end of the district, entirely insufficient. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order transferring $15,000 from the Reserve Fund for the purchase of a playground site in Ward 25.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $15,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for Playground, Ward 25.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

APPROPRIATION FOR NORTH DORCHESTER BURIAL GROUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 29, 1911.
To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the chairman of the Cemetery Trustees, in the third paragraph of which he requests an appropriation of $9,000 for the Dorchester North Burial Ground, for the purpose of building a wall and fence about it, erecting a small office building, and inclosing a triangular piece of land on Columbia road adjoining the cemetery. A loan order for the wall and fence was passed by the City Council in 1907 but action on this matter was rescinded on the ground that this work should be paid for from the tax levy and not from money raised by loan. As the Reserve Fund is ample to cover this comparatively small item I recommend the passage of the accompanying order transferring $9,000 from the Reserve Fund to a special appropriation for Dorchester North Burial Ground.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Cemetery Department,
November 17, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,

Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—The financial condition of this department presents two alternatives to provide for the remainder of the fiscal year. One is the immediate suspension of about thirty laborers until at least February 1, or the second is the obtaining of sufficient money to retain the employees intact and to pay bills contracted and to come. A careful calculation shows that $3,600 additional will be required, of which $250 will be for care in January of Fairview Cemetery, Ward 26 (Hyde Park), as we understand the conditions which now exist there.

During the past three years the department appropriation has not exceeded $75,000, although the department has felt the general increase in cost prevalent. In the item of labor alone the half holiday of four hours each week, not anticipated at the beginning of this year, means a loss of 8½ per cent which had to be met. The above estimated amount includes only such expenditures as are positively necessary this year, and we feel it is improper under proper management to carry over such work and make the expenditure a burden on the calculations of next year.

In July, 1907, you recommended in a loan order $6,000, for a stone wall and fence at Dorchester North Ground, Upham's Corner. This was adopted by the City Council, but the Finance Commission in a report advised against the loan, and said, "the work should be paid for from the tax levy and not from money raised by loan." The City Council finally rescinded its action on the loan. We now ask that you consider the recommending of $9,000 for this ground, to cover the building of the wall and fence named in the loan order, which shall include inclosing a triangular piece of land on Columbia road and adjoining the cemetery, which latter was transferred to this department since 1907, and the erection of a small office on the ground. The present office is unsanitary, and the city obligated itself in deed of purchase to keep the greater portion of the fence contemplated to be erected in good repair.

Last year we asked for $10,000 to be expended entirely on the old burying grounds, which was not granted. The necessity for the work which this amount intended is constantly urged by those who visit and are interested in these grounds. This would undoubtedly meet with objection, if placed in a loan order, and we can only hope to receive it in a regular appropriation.

The total amount covered by the above is $22,600, and we beg to say that our constant touch with affairs convinces us that the items named above are absolutely necessary of accomplishment.

Yours respectfully,
CHARLES E. PHIPPS,
Chairman Cemetery Department.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $9,000 from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to a special appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Cemetery Trustees for Dorchester North Burial Ground.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ELEVATED STRUCTURE, ETC., DOVER STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 5, 1911.
To the City Council:

I transmit herewith (in order that they may be placed in the files of the City Clerk) the following plans:

(1) No. 28207, showing proposed temporary elevated station, to be used while modifications and changes are being made in the Dover Street Station.

(2) No. 28206, showing proposed modifications and changes in the elevated structure, platforms, station and approaches, at Washington and Dover streets, to be made in order to increase the capacity and adapt the same to the running of eight-car trains.

I have approved these plans in writing as to architectural appearance and obstruction to light and air, in accordance with the provision of section 6, chapter 500, of the Acts of 1897. ns

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.
(Annexed were plans, etc., referred to.)
Placed on file.

SALE OF FIRE BELLS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 4, 1911.
To the City Council:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Fire Commissioner, requesting permission to sell three fire alarm bells which are no longer of service to his department, and recommend the passage of the accompanying order, which grants the permission desired. A list of the bids received by him is attached to his communication. As the Reserve Fund is ample to provide by transfer for any important needs of the Fire Department, I do not approve the commissioner's further request that the funds received from this sale be credited to the appropriation of that department.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Headquarters Fire Department,
December 1, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I have the honor to request permission be granted by the City Council to sell three (3) fire alarm bells which are no longer of service to this department.

I respectfully request that the funds received from this sale be credited to the appropriation of the Fire Department.

The highest bidder is the McShane Bell Foundry Company of Baltimore, Md., amounting to $1,803.42.

I inclose herewith list of bids received.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES D. DALY,
Fire Commissioner.

Bids for fire-alarm bells opened this day:

M. Edelstein & Co.	$880 00
M. Hurvitz & Son	1,150 00
Stephen J. Moran	1,174 32
Symansky Brothers	1,179 91
Thomas Burke	1,302 94
Roxbury Iron & Metal Company	1,356 06
T. J. Kiley & Son	1,398 00
I. Goldberg & Co.	1,446 75
American Iron & Metal Company	1,455 04
Thomas Butler & Co.	1,456 16
Bevin Brothers Manufacturing Company	1,607 70
Gamewell Fire-Alarm Telegraph Company	1,677 60
McShane Bell Foundry Company	1,803 42

Ordered, That the Fire Commissioner be and hereby is authorized to sell to the highest bidder three fire alarm bells which are no longer of service to the Fire Department.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SWIMMING POOL, PARKER HILL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 1, 1911.
To the City Council:
An order passed by your honorable body at its meeting of July 17, 1911, requested the Park Commission and the Bath Commission, sitting jointly, to consider the advisability of establishing a swimming pool at Parker Hill, and the cost of converting Parker Hill reservoir to such use. The accompanying letters from the chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners and the General Superintendent of the Bath Department indicate a unanimity of opinion in both departments as to the advantages of such a pool, the cost of which, together with the incidental improvements, is estimated by the Superintendent of Parks and the engineer of the Park Department to be $35,700. Mr. John C. Kiley, in a letter which is also attached hereto, gives reasons why this tract of land should be made over into a recreation park, and states that he has obtained the consent of the Commissioner of Public Works to its transfer from his department to the Board of Park Commissioners without compensation. I agree that the merits of the plan would fully justify its cost and recommend the passage of the accompanying ordinance, which has been prepared by the Corporation Counsel transferring the care and control of the Parker Hill reservoir to the Park Department.

Yours very truly,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

October 19, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Referring to the City Council order of July 17, 1911, requesting that the Park and Bath Commission sitting jointly be requested to consider the advisability of establishing a swimming pool at Parker Hill and the cost of converting Parker Hill reservoir to such use, Mr. Pettigrew, our superintendent and Mr. Putnam, our engineer, have made a study of the matter and they report that the top of the hill, if graded down, using the side walls to fill up the reservoir, would make a good playground. They think also that room can be reserved for a swimming pool, 40 feet by 100 feet, made with the bottom and sides of concrete. The cost of this, together with a locker building, shelter for children, fencing and planting, they reckon at $35,700, as per estimate of October 3, 1911, attached hereto. At the same time that we send you this report we are sending a copy of it to the Bath Commission.

Yours truly,
ROBERT S. PEABODY, Chairman.

City of Boston,
Board of Commissioners of the
Department of Parks,

October 3, 1911.

Estimate cost of making swimming pool and incidental improvements on site of Parker Hill reservoir.

Banks to be cut down about ten feet and material used for filling remainder of reservoir. This will give a level area of about three acres. Total area of lot is about four and one-half acres.

21,000 cubic yards excavation at 60 cents	$12,600 00
Concrete swimming pool, 40 feet by 100 feet	4,000 00
Locker building	15,000 00
Shelter for children	600 00
Planting	500 00
1,500 linear feet playground fence	3,000 00
Total	$35,700 00

City of Boston,
Bath Department, December 2, 1911.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Sir,—In reference to an order passed by the City Council on July 17 of the current year, requesting a joint sitting of the Board of Bath Trustees and Park Commissioners, relative to the advisability of converting the Parker Hill reservoir into a public swimming pool, I beg to report in behalf of the Bath Trustees that the matter has received the consideration of Messrs. Murphy and McLaughlin, who were appointed a subcommittee on the matter, with the result that the above mentioned committee are in accord with the main proposition. They deem it an excellent site for installing a public pool, and would recommend that an appropriation be passed for the purpose of carrying out the above mentioned plans, the amount to be as approximated, $35,700.

The above mentioned estimate will also include the construction of a playground with a swimming pool, 40 feet by 100 feet, with the bottom and sides to be of concrete, moreover a locker building, with a shelter for children and the fencing, etc., are also included. We would also suggest that the swimming pool be placed under the jurisdiction of this department.

Very truly yours,
HUGH C. McGRATH,
Secretary Bath Trustees.

City of Boston, Office of the Mayor,
Real Estate Appraiser, October 30, 1911.
Mr. William A. Leahy,
Secretary to the Mayor,
City Hall, Boston:

Dear Mr. Leahy,—I have your letter of the 27th, inclosing one from the chairman of the Park Department relative to the use of the Parker Hill reservoir for a playground and swimming pool.

I think that the work proposed by the Park Department could be done very easily for $35,700. It strikes me as being a high figure, but not having seen the plans and not being a contractor or engineer, I would not want my opinion to be taken against that of the Park Commissioners. Other than grading, there is, however, but very little work to be done to make over the Parker Hill reservoir. Very little material of any kind will have to be purchased. It seems to me that there will be enough stone in the reservoir to build a good many of the embankment walls made necessary in levelling the land, and I should think that $20,000 would do this work, which consists primarily of labor.

I have already secured the consent of Commissioner Rourke to allow the transfer of the reservoir property on the summit of Parker Hill to the Park Commissioners free of cost. It seems to me that a more desirable recreation park than would be afforded by this tract of land, by reason of its size and natural advantages, could not be established anywhere. Containing 196,202 square feet of land, about four and one-half acres, the reservoir tract is not only adequate to serve the purpose of a playground, but will be one of the largest playgrounds in the city. This is made clear by a few comparisons,—the National League baseball park contains 180,000 square feet; the Columbus Avenue Playground contains 213,000 square feet; and the M Street Playground contains 200,375 square feet. Of almost equal importance to size, is the location of a playground with reference to its natural surroundings. The reservoir tract appears to be very fortunate in this respect. Two hundred and twenty feet above the sea level and entirely free from the smoke and grime that affects some of our playgrounds, it would prove to be the ideal park for exhilarating sport. The splendid panoramic view, including the harbor, the city, the Blue Hills, Jamaica Plain and the Newtons, which it commands, enhances its value as a recreation center.

There may be some objection from the standpoint of sentiment amongst the neighbors to convert the reservoir into a playground, but that I think cannot be sustained, first because the reservoir is of no use now to the Water Department, and second on account of its topography and the maintenance of the water supply, there is but a small proportion of the land available to the public, who use it but rarely through the week. By making it into a playground, every foot of the area is made available, and the views and natural advantages are not only retained, but a greater number of people are given the opportunity to enjoy them.

Very truly yours,
JOHN C. KILEY.

City of Boston,
In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eleven.
An Ordinance transferring the care and control of the Parker Hill Reservoir to the Park Department.
Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Section 1. Chapter nine of the Ordinances of 1910 is hereby amended by inserting after the word "supply" in the third line of section twenty-two the following words: "with the exception of Parker Hill reservoir."

Section 2. Chapter twenty-eight of the Revised Ordinances of 1898 is hereby amended by inserting after the words "South Boston" in the tenth line of the first section the words: "Parker Hill reservoir."

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

PLAYGROUND, MATTAPAN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.
To the City Council:

The rapid increase in population in the district about Mattapan square warrants the belief that there will be a demand for new playground accommodations as there has been for the erection of new school buildings. With increasing congestion the demand for land will be so great that prices will inevitably rise, and if the city is to make a purchase, it must go about the matter promptly or suffer the consequences of delay in larger payments for its takings. I am informed that for twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) a parcel suitable for playground purposes, and containing one hundred and fifty thousand (150,000) to two hundred thousand (200,000) square feet can be purchased at the present time, and believe that it would be sound policy, since such provision must be made in the near future to appropriate money for this purpose now. I recommend, therefore, the passage of the accompanying order transferring the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation for "Playground Accommodations, Mattapan District."

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) from the Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners, for Playground Accommodations, Mattapan District.
Referred to the Executive Committee.

RELEASE OF RESTRICTIONS, FENWAY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1911.
To the City Council:

The accompanying letter from Mr. John C. Kiley sets forth the stagnation in building development in the district adjoining the Fenway, and suggests a reason therefor as well as a partial remedy. It seems to me reasonable to accept the view that the building restrictions, which were applicable when they were made, have now become not only obsolete but a positive detriment to development. As long as the present wording remains in the law, to the effect that no apartment house costing less than four thousand dollars ($4,000) per suite of apartments shall be erected, there will be few buildings of a modern character put up in this vicinity. As Mr. Kiley says, the modern apartment house contains several suites upon each floor, and the price of building them in such a manner as to conform to present restrictions is virtually prohibitive. I endorse his views, and those of the Fenway Improvement Association for which he speaks, and recommend the passage of the accompanying order which has been drafted by the Law Department of the city, empowering the Park Commissioners to amend the restrictions so as to permit the erection of apartment houses costing not less than four thousand dollars ($4,000) per story, instead of per suite, for every 25 feet of frontage.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FITZGERALD, Mayor.

City of Boston, Office of the Mayor,
Real Estate Appraiser, December 18, 1911.
Hon. John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Since the Fenway was built there have been but two dwelling houses erected thereon, with the exception of that block between Roylston street and Westland avenue. The lack of development has caused the owners of land in this vicinity tremendous losses. For the past year the Fenway Improvement Association, which is composed of land owners in this vicinity, has carefully studied the situation, and thinks that a modification of the present restriction applying on land fronting on the park would prove to be a means by which building operations may be started. The association, through its president, John H. Storer, has asked me to consult you as to transmitting an order to the City Council modifying the present restriction.

The restriction now existing reads "no apartment house costing less than $4,000 per suite of apartments, exclusive in each case of the cost of the land, shall be erected upon said premises." The phrase "per suite of apartments" is a technical mistake, and never was inserted in the restriction to mean what it does to-day. When the Fenway was built the apartments erected at that time consisted of one suite on a floor, each building being about 25 feet wide. To-day they are building apartments 50 and 75 feet wide, with several suites on a floor, and if a builder is forced to comply with the letter and spirit of the present restriction, it would mean that an apartment house with six suites on a floor would cost $24,000 a floor, and for a five-story building the cost would be about $120,000. This, added to the price of the land, would involve so large an investment as to prohibit its sale and make it impossible to earn any fair return on the investment.

The modification which is suggested in the inclosed order, which has been drafted by the Law Department of the City of Boston, permits apartment houses to cost not less than $4,000 per floor for every 25 feet frontage, and a proportionate amount for any increase in frontage. This is what was meant when the restriction was originally placed upon the land. The president of the Fenway Improvement Association has consulted with the Park Commissioners, and they have tentatively agreed to this change. There are about 6,000,000 square feet of land fronting on and adjoining the Fenway upon which improvements will undoubtedly be started next spring provided this restriction can be changed in the manner suggested in this order. The Park Commissioners recently modified the restriction for one of the owners by authority given them by the City Council, approved by an order from you. This order authorizes the Park Commissioners, without additional legislation, to modify restrictions whenever requested by the individual owners of Fenway land, thus making it unnecessary for the owners to apply to the City Council for such a change.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN C. KILEY.

Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners with the approval of the Mayor, and by an instrument or instruments satisfactory to the Law Department, may in the name and behalf of the city modify and amend the restrictions contained in deeds or agreements given to the city by the owners of lands abutting upon the Fens, including the entrances thereto and the Charlesgate, by altering or amending paragraph 2 of said restrictions so as to permit the erection or placing upon said lands of apartment houses costing not less than $4,000 per story for every 25 feet or less of frontage, and at the same rate for any greater width.

Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

PAYMENT FOR BROKEN WINDOWS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Police Department, December 14, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Mr. J. R. Hamm, of 46 Howard street has presented the inclosed bill to this department, and upon the suggestion of the City Auditor, to whom applications was made at my order for his opinion as to the propriety of paying the bill directly, I inclose it for such action as you may feel it proper to take.

A copy of a report from Captain Peabody, which I herewith inclose, explains the manner in which the damage occurred for which reimbursement is sought. I am of the opinion that there is no legal liability upon the part of the Police Department, but believe that the claim of Mr. Hamm is entitled as a matter of equity to your consideration, and would if I had the sanction of law cause it to be paid.

I inclose also a copy of a report accounting for Mr. Hamm's inability to produce receipted bill for the amount already expended by him.

STEPHEN O'MEARA,

Police Commissioner of the City of Boston.

Police Station No. 3, September 11, 1911.

William H. Pierce,

Superintendent of Police:

Sir,—I respectfully report that I caused an investigation to be made in relation to the matter in the attached letter, wherein J. R. Hamm of No. 46 Howard street, corner of Somerset street, complains that a plate glass window in his store at the above address was broken by a police officer of this division; the following are the facts:

About 7 p. m., August 11, 1911, reservemen John J. Herlihy and Gustav A. Schultz of this division were arresting William J. Donovan, twenty-six years old, of No. 694 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, Mass., for drunkenness and while taking him to signal box No. 38, corner Somerset and Howard streets and when in front of Mr. Hamm's store, Donovan resisted arrest in such a manner that he tried to break away from the officers; in doing so reserveman Herlihy was pushed against the plate glass window in Mr. Hamm's store cracking the same.

Mr. Hamm further complains that about three years ago a plate glass window in his store on the Somerset street side was broken by a police officer in making an arrest, costing him $28 to replace the same. He never received any compensation for the damage done. To replace the glass in the window broken, he says will cost him about $30 which was not insured.

Respectfully submitted,

IRVING A. H. PEABODY,

Captain Division No. 3.

Police Station No. 3, December 14, 1911.

Leo A. Rogers,

Secretary Police Commissioner:

Sir,—I respectfully report that in relation to the window in the store of J. R. Hamm & Co., No. 46 Howard street, that was broken on June 28, 1906, will say that he paid $28 for replacing the same, but he is unable to find the receipted bill and he says he cannot get the bill as the man who put the window in is now dead.

As to the second window which was broken August 11, 1911, it has not been replaced yet, but the glass is cracked and is held in place by a rivet.

Inclosed you will please find an estimate of the cost of the two windows which was furnished by Mr. Hamm.

Respectfully, submitted,

IRVING A. H. PEABODY,
Captain, Division No. 3.

METROPOLITAN PLANS.

The following was received:

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts,

Metropolitan Plan Commission,

Room 441, State House, Boston, Dec. 2, 1911.

To the Mayor and City Council,

City Hall, Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen,—In response to a general request from representatives of the various municipalities of the district for a preliminary outline of the legislation which seems to be indicated by the advice received by the commission and the study it has made, the inclosed suggestions are submitted for your consideration.

The Metropolitan Plan Commission regards itself as your servant in this matter, and in its opinion the final bill should be as nearly as possible the common agreement of the various communities of the district.

These suggestions, therefore, are tentative and every municipality in the district has this further opportunity to be heard from before the final draft is made. The commission will be glad to receive your opinions or suggestions, either in writing or at further hearings, if you so desire.

In view of the importance of this matter to your own community, we ask you to give such help as will make this legislation provide a bill which will be most beneficial to your municipality and the rest of the metropolitan district.

Please let us have your advice at the earliest possible date.

Yours very truly,

METROPOLITAN PLAN COMMISSION,

METROPOLITAN PLAN COMMISSION.

Statement of Suggestions for a Bill.

The Metropolitan Plan Commission has been appointed to report as to the feasibility of a plan for the metropolitan district, and to draft legislation, if it seems fit, that shall be applicable to the making of such a plan. This commission goes out of existence January 1.

By correspondence, conference and study, the commission has arrived at certain general conclusions upon which it will appreciate your criticism and advice.

They are as follows:

1. There should be a central authority planning the development of the whole district.

2. The local autonomy of the various municipalities should not be infringed upon.

3. The state and the district should contribute together with the local municipality towards the cost of improvements of metropolitan character, and, furthermore, the state should loan its credit for such works against repayment through annual assessments upon the cities and towns of the district.

The thirty-eight cities and towns comprising the Metropolitan Parks District are specified as the metropolitan district in the resolve creating the present commission.

There is need of great radial highways to handle the business of Boston. We need circumferential thoroughfares to make the traffic ways between the cities and towns of the district as efficient for business purposes as the boulevard system is for pleasure vehicles. Some official body which will advise as to the reservation of public squares, small parks and playgrounds and as to the general street treatment in every city and town of the district, is probably needed. As it is now the local authorities to a large extent are compelled to obtain advice in these matters from a hired expert.

In the district there are certain blighted areas which might be rehabilitated by opening up new streets running through to more favored localities, or by many other means which would suggest themselves to a body which should give this thing careful study.

It would seem, therefore, that some central authority—call it, perhaps, a Metropolitan Planning Board—should be permanently constituted, that this Board should first make a survey of the metropolitan district, together with a study of the population, of the commerce and industry of each locality, and the existing and future possibilities within the district. With this as a basis, and after consultation with the officials of the various communities interested, a series of comprehensive general plans which should embody the means and possibilities of development might be made. The study of commerce and industry and the recognition of the magnificent equipment of the metropolitan district with its libraries, technical schools and art museums, might well lay the foundations of the plans which would bring to this district the manufacture of those commodities whose chief value is in applied art and applied science, and the export of which to this country is enriching Germany and France. Such a study might suggest plans for co-ordinating and extending transportation facilities, the location of small playgrounds, reservation of lands for public buildings, the unification of building laws, the prevention of congestion, the reduction of fire hazards, and better methods of financing public improvements.

Such a Board might be empowered to examine and report upon all plans for improvements of metropolitan character contemplated by any existing public authority. The proposed Board might have the power to put before any local government the question of the execution of any metropolitan improvement that might lie within its borders. Unless such a local government should vote to undertake the improvement, nothing would be done and no money would be spent. If the local government votes in favor of such an improvement, it would be executed not by the proposed Board but by the local government itself according to the plans of the Board. To facilitate construction, it is proposed that the state shall finance the work, that the city or town in which the improvement may lie shall pay only 65 per cent of the total cost, the remaining cities and towns paying 25 per cent. This 25 per cent should be payable according to an apportionment by a special tribunal appointed by the Supreme Court, and the apportionment should be on the basis of the benefits, if any, to each city and town affected by the improvement, taking into account also its population and valuation. Finally, the state, which receives so large a proportion of its revenue from the metropolitan district, and is deeply interested in its growth and the increase of its taxable property, should pay a small proportion of the cost of metropolitan improvements, say 10 per cent. The above proportions would hold only for what the Board might designate as ordinary metropolitan improvements. In some cases it might not be just for the locality in which the improvement is situated to pay as much as 65 per cent, in which case the tribunal appointed by the Supreme Court would have the power to diminish this 65 per cent to such extent as in its judgment would be fair and just.

It has also been suggested that the commission should consider any matter important to the development of the metropolitan district, which might be proposed by any of the communities, investigate it, report and publish its findings with recommendations to the Legislature.

The commission has been advised that a Board of five members, three, including the chairman, appointed by the Governor, as representing the district, and two by the Mayor of Boston, might fairly represent the proportional benefits as between the suburban municipalities and the central city.

The theory of these suggestions is to enable the cities and towns of the district to make certain much needed improvements earlier and more easily than they now can.

Nothing has been finally settled in regard to a proposed bill, but the commission is making every effort to present a measure which shall be to the best advantage of the cities and towns of the district.

Criticism of these proposals and alternative suggestions which might be incorporated in legislation, are absolutely essential if the proposed measure is to be of real value.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

CLERK HIRE.

W. T. A. Fitzgerald, Register of Deeds, submitted a list in accordance with the provisions of section 33 of chapter 22 of the Revised Laws, certifying that certain persons had been employed in his office from November 20 to December 18, and that work had been performed to the amount of $3,102.85.

Referred to the Committee on County Accounts.

MINORS' LICENSES.

President COLLINS submitted reports on petitions for minors' licenses for four newsboys, three vendors and one bootblack—recommending that the same be granted.

Reports accepted; licenses granted on the usual conditions.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President COLLINS called up Nos. 1, 2 and 3, unfinished business, viz.:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor, November 27, viz.:

1. Nathaniel G. Robinson and Francis P. Aieta, to be Constables of the City of Boston for the term ending April 30, 1912.

2. John J. Barnes, Daniel P. Carney and John Thompson, to be Measurers of Grain and Inspectors of Pressed or Bundled Hay and Straw for the term ending April 30, 1912.

3. Joseph W. Cook, to be a Weigher of Coal, Measurer of Wood and Bark, Measurer of Grain, Inspector of Pressed or Bundled Hay and Straw, Weigher of Boilers and Heavy Machinery, and Weigher of Beef, for the term ending April 30, 1912.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Ballantyne and McDonald. Whole number of ballots cast 9, yeas 9, and the several appointments were confirmed.

President COLLINS called up No. 4, unfinished business, viz.:

4. Miss Etta Alpert and Mrs. Catherine Ford, to be Weighers of Coal; Arthur F. Langley, to be a Measurer of Grain and an Inspector of Pressed or Bundled Hay and Straw, and Eugene P. McDonald, to be a Weigher of Coal, Measurer of Wood and Bark, Measurer of Grain, Weigher of Boilers and Heavy Machinery and Weigher of Beef, for terms ending April 30, 1912.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Curley and Buckley. Whole number of ballots cast 9, yeas 8, nay 1, and the appointments were confirmed.

PLAYGROUND, WARD 2.

President COLLINS called up unfinished business, No. 5, viz.:

5. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners for playground accommodations in Ward 2.

On November 27 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 2.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

BRANCH LIBRARY, EAST BOSTON.

President COLLINS called up unfinished business, No. 6, viz.:

6. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Trustees of the Boston Public Library, for Branch Library, East Boston.

On November 27 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 2.

The question came on the second and final reading and passage of the order.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, in order that there may not be any misunderstanding as to my vote on these three matters, I will say that I am voting against them not because I do not believe in the objects themselves, but because I do not believe in the way they are being financed. I believe they should come out of loan and not out of the Reserve Fund.

The order was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING, WARD 7.

President COLLINS called up unfinished business, No. 7, viz.:

7. Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of ninety thousand dollars ($90,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings for Municipal Building, Ward 7.

On November 27 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 2.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 7, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

BATHING BEACH, FREEPORT STREET.

President COLLINS called up unfinished business, No. 8, viz.:

8. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of nine thousand dollars ($9,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund to an appropriation, to be expended under the direction of the Bath Trustees, for the purchase of shore property and the flats adjacent thereto on the northeast side of Freeport street, Dorchester, and the improvement thereof as a bathing beach.

On November 27 the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. HALE, for the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted a report recommending the passage of an order for the payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the City of Boston for the month of December.

Report accepted; order passed.

COMMITTEE ON CLAIMS.

Coun. BUCKLEY, for the Committee on Claims, submitted a report on petition of Edward F. Brennan (referred June 26), for compensation for expense incurred by him on account of his act as police officer—recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered, That there be allowed and paid to Edward F. Brennan the sum of one hundred dollars ($100) for expenses incurred by him in suit against him on account of his act as a police officer, said sum to be charged to the appropriation for Police Department.

Report accepted; order passed.

COMMITTEE ON FINANCE.

Coun. KENNY, for the Committee on Finance, submitted the following:

(1) Reports on various papers—that the same be placed on file, viz.:

Order (referred July 7) for loan of $297,800 for new buildings, etc., hospital, South Department.

Message and communication (referred June 13) relative to loan for hospital, South Department.

Message and communication (referred September 11) relative to improvements at hospital, South Department.

Message and estimate (referred November 13) of cost of new station, Division 6, South Boston.

Message and communication (referred October 30) relative to additional appropriation of $175,000 for Chelsea Bridge north.

Message and communication (referred May 31) for loan of $130,000 for additional buildings, Consumptives' Hospital.

Message and communication (referred October 2) relative to $50,000 for Children's Hospital.

Message and communication from Park square Trust (referred November 13) relative to Arlington street.

Communication from Hospital Department (referred last year) relative to $230,000 for improvements at hospital.

Message and communication (referred last year) relative to loan of $297,800 for new buildings and changes at hospital, South Department.

Message and communication (referred February 20) for new building for hospital, contagious department.

Message of Mayor (referred November 27) relative to extension of Arlington street and widening of Ferdinand street.

Communication from Superintendent of Public Buildings (referred November 13) as to cost of courthouse, Charlestown.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, might I ask when the committee took this action in regard to these matters?

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the Committee on Finance met the Friday following the last regular meeting of the Board and took that action.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, there is just one item there upon which I would like to get a little more information. I am not at all sure that I do not agree with the committee in regard to the improvement of the Charlestown courthouse, but I would like to have that message read.

The message in regard to the Charlestown courthouse was read.

Reports accepted; papers placed on file.

(2) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred October 30), that the sum of $20,000 additional be appropriated for municipal building, South Boston—that the order ought to pass.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I ask the chairman of the committee what the previous money came from—loan or appropriation?

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the first order was a loan for $120,000. The supplemental order was a transfer from a loan of $30,000.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman just how much this $20,000, if it passes, makes altogether for that purpose?

Coun. KENNY—$170,000, Mr. President.

The report was accepted, and the order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 9. The question of final reading and passage will come up in not less than two weeks.

(3) The Committee on Finance, to which was referred—October 30—message of Mayor and order for extension of Arlington street and widening of Ferdinand street, having considered the subject, respectfully reports that the order ought not to pass, without prejudice to the Arlington street extension; and further reports recommending the passage of the following:

Ordered,—

(1) That the Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to report to the City Council the estimated cost of extending Arlington street, from Boylston street to Columbus avenue, at a width of seventy feet, under the provisions of the 39th amendment of the state constitution, which amendment amends part 1, Article 10, of said state constitution.

(2) That the Street Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to report to the City Council the estimated cost of extending Arlington street, from Boylston street to Columbus avenue, at a width of 70 feet, under other provisions of law.

(3) That the Street Commissioners and his Honor the Mayor be requested to confer with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad officials relative to any offset and contribution by said railroad company with respect to the carrying out of the project herein contemplated, under provisions 1 and 2 above, and report to the City Council in a further message accordingly.

The report was accepted.

Coun. HALE offered the following:

Ordered, That the order be amended by adding the following:

"That the Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to ascertain and report to the Council the cost of widening Ferdinand street, from Columbus avenue to Castle square, under the 39th amendment to the state Constitution.

"First—Eighteen feet.
"Second—Thirty feet."

Coun. CURLEY—I would respectfully move that the amendment as submitted by Coun. Hale lie on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was defeated by a rising vote, 3 to 5, and the question came on the amendment offered by Coun. Hale.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, it is rather amusing to sit here and listen to the member on the opposite side of the Chamber disposing as lightly as he does of the serious and sound objections that have been advanced by taxpayers against this proposition. Personally I can perhaps see no great danger that would result in consequence of the adoption of this amendment, other than that, as I pointed out, it might be construed as an expression of opinion of the Committee on Finance, who have carefully considered this subject, if adopted as an amendment to their report. I still adhere to that belief, despite the fact that the committee's report specifically states that the entire proposition is rejected without prejudice to the Arlington street extension, and of course the fact that no mention is made of Ferdinand street is the best indication in the world of the seriousness of the consideration accorded that as a proposition deserving of consideration by the Committee on Finance. I do not believe that any member of this Council is justified in permitting the impression to go forth that the persons appearing in opposition to this proposition consist solely of a paid attorney, as the councilor on the other side of the Chamber has said, and an agent for automobile supplies. A very illuminating article with reference to the entire proposition appeared in Saturday's edition of the Boston Globe from one who has been considered an authority on the subject of taxation and on the subject of city planning and development. While I seldom agree with the gentleman I confess that I am compelled to admire his views upon this particular proposition. The gentleman in question was a former mayor of Boston, the Hon. Nathan Matthews, Jr., and Mr. Matthews says in regard to this particular matter:

"Is it not time for some taxpayer of this city"—and I read this, Mr. President, for the benefit of Coun. Smith who I trust will give his attention to this particular statement of Mr. Matthews—

President COLLINS—If there is no objection at this time, the records offered by Coun. Curley, namely, the stenographic report of the public hearing by the Committee on Finance, December 12, on the extension of Arlington street and the widening of Ferdinand street, will be incorporated in the minutes of the City Council. Is there any objection?

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I should like to object to that. It has already been published once.

President COLLINS—Coun. Smith objects to having the report submitted and printed as a part of the minutes of the body.

Coun. CURLEY began with the statement of Arthur D. Hill, Esq., which appears with the rest of the report of the hearing referred to later in the Proceedings, and after he had read a while Coun. HALE said:

Mr. President, I would like to move that the balance of the report be extended on the records, with the unanimous consent of the Council.

President COLLINS—The same question is before the Council as before—namely, whether there is unanimous consent. If there is any objection on the part of any member of the Council the report cannot be included in the Proceedings. Is there any objection?

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Do I understand that this applies to what is to follow in the record?

President COLLINS—Is there any objection to what is to follow?

Coun. SMITH—I object, Mr. President. President COLLINS—Mr. Smith objecting, what has not been read cannot be included in the minutes.

Coun. CURLEY proceeded with the reading, and Coun. HALE presently said:

Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent of the Council that this be extended on the records.

President COLLINS—Is there objection?

Coun. SMITH—I object, Mr. President.

President COLLINS—Coun. Smith objects, and the same is excluded.

Coun. CURLEY proceeded with reading of the report, and Coun. HALE presently said:

Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. I don't think that any discussion of the merits of this question is in order. I would like to make that point of order. We are trying to find out what the cost of this improvement would be, and I don't see how any of this is relevant.

President COLLINS—Anything in those records bearing upon Ferdinand street, as to the prospective cost, and anything further in regard to Ferdinand street which would lead the City Council to go into the question of ascertaining the cost, is germane to the question.

Coun. HALE—It does not seem to me, Mr. President, that all that the councilor has been reading is germane.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that part of it is and part of it is not.

Coun. HALE—Well, Mr. Chairman, I object to the next three pages.

President COLLINS—The Chair would have to understand what the next three pages are.

Coun. CURLEY continued reading from the report.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, all this is irrelevant.

President COLLINS—The Chair rules that the greater part of it is.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I was about to say that I believe I have the floor.

Coun. CURLEY continued reading, and presently Coun. SMITH said:

Mr. President, will the gentleman yield?

Coun. CURLEY—No. Mr. President, I refuse to yield.

Coun. Curley continued reading from the report.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I simply wish to mention that in my opinion he is skipping parts of the report. (Laughter.)

President COLLINS—The Chair cannot take judicial notice of that, because he has not the manuscript before him. The Chair would state, however, that the question is on Ferdinand street and not on Arlington street.

Coun. CURLEY—Mr. President, I appreciate that.

Coun. CURLEY continued reading from the report, and presently said:

Then, Mr. President, come a number of questions of Coun. Smith that are not germane. (Laughter.) (Continuing reading.)

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, I move that all this record, including the parts omitted, be published as a part of the records of this meeting.

President COLLINS—There being no objection, the same are incorporated in the minutes of the Council. They will be considered offered and will be included in the minutes, with unanimous consent.

Coun. CURLEY—I thank you.

There being no objection, the entire report of the hearing of December 12 by the Committee on Finance on the extension of Arlington street and the widening of Ferdinand street was included in the minutes of this meeting.

Coun. HALE'S order, offered as an amendment just after the presentation of the report, earlier in the session, was adopted, and the question came on the passage of the orders reported by the committee, as so amended.

Coun. BUCKLEY—Mr. President, I move to further amend the report of the Committee on Finance by striking out the words "without prejudice to the Arlington street extension" and everything thereafter in the report.

The CLERK—The Clerk would say that the report of the committee would then read that the Committee on Finance, having considered the subject, would respectfully report that the order ought not to pass.

Coun. BUCKLEY'S amendment was declared lost. Coun. BUCKLEY doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays. The amendment was rejected, yeas 1, nays 8, Coun. BUCKLEY voting yeas.

The orders reported by the committee, as amended by the order offered by Coun. Hale, were passed.

The order for a loan of $520,000 for the extension of Arlington street and widening of Ferdinand street (referred October 30) was rejected, yeas 0, nays 9.

BRANCH LIBRARY, WARD 25.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Committee on Branch Libraries, submitted a report on order (referred June 20), for loan of $25,000 for site and construction of branch library, Ward 25—recommending reference to Trustees of Public Library for report and recommendation.

Report accepted; said reference ordered.

DISCONTINUANCE OF WAY STREET SCHOOL.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the School Committee be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council if anything has been done concerning the discontinuance of the Way Street School.

Passed.

FOOTBRIDGE, DALTON STREET.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council as to what work has been done in the matter of building of footbridge on Dalton street bonds having been issued for said work in January, 1910.

Passed.

PAYMENT OF WAGES TO FIREMEN.

Coun. BUCKLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the City Treasurer to pay all firemen and policemen their wages on the Saturday preceding Christmas.

Passed.

KEEPING OF GARBAGE.

Coun. SMITH presented a petition signed by P. Robert Greene and very many others asking that an ordinance be enacted to provide that refuse should not be piled above the rim of the barrel containing it, and that the barrel shall be at all times covered with a suitable cover.

In connection with the petition Coun. SMITH offered an order—That section 1 of chapter 9 of the Ordinances of 1910, as amended by chapter 1 of the Ordinances of 1911, is hereby further amended by adding a new section, viz.:

"Section 3. All swill and garbage, from all sources, or refuse containing the same, shall be kept in covered receptacles at all times."

President COLLINS—The order and the petitions will be referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

CROSSWALK, WARD 16.

Coun. BALLANTYNE presented a petition signed by C. F. Horison and many others asking for crosswalk on Judson street.

In connection with the above Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to construct a crosswalk at the junction of Judson and Julian streets, Ward 16.

Passed.

CITY CLOCK, DUDLEY SQUARE.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the advisability of maintaining a city clock in the vicinity of Dudley square, Roxbury.

The order was passed.

NOTICE OF CITY ELECTION.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the City Clerk be directed to give notice, by advertising the same as required by law, that meetings of the male citizens of this city, qualified to vote for city officers, will be held in the several polling places designated for the purpose by the Board of Election Commissioners, on Tuesday, the ninth day of January, 1912, to give in their votes for three members of the City Council and for two members of the School Committee, and also to give in their votes "Yes" or "No" in answer to the following question: "Shall licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this city?"

The City Clerk is also directed to give notice, as aforesaid, that meetings of the female citizens of this city, qualified to vote for School Committee of the City of Boston, will be held on the same day and in the same places, to give in their votes for two members of the School Committee.

The polls at said meetings will be opened at six o'clock a. m., and closed at four o'clock p. m.

Passed.

RAILWAY SHELTER, WEST ROXBURY.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the Boston Elevated Railway Company be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to cause a shelter to be erected, for the protection of its patrons, at the junction of Grove, Centre and Spring streets, West Roxbury.

Passed.

COST OF SHAWMUT AVENUE EXTENSION.

Coun. BALLANTYNE offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to furnish the City Council with an estimate of the cost of extending Shawmut avenue to Washington street, Roxbury.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

WARD 19 PLAYGROUND LOAN.

Coun. SMITH offered a resolution—That the wording of the loan authorizing $60,000 bonds to be issued for playground "in Ward 19" be changed to read "for Parker Hill and Mission Church District."

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, simply an explanation of this. This order is asked for as the other one that passed some time ago was asked for. It seems to me, in light of the facts which have come to our attention recently, that we should change the wording of this loan so as to insure that the Parker Hill district and Mission Church district which originally secured this $60,000 shall secure the benefit of it now. I would like to ask unanimous consent to withdraw that order, at present, in order to revise it.

The order was withdrawn.

Later in the session Coun. SMITH offered the following:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the City Council the wording of the loan authorizing $60,000 bonds to be issued for playground "in Ward 19" should be changed to read "for Parker Hill and Mission Church District."

Coun. McDONALD's motion to lay the resolution on the table was declared lost. Coun. McDONALD doubted the vote and asked for a rising vote. The Council stood divided, and the motion was lost, 1 to 3.

The resolution was adopted.

RENT OF MARKET CELLARS.

Coun. McDONALD presented the following petition:

Boston, Mass., Dec., 18, 1911.

The Honorable the Mayor and the City Council of the City of Boston:

The undersigned respectfully represent that they petitioned the City Council for repayment of the sums required of them by the Street Commissioners for use of sidewalks in front of their cellars in New Faneuil Hall Market, because payment for this use had been included in the rents named in their leases, and the City Council passed an order requesting the Street Commissioners "to consider the advisability or inadvisability of making a nominal charge for the use of space on sidewalks in the market district." The Street Commissioners have taken no action in the matter because, we are informed, they believe, that inasmuch as the statute requires that a charge be made for such use, they cannot of themselves, and cannot be authorized to, make other than the proper charge.

Your petitioners therefore respectfully ask the city to reduce their rents so that each petitioner at the end of his lease will have paid only once for this sidewalk use.

C. S. DAY & CO. ET AL.

The petition was declared referred to the Committee on Claims.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I was about to make a motion that it be referred to the Executive Committee to give a hearing.

President COLLINS—If there is no objection, the reference is withdrawn.

President COLLINS—Objection being made, the reference stands.

Reference to the Committee on Claims was reconsidered and on motion of Coun. McDONALD the petition was referred to the Executive Committee.

SUSPENSION OF SIDEWALK LAYING.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to suspend action on an order passed by the City Council and approved by the Acting Mayor, August 4, 1911, providing for the laying of granolithic sidewalks on both sides of Minot street, between Neponset avenue and Adams street, Dorchester, until notice is sent to all the abutters on said Minot street and until said abutters have a chance to be heard by the City Council.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

BUILDING OF ARTIFICIAL SIDEWALKS.

Coun. HALE offered an order—That no lien order providing for the construction of sidewalks or edgestones be passed by the City Council, unless the petition for such sidewalks or edgestones is signed by the majority of abutters on the street named in the petition; or until notice is sent by the City Council to the abutters on said street and said abutters are given a chance to be heard by the City Council.

Passed.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 5.19 p. m., on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by the President at 6.45 p. m.

COUNTY ACCOUNTS.

Coun. CURLEY, for the Committee on County Accounts, submitted a report on pay roll of Registry of Deeds (referred to-day), from November 20, to December 18, amounting to $3,102.85—approving of same.

Report accepted; approved and ordered paid.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. ATTRIDGE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

(1) Report on petition of David Ferrier (referred to-day), for permit for child under fifteen years of age to appear at Odd Fellows Hall on January 1, 1912—that a permit be granted.

Report accepted; permit granted on the usual conditions.

(2) Report on communication from Forest Hills Citizens' Improvement Association (referred October 30), for playground at Forest Hills—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; paper placed on file.

(3) Report on message and order (referred to-day), transferring $15,000 for Playground, Ward 25—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted.

Coun. SMITH—Mr. President, may I ask to have that read again?

The report and order were re-read.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, on this and all these other transfers for playgrounds I am going to vote "no" for the same reason that I voted no on the earlier transfers, because, although I am in favor of the improvements, I am against the method of financing them. For the benefit of Coun. McDONALD, I shall not go at length into my reasons. (Laughter.)

The order was passed, yeas 6, nays, 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

President COLLINS—The order will take its second and final reading and passage not less than two weeks from to-day.

(4) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred October 30), for transfer of $20,000 for shelter and boat landing at Jamaica Pond—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

President COLLINS—Since this order does not contemplate the purchase of any property, the order has taken its first and final reading and passage.

(5) Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred to-day), for transfer of $24,000 for bathhouse at Dewey Beach—that the order ought to pass.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and passage of the order.

The report was accepted and the order passed, yeas 6, nays 2.

President COLLINS—This is the first and final reading and passage of the order.

(6) Report on order (referred to-day) that the Street Commissioners submit an estimate of cost of extending Shawmut avenue to Washington street, Roxbury—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

(7) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred to-day) that the Art Commission be authorized to expend not more than $250 for memorial tablet on home of the late George Francis Parkman—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

(8) Report on order (referred to-day) that no sidewalks or edgestones be laid unless with consent of the majority of the abutters—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

(9) Report on order (referred to-day) to suspend laying of granolithic sidewalks on both sides of Minot street, Dorchester, until the abutters are heard—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

(10) Report on message of Mayor and order (referred to-day) transferring $3,000 for appropriation for automobile ambulances—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

(11) Report on message and order (referred to-day) for transfer of $9,000 to special appropriation for Dorchester North Burial Ground—that the order ought to pass.

(15) Report on message and order (referred October 9) transferring $25,000 for playground in Ward 23—that the order ought to pass.

The question came on accepting the report and passing the order.

The report was accepted, and the order was given its first reading, yeas 6, nays 2, Coun. HALE and SMITH voting nay.

President COLLINS—The order will take its second reading and passage not less than two weeks from to-day.

(16) Report on message and order (referred to-day), that the Fire Commissioner be authorized to sell to the highest bidder three unused fire-alarm bells—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

(17) Report on message and communication (referred October 30) relative to violation of eight-hour law in Fire Department—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; papers placed on file.

APPROPRIATION FOR SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

President COLLINS offered an order—That in addition to the amount heretofore allowed for clerical assistance in the office of the Clerk of the Supreme Judicial Court the said clerk be authorized to expend the further sum of $750 for the year 1911-1912; said sum to be charged to the appropriation for Supreme Judicial Court.

Passed; yeas 8, nays 0.

FIRE HOUSE, PARKER HILL.

Coun. McDONALD offered an order—That the Fire Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to furnish the City Council with information as to the disposition of the sum appropriated for house and apparatus on Parker Hill.

The order was passed.

REPAVING OF CHARLES STREET.

Coun. SMITH offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to repave in permanent manner Charles street from Beacon street to Cambridge street.

The order was passed.

THE NEXT MEETING.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I move that when the Council adjourns it be to meet two weeks from to-day at three o'clock.

Coun. McDONALD—Mr. President, I amend the motion, that we adjourn to meet a week from next Friday at three o'clock. A week from to-day is Christmas and two weeks from to-day New Year's Day, and some of us are going away for New Year's Day. Friday will be only two days earlier. I make that as an amendment.

Coun. McDONALD's amendment prevailed, and the Council voted that when it adjourned it would be to meet on Friday, December 29, at three p.m.

Coun. HALE—Mr. President, in view of that action I would like to move that the time for the hearing upon the Brighton Playground be changed from two o'clock, two weeks from to-day, to two o'clock a week from Friday.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, I think that is a very fair and proper suggestion.

President COLLINS—The Chair would state that that motion made by Coun. Hale is a matter properly within the province of the Executive Committee. Of course, by unanimous consent, that motion may be made here. Is there any objection?

There being no objection, it was voted that the hearing on the Brighton Playground be on Friday, December 29, at two o'clock p. m.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. BALLANTYNE moved a general reconsideration. Lost.

Adjourned at 7.07 p. m., on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, to meet on Friday, December 29, at two o'clock p. m.

OLD AGE PENSIONS IN GERMANY.

Old age pensions, accident and sickness pensions and other provisions for wage-earners grow apace in Germany. In 1909, out of a population of about 64,000,000, nearly 10,000,000 of men and nearly 3,500,000 women were insured against sickness; nearly 15,000,000 men and 9,000,000 women against accident. Disability insurance embraced about $98,000,000 in premiums, employees about $81,000,000, and state contributions were more than $12,000,000. It is expected that premiums for this year will reach $250,000,000, with another $100,000,000 on top of it for the insurance of public and private servants.

PROCEEDINGS OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Dec. 18, 1911.

A regular meeting of the School Committee of the City of Boston was held in the School Committee Chamber, Mason-street Building, at 5.10 o'clock P. M., the Chairman presiding.

Present: Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Ellis, Lee and Leen.

APPROVAL OF RECORDS.

The reading of the records of the last meeting was omitted, the Board approving them as printed.

APPOINTMENTS OF TEACHERS.

The Chairman stated the question was on approving the appointments of teachers, as reported by the Superintendent and laid over at the last meeting.

The appointments were approved.

WITHDRAWAL OF AN APPOINTMENT.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of Dec. 18, 1911, withdrawing the appointment of Helen E. Moar, assistant kindergarten, Elihu Greenwood District, to take effect Jan. 1, 1912, since she has already resigned her position in Hyde Park.

Placed on file, and the appointment withdrawn.

WITHDRAWAL AND RENEWAL OF APPOINTMENTS.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of December 18, 1911, stating that at the time that Jenny W. Cronin and Nellie F. Sheehan were appointed respectively in the Emerson and Abraham Lincoln Districts, credit for previous service was not allowed in accordance with the regulations of the Board and precedents affecting such cases, and therefore he desires to withdraw the original appointments and to substitute in place thereof the following:—

Jenny W. Cronin, assistant, Emerson District, fourth year, Oct. 17, 1911.

Nellie F. Sheehan, assistant, Abraham Lincoln District, second year, Dec. 5, 1911.

Placed on file, the original appointments withdrawn, and the new appointments approved.

VETO OF SALARIES OF HORACE L. BRITTAIN AND OF B. HAROLD HAMBLIN.

The following communication was received:—

CITY OF BOSTON.
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

Dec. 15, 1911.

Boston School Committee,
Mason street,
Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:—

I have received a number of orders from your committee, transferring certain teachers in the Hyde Park schools to the Boston school system, and in most cases placing them upon a salary which is in advance of that which they now receive. In every instance but two the advance is so moderate that I have not hesitated to sign the orders. These two, however, seem to me to merit especial consideration.

I am informed that the four elementary school districts in Hyde Park will be combined into two districts of medium size when the consolidation with the Boston school system is effected. The four former principals will be made sub-masters, a Boston sub-master will be transferred to the principalship of one of the new districts, and the former superintendent of schools of Hyde Park will be made principal of the other. This means a substantial increase in the cost of supervision. As the entire attendance at all of the Hyde Park schools is hardly greater than that in some of the largest grammar school districts of Boston there is no reason why the duties of supervision cannot be performed by the superintendent and assistant superintendents at Mason street. The transfer of a sub-master from the Boston schools and the retention of the former superintendent in Hyde Park involves an additional, and, as I believe, an unnecessary expenditure of between five and six thousand dollars.

In the case of Mr. Horace L. Brittain a peculiar question has arisen. Mr. Brittain, I am informed, is not yet a naturalized citizen, although he apparently intends to become one. I question the wisdom of appointing an alien as principal of a school district in the city of Boston.

The case of Mr. B. Harold Hamblin, assistant in music, whose salary is established at the rate of $1800 a year, has also given rise to some question in my mind. Mr. Hamblin, according to the latest report of the School Department of Hyde Park, was receiving $700 a year, and I am informed gave two days service per week for this compensation. He is now to give his whole time and to receive an increase of salary in proportion to the addition to his duties. I am not convinced of the wisdom of this arrangement and return, therefore, the order establishing the salary of Mr. B. Harold Hamblin and that establishing the salary of Mr. Horace L. Brittain to your committee without my signature.

Yours very truly,
John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor.

Accompanying the foregoing communication were the orders referred to therein, namely:—

ORDERED, That beginning Jan. 1, 1912, Horace L. Brittain, principal of the Elihu Greenwood District, be placed on the third year of the salary schedule for principals of elementary school districts, namely twenty-eight hundred twenty dollars ($2820) per annum, and that he be advanced thereafter upon the anniversary of his appointment as a principal of a Boston elementary school district in accordance with the regular salary schedule.

ORDERED, That the salary of B. Harold Hamblin, assistant in music, is hereby established at the rate of eighteen hundred dollars ($1800) per year for the school year 1911-1912.

Laid on the table.

Subsequently, the foregoing communication was taken from the table and placed on file. The Chairman stated the question was on the passage of the two orders accompanying the aforesaid communication, notwithstanding the objections of His Honor the Mayor.

The orders were passed by the following vote:—

Yeas—Messrs. Brock, Corcoran, Ellis, Lee and Leen—5.

Nays—0.

The Secretary was directed to transmit the following communication to His Honor the Mayor in explanation of the foregoing action:—

Your Honor's message presents three points: First, that some money can be saved by combining the five elementary schools of Hyde Park into one school district instead of two. Second, that Mr. Brittain ought not to be appointed master of one of the school districts of which he was formerly superintendent, because he is not yet a fully naturalized citizen of the United States. Third, that Mr. Hamblin ought not to be transferred to the music department of the schools of Boston and paid a salary of $1800 per annum.

The School Committee views the situation as follows: First, that some money could doubtless be saved by combining the five elementary school districts of Hyde Park into one district. Many of the school districts in the more congested sections of the city of Boston have a larger number of children attending them than either or both of the new Hyde Park districts. This, however, which is due to the fact that so many people live in a small area in our crowded city blocks, the School Committee regards as an unfortunate necessity, and not as an example for imitation. Many of the suburban districts, on the other hand, are no larger than either of the two new Hyde Park districts will be, and this appears to the School Committee to be a highly desirable circumstance, both for general educational reasons, and because outlying school districts are likely to cover large areas; nor can the lack of an intimate supervision and administration which should be exercised by the master of a school district be met by the type of supervision which is necessarily practiced by the Superintendent and Assistant Superintendents of schools.

The School Committee feels, therefore, that while some money can be saved by the combination of the five elementary school districts of Hyde Park into one school district instead of two school districts as has been planned, the saving would be made to the educational detriment of the children, and to the serious disadvantage of the parents of the children.

Second, while Mr. Brittain has not yet become a fully naturalized citizen of the United States, that is not due to any fault of his. He has proceeded to qualify himself for citizenship as rapidly as the laws of the United States permit, and will, within a very short time, upon compliance with certain technical requisites, become a full citizen of this country. The School Committee, therefore, does not deem it proper to refuse to appoint as master a man who has rendered excellent service as principal superintendent of schools, and who is fully qualified to fill the place of master with credit.

Third, Mr. Hamblin teaches two days a week in Hyde Park, and receives $700 a year for his services. He also teaches in two other towns and from all three sources receives a salary of $1700 a year. There are two vacancies in the music department of the Boston schools, and there is no one on the eligible list of candidates for these places. The director of music, Mr. McLaughlin, warmly recommends Mr. Hamblin for this place, and the School Committee, on the recommendation of the Superintendent and of Mr. McLaughlin, has employed Mr. Hamblin to give his entire time to the music department, not only of Hyde Park but of all the Boston schools, and to pay him therefor a salary of $1800 a year, which is considerably less than is called for by the salary schedule for men in the music department of the Boston schools.

All the members of the Committee agree in passing the orders in question, notwithstanding Your Honor's veto, and in the reasons above set forth. A majority of the Committee also wish to add that the reasons for the action of the Committee have been stated at some length, not because they believe that Your Honor has any legal rights whatsoever in such matters as the determination of school districts, or the qualifications of masters of schools or of other teachers, but because they felt that they should treat any communication received from Your Honor with the respect due to the high office of Mayor of Boston.

PREVENTION OF STREET ACCIDENTS TO CHILDREN.

The following communication was received:—

CITY OF BOSTON.
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

Dec. 12, 1911.

School Committee,
Mason street,
Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:—

The Boston Elevated Railway Company has requested me to enlist the interest of the school authorities in the competition which it has opened for verses in rhyme on the subject of the prevention of accidents on the street cars. It has inserted an advertisement offering prizes for the best compositions in verse on this subject in the daily papers, and will hold its offer open until Jan. 1, 1912. As there can be no commercial motive in this competition it seems to me to be something quite out of the ordinary and to deserve the attention of the School Committee.

Hardly any item, in the day's record is sadder than the too frequent recurring note which informs the public that some loved child of tender years was taken from its parents or maimed perhaps for life by falling under the wheels of an electric car. To disseminate among the children a knowledge of the danger from this source and to impress upon them the need of caution is a work which justifies the naive, but I think effective, method adopted by the Railway Company of securing attention to the subject.

I should be pleased to learn that the School Committee will assist the company and by circulating throughout the classes the terms of its prize offer awaken an interest in the question which will extend far beyond the small number of pupils who may be expected to respond by submitting verses.

Awaiting your views on this subject, I remain,

Yours very truly,
John F. Fitzgerald,
Mayor.

Placed on file, and the Secretary directed to inform His Honor the Mayor that while the Board is in sympathy with the object of the proposed competition, it would be contrary to its established policy to allow it to interfere with the regular school work of the pupils. It has no objection, however, to the principals of schools and districts calling the attention of their pupils to the contest, with the distinct understanding that they shall not engage in it during school hours. Further, that a statement of the action already taken by this Board and its officers in the direction of preventing street accidents to children be transmitted to His Honor the Mayor.

ADMISSION OF OBSERVATION AND PRACTICE TEACHERS TO TRADE SCHOOLS FOR GIRLS.

A communication was received from the State Board of Education, under date of Dec. 12, 1911, stating that at a recent meeting of that Board the following resolution was passed:—

VOTED: That the Board of Education approve the plan for the training in observation and practice teaching of prospective teachers of work in girls' trade schools as outlined in an order passed by the Boston School Committee on Nov. 6, 1911.

Placed on file.

EXTENSION OF SALESMANSHIP COURSE, CONTINUATION SCHOOLS.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the Course in Salesmanship in the Continuation Schools may be extended as many weeks during the school year 1911-12 as the Superintendent may deem expedient.

TEMPORARY CLERICAL ASSISTANT, BOSTON INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR BOYS.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That a temporary clerical assistant in the Boston Industrial School for Boys, instead of a clerical assistant, is hereby authorized.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of Dec. 18, 1911, stating that, subject to the approval of the Board and with the approval of the Civil Service Commission, he had appointed Helen M. MacDonald, temporary clerical assistant in the Boston Industrial School for Boys, such portion of her time as may not be required in said school to be devoted to the work of the office of the Superintendent, to take effect Jan. 1, 1912.

Placed on file, and the appointment approved.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the salary of Helen M. MacDonald, temporary clerical assistant in the Boston Industrial School for Boys, is hereby established at the rate of six hundred dollars ($600) per year.

COMPENSATION OF MEN ASSISTANTS IN PLAYGROUNDS.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the salary of men assistants in playgrounds is hereby established for the school year 1911-12 as follows: one session, seventy-five (75) cents; two sessions, one dollar and twenty-five cents ($1.25); from close of school until 5.30 o'clock, sixty (60) cents.

ESTABLISHMENT OF A NEW SCHOOL, UPPER GRADES, IN THE DWIGHT DISTRICT.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of Dec. 18, 1911, to whom was referred at the meeting of Nov. 6, 1911 (see p. 141), an order from the City Council with reference to the desirability of establishing an elementary school, upper grades, in the Dwight District, reporting that the upper grades in the Dwight school are satisfactorily accommodated in the present building, and owing to the fact that the number of pupils in that district has decreased this year, it seems desirable to delay enlarging the present accommodations until it has been determined whether this decrease will continue.

Placed on file, and a copy thereof ordered to be sent to the City Council through His Honor the Mayor.

SALARY OF SPECIAL ASSISTANTS, INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENTS IN HIGH SCHOOLS.

On motion of the Superintendent, it was ORDERED, That the salary of special assistants, industrial departments in high schools, is hereby established as follows for the school year 1911-12:—

AMENDMENT TO RULES AND REGULATIONS.

The Superintendent offered the following:—

ORDERED, That the regulations be amended as follows:—

Section 291, Paragraph 10. Add the following new clause:—In the Dorchester High School one special assistant in the industrial department.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Dec. 11, 1911, recommending an amendment to section 138, paragraph XXIV. of the rules, with reference to the issue of licenses to serve in the day industrial schools.

Placed on file.

The following was offered:—

ORDERED, That the rules be amended as follows:—

Section 138, par. XXIV. Strike out the provision for the issue of licenses to serve as aids in the day industrial schools to persons who satisfactorily complete the course of study in said schools, so that the paragraph will read as follows:—

XXIV. The Board of Superintendents may issue licenses to teach industrial or related subjects in day industrial schools to persons who present satisfactory evidence of possessing good character and health, and who, upon investigation, shall be found to have had three years' satisfactory experience in the practical pursuit of the industry the candidate is to teach, or one year's successful experience in teaching such subject to classes. Licenses shall expire on the thirty-first day of August of the sixth year following the date of issue and shall not be extended or renewed.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

The following was offered:—

ORDERED, That the regulations be amended as follows:—

Section 346. Strike out paragraph 1 and substitute in place thereof the following:—

Sec. 346. 1. Two promotional examinations shall be held each year, one in December and one in May, for the purpose of determining the efficiency of teachers in the service. These examinations shall consist of three parts: (1) success in the school during the preceding year; (2) professional study; and (3) academic study in some one line. The completion of a college course or courses approved by the Board of Superintendents, or of a course or courses authorized by and conducted under the direction of the Board of Superintendents, may be accepted by said Board at its discretion as a substitute for the second part of the professional examination, or for the academic part of the examination—or for both.

Section 347. Strike out the paragraph and substitute in place thereof the following:—

Sec. 347. 1. All teachers who are receiving the sixth year salary of their respective schedules shall be examined by the board of superintendents before being placed upon the seventh year salary of their respective schedules. This examination shall consist of three parts: (1) success in the school during the preceding year; (2) professional study; (3) academic study in some one line. The completion of a college course or courses approved by the board of superintendents, or of a course or courses authorized by and conducted under the direction of the board of superintendents, may be accepted by said Board at its discretion as a substitute for the second part of the professional examination, or for the academic part of the examination.—or for both.

Passed, under a suspension of the rules.

COURSE OF STUDY FOR THE BOSTON INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR BOYS.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Dec. 11, 1911, submitting a revise of the original course of study for the Boston Industrial School for Boys, in compliance with the action at the meeting of Dec. 4, 1911, (see p. 173) recommitting to that Board the proposed course of study, with instructions that it be made primarily a course of two years in length, and that further extensions of the course be left to be developed in the light of subsequent experience.

Placed on file, and the accompanying course of study adopted.

OBJECTIONS TO PROPOSED LOCATION OF HIGH SCHOOL OF COMMERCE IN THE BACK BAY FENS.

A communication was received from Hon. Nathan Matthews, under date of Dec. 12, 1911, on behalf of various persons owning property on the Back Bay Fens, objecting to the erection of the High School of Commerce within the limits of the Fenway as a violation of their legal rights under the State and Federal Constitutions, also on behalf of various taxable inhabitants of the city that the use of said park and the expenditure of money for such a purpose are illegal under the constitution and statutes of the Commonwealth, and that if the said construction is persisted in, application will be made to the courts for an injunction.

Placed on file.

ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATION REQUESTED FOR SCHOOL NURSES.

A communication was received from the Director of School Hygiene, under date of Dec. 12, 1911, calling attention to the need of an extra appropriation for the Nursing Department, and recommending that a special appropriation of $10,000 be transferred to that department for the year 1912.

Referred to the Business Agent for consideration in connection with the preparation of the annual appropriation order for the ensuing financial year.

TUNING AND CARE OF PIANOS IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

A communication was received from Elwyn H. Fowler, Manager Tuning Department of the Perkins Institution and Massachusetts School for the Blind, under date of Dec. 15, 1911, setting forth the facts with regard to the tuning and incidental care of the pianos of the public schools of Boston, for a period of about thirty-five years, during which time there has been a very large increase in the number of pianos thus cared for while the compensation allowed therefor has remained the same as in 1896, and for some time previous to that date, namely $1320 a year. Also that the privilege of caring for these pianos is highly valued aside from the money compensation, as it increases the confidence in which tuners from that institution are held not only in Boston but throughout the country, and is a great help to them in obtaining employment. The institution is, therefore, desirous of continuing the work whether increased compensation is granted or not.

Referred to the Business Agent for consideration and report.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE, TRADE SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

The communication from Anna F. Wellington, Secretary of the Advisory Council of the Trade School for Girls, received at the meeting of Dec. 4, 1911 (see p. 172), requesting the Board to inform the Council of any action on their part relating to the duties of Advisory Committees or to the welfare of the school, was taken from the table and placed on file, the Secretary reporting that he had arranged to furnish said committee with the desired information regularly.

RESIGNATION OF CHIEF TRUANT OFFICER.

A communication was received from George Murphy, Chief Truant Officer, under date of Nov. 20, 1911, requesting a year's leave of absence on three-fourths pay from Feb. 1, 1912, to Feb. 1, 1913, his resignation to take effect on the latter date. Also a further communication, under date of Nov. 28, 1911, stating his desire to withdraw his resignation as Chief Truant Officer.

Placed on file, and the Secretary directed to ascertain from the Corporation Counsel whether the Board has authority to refuse to allow Mr. Murphy to withdraw his resignation.

METHODS FOR DEALING WITH CASES OF MENTALLY DEFICIENT CHILDREN.

On motion, Messrs. Lee and Leen were appointed a special committee to consider and report upon the appointment of a committee to consider methods for dealing with the cases of mentally deficient children who may be attending the public schools.

APPOINTMENT AND DIRECTION OF SCHOOL PHYSICIANS.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Secretary be directed to prepare and submit a bill to provide appropriate legislation to extend the authority of the School Committee to include the appointment and direction of school physicians, and to authorize the School Committee to make a sufficient appropriation to cover this additional expense.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Board adjourned at 7 o'clock P.M.
Attest:—

THORNTON D. APOLLONIO,
Secretary.

THE HAZARDS OF OUR ROADS AND STREETS.

Col. William D. Sohler of the Massachusetts Highway Commission deserves the credit of making the first thorough investigation of the hazards attending the use of our roads and streets. Anybody who attempts to cross Fifth avenue in New York about four o'clock in the afternoon appreciates the propriety of the word "hazard" in this connection; with automobiles rushing by in both directions the crossing of that thoroughfare is as dangerous as the passage between Scylla and Charybdis. The few such motor car maelstroms in this country have given very bad reputations to automobiles as sources of danger, and the sensational newspaper reports of every automobile accident have enhanced this bad reputation. Consequently Colonel Sohler's figures, proving that in Massachusetts, at least, the automobile is by no means the main cause of accidents on our streets and roads, are as surprising as they are instructive to those intrusted with the care of our public works.

The statistics to which reference is made were given in much detail in a paper which Colonel Sohler read before the First American Road Congress in Richmond last month. His commission was able to learn of 1,182 accidents in Massachusetts in 1910, of which 960 occurred in city streets; in other words, there were four accidents in the city to every one in the country. The causes of the accidents in the cities are indicated by the report of the Boston Police Commissioner for the year ending November 30, 1910, in which it is stated that in the streets, parks and squares of Boston 94 people were killed, of whom 50 were killed by traffic, and 2,025 were injured, of whom 1,022 were injured by traffic. Of the deaths due to traffic, 30 per cent were caused by horse-drawn vehicles, 44 per cent by trolley cars and 26 per cent by automobiles. Of the injured people, 37½ per cent were hurt by trolley cars, 35 per cent by horse-drawn vehicles and 27½ per cent by automobiles. These official statistics show that in the City of Boston, where the streets are overcrowded on many occasions, and the automobile with its high inertia is most likely to cause accidents, it is actually less dangerous than trolley cars or horse-drawn vehicles and, as a matter of fact, actually causes fewer accidents than the very old source of trouble, falling down on the streets. There were 23 deaths and 777 injuries due to falls during the year in question, a fact that should be kept in mind when denouncing the automobile as the pre-eminently conspicuous cause of injury on our roadways.

Such figures are open to criticism, however, on the ground that it is not the actual number of deaths or injuries which should be considered in judging the relative danger of different classes of vehicles, but the number of accidents per vehicle mile. Colonel Sohler meets this criticism by an analysis which is intentionally made as unfavorable as possible to the automobile. The figures cannot be given in detail here, but the principle of their derivation is easily outlined. The number of automobiles registered in a year is readily ascertained. It is assumed that each machine registered for a year travels 5,000 miles and each one registered for three months travels 3,000 miles, and that the five cars registered by each dealer travel 10,000 miles annually. On this basis the automobiles operated over the roads of Massachusetts made 185,806,000 miles. As a result of this travel 25 people in the cars were killed and 52 people who were not in them; 378 passengers were injured and 585 outsiders. During the same time the Massachusetts Railroad Commission reported the trolley cars of the state to have traveled 87,712,572 miles, killing 28 people aboard them and 78 outsiders, and injuring 5,273 people aboard the cars and 1,917 outsiders.

These statistics show that there is one accident for every 12,053 miles operated by a trolley car and one for every 178,660 miles made by an automobile. An electric car has to travel over 800,000 miles before causing a fatal accident and an automobile has to travel over 2,400,000 miles before being the cause of such an accident. In other words, a motor vehicle travels three times as far for each fatal accident as an electric car. When the comparison is based upon injuries, it will be seen that the automobile must travel 16 times as far as a trolley car before causing an injury. These figures apply to employees and occupants of cars. The automobile must travel three times as far as the electric car before killing an outsider, and at least seven times as far before injuring any outsider. In considering these figures it should not be forgotten that the electric car always travels on its rails and everybody knows where it will appear, while an automobile has the full width of the roadway and does not have that free right of way which the electric car has when running over its tracks. It is impossible to give as definite figures regarding the horse-drawn travel as those quoted, but Colonel Sohler is of the opinion that, from what little data have been collected, the total mileage made by automobiles and by horse-drawn vehicles in Massachusetts is about the same. This being the case, it is evident that traffic regulations are just as necessary for electric cars and for horse-drawn vehicles as for automobiles and the bad name borne by the latter is not deserved.—Engineering Record.

ILLINOIS FIRE CHIEFS HAVE MAGISTRATE'S POWERS.

The fire chiefs of Illinois are now magistrates. Acting as local deputy state fire marshal the chief of an Illinois fire department, may in case of suspicious fires, summon witnesses and demand books, papers and apparatus, with power to impose a fine of $25 in case the demand is not met. He can make arrests and administer oaths, and in addition to this can enter and examine buildings and order dangerous ones torn down. He must report to the state chief the origin of a fire within two hours after its occurrence. A public record of the causes of all fires in Illinois is kept in the state office.

THE PUBLIC BELT RAILROAD OF NEW ORLEANS.

Financed without the issue of a bond and now earning a revenue in excess of operating expenses, the Public Belt Railroad of New Orleans is the only road in the United States dedicated to perpetual public uses as a belt line system, built by public money and operated by public officials. Although it has never issued a bond, it is authorized by the Legislature of Louisiana to do so.

At the 1911 convention of the League of American Municipalities, Mayor Behrman of New Orleans said:

"Railroad switch facilities at large commercial and manufacturing centers must be operated as a connected whole to secure maximum results. Terminals that are not operated by one interest are lacking in proper and effective organization, no matter how efficiently the various railroads operating the several portions of tracks are established, for when it is necessary to give shipments for local or shipside delivery to more than one railroad, the handling is necessarily retarded and made expensive.

"That the effective control of railroad terminals is to be found only in public ownership and operation of such facilities has been demonstrated by the experience of the city of New Orleans, which now owns and operates a belt railroad."

It was about twenty-five years ago, shortly after the World's Cotton Centennial Exposition was held in New Orleans in 1885, that the idea of a publicly owned belt railroad for New Orleans was first suggested. The idea is credited to J. E. Auvray, a native of the city, who is not now living. A body of citizens who thought well of his project organized to create the enterprise, but met with slight recognition from city officials and with little public enthusiasm. It passed out of the public mind as similar premature ideas usually do.

Later the project was revived by another set of men. By their efforts an ordinance creating the Public Belt Railroad Commission was adopted by the City Council in October, 1904. On July 1, 1905, with ceremonies in which the Governor of the state took a part, the construction work was inaugurated.

For the construction of the road the city has appropriated sums at various times amounting to about half a million dollars, and though the road is only about one-half completed it is now earning a revenue of over $2,000 per month above expenses, and the revenue is steadily increasing. The belt line extends along the city front, a distance of about twelve miles, serving all the public wharves except that of the Illinois Central, known as Stuyvesant Docks, and has close connections with that road. It connects with the eight big trunk lines having terminals in New Orleans, and with every one of the smaller lines except the New Orleans, Fort Jackson and Grand Isle Railroad on the opposite side of the Mississippi river. When completed, the road will have a main track line of twenty-two miles, circling the entire business district and nearly all of the residential portion. When the road was begun it was contemplated that it would encircle practically the entire built-up area of the city, but so extensively has the building area increased and so many suburban residence tracts have been laid out that there is a large residence area beyond the belt line.

That the belt project is appreciated as a means of developing business and improving real estate values is evidenced by a recent offer made by the Ursuline Nuns, who own a large tract of the city of New Orleans, extending from the river back to Lake Ponchartrain, to donate to the city a right of way 80 feet wide for an extension of the belt to run through their property. As it is well known that no church community would ever donate free of costs to a municipality so large and valuable an area, the significance is apparent when it is understood that the Ursuline Nuns propose to sell to various persons for commercial purposes the property they own lying along the right of way they propose to donate to the city, as they feel assured that with the belt line running through their property it can be disposed of to advantage.

Not only is the public belt solving for New Orleans a great problem of freight transference, but the road serves the city in many other ways. Not the least of these is the system by which the garbage of the city is disposed of. As this system is the only one of its kind known to be in operation in the United States, it is worthy of explanation in passing. Located along the river front about two miles apart are five garbage-receiving stations connected with the belt railroad by switches. To these stations the garbage of the city is conveyed in carts and is there dumped into large, specially designed garbage cars, each of a capacity of about fifty cubic yards. The garbage is then sprinkled with a deodorizer or disinfectant. These cars, of which there are about eighteen in service, are hauled over the belt tracks, the cars being closed to points far out in the swamps, where the garbage is dumped and spread about, with the ultimate intention of using the ground for agricultural purposes. The city waste or dry refuse is carted to points in the rear of the city and used for filling in outlying districts, being sprinkled with disinfectants. Although the city pays a belting charge of $2 per car to the belt railroad for handling these cars, the revenue ultimately becomes a public one, as the belt railroad is entirely municipally owned, and whenever its earnings are sufficiently more than its expenses its funds will be appropriated for municipal improvement.

Besides handling the garbage of the city, the railroad serves in hauling sand for building levees along the river front, in hauling timber and steel structural material for wharves and sheds, and also in hauling the deposits of river sand from the batture to the rear of the city for filling purposes. It is also used to haul material in connection with the sewerage and water plants.

Working in harmony with the Dock Commission, which is a state board controlling nearly all the wharves and wharf facilities, and the Orleans Levee Board, controlling the levees, the railroad is in position to get the best of opportunities along the river front, and does get the lion's share of the wharf facilities. New Orleans is now in position to handle the entire business of the Mississippi valley and is preparing to reach out for the business of the world through the Panama Canal.

Practically the whole wharf front of New Orleans is owned by the state, and in this New Orleans is as fortunate as in having the belt railroad. The Dock Commission owns and controls all the river front except 4,760 feet owned by the Illinois Central Railroad. It owns nearly seven miles of public wharves, upon the greater portion of which steel sheds are constructed. The harbor is about fifteen miles in length, and when the commerce demands, the Public Belt will connect with both sides of the river by using a system of car floats to transport cars across the river.

COST AND METHODS OF OPERATION.

Although the belt is, as stated before, only about one-half completed, during the first six months of 1911 it handled 67,509 cars, an average of over 11,000 cars per month. During this period it earned $99,977.15, with expenses of $87,155.46 or a net revenue above expenses of $12,821.69.

With switch tracks connecting with the big commercial houses and factories and serving the entire wharf system except the Illinois Central wharves, the belt is operated on a fixed charge of $2 per car for handling and pays the railroads a per diem charge for cars held over a specified time. Its plan of operation is simple. Shippers along the belt with empty or loaded cars to move have only to notify the nearest belt clerk advising the destinations of the cars. If less than carload shipments are to be handled, the belt will place a car that may be loaded with local shipments for different roads, and the belt will make the distribution. The shipper receives from the conductor of the belt line a receipt which is to him as a bill of lading for a local shipment and which is transferable at the office of the railroad over which the shipment is made. Local business is handled in cars owned by the belt. For inbound shipments the clerk is notified that certain cars, giving their number and initials and points of shipment, are expected at a certain date. A record is made, and when the cars arrive, that very night or day they will be placed on the consignee's spur.

Not long since a shipment of a train load of packing-house products from Kansas City was handled from the shipper's warehouse to the ship's side in New Orleans, ready for loading, in less than fifty hours, the belt taking but a few hours to switch the train in and deliver the goods to the ship.

The affairs of the belt are handled by a commission composed of the mayor, representatives from the Board of Trade, the Sugar and Rice Exchange, the Cotton Exchange, the Progressive Union, the Contractors and Dealers Exchange, and members at large, composing a board of seventeen commissioners. W. B. Thompson, at the head of the belt as president pro tem, is President of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange. Its operation is conducted by a superintendent, a secretary, and an engineer, who are not members of the commission. The employees in the office and the train and yard crews receive about the same rate of pay as other railroads, possibly a little better. None of the commissioners receives a dollar of compensation for his services.—American City.

CITY OF HOMES.

The Philadelphia Record claims that no city in the world of similar size contains so few people to the individual habitations as Philadelphia. During the period when New York and Chicago were building huge tenement structures, Philadelphia was building hundreds of miles of solid three-story brick flats. While these may not be ideal as homes, they do not cause congestion as the tenements do. There are now 333,650 dwellings in Philadelphia which gives an average of five persons to the dwelling.

CITY PLANNING.*

VALUE OF SCIENTIFIC PLANNING—SUBDIVIDING PRIVATE PROPERTY.

City planning is "the exercise of such foresight as will promote the orderly and slightly development of a city and its environs along rational lines, with proper regard for the health and convenience of the citizens and for the commercial and industrial advancement of the community." It does not include the "city beautiful," municipal art nor the architecture of public buildings. The planning should take into consideration the neighboring cities and the rural and small urban districts which are within easy reach, with the object of reducing to a minimum the resistance to inter as well as intra-urban traffic. Consequently it should take into consideration not only ordinary street traffic, but steam and electrically operated railroads for the transportation of passengers and freight. Such roads are essential to the growth of a city and must therefore be provided for, together with the necessary terminals, with the idea of reducing so far as possible the time and expense of transportation between home, office, shop or factory and points outside the city.

Thoroughfares should be both radial and circumferential. In any great city there is always one center of the first importance, with a number of minor centers. The great radial thoroughfares will necessarily converge at the principal center, with minor radials reaching to the subordinate centers; while the circumferential thoroughfares will connect the less important centers with each other and make it possible to go from one to another or to the suburbs without passing through points or districts of traffic congestion.

A fundamental element in the definition of city planning is that it is not a map showing the various parks, streets, etc., but is the general plan of arterial streets and transportation lines by which the different sections of the existing and the future city will be connected with each other and with centers of population outside the city limits; the parks and open spaces and other resorts for recreation and amusement; the existing water front development and the space needed for its further increase; existing public and semi-public buildings, and sites for those which may be required in the future. The block dimensions and angles, widths of minor streets and the subdivision into a vast number of rectangular blocks of standard size do not constitute a city plan. "The city plan is something bigger and broader; something to which the city may grow, not something to which it must be restricted or within which it must be confined as in a straitjacket."

It may be said that such planning for the future is unnecessary. That as the city develops the plan can be adjusted to new conditions. That while tearing down and enlarging are very costly, this is constantly being done by individuals and corporations, and the city can well afford this expense if it is demanded by growing prosperity, especially since it can impose the cost of the necessary changes upon the property which will be chiefly benefited. The reply is, that no expense involving the destruction of property can be justified if it can be avoided by the exercise of reasonable forethought; and the taxing power of the city should not be used unnecessarily. The increasing burden of taxation in the modern city is heavy enough without this. Moreover, such changes are likely to be postponed because of their great expense until finally the cost becomes prohibitive and the opportunity is lost forever.

The author presented a table comparing six German cities with six American cities which had practically the same population in 1880. While the growth of Cincinnati for one, two and three decades since that time has been 16.1 per cent, 27.7 per cent and 42.8 per cent, respectively, that of Breslau has been 22.8, 54.9 and 87 during the same periods. During the thirty years Buffalo has increased 173.4 per cent in population and Cologne, 254.6 per cent; New Orleans has increased 56.9 per cent and Dresden, 147.1 per cent; Louisville, 80.9 per cent and Hanover, 146.2 per cent; Providence 113.9 per cent and Nuremberg 234.1 per cent, and Rochester 144.1 per cent and Chemnitz 237.1 per cent. It is thus seen that the German cities have increased in population nearly twice as rapidly as the American cities. This the author attributes to the fact that the most scientific, painstaking and far-sighted city planning done in recent years has been in Germany. Consequently he believes that this growth "is not a mere coincidence, but the conclusion is justified that scientific planning will promote to a greater degree than has heretofore been realized, not only orderly development, but increase in population, wealth and taxable values, to say nothing of the convenience, health and comfort of the citizens."

Sharp distinction should be drawn between the ambitious and often spectacular plans to create civic centers with striking architectural features, and the less sensational but often more important efforts to correct where possible the present plan and to provide for future development a scheme which will permanently fix the arteries of traffic and allow as great a degree of flexibility as possible in the filling in of details. The establishment of civic centers is an admirable idea, and they will probably be worth while, whatever their cost; if for no other reason, because of the advertisement of the city which they afford. The attention of the public has recently been drawn to spectacular projects involving the demolition of buildings for the creation of boulevards and civic centers. City planning, in the author's conception, is almost wholly constructive. It is not done in the limelight, and the men who do it will not receive the credit and applause which would be the portion of those who a little later, at great public inconvenience and expense, would correct mistakes which, but for this foresight, the original planners might have made. The creation of a city plan is essentially the work of an engineering staff, or of the engineering department, which should consider it as a continuous problem rather than a scheme to be given its permanent form in a few months of special consideration.

If the engineers are not alive to their opportunity; if they are not ready to profit by the experiences of other cities in all parts of the world; if they undertake the problem as one of more or less precise surveying; if they are content to prepare a plan for undeveloped portions of the city along the conventional lines followed in the older portions notwithstanding the palpable defects of the older plan — they then need not be surprised if the architects and landscape engineers are subsequently called in to correct their mistakes, or if the idea becomes prevalent that an engineer is qualified only to build a city after it has been planned by someone else. To provide for future growth, some imagination is required, ability to estimate the future by the past, to anticipate possible growth in population and commerce and the various needs of the citizens, and to take counsel with others outside of his own profession. No human being can foresee the precise lines along which a city will grow. The problem is to devise a plan so flexible that with a minimum of expense for rearrangement it can adapt itself to changed and changing conditions. This is what is meant by the exercise of imagination tempered by common sense.

The interests of the property owner should be regarded, but the superiority of public to private interests should be insisted upon. While directness and continuity are essential in main traffic thoroughfares, it must be remembered that by far the largest mileage of city streets are not traffic thoroughfares, but will be devoted to dwellings and that their function is to provide light, air and access, with facilities for reaching the main traffic thoroughfares as readily as possible. To plan a series of residential streets with the same directness and continuity which should be given the traffic streets is not only unnecessary, but the result is unpleasantly monotonous and uninteresting with no compensating advantage. There is no reason why individual preference and ideas should not be exercised by the private developer, provided that his development does not interfere with the main arteries of traffic, and provided also that it is not inconsistent with good sanitary conditions. Some of the plans evolved for private development may cause a distinct shock to the engineer, but this will do him no harm; in fact, he needs it occasionally for his own good.

Even main traffic thoroughfare need not necessarily follow along straight lines; but the changes in direction should not be permitted to materially increase distance or impair directness. Topography and existing improvements may be such that expense may be saved by easy changes in direction, while at the same time the street will gain in interest and admirable sites will be afforded for important buildings, the lack of which sites is so painfully evident in large cities laid out on the rectangular plan.

Inasmuch as property sold as city lots depends for its value upon a street system which will afford access, it would not appear unreasonable to prohibit by statute the sale or offering for sale of lots in unmapped sections, unless the proposed plan of streets should first have been submitted to the municipal authorities for their examination, approval or correction, in order that the proposed streets might be made to conform with the general plan of main highways. A reasonable time, say three months, should be allowed for the acceptance, amendment, or rejection of the plan submitted, and if the opportunity to do so were not availed of by the city within that time, the owner might be absolved from any obligation to further delay the improvement and sale of his property. Such a requirement would not appear to be an unreasonable restriction upon the right of the owner to use his property to the best advantage, but would be a recognition of the right of the city to control in some degree the street plan upon which that property depends for its value; while the assurance to purchasers that the street plan is definitely fixed and that the homes they build will not be destroyed by a rearrangement of that plan, would add materially to the value of the property.

FINANCE COMMISSION.

BOSTON, December 27, 1911.

To the Honorable the City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—On December 13, 1911, you requested the Finance Commission to employ an accountant to estimate the comparative cost to the city under the bids of the lowest and next lowest bidders in the competition for the proposed ten years' contract for the disposal of city waste. The commission has employed an accountant and submits his report herewith.

The commission assumes that the City Council desired the aid of an accountant in determining how much weight, if any, should be given to the claims and promises of the second lowest bidder and the counter claims and promises of the lowest bidder; in other words, in determining whether upon any reasonable view of the known facts, either alone or in connection with the various statements of the opposing bidders, the City Council would be justified in declining to approve the award made by the Commissioner of Public Works to the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, whose bid was $1,432,000, as against the bid of $1,443,738 of the Boston Disposal Company, its nearest competitor.

In its desire to aid the City Council the commission endeavored to procure all the information available on the subject, and for this purpose held several hearings which were attended by the counsel and representatives of the respective bidders, namely, the Boston Development and Sanitary Company and the Boston Disposal Company. As a result of these hearings the commission has found that the only facts upon which the City Council can depend are these:

1. That the city would save in direct payments to the contractor $11,738 if the Boston Development and Sanitary Company should receive the contract.

2. That the city would also own the buildings and wharf to be erected by the Boston Development and Sanitary Company on Spectacle Island and have the benefit of the dredging of the channel by that company.

3. That the city would obtain some additional advantage in the saving of interest by contracting with the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, as the city's payments in the earlier years of the contract would be considerably less than the payments to the Boston Disposal Company in the corresponding years.

That as an offset to these advantages to the city resulting from the giving of the contract to the Boston Development and Sanitary Company the city would:

4. Lose the interest for ten years on the amount paid for the necessary three acres of land.

5. Lose the taxes on said three acres of land.

All of the five factors thus enumerated have been adopted by the accountant as bases of estimate; but the correctness of the amounts allowed for items herein numbered 2, 4 and 5 will probably be disputed by one or the other of the two companies. Thus the value of the structures on Spectacle Island that would belong to the city at the end of the contract with the Boston Development and Sanitary Company is set down as little or nothing by the counsel for the Boston Disposal Company. The engineer for the Finance Commission, Mr. Guy C. Emerson, estimates, however, that their value to the city as a refuse disposal plant would be not less than $75,000 at that time, and the accountant was instructed to use that figure. Likewise, conflicting claims were made as to the amount the city would have to pay for the three acres of land and the amount it would lose as interest and taxes thereon. The commission believed the minimum cost would be $10,000 and the possible maximum $50,000, and instructed the accountant to figure it on three bases, namely, $10,000, $30,000 and $50,000. The loss of taxes on the land was figured on the basis of the present assessed value as being the most practical method.

Nothing was allowed for the value to the city of the control of the situation ten years hence through its ownership of the buildings and land, as such value is incapable of present estimate. On the other hand, the commission also excluded, as incapable of present estimate, the value to the city of the lower scale of payments to the Boston Disposal Company at the end of the contract which, it was argued, would be an advantage to the city in bargaining for a renewal of the contract ten years hence. Various other considerations which were urged before the commission seemed too vague and conjectural to form the basis of a financial estimate, and hence were likewise excluded.

The accountant was instructed by the commission to accept the statements of the counsel for each company as to the relative gains and losses to the city in the taxable value of the buildings and equipment which each company said it would provide if it received the contract. The commission believes, however, that these statements, though apparently made in good faith, cannot be relied upon by the city for the following reasons:

1. Because neither company can be compelled by the city to provide buildings and equipment costing more than is necessary to provide adequate means of performing the work under the contract.

2. Because the depreciation on such property cannot be estimated accurately in advance.

3. Because it is impossible to foretell what value the assessors would fix as a basis of taxation.

Notwithstanding this uncertainty, the amounts stated by the counsel for each company were taken by the accountant in every instance except one, namely, the amount which it is said the city would lose in taxes on the building that is now used on Spectacle Island for garbage reduction and which, it is said, would be abandoned or converted to a less profitable use if the city's garbage should be treated elsewhere. This building is now taxed on $50,000 and the commission believed that its depreciation would probably not exceed 50 per cent. Accordingly the accountant was instructed to figure a loss of taxes on $25,000.

On the most favorable assumption to the Boston Disposal Company, namely, that the city would have to pay $50,000 for the land furnished to the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, the city would appear to be a gainer by $57,186.69 if it made the contract with the latter company. The city would also have the additional advantage of being able to control the situation ten years hence through its ownership of a plant upon its own land, an advantage which cannot now be estimated in dollars and cents, but which unquestionably would be great.

The commission believes that the question involved in this case is a simple one and that it should not be made complicated by a consideration of such speculative elements as the cost of land to the city, interest and taxes thereon, or the possible loss to the city of taxes on the more costly plant which the second lowest bidder states it would provide if it should receive the contract. There was no notice to the bidders in the invitation for bids or the contract and specifications that such elements would be considered. The city, without any qualification whatever, offered to furnish land to any bidder who preferred to erect his plant thereon, and it did so because it was felt that the advantage it would receive through ownership of the land would compensate it for the price it would pay for the land and the taxes thereon which it would lose through its ownership. Nor is there the slightest warrant in the notice to bidders or the contract and specifications that the city would attempt to add to the lowest bid the amount which a higher bidder estimated as the loss to the city in taxes on the promised excess of the taxable value of the higher bidder's plant over that of the lower bidder.

The Commissioner of Public Works has made what seems to the Finance Commission a proper decision in the case, and it should be upheld. But if the City Council views the case in the light of the elements which form the basis of the accountant's estimates, the result will also be favorable to the Boston Development and Sanitary Company.

The commission recommends that the City Council approve the award of the contract to the Boston Development and Sanitary Company.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

BOSTON, December 26, 1911.

HON. JOHN A. SULLIVAN, Chairman,
Boston Finance Commission:

DEAR SIR,—In accordance with your request we have examined the two contracts which are now under consideration for the disposal of garbage for the City of Boston, and bearing in mind the various factors which may enter therein would submit the following report:

In our comparison of the cost to the city of the garbage contract under the bids of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company and the Boston Disposal Company we have adopted the following method of computation:

1. Against each company is charged the annual payments by the city under the contract, and various other amounts on account of taxes or interest.

2. On the excess of the total amounts thus charged in each year against one company as compared with the other company, interest will be computed for the remainder of the contract period of ten years and such interest will be charged to the company against which such excess lies.

3. The total of said excess amounts with interest will be computed and a balance struck between the two companies as of the date of the expiration of the contract.

4. An allowance will be made for the value to the city of the buildings and other structures which will be left at Spectacle Island by the Boston Development and Sanitary Company at the termination of the contract period.

To determine the amounts to be charged against each company annually the following factors have been used:

Boston Development and Sanitary Company.

1. The amount paid by the city each year as per contract.

2. Interest for ten years on the cost of land to be furnished by the city as a site for the contractor's plant, said interest to be computed upon three different estimates of the cost of the land, namely, $10,000, $30,000 and $50,000.

3. Loss of taxes on said land through city's ownership. Taxes estimated on three acres at present assessed value of 7 cents per square foot, or $9,147.50.

4. Loss of taxes on machinery in existing garbage plant on Spectacle Island which the Boston Disposal Company states will be abandoned or removed if it does not receive the contract; said machinery now assessed on $15,000.

5. Loss of taxes on $20,000 worth of additional machinery which the Boston Disposal Company states it will install in the existing plant at Spectacle Island if it receives the contract.

6. Loss of taxes on $25,000 due to depreciation of the buildings now used on Spectacle Island for the reduction of garbage, in the event of the Boston Disposal Company's failure to procure the contract and the consequent disuse of said buildings for garbage reduction; said buildings now taxed on $50,000, estimated depreciation, $25,000; loss of taxable value, $25,000.

7. Loss of taxes on the plant and equipment which the Boston Disposal Company states it will install at East Boston if it receives the contract; estimated cost, $500,000.

Boston Disposal Company.

1. Amount paid by the city each year as per contract.

2. Loss of taxes on machinery estimated to cost $160,000, which the Boston Development and Sanitary Company states it will install at Spectacle Island if it receives the contract.

3. Loss of taxes on plant estimated to cost $300,000, which the Boston Development and Sanitary Company states it will erect on the mainland within the limits of the City of Boston and maintain for the purpose of utilizing bottles, cans and paper.

All interest will be computed at 3.74 per cent per annum and will be at simple interest; taxes will be computed at $16.50 per thousand.

Computations as herein outlined are presented in detail in the tables hereto attached. From these tables you will see that on each estimate of the cost of land to be furnished by the city, as the basis of computation, the final result is in favor of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company.

Respectfully submitted,

Public Accountants,

THE RELATION OF TECHNICAL MEN TO CITY PLANNING.

That engineers have not contributed their proper share as citizens, to civic betterment movements, has been more than once asserted. The special qualifications of technical men for such work however, were presented with some emphasis in a recent address before the Electric Club of Chicago, by William B. Jackson, of the firm of D. C. and William B. Jackson, Chicago and Boston. Mr. Jackson calls attention to the fact that the engineer, by the demands of his profession, is continually called upon to exercise just those qualities of foresight and attention to both technical, sanitary and moral factors in business that are so much needed in all effective city planning.

In manufacturing establishments, says Mr. Jackson, much attention is given to perfecting the most efficient arrangement of avenues of intercommunication and for the progress of material in the process of manufacture, and careful attention is given to obtain processes that will fit in with the requirements of the future as well as fulfill the needs of the present. An electric power plant built to fulfill the requirements of to-day without careful consideration of its ability to appropriately expand to fulfill the requirements of the future is unhesitatingly classed as a blunder; yet we must admit that just this situation exists in our cities, and that on the whole our engineers and other technical men have not taken an active part in correcting the error.

When we leave the consideration of manufacturing establishments, we are prone to forget the lesson that has been learned there as the result of much experience, and we fail to apply the lesson to the wider problem of the cities. We are inclined to rest content with our cities as they may happen to grow, with very little thought of any general plan; whereby the avenues for traffic will be arranged to give effective intercommunication between all parts of the city itself and between the parts of the city and the outside regions; whereby the public utilities will be arranged to give the most economical and suitable service; whereby plenty of light, air and cleanliness will be made an essential part of the city; and whereby an attractive city will be assured.

Properly laid out highways are as necessary to the efficient operations of a city as are properly planned and executed avenues for the progress of materials which are being worked up in a manufacturing establishment.

We recognize the necessity of having good air and light with cleanly conditions if we expect to obtain the most effective work from employees in a manufacturing establishment, but how much do we on the whole recognize this principle when we consider the general business community and the homes of the masses in our cities? It is without doubt that there would be obtained a relatively greater increase in the usefulness of the people of a great city by providing the masses with plenty of light and fresh air to grow up with and live in, than by providing plenty of light and fresh air during work periods only.

We have a tendency to pass by the matter of an attractive city or the "city beautiful" as something for the consideration of architects, landscape gardeners and artists alone, but this is a mistake. We are all working for better and more efficient men and women. Our points of view may be different, but we should all be striving for a common end. Can any one really believe that men and women living in squalid quarters can be so broadly effective as they would be if living in harmonious attractive quarters? The same situation exists here as in the electric light plant. The morale of the people is raised by attractive surroundings.

Taking into consideration the tendency of the time, it does not seem to be quixotic to believe that the day is not very remote when an ugly spot in a city will be considered as a public nuisance in much the same way as an unpleasant odor is so considered to-day. It is likely that artistically inharmonious surroundings have a more far-reaching effect upon the character of our citizens than the presence of unpleasant non-pestilential odors. It is only because cities do not feel the same keen competition to which manufacturing concerns are subjected that it is possible for them to survive under the conditions imposed by lack of appropriate plans, but that does not lessen the economic loss occasioned by such lack.

We must of necessity come to the conclusion that a city cannot grow to its most perfect stature without an officially accepted plan having the hearty support of the people, since we cannot have a most effective city unless it is laid out in accordance with such a plan, nor is it possible to otherwise properly provide for its growth. We are all aware that a large electric light or telephone company cannot thrive at its best unless it is able to expand with the guidance of a well-thought-out plan. Then why should we expect the greatest corporation of them all to rise to its best without such a plan having the earnest backing of every thoughtful citizen? City planning is a subject well worthy of the earnest thought of our broadest citizens, amongst whom are the technical men.

That the larger municipalities, at least, are awakened to the value of city planning is evidenced by the following list, and, as will be noted, the technical men are prominent in the list of those interested.

The following is a list of towns and cities engaged in city planning, with an engineer or city planning expert in charge:

CINCINNATI'S MUNICIPAL LAUNDRY.

Cincinnati has recently opened a municipal domestic laundry where poor women of the tenement districts may take the family clothing and do their own washing with the aid of the most up-to-date machinery. The equipment of this laundry includes enough power washers, driers and electric irons to accommodate 500 family washings each week, and the city is preparing to build more laundries of like nature. The idea originated with the board of health, which was quick to recognize the sanitary advantages derived from removing clothes-washing operations from the living and sleeping rooms of the tenement dwellers.—Municipal Engineering.

GERMAN TECHNICAL SCHOOLS.

HAMBURG'S BROAD SYSTEM OF GIVING SCIENTIFIC INSTRUCTION.

Consul-General Robert P. Skinner explains the comprehensive facilities afforded in the German State of Hamburg to fit pupils for technical and scientific positions of trust:

The public school system of Hamburg includes a technological institute, known here as the Technikum and which is, in part, a continuation school and certain continuation schools pure and simple. The technological institute provides an opportunity for scientific education in the following branches: Construction of machinery, electro-technology, shipbuilding, construction of ship machinery and marine engineering. For all of these branches regular lectures and exercises are provided. The Technikum includes also a preliminary school for the following branches: Shipbuilding and construction of machinery and electro-technology.

The Technikum educates pupils for positions as technical managers, managing officers and constructing engineers, especially for marine engineering and as thoroughly trained engineers for the commercial fleet. The teaching staff includes thirty-five specialists and technicians, all experts. The instruction continues two years and in the preliminary schools six months.

To be admitted it is necessary to possess a certificate showing that the student is required to serve one year only in the army or a "patent" as a marine machine engineer of the first class. He must prove that he has had two years of practical experience prior to seeking entrance and if he is unable to furnish proof of sufficient preparatory training he is obliged to pass an examination which he is authorized to take only after having had three years of practical experience. The final examinations take place before a board of commissioners. The annual tuition fee is 144 marks ($34.27) in the ordinary course of instruction, and 50 marks ($11.90) for instruction in the preliminary school.

A certificate from this school enables the holder to enter the "middle career" in the Prussian railroad system, to entrance into the technological institutions of the German infantry and artillery, into the Imperial Patent Office and into the "medium technical" service of the imperial navy. Marine engineers graduated from the school are entitled to act as second engineers on shipboard and after having been so employed for two years may then become first engineers without further examination.

CARRIAGE BUILDING AND BUILDING TRADE SCHOOLS.

The carriage-building school is a special branch of the Technikum, in which students are instructed to be cartwrights, wheelwrights and coach builders. There are two classes in which the course of study is six months each. Pupils must be able to furnish proof of sufficient practical experience before entering and a final examination must be passed. This school possesses an important collection of models. The tuition fee is 60 marks ($14.28) for six months' course.

The building trades school is also a special branch of the Gewerbeschule providing instruction in overhead and underground construction, graduating masons, stonecutters, and carpenters. Pupils have an opportunity of acquiring special theoretical knowledge and practice in technical drawing, whereby they are enabled to accept positions as medium technicians or to become architects. There are two departments of five classes each, one beginning in the winter and one in the summer. A final examination must be passed before a board of examiners. Pupils can also be prepared for entrance by taking a preliminary course in the building-trades school. The tuition fee for the six months' course is 90 marks ($21.32).

APPLIED ARTS SCHOOL.

The art school is still another branch of the Technikum intended for pupils desiring to become draughtsmen, workmasters and foremen. The following are the departments: Architectural decoration of interiors, plastic art, decorative painting, art of proportion, measurement and dimension, bookbinding, the working of precious metals, photography, technique of reproduction, hand and machine embroidery and drawing. There is also a preliminary school to fit pupils for entrance.

In the evening and Sunday classes of the art school apprentices in the different trades have an opportunity to cultivate the art of drawing and to this extent it is a continuation school. The tuition fee is 24 marks ($5.71) for six months, day instruction, and 10 marks ($2.38) for six months, evening instruction.

CONTINUATION MERCANTILE SCHOOLS.

The continuation schools of Hamburg, properly speaking, provide mercantile instruction for men and women. In the men's school there are courses of study in German, English, French, Portuguese, Spanish and Danish, writing, commercial arithmetic, bookkeeping, commercial correspondence, stenography and general commercial knowledge. Work begins at 7 p. m. in eight different schools in the city. The tuition fee is 6 marks ($1.42)

INDEX TO TABLES 4, 5 AND 6.

We also present the matter in another form by first crediting to the Boston Development and Sanitary Company the flat difference in its favor in the contract price, $11,738, and from that point crediting each company with the various amounts in its favor for the entire contract period, using the same number except number 1, for each item as in the first three tables:

Table 4.—On the basis of $10,000 as estimated cost of land.

Table 5.—On the basis of $30,000 as estimated cost of land.

Table 6.—On the basis of $50,000 as estimated cost of land.

Under this form of computation the final result is the same on each basis as shown in Tables 1, 2 and 3.

for a six months' course, from which fee pupils without means are entirely exempted. The winter course continues from October to March and the summer course from April to September.

It is provided in paragraphs 120 and 154 of the German trades law that employers shall allow sufficient time to their apprentices under eighteen years of age to enable them to frequent the commercial continuation schools. All apprentices in commercial establishments are recommended to become students in these schools, so that they may receive the necessary theoretical and professional instruction while, at the same time, they work practically.

There are two continuation schools for women, in which German, English, French and Spanish, writing, typewriting, stenography, arithmetic, bookkeeping, correspondence and drawing are taught. These courses begin at 5 and 7 p. m. The afternoon courses are preparatory, while the evening courses are intended for women who are employed.

Pupils are only admitted if they have passed the first class of the public schools, or have received preparatory training of another character. The courses begin in April and October and the tuition fee for six months' instruction is 6 marks ($1.42).

HAMBURG NAVIGATION SCHOOL.

The Hamburg navigation school is open to pupils who can prove that they have had forty-five months of practical experience prior to entering; they must have been seamen for twenty-four months, twelve of which must have been passed on sailing vessels; or, they must have served as mate for twenty-four months, after having passed the examination entitling them to accept such a position. The preliminary courses are open to any sailor having made at least one voyage. Since October 1, 1891, a school for marine engineers has been connected with the navigation school.

An imperial inspector is always present during the final examinations.

PLANS CITY SMOKE ZONES.

A new idea for a solution of the vexing smoke problem in St. Louis has been advanced at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Real Estate Exchange. It came from a member who lives on the North Side and who believes something should be done to relieve the manufacturers of that section from being pressed too hard by the smoke inspector and anti-smoke crusaders. He proposes the city be divided into smoke districts. Within these districts the smoke ordinance should either be suspended entirely or so modified that a factory owner would not be prosecuted and fined every time his fireman gets careless and lets his stacks belch some black billows of vaporized soft coal, it is suggested. The advocate of smoke districts would have these districts so located that they would not encroach upon portions of the city which are, in the main, residence districts, believing the greater home sections are entitled to some protection from smoke. This could be done, he said, by an ordinance laying off certain smoke zones in districts where many factories are congregated. His letter said, in effect, that North St. Louis was more interested in getting more factories, and the people employed in the factories, and had more concern in holding what plants they had than in keeping white collars and lace curtains clean. A too rigid smoke law drove away factories, he contended.—Municipal Journal.

(Dec. 30.)

CITY OF BOSTON.

ALTERATIONS AT WARDROOM, WARD 2 BUILDING, EAST BOSTON.

The Superintendent of Public Buildings of Boston, Massachusetts, invites proposals for making alterations in the wardroom, Ward 2 building, corner of Maverick and Bremen streets, East Boston, for the purpose of providing temporary quarters for the East Boston District Court; the same to include carpentry, plumbing, painting and steamheating work, according to plans and specifications and giving a bond of a surety company therefor, satisfactory to the superintendent in the sum of $500. Only proposals obtained at the office of the Superintendent of Public Buildings, No. 100 Summer street, Boston, filled out, signed by the bidder and left before 12 o'clock noon of Thursday, January 11, 1912, at said office with a certified check of $200, payable to and to be the property of the City of Boston if the proposal is not carried out, will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be placed in envelopes properly sealed and marked "Proposals for Alterations at Wardroom Building." The bid must be made in duplicate, the one with the check to be left as stated above, the duplicate, without check, to be deposited with the City Auditor, City Hall, Boston, previous to the time named for opening of bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best for the city's interest.

M. J. FISH,

Superintendent of Public Buildings.

(Dec. 30-Jan. 6.)

PROPOSALS FOR STREET LAMPS.

The Supply Department of the City of Boston, Room 826, Tremont Building, invites proposals for furnishing approximately 11,000 gas mantle lamps, complete with single burner, to be used in lighting streets, parks and alleys. Forms of bids and specifications can be obtained at the office of the Superintendent of Supplies, Room 826, Tremont Building. Bidders must state the price for furnishing each lamp complete. Samples of the equipment to be furnished must be submitted with the bid. Each bid must be inclosed in a sealed envelope and marked "Bid for Gas Mantle Lamps," and left at the office of the Superintendent of Supplies, Room 826, Tremont Building, before 12 m., Wednesday, January 24, 1912, at which time and place the bids will be publicly opened and read. The bid must be accompanied by a certified check for $1,000, payable to and to become the property of the City of Boston if the bid after acceptance is not carried out. A bid in duplicate, without a check, must be filed with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. A bond for one-quarter of the amount of the contract in a surety company doing business in the State of Massachusetts and acceptable to the Superintendent of Supplies will be required for a faithful performance of the contract. The city will also receive any bid or bids from other persons, firms or corporations having lamps and suitable equipment to sell or lease the said lamps for one or more years, which bids shall state the terms and conditions upon which such parties will sell or lease their equipment to the city. The superintendent reserves the right to reject any or all proposals should he deem it for the interest of the city so to do.

J. EDWARD MULLEN,
Superintendent of Supplies.
